It's A WHAT?

EAST COLUMBUS--It's either a Cambarous Virilis or Cambarous Babonti, according to zoology texts. But his partner in this stare-down is just another "crawdad" to young David Rossman at the Jewish Center Pioneer Camp. Just what David seemed to the Cambarous was not forthcoming, although you might guess he looked more Goliath than David. Kids in camp make all kinds of friends. (Photo by Tom Holzer)

Author Tells Of Past Emotional Illness

By Sanford Meizlish
Special Staff Writer

Columbus–As she came to in the hospital the doctor asked, "Where have you gone, Nancy?" "Back to when I was two years old, rocking in my father's lap."

Nancy Covert Smith is currently an achieving author, but at one point, as the above dealog indicates, she was suffering from the serious symptoms of temporary emotional illness. Last week Miss Smith told her story to the Ohio Association for Mental Health, during a board meeting at the Marriot Inn.

Miss Smith explained to the board that people suffering the same illness as hers "return to another time, a time of peace."Thus,they refuse to accept reality and stumble through present day life. Symptoms range from crying a great deal and an up and down mood to no responsiblility and uncaused fear.

AUTHOR SMITH outlined her recovery into three categories: journey out of yesterday; accept today; look forward to tomorrow.

OUT OF YESTERDAY

"The beginning of any psychological analysis begins with oneself. If I can't love Nancy Smith then I can't have a need for anybody to help me."

Nancy's psychiatrist got her to love herself by showing her that she wasn't to blame for her problems. He achieved this by taking her step by step through her childhood, touching on every problem she could recall, but he had her reverse her position in those situations. By making Nancy the mother and replacing herself with her own children the doctor was able to illustrate to her that she wasn't to blame for her problems.

Thus, Nancy discovered, slowly but surly, there was no need to return to yesterday for peace.

"I wanted to go from a bad mother and wife to a person that I could respect. I have forgotten much of the past but, I can't forget the irresponsible manner in which I treated my husband and children. I'll never forget seeing my daughter standing in front of the school a half hour after all the other children had been picked up, waiting for me to come. And she wasn't even dressed properly. And when she got in the car she'd say, "I love you Mommy." No, I'll never forget that!"

THOUGH NANCY may never forget, through the help of her psychiatrist added with her own desire to fight, she has changed all that.

LOOK FORWARD TO TOMORROW

The final step to recovery comes when one looks forward to seeing the sun every morning.

"You have to have a reason to get up tomorrow morning. . .in spirit. I think the milestone of my recovery came when I wanted to be alone with myself and work on my manuscripts."

Through her writing Nancy has found a reason to see the sun every morning and she continues to tell her story in order to make it possible for others to find a reason.

ACCEPT TODAY

"The doctor wouldn't let me back in the hospital and he took me off all prescriptions. He made me accept today without any crutches." Although Nancy was slowly being brought out of yesterday, accepting today brought a new set of problems and challenges.

Since her recovery author Nancy Covert Smith has kept busy with her writing. She has been published in such magazines as "McCall's," "Goodhousekeeping" and "Modern Bride."

She currently has a book on the market entitled "Journey Out Of Nowhere," an educational book for families on the topic of temporary emotional illness.

Miss Smith has also completed two other books to be released within a year: "Apple Pearings Of My Mind," tangles with family communication; and "Josie's Handful of Quietness," a teenage novel on ecology.

The Canton, Ohio author is currently working on a preventive book on temporary emotional illness, with the theme, "love is nature's psychotherapy."

School Board Cites City-Wide Improvements

By Lisa Doonan
Special Staff Writer

Columbus - The libraries in the Columbus Public Schools are at the start of a transitional period, Hugh Durbin, the school system's director of libraries, told the Board of Education last week at a Committee-of-the-Whole meeting.

The transition is from a library that used to only carry literary material to a learning center that includes a large selection and a wide variety of different materials. A learning center is multi-media facility that will include such things as books, pamphlets, periodicals, filmstrips, slides, tapes, pictures, study prints, etc.

These new learning centers will be able to provide children with plenty of spaces for individual work and instruction, group study and relaxation according to Durbin.

"A modern library-learning center," said Durbin, "is a place where students may learn by reading, listening, viewing and doing."

The eventual goal of the school system, according to Durbin, is to eventually equip every elementary, junior high and senior high with a learning center. However, the current city-wide school system is far from that goal.

"Only two of the schools systems 14 senior high and 40 of the elementaries," said Durbin, "have even partially developed learning centers."

The traditional type of library is found in all of the junior and senior high schools and in 38 elementaries. According to Durbin 51 of the elementaries have been provided with some sort of a library through the efforts of their local PTAs and community groups, 41 other elementary schools have no type of library at all.

Durbin told the Board that even though much has been done to improve the facilities there was still much left to do.

The bond issue approved by the voters last fall contains funds to install and equip library-learning centers in each school, according to Durbin. Efforts have also been made to provide persons who are planning new schools with the information needed to build an adequate learning center.

Durbin noted that even though the bond issue funds will cover most expenses and needs, more personnel to man the centers, and a bigger staff training program will be required to properly train the library personnel in the handling of the new equipment.

Develop New Program

East Columbus - The Columbus Board of Education recently approved plans for a three-year project of major imporvements in the system's volunteer program.

A grant of $65,000 in federal education funds has been awarded to the school system for the operation of the project during its first year.

The project calls for the development and implementation of a new management system to recruit, place, orient and train school volunteers. It will also operate as an evaluation system for the volunteer services.

Included in the plans are the hiring of five new teachers as specialists to help in the development of each area of the management system.

Plans for the first year of the project call for the completion of the in-cepth study which is needed to determine the need of the volunteer services, and to boost the number of volunteers now involved by an additional 125.

The program which began in 1969 now includes over 600 school volunteers who are serving over 85,000 Columbus school students.

These services are now provided through six separate volunteer programs which include one serving pre-kindergarten students in 23 schools, a reading tutoring program in 13 elementary schools, a school health program in 13 elementary schools, and a minihumanities program. The mini-humanities program helps disadvantaged students in five schools. Volunteers encourage students to pursue their education, and proved them with individual assistance.

Basketball Bigs Give Boys A Boost

Meeting Postponed

Whitehall-The Whitehall Recreation Department announces that the August Meeting of the Whitehall Recreation Commission scheduled for August 23 has been cancelled.

The next meeting will be held September 13 at 8:00 p.m. at the Whitehall Municipal Buuilding.

The regular September meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission will be held September 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the Whitehall Municipal Building.

Polliwogs Agog At Pool

FLIPPO the Clown arrived on deck amidst happy shouts. He visited all the boys and girls in their swim classes and encouraged them to finish their requirements for the AmericanRed Cross Learn to Swim program. WBNS, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, annually sponsors a summer session which includes awarding patches to be sewn on bathing suits after completion of requirements. Lots of kids got pictures of Flippo.

Officer Peck Escorts Officer Peck

East Columbus- Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Ray Peck recruited Petty Officer 3rd class Kathleen Peck into Naval Air Reserve Division Y-2 at Lockbourne AFB. The welcome aboard ceremony was a bit unusual since Kathleen also happens to be Ray's wife.

Discovering that special enlistment programs were available for qualified personnel, Ray proceeded to recruit his wife. After successfully taking a battery of qualification tests, Kathleen was sworn into the Naval Reserve, as Petty Officer Third Class, administration specialist.

Kathleen will attend a two week boot camp in the near future at the Navy's Training Center in Orlando, Florida. Both Kathleen and Ray agree that the Naval Reserve weekend is a bit more pleasant with the family approach.

Mohawk Grad Awarded Bell Scholarship

East Columbus - G. Steven Young, 593 Gilbert Street, was recently named recipient of a Bell Laboratories Engineering Scholarship. He was one of eight outstanding graduating seniors living near Bell Labs locations selected to receive the award. He graduated from Mohawk High School in June.

The Bell Laboratories Engineering Scholarship Program was developed to encourage and assist academically qualified black students to enter the engineering profession. It is a long range program which provides financial support for attendance at selected undergraduate schools and the technical experience of summer employment at nearby Bell Labs locations.

Young is currently employed as a Laboratory Trainee in the Toll Crossbar Switching Laboratory at Bell Labs' Columbus Laboratory, 6200 East Broad St. During the summer of 1972, he was one of 10 Columbus Area high school juniors who worked with Bell Labs engineers and technicians to help carryout telephone switching systems and apparatus design and development projects.

Young is enrolled in the College of Engineering at the Ohio State University with the goal of earning the Bachelor Degree in Electrical Engineering. He will begin classes as a fulltime student next fall.

Sponsor Play Writing Contest

Bexley-In commemoration of its 25th Anniversary year, Gallery Players of The Jewish Center will be participating in the sponsorship of a new national playwriting contest being offered by the Association of Jewish Center Workers. A $$1,000 prize is being offered for the best full length play dealing with a Jewish theme.

Harold M. Eisenstein, Cultural Arts Director at The Jewish Center, 1125 College Avenue, and association member, will be soliciting scripts in this general area. The prize-winning play will be produced nation-wide by those Jewish Community Centers with performing arts facilities during the 1974-75 season. A competent jury of theatrical luminaries has been chosen to make the prize-winning selection which may either be a drama, comedy or musical. If no entry is chosen the award will apply to the following year.

"This contest" says Eisenstein, "is being sponsored by AJCW with the cooperation of Gallery Players in order to encourage artistic creativity of excellence in the Jewish Community Centers throughout the country. We envision similar prizes being awarded in future years for different areas of the arts."

Sears Is Sponsor

Miss Teenage Columbus Contest Officially Opens

Sears 1974 Miss Teenage Columbus contest officially began last Sunday.

James Rogge, group sales promotion manager for Sears, Roebuck and Company announced that Sears are sponsoring the pageant for the ninth consecutive year.

Mrs. Terry Hameroff, who has been associated with the event since its inception, will serve as contest coordinator.

Rogge said all girls between the ages of 13 and 17 (but not 18 before December 1973) are eligible if they live in Columbus or within a 50-mile radius and are enrolled in grades 8 through 12 in an accredited high school or junior high school.

Deadline for entries is September 12.

Entry blanks are available at Sears Northland, Eastland, Westland, Newark and Lancaster.

The pageant culminates with the selection of Miss Teenage Columbus at Veterans Memorial Auditorium Sunday, Oct. 21.

The winner will then advance to the Miss Teenage America Pageant in Memphis, Tenn. in late November.

SUE SWISE

A Columbus-area girl Colleen Fitzpatrick went on to become Miss Teenage America 1972.

The Sears spokesman pointed out that "judging in the Miss Teenage Columbus contest is based on poise, appearance, talent and scholastic ability. There is no swimsuit competition."

Rogge added that judges are looking for girls who possess their own special type of beauty and confidence.

"They must have the poise and ability to represent teenagers all across America," Rogge said.

Judging in the Columbus contest is identical to that used in the National Miss Teenage America Pageant.

The Sears spokesman said the five local judges for the contest will be named within the next few days.

Miss Teenage Columbus 1974 will receive a $500 wardrobe from Sears, Columbus; the Sears professional modeling course; the two-volume World Book Dictionary; and an all-expense paid trip to Memphis, Tenn. to compete in the Miss Teenage America National Pageant.

Entry blanks and additional information may be obtained by writing: Miss Teenage Columbus 1974 Contest, 250 East Town St., Columbus, Ohio, 43215.

Vision Problem Detection Methods Being Developed

Better methods for early detection of a vision problem that affects thousands of children are being developed at Ohio State University's College of Optometry.

The vision problem, amblyopia ex anopsia, or "lazy eye," consists of poor sight in one eye and generally occurs from birth to four years of age. If not corrected, it can result in permanent visual impairment for that eye, says Dr. Glenn A. Fry, Regents Professor of Optometry and a pioneer in amblyopia research for more than 20 years. It can also mean poor depth perception requiring coordination of both eyes.

His objective is to develop tests to measure the ability of a child to see as early as the first week of life.

The method frequently used to test an infant's vision is to place a curved canopy above the baby and watch the movement of his eyes as he follows black and white stripes moving across the canopy. This method is difficult to manipulate and measurements are not always accurate, he said.

He is investigating the use of a television set with a test pattern of vertical lines that move across the screen. Experiments with adults are attempting to determine the size of test pattern necessary to produce accurate measurements, spacing of the lines, and the speed with which the pattern is moved.

As thge eyes follow the pattern, elaborate equipment measures eye movement and can alert the optometrist to a vision problem.

ANOTHER potential method of diagnosing amblyopia may be to measure the response from the brain which varies with the sharpness of the image on the retina, a technique which would help to determine whether a problem is in the brain or the eye.

It is not know whether the brain response can be used to detect wht the child actually sees, Dr. Fry said, but it can tell whether a clear image is being received by the brain.

A large share of the support for research in diagnosis and treatment of amblyopia has been provided by the Ohio Lions Eye Research Foundation through gifts to the University Development Fund.

"Help from the Lions has been particularly useful in beginning new projects, which then receive funds from other sources after the research is underway," Dr. Fry said.

One sign of amblyopia in children is squinting, he said. "Some parents believe that a squint can be outgrown, so they may ignore the evidence that a serious condition is developing. Before a child enters school, his parents sould have his vision test," he said.

"Babies all squint until about six months of age, but new methods will allow thesting at a critical state-before serious problems can develop."

THE MOST common treatment for amblyopia is to cover the stronger eye to force the weaker eye to strengthen tiself. Other methods of correction in clude surgery, visual training, or the use of glasses, which can prevent the further development of the condition.

Let's Tour Beautiful Ohio

Peninsula Pizzaz Makes Cedar Point A Must Stop

By Jules Sauvageot

IMAGINE the Old West without psychopaths. . .Vaudeville without pratfalls. . .America the Beautiful without Kate Smith--and Down Home without cows.

Oh, there are cows. But they're on the Petting Farm.

MEANWHILE, "America Sings" and "Country Sunshine" filters through tall trees in a single beam.

But that's nothing--the whole point is to leap the 'sixties in a single bound. Backward!

And the place to do that is the Golden Palace Hotel. There, "It's Broadway Again.

KNOWN throughout the Midwestern states and Canada as "the Point," the sprawling funland covers a 500-acre penninsula off Sandusky, Ohio.

The big thing among Midwestern and Canadian families is to "make the Point" at least once a summer.

And despite the largest ride capacity in the world, and a spectacularly authentic "Frontier Trail," it's clear that a lot of families spend half their day taking in the Live Shows.

WELL, Broadway it ain't. But where on Broadway can you ride the Jumbo Jet of the Blue Streak between shows? Where on Broadway can you take the Frontier Lift over the trees, and end up in a shaded amphitheatre under the trees?

And where on Broadway can you take in six mini-extravaganzas in a single day? Over beer, and over some of the best sandwiches this side of Charlie's New York Delicatessen. Which is in New Orleans.

Which takes us back to the Live Shows.

The Live Shows program began in 1968, when Dallas, Tex. producer Charles R. Meeker, Jr. was approached by Cedar Point board chairman Emile A. Legros. Already known for extravaganzas ranging from the Miss Teenage America pageant to Broadway productions, Meeker began auditioning talented college sutdents at eight universities in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

THE VETERAN producer took on all who qualified, and his continuing policy of "building the acts around the talent" has resulted in six consecutive summers of top college talent ranging from singers, dancers and pianists to harpists, magicians, and sketchpad artists.

With Meeker producing, today's Cedar Point Live Shows are managed by a young, intense veteran of the entire six-year Cedar Point program. James Gaertner, 23, majored in math at Ohio's Denision University.

But there's nothing unusual about that, since the young manager estimates that "40 to 45 per cent of our performers aren't music or theatre majors. They're just talented kids."

Sometime-pianist Gaertner has "no hard and fast preconceptions about the shows--no built-in bias about the acts we'll audition.

"If there's talent, we want it."

THIS YEAR'S Live Show talent is all musical, and it's remarkably professional when one considers that the average preparation time for an act is something under a week.

"Our first performers this season arrived on May 15, got their act together, and gave their first performance on opening day, May 19," explans Gaertner.

"Let's face it--they come straight from final exams to Cedar Point. Some get here after we've opened, depending on where they go to school."

This year's Live Show program employs 65 college students and recent graduates--25 technical and production assistants, and 40 performers.

What do they do? Well, what they don't do is play acid rock--or anything, for that matter, that smacks of the drug scene, or the risque or current)pops.

WHAT THEY do is sing, dance and instrumentalize an animated admixture of straight Vaudeville, Zeigfield-style choreography, country and Western, and traditional Broadway.

It's hoaky, it's schmaltzy--and it's aimed right at the hearts of the middle-American families who flock to Cedar Point by the millions each season.

The whole schtick is plenty of action, and plenty of audience rapport.

The nice thing about the entire Live Shows program, says manager Gaertner, is that"it's all just good, wholesome, family fun." The kids work hard and develop their special talents, and many go on to major successes.

The thousands of families who see the shows each year get something special, at not extra cost, besides the usual amusement park fare.

At The Parks This Week

Ralph Ramey, Director of Antioch College's Glen Helen Nature Preserve will present a slide talk on Ohio canoe adventures Wednesday, August 8, in the Sharon Woods Nature Barn at 8 p.m.

Ramey, a skilled canoeist and long-time AYH member, will discuss the better places to canoe in Ohio and will give useful tips for canoeists and kayakists whether they be experts or novices.

Blacklick Woods: The films "Golden Eagle" and "Nature's Birds of Prey" will be shown at 8 p.m. Wednesday, August 8, in Beech-Maple Lodge.

Darby Creek: The films "Beautiful Birds of Ohio" and Nature's Children" are scheduled for showing in Cedar Ridge Lodge Thursday, August 9, at 8 p.m.

Darby Creek: Naturalist Bob Blanke will conduct a story hour for children about the natural history of the park Saturday, August 11, at 10 a.m. on the back porch of Cedar Ridge Lodge.

Blendon Woods: A butterfly walk is set for Sunday, August 5, beginning at the Nature Center at 11 a.m. A tour of the Walden Refuge is conducted each Sunday at 2 p.m. An owl walk begins Friday, August 10, at the Nature Center at 8:30 p.m. A brief indoor program explaining the object of the walk, and what to listen and look for, precedes each walk.

THE BETTER WAY!

Let's Hope We Can Learn

Government-sponsored housing subsidy programs have been extremely costly, have not improved deteriorating neighborhoods, and have not even done a very good job of providing homes for people.

Former Secretary of Housing and Urban Debelopment George Romney calls the federal subsidy programs for low and moderate imcome housing a "$100 billion mistake." They have been beset by mismanagement and scandal.

More than 3,000 housing units were forclosed and more than 12,000 owners were in default in 1970. In 1971 these figures rose to 9,000 and 27,000 In the first six months of 1972 there were 5,995 forclosures and 34,972 borrowers in default.

More than one quarter of the subsidized homes built under the newest housing act passed in 1968 have serious structural faults according to a recent study made by the Genral Accounting Office and 44 per cent of existing buildings bought with federal subsidies had serious structural defects.

Subsidized apartment buildings cost up to 20 per cent more to erect than those financed by private capital.

There is needed a thorough reevaluation and search for alternative housing programs. The federal government has been trying since 1932 to improve housing opportunities for the poor and for those with modest incomes. Many of the programs have been costly failures. It's long past time for Congress to find out what programs will actually provide homes and improve neighborhoods.

Perhaps the best answer will be to rely more heavily on the private housing industry and local government programs.

Golden Age News And Notes

WIEN, AUSTRIA: "Remaining Young in Vienna" is the title of the book distributed by the Vienna Council on Aging for the guidance of all senior citizens. We too got one when we went to interview Martha Foitl, Director of Information for the International Press for Stadt Wien. The book was in German, so there's that senior partner of ours with his dictionary.

Meantime, there are the clever and amusing cartoons in it which seem to say that Senior Citizens in Oeterrich have the same problems as do those in the United States but the characteristic Viennese humor and lightness is much in evidence.

MADAME Foitl speaks excellent English (it's a good thing) and we talked at length on what was being done for us older persons. Many of the activities are the same as in America. Senior Citizen centers are called Warmestuben-literally warming rooms-and were created shortly after the war to provide a place that was warm for a few hours a day and at least a cup of coffee.

Of course they have become clubs filled with the same activities as ours. The State has also made provision for subsidizing carfare, for free tickets on excursions, and for free admission to the State Theatre and the circus.

WHAT Mrs. Foitl spoke of at length and of which she is justifiably proud, was of the "Pensioners Homes" (Senior Citizens Housing Projects). There are now eight of these in operation in Vienna and five more are in various stages of planning and building. Already there is a backlog of six thousand applications waiting placement.

Rent, food, heat, light and gas are provided. The cost for a single person is $200 and somewhat less than double for a couple. If the pension received by the occupant is not adequate to meet this charge, the state makes up the difference.

Every Austrian senior citizen can depend on it that his pension will arrive on exactly the same day every month.

It is the law that he be allowed 20 per cent of the total amount for personal expenses no matter how great the deficiency in meeting his "Pensioner Home" obligations.

All residents eat breakfast together. As you go into breakfast, you deposit your apartment key with the staff. If all the keys are not accounted for, the staff checks on the remaining rooms to see if the occupants are in good health.

Lunch and dinner are brought individually to each apartment on heated trays and slid through a slot provided for it in the wall beside each door.

Everyone has also their own kitchenette in their apartment. A safety feature is that the gas on the stove automatically turns itself off every fifty minutes. The cook can, of course, turn it right back on.

All have the pleasure of their own outdoor "loggias" or balconies as we would call them. There is maid service once a week -"She does the heavy work, no dusting" explained Mrs. Foitl. There is a laundromat in the basement for the cost of ten shillings including soap. This figures out to about 60 cents.

Mrs. Foitl was very regretful that progress has been so slow in building more of these excellent pension homes. She pointed out that it wasn't so much the labor or material costs that were blocking progress but the scarcity of land to put them on. This is most apparent in the city itself where except for the elaborate and beautiful system of public parks, there is scarcely a blade of grass or spot of vacant ground to be seen.

FRANKLIN County is blessed with housing for the elderly but the Council on Aging knows that much, much more has to be done. At present the Council is seeking local funding so that Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission can do a study in housing for Franklin County. Council on Aging knows that there are no alternatives for the person who finds themselves in the middle income retired group - rentals for decent apartments ranging from $60-$140 per month.

As many say "It is better to be poor or rich" in retirement rather than end up in the middle where there are few alternatives open. For information about existing housing for elderly the Council on Aging may be contacted, by calling 461-5668.

Youth Symphony To Have Guest Artist

The All-Ohio Youth Symphony always one of the major musical attractions of the Ohio State Fair, will appear in a "pop" concert, Friday, August 3, at 6 p.m. in the Lausche Building at the Ohio Expositions Center.

The concert will culminate a five-day rehearsal camp in which the Symphony prepares for the 1973 Ohio State Fair.

As an added feature, the well-known Joe Dunlap Trio of Columbus will join the Symphony for a true jazz version of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

It will mark the first time the orchestra has featured a guest artist. Admission to the concert is free.

In addition, the Joe Dunlap Trio will perform a medley from "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

Conducted by Robert Martin of Cincinnati, the 200-piece All-Ohio Youth Symphony is composed of outstanding high-school-age girls and boys selected from throughout Ohio on the basis of their musical ability and acomplishments.

The Symphony will mark its ninth season when it entertains visitors to the 120th Ohio State Fair from August 29 to September 2.

The Ohio State Fair runs for 12 days--from Thursday, August 23, through Labory Day, September 3.

You're Telling Us

The Spectator Newspapers welcome letters from readers, expressing their views on subjects of interest to them -- whether initiated by news stories or editorial expression in this newspaper or not. Because of space limitations, we prefer letters which do not exceed 300 words. All letters submitted for publication must be signed with the writer's name and address, although -- upon request -- the name of the writer can be withheld. Letters should be marked: "To the Editor, Spectator Newspapers, 3124 South Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio 43204" and must be received by Friday noon prior to publication date for possible publication in that week's edition.

International Story Was Superbly Done

To the Editor:

Just a note to thank you and to tell you how much we all enjoyed the marvelous article you (Kathy Devaney) did on our participants from the Columbus Area International Program.

The pictures were absolutely the best newspaper pictures I have ever seen and the article was interesting and informative.

Now that you are so familiar with our program perhaps we can involve you in some of our activities.

Again, many thanks,

Sincerely,
Mrs. Jules Garel

Too Many Stores Spoil The Business

To the Editor:

The Small Business Administration pours millions of tax dollars into starting some individual in a small business knowing full well that the competition from BIG business will have the small business man out of business withing a year.

There used to be a law or city ordinance against a second similar business - for example, a grocery store opening within so many yards of an existing grocery store. If this restriction became 'inoperative' by law or is just ingnored is not known but it should be reinstated.

I make reference to a carry out grocery at Algonquin and West Broad, owned and operated by a property owner in the neighborhood. Three years ago, a Cincinnati based gorcery chain opened a carry-out grocery a short block west on the opposite side of the street. One could hardly quarrel with this; but a few days ago a third carry-out grocery, this time a Cleveland based chain, opened next door to the original grocery.

The cheaply constructed building was built on land purchased by a native of South Carolina who obviously has no concern for the good of the community - just for the profit he can wring out of cut-throat development of our land. AND there are those in the community who will patronize the outsider and make the survivalof the small neighborhood business a joke under "free enterprise."

Sincerely,

F.A. Zetty

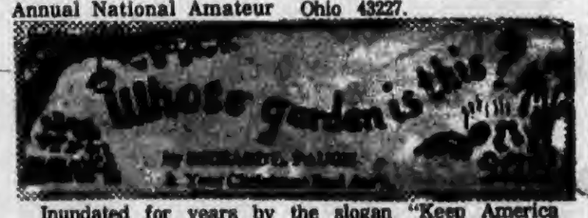
Boxing Queen At State Fair

The Annual "Miss Ohio State Fair Boxing Queen Contest" for single girls between 16 and 21 years of age will be held Thursday, August 16 at Thompson Recreation Center, 1189 Dennison Avenue at 6:30 p.m., according to Amateur Boxing Director, Bill Cummings, Jr.

The Queen and her Court will reign each evening of the Ohio State Fairs' Sixth Annual National Amateur Boxing Championship matches scheduled for Thursday, Friday, Saturday, August 23, 24, 25.

The Boxing Queen will be eligible to compete in the "Miss Ohio State Fair" pageant.

Interested contestants should write for entry blanks to : Boxing Queen Contest; Ohio Youth Commission Recreational Services; 2208 South Hamilton; Columbus, Ohio 43227.



Inundated for years by the slogan "Keep America Beautiful", we must think it was coined by (a) a non-profit group of concerned citizens, or, (b) a bureau of our federal government.

TV screens have been plastered with it for years and magazines carry full-page well-designed ads promoting anti-litter campaigns. Isn't that a nice thing? - Not really.

This nationwide campaign has been conceived and financed by brewers, bottlers and can manufacturers to fight legislation to ban non-returnable drink containers. By convincing publishers and station owners they are eligible for free space and time, their campaign has cost very little compared to the people-lobbying they have accomplished.

THE REATIONALE behind the corporate thinking of the drinksters seem to be that, if they can get citizens to pick up their trash, they can continue to package their product in one-time glass and cans. Swinging in the same hammock with them are the chain store associations and the glass manufacturers.

America is only in the early rounds of a fight to save resources and keep solid waste problems to a minimum. With all-time highs in population being set every day, land-fill space is at a premium. Columbus, Ohio has just contracted to buy 202 acres of empty quarries at $9,000 per acre. One third of that space will be filled with one-time bottles and cans.

..LUXURY DRINKS in one-time containers are paid for many times. When you buy a product in a throw away can or bottle,you buy the container also, paying for the materials and labor that made it. When you throw it away, you pay the trash man to pick it up and then your taxes pay for the landfill he takes it to.

This week in mysupermarket, one dollar spent on Coke in non-returnable 16 Oz.bottles bought 96 ounces of product. One dollar spent on Coke in returnable 16 oz. bottles bought 128 ounces of product If I could just find a way to save 25 per cent on my meat purchases, I'd be quite happy.

AS I HAVE mentioned in this column before, Oregon outlawed the waste of natural resources, natural beauty and energy by banning non-returnable. The fight to pass the law was a real donneybrook. All the might of the retailers, brewers, most soft drink manufacturers, can makers and the whole glass industry was joined in battle against those who wanted to clean up the state.

Corporate ethics are becoming a bit Watergate-ish in the midst of the early rounds of citizen-vs-dirt.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Learn the truth behind corporate thinking. Send $7.95 to Environmental Action Bulletin, Emmaus, Pa. 18049, for a copy of Corporate Country by William H. Rodgers, Jr. It exposes Keep America Beautiful, presticides, detergents, the aluminum industry and atomic plant safety.

Pool Patter

Bexley - Let's meet Ruth E. Harris, receptionist for the Jewish Center outdoor pool complex. Born the fifth of eight children at the Harris farm near Centerburg, and graduating from Sparta High School, she moved to Columbus to learn the restaurant business. For 15 years the owner of Ru-Don's on North High Street at 15th Avenue, Ruth was the one who worried many young professionals through their finals.

Working at the Center has been on a part time basis thus far and what was to be a semi-retirement readventure is rapidly becoming a new way of life.

Among "Roo's" duties at the pool, tiny tots are a favorite teaching assignment. A Red Crosser with current certificates in Senior Life Saving, Basic Sailing, Basic Canoeing, Water Safety Instructor Review, and a holder of a United States Power Squadrons Piloting and Small Boat Handling Certificate, Roo is helping to run a tight ship at the Center.

Most of his subjects are things in nature but some showing at the libarary will be based on his recent trip to Russia.

Proper Sunglasses Use

..Sunglasses are appropriate for daytime driving, but they're way out of style for night drivers. Triple-A says colored lenses limit vision, and contrary to what some folks believe, do not appreciably reduce glare caused by lights of oncoming vehicles.

DOROTHY D. WHITE

KARL S. WALEWSKI

Named Bank Officers

East Columbus - Two residents have been named in promotions by the board of directors of The Huntington National Bank, in an announcement by Arthur D. Herrmann, president.

A total of 774 miles of highway, costing $223,800,000, were completed in Ohio during 1972. This total represents 121 miles of new construction, 50 miles of reconstruction and 583 miles of resurfacing.

According to the U. S. Department of Transportation, Ohio ranks 5th in the nation, behind Texas, California, Illinois and Pennsylvania, with 1,533.97 designated miles of interstate highways.

Contemporary Lifestyles

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

Adri's blouson dress, soft and relaxed in jersey, with top-of-the-hip elastic shirring...shirred at cuffs of long, full sleeves.

AVAILABLE IN LAZARUS' TRENDSETTER SHOP.

ADRI, one of the best young talents, has hit the balance between price and quality in her fall collection. Although this is just the third season for her own business, Adri knows what designing for the contemporary woman is all about...she proved it with her exciting 50 piece collection, presented for the fashion press in New York.

"MY IDEA of a wardrobe is interrelated groups of clothing components, all focused on the contemporary lifestyle," she remarked at her opening. "The components can be put together many different ways because they are meant for the woman who wants to express herself...who packs and goes on a moment's notice...who demands function and flexibility from a minimum of pieces."

ADRI kicked off her show with a sensual blend of textures...pig suede and satin...mole and flannel...glitter knits and velvet...tweed sweaters and leather...feather jersies and fur...all combined in her individual, irresistible way.

For example; suedes are wrapped or bloused but always worked as softly as her favorite jersey. The wrapped suede jacket works for day over a jersey shirt and leather or knit pants...at night it wraps over a long tweed print satin shirtdress. Furs take on a new look in her mole sweater, or big long burgundy mole blouson over flannel pants or pleated jersey skirt...at night devastating over a glitter knit tank dress.

SINCE ADRI is free to select her own fabrics for their look and quality...she works them into the price area that is right for today.

As a professional fashion watcher, I'm a great fan of Adri. I've seen all her collections over the years, and I think her fall 1973 collection is the best she's done!

Damon has designs on your fall nightlife. Long, white wool knit with glittering pink and blue bias plaid skirt. In sizes 6 to 12. $165. From the Wedgwood Room D356 downtown on 3; Eastland also.

The Entertainers At Ramada North

CURRENTLY at the Ramada Inn-North are The Entertainers. They are just that, entertainers. What an appropriate name. Doubeling on just about every instrument in the book, these four fellows sound like a full orchestra. Every member plays trombone, a couple play trumpet, and between the four, you hear organ, piano, keyboard bass, violin, guitar, banjo, saxophone, and flute. There are at least a dozen horns on stage. These are not for decorations either. Every number includes at least two musicians playing at least three instruments each. And, this is the minimum of their arrangements.

John Bringetti does a terrific job with the trumpet, his main instrument. He also handles trombone, organ, piano and bass. Bernie Griffith takes care of violin, banjo, guitar and trombone. Drummer Gil Montalvo is one of the best in the business, very smooth and quite creative with the sticks and brushes. And, just wait until you hear him sing. Wow!

Can this boy sing. His voice is smooth, and velvety, with tremendous tonal quality. Gil knows what to do with his full, rich voice also. Nice stylist on both the ballads and swinging tunes.

Antone Chiechi also plays organ, piano, bass, trombone, trumpet, guitar and drums. He, like Bernie, and all the rest are pure musical experts.

THIS IS the final week for the sexy Jo Kiser at the popular Lincoln Lodge. Jo is as talented as she is beautiful. The crowds love her piano and vocal stylings. Jo is a whole show by herself. You can catch Jo this week from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.

IN THE VOCAL department, each one is equally as good as in the instrumental area.

They all do fine in the solo field and their two, three and four part harmony is tops. The Entertainers even throw in some mighty pleasant barbershop harmonies.

I told you about Gil, but get a load of Bernie's voice, too. He has a wide range, and can also handle any song that's been written.

AS A GROUP, they are, without a doubt, one of the very best I have seen in a lounge. In fact, they are just about the most enjoyable and entertaining I have seen, period.

The Entertainers have excellent stage presence, first rate chorography and darn solid arrangements provided by John and Antone. Their show moves fast and is well paced. Every set is a complete show, playing all types of music from ho downs to Al Jolson with all stops in between. If you love music, this foursome if for you, no matter what kind you like. They play it.

Their instrumental and vocal sounds will send you right into orbit. Everything they do on stage is professional, all the way.

The Entertainers must be seen to be appreciated. All the words in the world can not tell you just how thrilling is their performance. The Entertainers entertain Tuesday through Sunday at the Ramada Inn-North.

Kingswood Inn Has Everything

IN THE PAST several weeks, I have told you about the Kingswood Inn Motel and their literaly fantastic food. I dined there the other evening and again experienced a great gourmet meal. However, this time I want to tell you about the entertainment.

To begin with a delicious five course meal with the bucket of salad, French onion soup and my entree of petit filet of bourdelais, which by the way was a tasty treat in itself. The Bourdelais is chopped tenderloin, in a burgundy sauce containing many ingredients, resulting in a flavor that I can still taste. My dining companion had the Dover Sole Lady Hamilton which contained crab meat, a host of secret ingredients that made it yummy. Flaming Cherries Jubilee was for desert. Simply delicious.

Then came the entertainment. Actually, the trio played all during the dinner. Named, Oui, which is French for, "Yes". And, I'll say, "Yes," to them. Their music is ideal for dining and dancing.

The trio features Roger Hunt on organ, piano and vocals. Roger can play the keyboard like Hank Aaron hits homeruns. Yep, that's how good Roger is on the ole black and whites. Helping Roger to hit musical honeruns are DaveEllis, at the saxophone and drummer Dennis Mizer. Both turn in a top job.

BY THE WAY, Dave also plays clarinet and flute. The three of them make lots of nice music. It is not loud, and their style of using a heavy melody line with simple rythms gets everyone tapping their toes, or even their silverware, like me.

A new dance floor has been added, so if you want to do more than just tap your feet, there is plenty of room.

A trip to the Kingswood Inn Motel, is similar to a travel experience. One great big pleasure. Besides the finest food in this area, always enjoyable entertainment, you experience very relaxing atmosphere and efficient, friendly service. The Kingswood Inn Motel is a place I have to recommend again and again. Take my advice, and visit it soon. One other hint, price wise, they are extremely reasonable for today's prices. I really don't think you can beat them anywhere.

Skipping Around Town

Marty Mellman is back at the Factory. Marty sold the place a year or so ago, but has taken it back over with an all new approach. He has remodeled the Boiler Room into an intimate lounge, and is catering to a much older clientle than before. Currently appearing there is the Dave Scott Duo. This duo appeared at the Sheraton Hotel, downtown. So, kids are gone, adults are back at the Factory. . .My face is red this week. Last week I told you about the Burma Steak House, and how great their steak were for the price. Example, a ten ounce sirloin for $1.99 with salad, potato and Texas toast. Now, last week I said it was on E. Broad, not true, The Burma Steak House is located on Main street just west of Hamilton. . .Caliope is knocking them dead at Marco Polo's Lounge. They have a new female singer with them, who I understand is way out. More on her next week. . .Ronny Graham, starring in the "Odd Coupal the Country Dinner Playhouse, is doing great. Business is good, and people love the show and

Mothering Lion Cubs Isn't An Easy Job

That's what the four girls who operate the new Lion Country Safari Preview Center at Kings Island have found out. It is their job to care for two lion cubs.

"Since the cubs are so cute and cuddly, you have to be extra careful not to spoil them," Karen Gray, 17, manager of the preview center, said. "You have to treat them just like babies, even to the point of discipline at times. A teething lion cub just loves arms and legs."

The two cubs, ages four and eight weeks, were both rejected by their mothers at the Lion Country preserve in Florida and moved to the animal nursery.

"We have the oldest cub almost weaned," Miss Gary said. "She's graduated to small pieces of raw meat and she's gaining five pounds a day now. Pretty soon we won't be able to lift her."

LIKE BABIES, young lions will talk back when distrubed or disgruntled, she said.

"It's funny to hear the cubs 'talk' and practice roaring," Miss Gary commented. "The youngest one seems to be embarrassed when we catch him trying to roar."

Since the cubs sleep about 18 hours a day Miss Gray said she and her staff have to constantly explain to the preview center guests that the cubs are not ill and are behaving perfectly normal.

THE PREVIEW center, which opened several weeks ago, is designed to give park patrons a glimpse of some of the things to be seen when Lion Country Safari opens at Kings Island next spring. Besides the two cubs, the center displays photographs of the African wildlife that will be at the park and Miss Gray and her staff give a continuous description of the new preserve.

General Manager Edward J. McHale said the wildlife preserve will be located on 100 acres just north of the park and patrons will be able to visit the attraction via a monorail. Lion Country will be operated as another attraction during the park's season, but will become a separate attraction in the winter months, he said.

"This will be the most unique wildlife preserve in the country," McHale said. "Park guests will board an on-the-ground monorail and ride right at eye level with some 600 to 800 wild African animals in a natural woodland setting."

MCHALE said the monorail ride will take about 30 minutes over two miles of track. The track, about 15 inches wide and 10 inches high, will "jump" the fences within the preserve to eliminate the need to open and close gates each time a train passes.

At several points along the ride, the train will pass over natural ravines

About 100 species of African wildlife, some on the "rare and endangered" list, will be roaming freely within the preserve. Concealed fences and natural barriers will separate the killer animals, like the 75 lions, from their prey. Specially trained wildlife wardens will be working with the animals in the field as well as in a special nursery, McHale said.

KINGS ISLAND, now in its second season of operation, consists of a theme park, motor inn, campground and two 18-hole golf courses. The complex is located along Interstate 71 north of Cincinnati.

"ONE MORE photograph and I'm going to scream," says Buda, an eight-week-old lion cub at Kings Island. Diane Roberts, a hostess in the park's Lion Country Safari preview center, says lion cubs, like children, can be very impatient at times, especially during photographic sessions. They Light Up The Sky

Heymakers Don't Need Sunshine

By Ray Adams

ONE OF THE swingingest groups to come down the musical pike in a long time in the Columbus area are now appearing at the Country Dinner Playhouse.

They call themselves "The Heymakers" and appear every evening in a great musical interlude that precedes the theatre performances.

ALL ARE headed toward musical careers and there's not a sour note in the group, meaning disposition, energy, dedication and talent.

Dorris Cass, the do-everything-gal at the Playhouse, personally auditioned the individual singers who make up the group. The group originated here and so far have managed faily well to stay intact, losing only two members the past seven weeks.

They all double as the waitresses and waiters who play host to the cusomters and have been known to whistle many a happy tune as they wend their merry way between the tables.

ALL HAVE individual talent but also blend well as a unit, which is gratifying to the ear as they harmonize between the many solo efforts.

Rick Geyer, Captial University graduate from Galloway, Ohio.

Robert (Bob) Gemienhardt, Lancaster.

Al Simonds, Ohio State student from Granville.

THEIR CURRENT medley of "Oliver" broadway tunes is spectacular. The solos and duets and group work have tenderness and feeling and they also bring alot of life to the bouncy bits of the score.

Rick Geyer summed it up this week when he noted, "We each know the direction in which we plan to travel along the road to our musical careers. I like to think that I have learned a lot each night we perform by sensing the enjoyment that the group is performing. There's a certain magic in knowing that everyone around you is eager to help each other's career by giving one hundred percent each time."

WHATEVER directions their paths travel in the future it's certain that what they have accomplished here in such a short time will have an impact somewhere along the way.

Graham's performance. . For something different, it's the Taj Mahal on West Broad St. Their food is beautiful. Cusine from India is featured, along with middle eastern music and the belly sway in the Marem Lounge. This is a must on your entertainment menu. . .A place to eat, that's hard to beat is the Dobbs House at the Airport. Their food is delicious. Menu for the kiddies, too. Also, their menu containes everything from a simple sandwich to a feast. Kids of all ages love to dine there and watch the planes land and take off. Mom and Dad can have their choice of all legal beverages, also. The Dobbs House is so relaxing. Try it, you'll like it, be it for a snack or a big porterhouse steak. . .See you Around Town this week. I'll be at the Factory, Marco Polo's, Holiday Inn Reynoldsburg and to Kings Island. Watch next week's column for the latest at the places.

HOT SPOTS

Have you ever been to a lake for the first time and as you walked up to the dock you saw fishermen getting out of their boat with two or three nice bass or some guys in another boat witha stringer full of walleyes.

Chances are it wasn't their first time at the lake and they know where the hot spots are and once they find them they concentrate on those areas. I fished Hargus Lake near Circleville one morning and caught only one bass.

The following week when I returned, I love the challange, I said to myself why start fishing where I began last week, why not head out to the spot where I caught the bass. I did and after about five minutes of casting artificials I landed another bass equal in size to the one caught the week before.

Did you know when a bass finds a good place to feed he will take it his home and stay there until he's taken out.

When he's gone another bass will move in about the same size. In my case the bass was laying near an undercut bank at the mouth of a cove. Next time out try fishing the same spot you had luck first time there and you'll have fishermen watch you come in the dock one day and say, "That guy must have a hot spot."

YOU CAN become a better fisherman if you mark the spot, that's right, when you catch a nice fish, remember and mark the spot, it will be a lot easier to find the next time you come back.

You know once you find where the good spots are, you've got it made if you concentrate your fishing efforts on the most productive places.

Sometimes it's not as easy as it sounds when your fishing from a boat.

You've got to take time out and mark the position in your mind each time you catch a fish. Mark with a cabin, the tallest tree, or just about anything you can remember on shore. If your on a big lake in open water and can't see a landmark, use your anchor to feel bottom of the lake. It's a lot cheeper than an electronic depth finder. More work but it gets the job done. Bottom sounding for those hidden drop offs will help to locate your position next time back.

I WAS fishing Hoover Reservior one day and wanted to find the old stream bed, so I used my ten pound anchor that has a fifty foot rope attached. The stream bed was hard and I could feel the gravel and rocks. When I moved off the stream bed I could feel only the soft mud bottom. Just remeeber when you do find a hot spot, take the extra time to fix your position.

EAST HARBOR CAMPGROUND

If you want to cash in on some great walleye fishing and enjoy camping at the same time, you might try East Harbor campground located on Marble head Peninsual, 7 miles east of Port Clinton, this park is in the center of the famous Lake Erie vacationland area.

Central feature of the park is the two-mile, white sandy beach with its modern bathhouse and concessions. The class "A" facility includes 570 family campsites and 30 group campsites. Restrooms have flush toilets and showers and coin operated laundry facilities in the wash house. The lake offers unlimited boating opportunities and there are many boats and fishing guides for hire. There is a complete commissary on the area and a nature program during the summer season.

SNAKES IN OHIO

Don't persecute the misunderstood cold blooded snake. You should learn to recognize snakes as you do other kinds of wildlife. Practically all Ohio snakes are useful and beneficial.

Snakes are secretive and they prefer to move away when disturbed or molested. Like other groups of animals, snakes have some special characteristics.

They hibernate in the winter and during their active period, they feed on live animal life such as small rodents, birds, frogs, toads, salamanders, insects and worms.

The lower jaws are hinged to permit swallowing large prey. Their teeth are tiny and hooked back in the mouth to hold food items. The forked otongue is not a stinger but is used as a feeler.

Some Ohio snakes lay eggs, while others give birth to living young which hatch from eggs retained within the females body. Most Ohio snakes are born in late summer or early fall. The young snake develop rapidly and must shed their skin to take care of this growth. Most snakes shed several times a year.

SQUIRREL HUNTING

With the approach of the squirrel season on September 7, over anxious hunters are reminded that hunting during the closed season can be costly. Complaints so far have been few, according to Fred A. Schob, Law Enforcement Supervisor for the Divisoin of Wildlife, District One in central Ohio, "But if the trend continues as it has in past years, there will be a marked increase during August and the first week of September in the number of complaints turned in by law-abiding sportsmen and landowners".

"Every complaint is checked out thouroughly" said Schob, "and with a full compelemnt of officers in the District we expect to have a high ratio of arrests for the complaint's received. Four arrests have already been made and more are expected as officers complete their investigations."

The squirrel season extends from Septbemer 7 through November 10, 1973 on private lands and September 7 through December 22 on State public hunting areas. Hunting is permitted from daylight to dark with a daily bag limit of four and a total possession limit, after the first day, of eight.

CENTRAL OHIO FISHING REPORT

INDIAN LAKE-Normal at spillway level, 78 F. Anglers are taking channel catfish on nightcarwlers and cut shad and crappies on minnows throughout the lake A few white bass, largemouth bass and walleye are also being taken on both live and artificial baits. Night fishing is most productive either from the bank or while drifting in a boat. Outlook-fair to good.

KISER LAKE-Clear and normal at 75 F. Good numbers of walleye are being taken from the deeper portions of the lake on nightcrawlers, minnows and artificial lures. Lamar Bronne, of nearby St. Paris, caught 4 walleye ranging from 16 to 24 ¾ inches. An occasional largemouth bass is being caught on soft craws and nightcrawlers from the dam and along the northeastern shoreline. Good catches of nice sized channel catfish are reported being taken on nightcrawlers, dough and soft craws fished on the bottom from the access piers. Outlook-good.

KNOX LAKE-Clear and normal at 79 F. Largemouth bass, crappie and bluegill are being taken throughout the lake. The bluegills are being caught on wax worms, crappies on minnows and the largemouth on soft craws and artificials. An occasional muskie is being taken from the south end of the lake by trolling with a deep running artificial lure. Outlook-good.

HOOVER RESERVOIR-Normal and clear at 75 F. Walleye are being taken on artificials and spinners tipped with worms while trolling in 5 to 15 feet of water. Good numbers of largemouth bass are being caught on minnows and artificial nightcrawlers by both boat and shore anglers in the north end of the lake. Bank fishermen are catching carp on dough balls and catfish on worms and cut shad. Outlook-good.

DELAWARE RESERVOIR--Normal and clear at 75 F. Channel catfish and bullheads are being taken throughout the reservoir on nightcrawlers and soft craws.

Carp are being caught on dough balls and shrimp by bank fishermen. Both shore and boat anglers are catching bluegill on worms and largemouth bass on minnows and artificials. Outlook-fair to good.

HARGUS LAKE-Slightly high and rolly at 76 F. Fair catches of bullheads are reported being taken

Labor Facts

"Basketball, which is known as the game of the ghetto, has provided the means to a college education for many athletes, particularly black players. About 50 percent of college basketball players receive some sort of financial aid," according to an article in the U.S. Department of Labor's "Occupational Outlook Quarterly."

But Kiwanis Wins

Impossible Dream Was Shattered 10-4

by Sandy Schwartz

EASTERN Kiwanis failed in its quest to become the first undefeated team in Bexley Little League baseball history as they were cut short by Drexel Theatre 10-4 in last week's feature finale.

Despite their dubbing, Kiwanis won a clean sweep of round two, thanks to a Divine Realtors 5-3 victory over Hanna Pant, denying Hanna a share of round two honors.

COUPLE that with an undisputed first round championship and Kiwanis will accept all of the honors at tonight's Little League picnic at Jeffrey Park.

Rob Alexander cooled those Kiwanis bats and not even Rick Fisher's triple and Steve Hill's three rbi's could rattle cool Rob. Tony Mayo was superb on defense as was Jim Sophos, and Alexander and company swung heavy bats in the victory cause.

TOM MASON was the big gun in that Divine win. Trailing 3-2 in the fifth, Mason skyrocketed a homerun shot to deep rightfield with a man aboard to lift Divine to that upset victory. George Ganter also homered later in that inning to ice the win and back the solid pitching of Doug Divine.

In the other game last week, A. O. Wing nicked the Bexley Lions Club 2-0 on the pitching of Dan Roslovich and Todd Leehnert. Those two combined for 15 strikeouts as Ed Rice and John Schwaab accounted for the hitting margin. Dutch Gordon had a pair of hits for the losers.

A special featured highlight at tonight's picnic will be the announcement of six recipients, one from each team, for the Little League sportsmanship awards.

Diabetes Skate-A-Thon At Two Rinks Aug. 7

The Women's Auxiliary of the Central Ohio Diabetes Association will hold it's First Annual Diabetes Skate-A-Thon at the United Skates of America's East Rink, 3362 Refugee Rd. and the North Rink at 4900 Evanswood Dr. Tuesday August 7, from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m.

The purpose of the Skate-A-Thon is to raise funds to send diabetic children to camp. These children learn more about their condition and how to control and understand their disease and are taught to give their own insulin injections.

The cost is approximately $75 to send a child to camp for one week.

Donation is $2 per person.

Door prizes will be awarded every half hour at both Rinks and there will be live bands at both Rinks.

The Kinship at the North Rink will play from 9 p.m. till 1 a.m. and the "Tall Timber" from 8 p.m. till 10:30 p.m. and the "Melon Jelly", 11 p.m. till 2 a.m. Tickets are available at the door.

They'll Not Stand And Wait - But Serve

Summer Figure Skating At Iceland Arena Aug. 4-5

EAST COLUMBUS-The First Columbus Summer Figure Skating Competition will be held at Iceland Arena, 3420 Olentangy River R., on Saturday, August 4 and Sunday, August 5.

There will be 170 skaters from 114 states entering 248 events. It is sanctioned by the United States Figure skating Association.

A unique medallion depicting the city of Columbus has been especially designed for the competition, and will be awarded the top three winners in each event. Events to be skated are: free skating programs, interpretive programs, compulsory programs, bronze Dances, silver Dances, Gold Dances and open Dances.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets are available at the Iceland Area.a, and will be available at the door.

Bexley Football Program Starting

First practice session starts Monday, August 6 at 5:30 at St. Catherine's playground for Bexley Youth Football. Registration is still open for Bexley youth ages 8 thru 12.

Any youth, teenagers or adults who would like to coach or assist the Bexley Youth Sports Association in supporting this program are urged to do so.

Two clinic and two traveling league teams will be formed this year. Contact Dick Holtfreter, 252-0321 or Pat Patterson, 237-8386 for further information.

District Attorneys Participate In Economic Crime Control

FRANKLIN County Prosecuting Attorney George Smith is one of 15 District Attorneys participating in a national program to expand the investigation and prosecution of economic crimes–including consumer fraud, embezzlement, organized crime, political crimes and crimes involving computers.

The Committee on Economic Crime, formed last May by the National District Attorneys Association, has received a one-year grant of $532,175 from the U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Agency (L.E.A.A.).

In nine of the participating cities–including Columbus–the grant will permit prosecutors to add a full-time special assistant for economic crimes to their staffs. The other six cities will receive substantial increases in support for their already operating economic crime prosecution programs.

THE ACADEMY for Contemporary Problems and Battelle Memorial Institute, which supported the Committee through the organizational stage, will continue to provide research support and technical and information services.

John Conrad, the Academy's Senior Fellow in Crime and Justice, and Herbert Eledherts, a research scientist at Battelle's Law and Justice Study Center in Seattle, will coordinate these support services.

The Committee's Director is Nathaniel E. Kossack, formerly Inspector General of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Deuputy Assistant Attorney General in the Criminal Division, U.S. Department of Justice.

IN ADDITION to Columbus, participating cities are Los Angles, Sacramento and SanDiego, California; Miami, Florida; Wichita, Knasa; Baltimore, Maryland; Flint, Michigan; Omaha, Nebraska; Brooklyn, Buffalo and Nassau County, New York; Houston, Texas; Burlington, Vermont; and Seattle, Washington.

Besides supporting special prosecution programs in these cities, the Committee on Economic Crime will establish a national information network to alert District Attorneys and the public in other cities to emerging types of economic crime and to the results of the Committee's work.

Patrick Healy, Executive Director of the N.D.A.A., said the Committee's success will be measured by the degree to which participating cities increase their identification, investigation and prosecution of economic crime.

SMITH and the other Committee members will hold two working sessions during the annual N.D.A.A. summer conference in Snowmass, Colorado, on August 8 and 9.

Vibe Man Swings At Music In Air

Lionel Hampton and his Orchestra will fill the air with music at Franklin Park Sunday, August 5. The free concert will be held in East High School if it rains.

At 7 p.m., Tom Battenberg's Big Band Sound will fill the air at Schiller Park and Ted Heaton's Stage Band will entertain at Westgate Park. These free concerts will be held in the park recreation centers in case of rain.

Wednesday, August 8 on the State House lawn you can hear Tex Wheeler's Country and Western Group from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

These free Music in the Air concerts are sponsored by the Greater Columbus Arts Council with funds provided by the City of Columbus and the Music Performance Trust Funds, and in cooperation with the United Community Council, the Columbus Department of Recreation and Parks, and the Ohio Arts Council.

ASSIGNED

Airman First Class Calvin E. Edgerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Edgerton, 1763 E. Sycamore St., has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force communications specialist course conducted by the Air Force.

The airman, who learned to operate teletypewriter equipment used in the worldwide Air Force communications system, is being assigned to Dover AFB, Del., for duty with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service.

Safe Travel Tips Should Be Heeded

The passengers in a car can affect the chances for completing a trip safely. Here are some tips on how to be an asset to the driver from J. David Ryan, general manager of Columbus Automobile Club.

1. Don't distract the driver with sudden outbursts about what's going on around him unless an emergency arises you think he hasn't seen.

2. Don't be a sleepy companion, unless you're the "relief" driver and resting up for your turn at the wheel. Sleepiness is contagious; conversation helps keep the driver alert.

3. Know where you're going and how to get there. Learn to read a map. Guiding the driver relieves him of a major problem, especially if the trip is into an area new to him.

4. Be ready to help the driver with "little things," like finding a cigarette, which might distract him.

5. Keep an eye on the driver. If he appears to be tiring, offer to take the wheel, or at least suggest a rest stop. A rest every two to three hours always is a good idea.

6. Keep children and pets under control. They can be a major source of driver distraction, especially on long trips.

7. Don't do anything you wouldn't want done if you were the driver.

Tar Hollow State Park Once Considered Badland

Rugged Hills, Ravines

EDITOR'S NOTE: Ohio has 62 state parks, but most Ohioans are familiar with only a few of the parks and the opportunities for outdoor recreation that they offer. This is one of a series of stories designed to make Ohioans more aware of what their state parks have to offer.

Tar Hollow State Park and Forest, located in a region once considered "badlands" by some Indian tribes because of the deep ravines and rugged hills of the area, remain in a nearly primitive state, unspoiled by development.

REMOTELY situated 25 miles southeast of Circleville on the Ross-Hocking-Vinton County line, Tar Hollow is an ideal location for those seeking the wilderness.

"A beautiful place." "Perfect for primitive camping." "great for horseback riding.

Those are some of the comments made by Ohioans vacationing at the 540-acre park located in the 16,126 acre Tar Hollow State Forest.

Tar Hollow also is "a hiker's delight," says Frank Lomax, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' office of recreation and resource management.

"HIKING expeditions by Boy Scout troops and organizations such as the American Youth Hostel are very popular at Tar Hollow," Lomax says.

The park and forest area is interlaced with 21.9 miles of trails, including the 16-mile Logan Trail and a portion of the Buckeye Trail.

The trails traverse scenic routes along valley streams, at places ascending some 200 feet to easy-to-walk ridges.

"THE ABUNDANCE of vegetation and wildlife along the trails provide an excellent setting for learning about nature," says park manager Marvin Mace.

Preservation of the area was initiated in the early 1930s under the Resettlement Act. In 1939 a dam was constructed to impound 15-acre Pine Lake, and a group camping area was built.

THE AREA was administered by the Division of Forestry of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station until 1949 when the Ohio Department of Natural Resources was formed. At that time, the department's division of parks and recreation began operating the park. The division of forests and preserves maintains and controls the forest.

The Four Hills Group Camping area, located in the center of the park, has a large meetinghall with a kitchen and four groups of cabins. There are seven cabins, each sleeping eight people, and one washhouse in each group. There also is a beach in the area.

THE GROUP camping area is availalbe by reservation only from May 1 to November 1. Preference is given to groups of 175 or more from Memorial Day to Labor Day. Groups of 60 or more may reserve the area when it is available.

In addition to the group camping area, Tar Hollow has 90 Class B family campsites, a popular 20-site primitive camping area and a 20-site horsemen's camping area. The horsemen's camping area is located near the beginning of the forest's 10 miles of bridle trails.

NUMEROUS picnic areas with shelter houses, tables and grills are located throughout the park, including one near the public beach at the north end of Pine Lake.

Lifeguards are on duty at the beach from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Bluegill and other panfish provide good sport fishing at Pine Lake. Boats with electric motors are permitted on the lake.

The park has a naturlist program which provides an outdoor education opportunity for the entire family.

NATURALIST Elaine Neufarth is on duty six days a week., offering a junior naturalist program (ages 7-10), a naturlist aide program (ages 11-15), organizing day and night hikes for adults and children and guiding automobile tours through scenic areas of the park-forest complex.

A number of park lookout spots offer scenic views of the rugged, backwoods timber country. Mount Logan, which is depicted on the Great Seal of Ohio, is easily visible from Brush Bridge Fire Tower.

THE PARK amphitheater provides a setting for campfire programs and family movies at night.

Near the amphitheater is a nature center housing a display of small animals, including a red-tailed hawk rescued after being crippled by a gunshot would.

The interesting name Tar Hollow origniated from the area's native pitch pine trees. Pine tar, extracted from the knots of heartwood of the pitch pine, was an essential commodity in early Ohio households. The pine tar was used for medical purposes and was mised with such substances as lye soap for use as a disinfectant.

Tar Hollow is 60 miles south of Columbus and east of Chillicothe on State Route 327. It is a worthwhile place to visit, whether for a nature study trip, an all-day picnic, a weekend campout or an afternoons drive.

Republican Club To Help Retarded

The Capital City Young Republicans Club is sponsoring a picnic Sunday, August 5, for mentally retarded young people.

The picnic will take place at Breezewood Acres, a 116-arce retreat operated by the Franklin County Council for Retarded Children, Inc. near Sunbury, Ohio.

Attending the picnic will be the young retarded persons who are enrolled in the Council's Citizen Advocacy program and the volunteers who work with them on a one-to-one basis to help them develop to their fullest capacities and live as "normally" as possible.

Volunteer advocates are trained to understand the problems of mental retardation and to use that knowledge in a close friendship with one mentally retarded young person.

The advocate's job is to serve as a guide, counselor, and special friend to his mentally disabled protege.

Members of the Young Republican public service committee arranged for food, entertainment, and prizes for the picnic. Area residents serving on the committee include: Linda Litteral, 459 S. Waverly; Patricia Umbleby, 745 Sheridan Avenue; and Richard and Bonnie Brown, 1096 Fountain Lane and Carol Porter, 2068 Commons Rd., No., Reynoldsburg.

Firemen Planning Fish Fry Aug. 11

The Jefferson Township Firefighters' Association is having a fish fry on Saturday, August 11, from 5:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Firehouse, 6620 Havens Corner Rd., Blacklick.

The menu includes ocean perch, deep-fried in a special, exclusive, light batter, baked beans, cole slaw, rolls, pie, coffee, milk and soft drinks.

Proceeds from the fish fry will be used to purchase equipment to be used in fire service and emergency victim care.

The new All-Terrain Vechicle recently purchased by the Firefighters' Association with similar funds will be on display.

This tracked vehicle will be invaluable in fighting grass fires and in rescue operations on muddy and rough terrain impassable to trucks.

The Jefferson Township Firehouse is located at 6670 Havens Corners Road, just west of Reynoldsubrg-New Albany Road. All fish-loving citizens are invited to bring their families to enjoy this special occasion.

Sgt. Parker In TAC Show

U.S. Air Force Sergeant Roger A. Parker of 1823 Penfield Road, represented the Tctical Air Command (TAC) in the vocal group category at the world-wide Air Force Talent Contest at Lackland AFB, Tex., recently.

Sergeant Parker, a liquid oxygen specialist with the 4th Supply Squadron at Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., was a featured performer in the TAC show presented during the week-long competition at Lackland.

He earned a spot in the Air Force contest by winning a previous competition at his base and the TAC finals.

The MCL Cafeterias Board of Directors has made some organizational changes and promotions.

Charles O. McGaughey, former President and Chief Executive Officer, is the new Chairman of the Board.

Charles Chandler was promoted to President, formerly holding three corporate offices of Executive Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer.

Formerly Controller, Wayne Kinman is the new Treasurer.

Craig McGaughey was promoted to the office of Secretary of the Corporation, from Director of Marketing and Advertising.

Ohio State Prepares For New Students

Ohio State University has begun a 7-week program of preparing new students for the start of their university work next fall.

OFFICIALS of University College, the entry point for new enrollees, are laying plans to provide summer orientation, testing and class scheduling programs for some 7,000 freshmen and transfer students.

In addition, the campus has scheduled orientation programs for parents during the same period, and 2,000 are expected to take part.

Twenty-six separate programs are scheduled through Aug. 10.

Some 250 new students will come to the campus daily for their 2-day sessions. Initial event for most and parents will be a post-luncheion meeting at Room 144, Bevis Hall, on the west campus. Vice President John T. Mount, dean of University College, will discuss the role of the college in introducing the students to the Columbus campus.

SIMILAR programs are planned also at the university's regional campuses, starting June 29 at Lima and Mansfield, and July 6 at Marion and Newark. At the university's Agricultural Technical Institute, Wooster, programs are set for Aug. 16 and Sept. 12.

Other campus events for the new students will include mathematics and English placement tests, proficiency examinations, planning of class schedules, student life programs and various recreational activities.

"The credit by examintaion program, through which students can earn credit toward graduation, is getting particular emphasis in the testing program this year," Mr. Mount said. "An increasing number of students each year use this means to obtain university credit."

THE OFFICE of Student Affairs will provide programs on student life, including seesion on housing, the University Health Service, counseling and consultation services, veterans information, student rights and responsibilities, the Campus Ministry Association, plus tours.

Faculty members and their wives or husbands will be on hand to talk informally with each parents' group at a social hour and dinner. University Women's Club members and husbands will be hosts at the social hour.

"We have extended a special invitation to parents in the Columbus area to attend these events," Mr. Mount said, "even if they are unable to take part in the full parents' orientation program. The social hour will start at 5:30 p.m. and the dinner at 6:15, both in the west cafeterial of Morrill Tower, 1900 Cannon Dr."

STUDENTS and parents who attend the program will have overnight accommodations in Morrill Tower.

On hand to help both students and parents and to serve as guides will be 15 student assistants selected from among 125 applicants for the orientation assistants' positions.

Autumn quarter classes start Sept. 26 at Ohio State.

Playground News

East Columbus–Horseshoe tournaments and physical fitness contests were the big events of last week. Any youngsters 6-18 years old can still participate in the physical fitness test and receive an A.A.U. certificate upon successful completion of the test.

Any youngster interested in being in the up-coming Drama Pageant at the Ohio Theatre should contact their nearest playground now.

This week's top attractions include the City Track and Field Championship and a very special pantomine show to be presented by the Central Ohio Drama Company Mime Troupe. The presentation will be held on Friday, July 27 at 2 p.m. at Barnett Center.

BARNETT

Ecology Drive

Friday, July 13, eighteen youngsters scoured the playground in search of papers, cans, glass, and other debris. All items were given a point value and were counted when the children were recalled for the finish. Congratulations go to the first place team that consisted of Tami Prater, Tina Woodrum, and Pam Prouse who earned 1,089 points. Second place winners were Paul McIlwaine, Terry Devaney, and Diane Star who scored 8911 points while the third place team, Ronnie and Chipper Thompson, earned 856 points.

FOLLOWING the hot and invigorating ecology drive was a great cooling water balloon battle in which all willingly participated.

This week the boys' intermediate softball team beat Courtright with a score of 6 to 3.

The girls' senior softball team had their first game at Willis Park Thursday July 19, 1973 with a loss of 25 to 6.

SCOTTWOOD

..THIS past week at Scottwood playground has been a busy one for our athletes. A track meet was held last Wednesday. Scottwood had many participants and came away with several winners in the various events. Softball too, has been part of the busy schedule with both boys and girls teams victorious in their respective games.

Arts and crafts too, have been active. The late programs in art have included qimp, weaving and painting.

THE TRAVELING Zoo and the Horseshoe Tournament were also part of the busy week.

PINECREST

Pinecrest's minor girls softball team beat Scottwood 7 to 6. Beth Brown, Marianne Marshall, and Susie Elkins all had good games.

Flickinger To Resign As Parks Head

Bexley--Ted Flickinger; director of Bexley Parks and Recreation Department, has announced his intention to resign the position effective Oct. 15. He will become a member of the Ohio State University staff, teaching courses on parks and recreation in the School of Natural Resources, College of Agriculture.

Flickinger looks forward, he says, to not only teaching in his field but also doing research, and working on his dissertation for his doctorate. "I want to help upgrade the parks and recreation program." "And," he added, "it is a fairly new field and has much chance for advancement."

Flickinger has been the first parks and recreation director for Bexley and has held the position for five years. He states that a fitting close to his Bexley career might possibly come in early October, if the department should come out first among four semi-finalists in a national municipal parks and recreation competition.

The director says that he is happy that he will be able to stay in the community and watch the plans for improving Jeffrey park, made during his administration, come to possible fruition.

Flickinger is a former Wooster native who got his B. Sc. and Master of Science degrees at Southern Illinois University.

Foundation Funds Are Allocated

East Columbus - A net total of $42,538,054.23 was allocated in July to Ohio's 615 city, exempted village and local school districts, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported recently.

The gross July State School Foundation subsidy payment amounted to $61,132,699.67. However, the actual amounts the school districts received were reduced by direct state payments to the teachers' and school employes' retirement systems and to the county boards of education.

The State Teachers' Retirement System received $14,126,482.87, and the School Employes' Retirement System received $3,024,474.00 as the employers' share of the pension programs, Ferguson said. The 88 county boards of education shared in $1,443,688.57 for the month.

The 182 city school districts were allocated $21,717,346.79, while the 384 local school districts were allocated $18,552,822.37 and the 49 exempted village school districts $2,267,885.07 in the July disbursement, the Auditor noted.

State School Foundation subsidy payments are sent to the 88 county auditors, who, in turn, distribute the amounts due the districts within the respective counties.

Amounts allocated in July to the districts in this area were: Bexley City School District, gross amount of $46,779.10 and net amount, $26,055.64; Columbus, gross, $2,504,971.34 and net, $1,678,732.57. Whitehall City Schools, received a gross of $122,376.71 and net of $82,587.96; Madison Local School District received a gross amount of $222,657.82 and a net amount of $178,899.81.

The differences between the gross and net amounts are the deductions made toward retirement funds for school employees and the state teachers retirement system.

The total amount paid out to Franklin County Schools was $3,148,781.87.

Honors Two City Employees

Whitehall Council Okays Rezoning, Trust Funds

Whitehall-At the Whitehall City Council's meeting last night, several rezoning cases were considered, trust funds and architects' fees were authorized for fire department and community center projects, an outstanding firefighter and policeman were honored.

The controversial ordinance for rezoning of land located at the northeast corner of Fairway Boulevard and Hamilton Rd. for granting a special permit to Atlantic Richfield to conduct a gasoline sales operation was reconsidered. This is the measure which was given a first read at the May 3 meeting and which Mayor John Bishop vetoed on July 3, when it was given it's third reading. Both the mayor and the council agreed to reconsider the ordinance at the yesterday's meeting. The outcome was not available before press time for this issue of the Spectator.

The Planning Commission reported a favorable recommendation on the rezoning of a 2.142 acre portion of Ashland Inc. (northeast corner of Fairport Apartment area) from A-2 (apartment district) to C-2 (office and limited business district) with the condition that a parking plan must be submitted and approved. A public hearing on this issue was to be set for early September.

Third reading was also given the ordinance which would allow a special permit under C-4 zoning (intensive and automotive oriented commercial district) to allow the operation of a Tri-City Motors used car lot on land located at 3970 E. Main St.

Second reading was made of the ordinance for rezoning the 2.142 acre portion of Asnuno, Inc. from A-2 to C-2 as mentioned above, so that offices and limited business district could be built.

Also considered were the ordinances for repeal of the residency requirements for fire department and police department personnel.

OTHER SECOND readings dealt with allowing the mayor to hire an architect to prepare plans and specifications for the remodeling of the present police station for use by the fire department, and also with determining to proceed with the improvement of Wright Ave. from Hamilton Rd. west to Bernhard Rd., complete with change of grade, grading, curbing and paving, also the construction of sidewalks, storm sewers, water mains and sanitary sewers.

At the Tuesday council meeting, first reading was given to an ordiance providing for the establishment of a fire department building trust fund and the transferring of $60,000 from the general revenue sharing trust fund to this fire dept. fund.

COMMUNITY CENTER PLANNED

First reading was given to an ordinance authorizing the mayor to contract for architects' services for preparation of plans, through the schematic diagram stage, for a community center, and authorizing payment not to exceed $16,000 for these services. The center will be located on Beechwood Ave.

ALSO PROPOSED was the establishment of a community center capital improvement trust fund starting with the transferring of $50,000 from the general revenue sharing trust fund to this community center fund.

A franchise to Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. for construction, maintainance and operation of lines through the streets, avenues, etc. of Whitehall was considered, as were the following measures: the purchase of insurance for hazards arising out of the city's operations; appropriating two sums, $2,000 and $1000 from different funds for use of the recreation department and the possible rezoning of land located on the north side of Wright Ave. and west of Ponderosa Steak House from R-3 to C-4, to permit the use of a parking lot and or apartment-office of a commercial building for income-production purposes.

NORMAN W. EADER

the Whitehall City Council introduced resolutions honoring two of their civic employees for their excellent performance of duties.

Norman W. Eader was recognized by the Council as "Outstanding Firefighter of 1973." Chief James Nessley of the Whitehall Fire Department states that Eader was chosen for the honor because of his devotion to duty and fine attitude toward his work. Eader has been firefighter with the department for nine years.

Larry J. Meade was named "Outstanding Police Patrolman of 1973" by the council. A member of the Whitehall Police Department for less than two years, he was the first member of the Whitehall force to attend the Columbus Police Academy, a year ago. Meade is enthusiastic about his work and about Whitehall as a place to live and work.

Each received engraved plaques and in addition, three days vacation with pay.

Brutus Leads Coed

EAST COLUMBUS—Delores Humes, blind student at University of San Diego, steps out at a lively pace, with the aid of her Pilot Dog and her four weeks' training at Pilot Dogs, Inc. The East Columbus Lions Club, due to the cooperation of East end merchants and citizens in supporting the annual Spaghetti Dinner and White Cane Sale, was able to present a check for $1800 to Pilot Dogs for her scholarship and dog, Brutus. Delores has now returned home to San Diego where she is planning to move off campus to a private apartment and work part time. Her increased off-campus mobility was gained as a result of the East Lions project. This is the second dog and scholarship presented by the club.

Proudly displaying their four trophies, proof of their prowess in the meet, are coaches of the Liv-Mor Heights swim teams, Bessie Stager, left, and John (Sid) Agnew.

New Generation Singers Bring Message Of Love

EAST COLUMBUS—Shown above are 70 young men and women of the "New Generation Singers." Their message is a message of love, for God, for country, and for mankind, in that order. They are from St. Joseph, Mo. and will present "It's Getting Late", encompassing dialogue, skits, choreography staging and lighting to implement the message of contemporary religious, social and political problems young people face today. They are presently making appearances in various churches as they tour to New York and Washington D. C. this summer. The East Columbus Christian Church, 1955 McNaughten Road, will be sponsoring the appearance of this group for one night only, Sunday, August 12, at 8 P.M. The public is cordially invited to the musical.

Speaking Spanish In Mexico

East Columbus—A group of students from St. Joseph Academy, 331 E. Rich St., left recently for a two-week trip to Mexico. Mrs. Richard Brommer, 826 Sheridan Avenue, who teaches Spanish at the Academy, and her husband are serving as chaperones on this fourth trip into Mexico taken by students from St. Joseph.

The studenets taking the trip are : Vicki Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morris of 185 Meadowlark Lane; Vicki Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott of 1264 Grovewood Road; Betsy Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt of 921 Fairway Blvd; Sharon Morris, daughter of Mrs. Gail Morris of 1039 W. Second Avenue; Becky Stevens, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Stevens of 147 E. Deshler St.; Terri Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Anderson of 4702 Hilton Ave.; Susan Cannon, daughter of Mrs. Patricia Fannin of 1916 Walnut Hill Park Drive.

During their stay in Mexico the students are traveling throughout the Yucatan Peninsula where they are visiting such places as the Maya ruins of Chicken Itza, Uxmal, Palenque, Tehauntepec, San Cristobal de Las Casas, La Ventosa, Oaxaca and Monte Alban, While making their trip the girls will practice speaking Spanish, learn to bargain in the markets, and try to achieve a better understanding of the many cultures and peoples that they have visited.

During their trip the girls will keep a diary in Spanish so that upon their return to the United States they can relive the many exciting days that they spend in Mexico, days which included riding on buses and conversing with Mexicans while viewing the many items on their way to local markets such as boxes of small parrots, bundles of sugar cane, firewood and hand-made pottery; swimming in a jungle stream and eating oranges growing wild beside the stream; studying the great stone heads of the Olmec Culture which weigh over eight tons' attending movies, folk dances, concerts and of course a Sunday afternoon bull fight, as well as climbing the many pyramids and temples of each area visited.

Historical Center Needs Volunteers

"I liked the mastodon skelton, and I liked you, too." "I hope we can come back again and have you for our guide." "You're the best guide I ever had!" Letters such as these are only one of the rewards of being a volunteer guide at the Ohio Historical Center in Columbus.

Thirty-nine women from around the Columbus area presently donate at least four hours per week to escort school children and adults around the Ohio Historical Center's exhibits.

Due to the increasing amount of attendance at the Center, guides are needed for the fall training class to begin Tuesday, September 11. This class, which meets one day per week, will last for ten weeks.

guides learn information about the exhibits and the mechanics of giving tours.

The Ohio Historical Center is located on Interstate 71 at the 17th Avenue exit and houses the Ohio Historical Society's central museum, library and archives. Museum exhibits relate Ohio's past in terms of natural, archaeological and recorded history.

The Center needs volunteers who like to work with children and who are willing to learn more about their state's history. If you would like to help the people of Ohio learn more about their heritage, please call the Education Department of the Ohio Historical Society, 466-2405 for further information.

Governor Proclaims Retailer Month

Governor John J. Gilligan has proclaimed August as "Let's Hear it for Ohio Retailers Month." The announcement came as merchants all over Oho begin the month long celebration.

Many retailers are selling Ohio made products and have scheduled live demonstration of Ohio artists and craftsmen in their stores.

"Ohio's 83,000 retail establishments have contributed greatly to our quality of life. It is only fitting that in celebrating Ohio's 170th anniversary—we salute a vital segment of our state's economy—retailing," the Governor said.

THE EVENT is being coordinated through the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development and the Ohio Council of TRetail Merchants, the statewide retail trade association.

"The Ohio Council is pleased to be involved with a program that calls attention to the importance of retailing in our everyday lives. Ohio's retail community continues to leac the nation in quality and diversification.

The state's consumers are fortunate to have this caliber of merchant in the marketplace," said Richard H. Kertscher, Kertscher's, Ravenna, chairman of the Ohio Council.

"Ohio's economic growth rate continues to lead all the midwest states. Her retail community plays a vital role in that growth," said Dr. David C. Sweet, Director, Department of Economic and Community Development.

A major campaign using the "Let's Hear it for Ohio" theme has been launched.

One of the features of the "Let's Hear if for Ohio" program is a 45 rpm record--"Because I Love Ohio," recorded by River. It features a ccontemporary and a rhythm and blues version, and is being played over nearly every Ohio radio station.

Many trade associations including the Ohio Newspaper Association and local chambers of commerce have joined in celebrating and saluting Ohio.

Retarded Children Benefit With Governor At Cedar Point

Retarded children will receive all proceeds--and some 350 children from hospitals throughout Ohio will be bussed to Cedar Point to spend that afternoon as personal guests of the Governor.

Proceeds from the $25-a-plate dinner will go directly to the Ohio Association for Retarded Children (OARC)--but donors will get some good things for themselves, too:

A gala dinner with the Governor.

All -day park-and-ride passes to Cedar Point.

An evening of entertainment by young performers from Cedar Point's famous live shows program.

But reservations for the first annual Governor's Day at Cedar Point must be taken on a first-come-first-serve basis, and the date grows near.

Send checks to: Governor's Day Office, Attn: Miss Joanne Zidarin, Cedar Point Amusement Land, Sandusky, Ohio 44870.

Gov. Gilligan expressed hope that "all the profits from Governor's Day help make life in the future better and more rewarding for Ohio's mentally retarded children.

And that, of course, depends on the generosity of Ohioans everywhere--all of whom are invited to contribute to the OARC children, and to have dinner with Gov. Gilligan at Cedar Point.

EAGLE CREEK Bridge, on State Route 763 in Brown County, will soon be the only remaining wooden, covered bridge on the state highway system. Ohio Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley has promised to keep the rebuilt bridge on the state system as a reminder "of our colorful past and inheritance."

Tourist Information Centers Assist 16,000 Motorists

MORE THAN 16,000 motorists visited Ohio's three tourist information centers since their opening in June, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

During June, 5,456 visitors from 48 states and 15 foreign countries stopped at the centers wich are located on eastbound Interstate 70 on the Indiana border in Preble County; on westbound Interstate 90 on the Pennsylvania border in Ashtabula County and on northbound Interstate 71 in Medina County.

During July, 10,617 motorists from 48 states and 20 foreign countries visited the three centers.

THE BUSIEST of the three centers was the Preble County facility which was visited by 7,428 tourists from June 16th to July 31st. The second busiest facility was in Ashtabula County where visitors traffic totaled 4,456 from July 9th - July 31st. Total traffic at the Medina County Center totaled 4,212.

Visitors from the state of Ohio represented the largest group per state to stop at the centers, followed by New York and Illinois, respectively.

The Ohio Departements of Economic and Community Development, Transportation and Natural Resources are jointly operating the three tourist information centers this summer.

THE CENTERS are fully staffed seven days-a-week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and they will be open until Labor Day, Sept. 3. A variety of tourist literature including the official Ohio transportation map and the new 64-page directory of travel attractions, "Beautiful Ohio," is available free of charge at each center.

Blacklick Woods: Wednesday, August 15, at 8 p.m. in Beech-Maple Lodge, Park Naturalist Jim Stahl will present an illustrated talk on the Smoky Mountains National Park. Included will be Clingman's Dome, the Chimneys, Newfound Gap, Cade's Cove, waterfalls, and much of the varied plant and animal life. The speaker has made several trips to the park and has taken many excellent photographs of the area.

Sharon Woods: New Engalnd, with its rugged coastline, islands, and mountains, is Park Naturalist Jim Fry's topic for a slide talk Wednesday, August 15, at 8 p.m. in the Nature Barn. Acadia National Park, Nanticket, and Cape Cod National Seashore are among the places to be visited.

Blendon Woods: Sunday a general nature walk, including a tour of the Walden Wildlife Refuge, is scheduled for 2 p.m. beginning at the Nature Center.

A moth walk will be conducted Saturday, August 18, at 8:30 p.m., starting from the Nature Center. Naturalists will bait trees along the trail with a mixture of fruit and syrups and will lead the group along the trail after dark to view the moths, insects, or other creatures attracted.

Darby Creek: The Insects of Central Ohio is the topic for a program by Naturalist Bob Blanke Thursday evening, August 16, at 8 p.m. in Cedar Ridge Lodge. Slides, recordings, and actual specimens will be sued in the presentation.

Blacklick Woods: The monthly astronomy series "Once Around the Sun" co-sponsored by the Columbus Astronomical Society and the Park District will be held Saturday, August 18, at 8 p.m. in Beech-Maple Lodge. Mrs. M.C. Markham will discuss meteors and other visitors from space. Following the lecture the group will move outside to view part of the Perseid meteor shower.

Miss Teenage America

Beauty-Brains Cliche Comes True For Once

By Jules Sauvagest

IN A WORLD where every "queen" is billed as "brilliant"--and every honor-winning co-ed is billed as "beautiful"--it's refreshing to find a girl who actually qualifies on both counts.

The girl is Melissa Marie Galbraith. She's just 16, she's a National Honor Society student, and she's Miss Teenage America, 1973.

Melissa whirled into Sandusky, Ohio Sunday, July 29, for some last minute preparations before her scheduled appearances at southshore Lake Erie's giant Cedar Point amusement land, Aug. 8 through 10.

At Cedar Point, she'll be touring everything from the main Midway to Frontier Trail, to the six live shows that run at four locations throughout the park.

BUT ON SUNDAY, Melissa just wanted to talk about "things in general." And for a girl who won out over 31,000 original entrants and 51 finalists in the national contest, Melissa is disarmingly modest:

"My father's in the Army, and I've been many places in the world. But I'd never seen much of the United States before. Now I've been through the West and in Hawaii--and in the South America and the Bahamas, too.

"I think the travel has been one of the richest experiences for me.

"But most of all, I just enjoy meeting people."

ONE THING about being Miss Teenage America is a situation that affects all famous persons--autograph signing.

Of course, Melissa experiences the autograph sessions that occur when any famous personage appears in public. "You know," she says, "there are really two age groups that normally ask for autographs--younger than I, and older than I. Kids up to 12, and adults from 28 on up.

"In my own age group, they're very hesitant about asking for autographs. Or even talking!

"I think," smiles Melissa reflectively, "that my age is an age where you have a lot of pride. And I certainly don't think most kids my age want to ask another kid for autographs. . . ."

MISS Teenage America, 1973, has opinions on other subjects, too. Since her victory, Melissa's received the predictable offers of modeling jobs. But she doesn't want to model for a living "because I think they tend to think of you as a model only.

"They don't come to you as a person, who has a mind. And I don't think that kind of life is for me."

There's no question that Melissa does, indeed have a mind. And she's been using it to maintain her straight-A academic average at Clarion (Pa.) Area High School, where she'll be a senior next year.

SHE USES a tutor for chemistry and geography--the only two subjects she couldn't complete on schedule while traveling around the World as Miss Teenage America.

Nor does Melissa feel that the demands of her position prevent more conventional involvements. "In Louisville, Kentucky, I was scheduled to ride a float. But that same day I was supposed to be inducted into the National Honor Society.

"So they just flew me home to Clarion. They really look out for me. Very helpful. . . very understanding."

"My high school band was at Cedar Point in June," notes Melissa. They had such a good time our band director had trouble getting them back on the bus! I think it's going to be fun, too.

SO IT IS that the life of Clarion, Pennsylvania's Melissa Marie Galbraith--Miss Teenage America--will continue to be one hectic, exciting episode after another through the remainder of her reign. August 5, Clarion-Jefferson Counties Day at Cedar Point. . . .then elsewhere, day by day, right up until Melissa reliquishes her crown to the 1974 Miss Teenage America, at the nationally televised pageant in Memphis, Nov. 24.

"But I'm really enjoying myself," says Melissa. "It's the greatest experience in the world. . ."

MISS TEENAGE AMERICA--Melissa Marie Galbraith, of Clarion, Pa.--surveys the main midway at southshore Lake Erie's giant Cedar Point amusement land. Melissa was making some last-minute preparations for her three-day tour of Cedar Point, Aug. 8 through 10.

Tender, Loving Care Will Be Given Covered Bridge

"TENDER, loving care" will be given the last wooden, covered bridge on the state highway system, according to J. Phillip Richeley, Director of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

Richley said the Eagle Creek Bridge, on State Route 763 in Brown County, will be given special care since it represents Ohio's rich heritage. The bridge will be retained as part of the state highway system routing.

"The bridge represents a part of a past that All Ohioans share," said Richley. "We will continue to preserve it as a tribute to the state's colorful past and a reminder of our inheritance."

IT WILL become the only wooden bridge on the state highway system when a new bridge is completed to replace the Governor Kirker covered bridge on State Route 136 in Adams County. The covered Kirker Bridge will remain as a historic landmark but will revert to the Adams County Commissioners and the county historical society.

The Eagle Creek bridge is known locally as the Bowman Bridge because the Bowman family had a general store nearby when the wood truss structure was originally built in 1877.

"The Bowman family took a great interest in the wooden bridge," said Richley. "Their store was located north of the covered structure and customers began to call it Bowman Bridge."

THE RUSTIC, one-lane bridge is surrounded by Sycamore trees and blends with the scenic, southern Ohio countryside. Rebuilt in 1952, the Douglas Fir bridge is 14 feet, 10 inches wide, spans 168 feet and has a 10-and-a-half-foot clearance.

Built on dry-laid limestone abutments, the bridge is listed in excellent condition by ODOT's Regional District Nine Office. Eagle Creek is the dividing line between two township on the south.

"While a one-lane, wooden bridge is not usually part of the modern highway system Ohio has developed, the Bowman Bridge is worth the special rating," said Richley. "The highway carries mainly local traffic and few trucks, so it can be retained on the system with little chance of hindering free-flowing traffic.

"THIS BEAUTIFUL bridge will continue to be used daily much the same as our large, multi-lane structures. But those crossing this wooden structure will have a view into a part of our history which added to Ohio's greatness."

The Old Timer

"A nickel isn't supposed to be as good as a dollar, but it goes to church more often."

Alcohol, Drug Institute Scheduled For Teenagers

More than 400 Ohio high school students are expected on the Ohio Wesleyan campus for the Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs, August 12-16.

The five-day institute will enable participants to hear presentations and to participate in discussions ranging from physiological and psychological to the ethical aspects of alcohol and drug abuse among teenagers.

Presentations and discussions are conducted in an environment of trust and freedom so that teenagers may develop their own judgements on how to deal with the problems of alcohol and drugs.

"THE PROGRAM will provide Ohio teenagers with a unique understanding and insight into alcohol and drug use problems, which they hopefully will convey to their friends and classmates," according to Dr. John W. Cashman, director of the Ohio Department of Health.

This is the ninth consecutive year for the institute. It is sponsored by the Alcoholism Program, Ohio Department of Health, in association with Ohio Wesleyan.

A grant of $12,640 from the Department of Health provides student scholarships and finances staff, materials and speakers.

Supporting organizations include the Ohio School Counselors Association, Ohio Department of Liquor Control and the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Participants, from junior and senior classes throughout the state, were chosen on the basis of ability and willingness to use the institute experience to contribute to school and community education.

IN ADDITION to "working sessions," they will enjoy folk singing, dances, pizza parties and a variety of sports activities in OWU facilities. Staff will include 30 discussion group leaders who also serve as floor counselors.

Robert Sweet, a specialist in addictions and dependencies, is institute director; Mrs. Paula Wead, who specializes in interdisciplinary health education and special addiction problems, is coordinator; Dr. Joseph Wittemann, psychologist and a professor at the Virginia Commonwealth University, Medical College of Virginia, is program director.

AMONG the key speakers will be the following: H. Stephen Glenn, program director, U.S. Office of Education., Regional Treatment Center, Division of Addiction Sciences, University of Miami School of Medicine; Dr. Rupert Salisbury, assistant dean of the Ohio State University College of Pharmacy; Dr. Michael Gerald, assistant professor of pharmacology, OSU College of Pharmacy; Patrolman James Bonham, community services officer of the Columbus Police Department; Capt. Frank Peferfy, bureau commander of the Columbus Narcotics Bureau, Columbus Police Department and Dr. Frank Schimpfhauser, assistant director, Division of Research and Evaluation, Ohio State University School of Medical Education.

Natural Resources Division Passes On Helpful Hints

DOG TRAINING REGULATIONS

Nothing is more enjoyable than taking a young pup to the field for a little training prior to the opening of gun seasons for small game. It's also good for the hunter to break himself in gradually.

This can be done by taking short walks each evening with dog under leash. The training of dogs is prohibited on State lands through August 31 due to nesting birds and young animals.

Gil Palmer, Law Enforcement Supervisor, Wildlife District Two, cautions all dog trainers that they are responsible for any wild animals killed by their dog prior to the open season.

SEVERAL complaints were received the past few weeks on coon dog trainers training their dogs. Coon hunters apprehended shaking young coon from trees or possessing weapons while training their dogs face possible $200.00 fines plus the loss of their dogs.

Numerous farmer complaints of hunters hunting in unharvested crop fields has resulted in it being necessary to enforce the "No Hunting Without Written Permission" law.

FREE PLANTING STOCK AVAILABLE

The Game Management Section of the Ohio Deartment of natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, advises they have a program to assist eligible landowners in improving wildlife habitat conditions on their farm.

WILDLIFE in Ohio is generally a by-product of other land uses such as farming, forestry and urban development. Within the various regions of the State, the amount and variety of wildlife is dependent upon soils, climate and the regional land use patterns.

Most private owners can improve the abundance of wildlife on their land by modifying land practices in current use of by planting made specifially for wildlife.

A PRIMARY responsibility of the Divison of Wildlife is to provide technical assistance to landowners who are interested in improving food and cover conditions for wildlife on their farms.

Some permanent types to planting stock are furnished free from the Division of Wildlife to eligible landowners. Eligible landowners include those permitting a reasonable amount of public hunting on their acreage, or plants can also be provided for plantings to be used for educational and demonstrational purposes on land owned by sportsmen's clubs and various other private organizations subject to the approval of the District Game Management Supervisor.

Planting stock currently available from the division indludes: Red pine, White pine, Austrian pine, Norway spruce, Black locust, Multiflora rose and autumn olive.

INTERESTED landowners should contact the local game protector as soon as possible, so that the division may order a sufficient amount of planting stock to take care of all applicants. If you cannot reach the local game protector write to the District Office, 952 Lima Ave., Findlay, Ohio 45840.

POLLUTION KILLS

The Division of Wildlife of the Department of Natural Resources reported today it has received $3,485 from three Ohio villages as payment for fish and other wildlife killed by pollutants entering streams from the village sewage treatment systems.

The Village of Paulding paid $1,785 for 4,761 fish killed in Flat Rock Creek in Paulding County in November, 1971.

The Village of South Charleston paid $850 for 17,171 fish killed in Gilroy Ditch in Clark County in July and December, 1970.

The Village of New Richmond paid $850 for 2,114 fish killed in Twelve Mile Creek in Clermont County in August, 1972.

Dan C. Armbruster, chief of the Wildlife Division, said the villages "are to be commended for acting in a positive manner in meeting their responsibility to the people of Ohio."

NEW MAPS AVAILABLE

A revised map of Ohio's soil regions, published by the division of lands and soil of the Department of Natural Resources, is now available to the public.

The multi-colored map shows the locations of Ohio's seven major soil regions.

A TEXT ON the reverse side of the map describes the various soil associations within each of the seven major regions. The descriptions give the names and distinguishing features of the more common soils.

The information provided will be useful to educators, farmers and construction and recreation planning groups.

This is the third revised edition of the map which was first printed in 1954.

SINGLE COPIES of the map can be obtained free of charge by contacting the Division of Lands and Soil, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224.

Senior Citizens News & Activities

East Columbus- Eleven hundred East Broad senior citizens are planning a trip to the Arts and Crafts Festival at Salt Fork Lodge for Friday, Aug. 10 from 9 to 5. Cost of $8.50 will cover transportation, admission to the festival and a tour of the Zane Grey Museum. Interested senior citizens should contact the Center immediately.

Throughout August the sewing and needlework classes will be preparing for a special program "Something Old – Something New" to be presented September 7th. New fashions made by members will be modelled along with any old treasures from years gone by which can be rounded up from cedar chests, trunks and closets. Sewing classes are open Monday through Thursday for anyone needing assistance or just wanting to sew. Any senior citizens are urged to participate.

Social dances are held at 1100 Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 9:30. An intermission at 8:15 includes refreshments and conversation. For anyone who would like to learn a new dance or practice an old one, Sharon Prentice will be available to instruct from 6:30 to 7:00 before the dance.

It's Been Nice To Know You

by Elsie V. Weaver
East Editor

East Columbus-Naomi Uziel loves roughing it in the out-of-doors.

You can see it as she kicks up her heels and sings in Hebrew in one of her native Israeli folk dances shoulder to shoulder with new friends, American Girl Scouts at Camp Kenjockety. You can see it as she flings more salt into the pot on the log fire, sticks an inquiring finger into the fudge cooling in a pan on a rock, or when she talks glowingly of all the materials available for arts and crafts at the camp.

Naomi, from Jerusalem, is one of 54 members of the Israeli Federation of Boy and Girl Scouts, to come to America to work as counselors in Girl Scout and Boy Scout camps, Young Judea camps or in Jewish community centers.

SCOUTING IN Israel would seem to be almost a way of life rather than just a weekly gathering, as it is for many Scouts. From 14 years up, most Israeli youths belong to the Scouts. They meet twice a week deciding what to do to help their country and holding discussions on economics, politics and social problems.

They decide each year on projects which help people, such as sales of goods to benefit the blind. They take trips, and despite the fact they are apolitical, they sometimes take place in demonstrations, such as carrying placards at the Wailing Wall to protest Soviet treatment of Jews.

Sixteen and seventeen year olds are leaders of the younger Scouts. Naomi, who is 17, has been a Scout for seven years and for the past two years has been a leader for a troop of fifth grade girls. During the past year she organized a group of inner city boys and girls and encouraged them in a learning program.

ASKED WHAT she will do after she finishes high school, she answered, to the amazement of the American Girl Scouts nearby, that she will go to the Army. She is looking forward to it because of the chance to serve her country. She feels she is mature enough and ready for military life. After serving the required 18 months, she might even elect to stay in the Army longer. She has learned Arabic and thus might be assigned to a listening post.

What does she think of America?

"It's too big, and too materialistic," she answers. "What will I take back? Oh, mostly material things. America is too materialistic. I want to go back and tell the people of Israel not to become that way, to stop before they do."

DESPITE HER criticism of America, she had fun here, and learned a lot, Naomi says.

A lot of young campers at Kenjockety will tell you that they are far richer for having known Naomi this summer but not in any materialistic way.

More Taste Than Money

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

MARIO FORTE FOR RONA

PATRICK PORTER FOR ADELE MARTIN

JOHN MULLEN FOR DALANI

YOU'LL BE CONVINCED that three heads are better than one when you see the exciting new fall fashions created by three talented designers, for three separate companies. . .all divisions of Genesco, listed on the Big Board.

Mario Forte for Rona, Patrick Porter for Adele Martin, and John Mullen for Dalani, have come up with the most chic clothes to uncomplicate a woman's life. . .dresses, coat costumes, two piece suits. . .designed for the active woman on the go who needs a great variety of clothes for every occasion.

In this year beset with many problems, according to Randy Rosenthal, veteran dress manufacturer and president of the three companies, prices haven't changed from last season even though they offer the same quality fabrics, workmanship, and all the newest trends. . .the Gatsby Look, the shirtwaist, twin sweaters. . .in fact, any and all trends that are currently making fashion news.

JUST PICTURE a dress and jacket costume in deep purple tweed Trevira polyester. . .the short jacket buttoned and tabbed and repeated on the slim skirt; or the important short evening dress in burnished tones with glitter and jacket to match. . .both elegantly designed by Mario Forte for Rona. This season's most exciting pants suit. . .a long line pants jacket and easy comfortable pants in muted plaid of Orlon acrylic, is by Patrick Porter for Adele Martin; and with the comeback of the daytime dress, John Mullen does two lightweight wool beauties for Dalani. . .a one-piece skimmer dress in green diagonal plaid, with long sleeves and tie neckline; and a two-piece yellow and white patterned wool with blouson-hip jacket and slim skirt. . .to mention a few.

THESE THREE ingenious designers cater to the woman who wants to be in the mainstream. . .the gal with more taste than money. Now, doesn't that include just about every woman these days?

Tennis East

Tennis East Complex Now Under Construction

A TOTAL, year-round indoor & outdoor 16-court tennis and recreational center will be built on a six-acre plot near Brice Road to accommodate Greater Columbus' growing list of net enthusiasts, it has been announced.

Officials representing Midwest Tennis, Inc., a Columbus based tennis consulting firm, revealed to news media personnel at a luncheon at the Athletic Club last week plans for "Tennis East," which will cost approximately $1,000,000.

THE SITE selected for the first combination indoor & outdoor tennis complex in this area is next to the now-under-construction J.C. Penney facility.

Tennis East will have the most modern indoor and outdoor courts possible, with eight outdoor fast-drying, composition courts scheduled for play next summer.

CONSTRUCTION is expected to begin in a few weeks on the "total tennis center." Included in the plans for the recreational facility is an outdoor swimming pool and several squash courts.

Indoors, there will be eight courts with the latest type synthetic, cushioned surfaces, in a pre-engineered, steel building, according to officials.

A COMPLETELY-STOCKED pro shop, locker rooms, nursery, snack facilities and comfortable air-conditioned lounges will be included in the building, which will be flanked by four courts on each side.

Ample parking areas will be available on the location selected because of its ready accessability to all sections of Greater Columbus.

Tennis East will be only 12 minutes from downtown and easily reached because it is near the intersection of Interstate 70 and Interstate 270, the interbelt.

PRESENT at the announcement meeting were Donald Kelley and Robert Weiler, developers of the area in which Tennis East will be located; Dr. John Hendrix and John B. Daly, tennis coaches from Ohio State University and consultants with Midwest Tennis; and J. Richard Emmons and Charles Kegler, attorneys for the consulting firm.

Midwest Tennis also indicated plans to announce shortly a similar facility in the Arlington-Grandview area.

Blacklick Course Challenge

The long awaited new golf facilities at Blacklick Woods Metropolitan Park are expected to be open in early August, completing what will certainly be among the finest public golf accommodations in the Midwest.

Known as the Blacklick Woods Metropolitan Golf Courses, the new golf complex consists of an 18-hole championship course, a new par-59 course and the new Blacklick Woods Activities Building.

The 6686-yard championship course (formerly Stoney Creek), has been refurbished by the construction of five new greens and six new tees.

Water continues to be a hazard for the golfer as the fairways cross Blacklick Creek six times and go around or across two small ponds several times.

The completely new par-59 course will be of particular interest to the golfers who have only two or three hours to play. However, it is a course that will require the use of every club in the bag at least once.

Courses of this type have also proven to be very popular with persons learinging to play golf who do not wish to play the more difficult and busy championship course.

The beautiful new Activities Building, containing the golf pro-shop, snack bar and dining room, toilet facilities, golf cart rental and storage, indoor driving range, and a meeting room, will of course serve golfers and non-golfers alike.

The indoor range will provide an area for golf practice and instruction during inclement weather or in the winter months.

The meeting room will be used for park-sponsored programs or will be available for meetings or banquest by groups upon reservation and payment of a nominal fee.

A new entrance road serving the Blacklick Woods Metropolitan Golf Courses is located on Livingston Avenue, ½ mile west of State Route 256. Parking is provided for 275 cars.

NEW MANAGER AT MARRIOTT

THE NEW manager at the Marriott Inn brings to the motel all the charm, personality and warmth of a true southern gentleman. Theo Wright, a native of Atlanta possesses the true characteristics of a good host.

I know that his desire to please the customers at the Marriott Inn is going to be a pleasure for you who patronize the place.

Theo brings to the Marriott Inn a wealth of knowledge with him. He has served in various executive capacities in the south and south-west parts of the country. After a ten year stint at the Hyatt House in Atlanta Theo was vice president of operations for a chain of Sheraton Hotels, then he moved on to Vice President of Operations for Continental Host, a string of hotels in the south-west.

Having only been at the Marriott Inn a couple of weeks, Theo is impressed with the staff, the quality of food and the over all operations of the motel. That, I would have to second I believe the waitresses are the prettiest, friendliest Around Town. The food is way at the top of my list for pure enjoyment.

Theo plans no changes in the operations, just improvements, here and there, with special emphasis on pleasing the customers. At this time, Theo has many ideas that he wants to put into operation which he believes will make a visit to the Marriott Inn even more enjoyable. More on these later, as they develop.

While putting in twelve to fourteen hours a day, Theo does still find time to visit his family, wife Gloria and two boys, Steven 10 and Timothy 6.

I asked Theo if he had any special hobbies and his answer was golf. He also gave me one of the most honest answers I've heard from a golfer when I asked him his score, Theo said, "I normally shoot in the 80's, but if I went out tomorrow, I'd be lucky to stay below a hundred."

That's Theo Wright, an honest, hard working individual whose main interest is making the guests at the Marriott Inn happy. This is his devotion.

While the Marriott Inn has been one of my favorites since its beginning, I know that under the leadership of Theo Wright, I, Like you, are going to want to go back more often. Just sitting with this man with his southern drawl adds a lot of hospitality to the place.

So, as they say down south, you all come for a visit. Theo will be more than glad to give you a gracious greeting.

THE FACTORY REUITALIZED

Marty Melman has taken back the Factory. For those of you who may not know much about the Factory, it is a swinging place on the east side of town. The back room is the Boiler Room. In the past, it was a huge spot, booking the loud, hard rock type of music, catering to a young crowd.

Here lies the story. The Boiler Room has been cut in half. It is now a small, intimate lounge, with duos providing the entertainment. Marty has given the room a lot of sophistication. Without me telling you, I am sure you realize that Marty is attracting a much older clientel.

Currently appearing in the Boiler Room is the Dave Scott Duo. They opened the Factory after a lengthy engagement at the Sheraton Motor Hotel in downtown Columbus.

Their music is ideal for the room. It is soft and melodious with nice, simple rhythms. This twosome is ideal for easy listening or ballroom dancing.

With the two principal instruments being keyboard instruments, this makes the Dave Scott Duo unique. Both Dave and Scott are solid instrumentalists. They know what they want to do at the keyboard, and they do it.

THE SAME is true for their vocal stylings. Be it a solo offering by one of the fellows or some close harmony work, the end result is entertaining. Scott and Dave happen to own two voices that blend well together. Both have pleasing tonal qualities. Add it all up and you are given the chance to hear classy vocalizing.

To me, it is a real pleasure to sit in a room and be able to talk in a normal conversation, and yet enjoy the entertainment. Most of all, for those of you who have been in the old Boiler Room of the Factory, you won't believe the changes.

If you are looking for a spot, particularly on the east side of town, where there is soft music, nice atmosphere, good music for dancing, then this is the place. The Dave Scott Duo makes it all happen, and it happens in a relaxing, low key surroundings. The Old Factory isn't as noisy as it used to be, that's for sure.

RAMADA SWINGS AT AKRON

TOOK the traveling typewritter to Akron last week to the brand new Ramada Inn, in the Rubber City. I'm sorry to say, it is much prettier than the three Ramadas in our area. It is built very similar to the rest of the Inns but the color schemes are much prettier and more cheerful.

The dining room is simply a treat for your eyes. Decorated in shades of green, the decor is relaxing and inviting. Of course the food is as delicious as at the Ramada Inns in Columbus.

I had a New York strip steak that was the finest as you could have anywhere in the country. It was cooked to perfection, and succulent and tender. The special house dressings were truely a tempting taste treat. If I had closed my eyes, I would have believed I was dining at Ramada north, south or east in Columbus.

The same is true for the service, very efficient and pleasant.

Entertainment-wise, the quality is equal to what we experience in Columbus, just about the best there is on the road. The Ramadas are known for having the best, most expensive lounge acts that are available.

This is true for the Steve Grimm Show, the current offering at the Akron Ramada Inn. This is a rather high powered musical group who rely heavily on top notch vocal and instrumental talents.

What ever they do on stage, they do well. Colleen Raye is a buxom singer with a voice that is strong with beautiful tonal qualities. What a stylist. The same can be said for hubby Steve Grimm. This handsome fellow owns a terrific voice with a very wide range. Steve has great control, also.

Backing up Steve and Colleen are trumpeter Terry Stewart, Jimmy Feather at the drums and Richie Ackerman with the electric bass. All are first rate musicians.

THE GROUP owns some mighty good arrangements. All in all, they are worth the hour and forty five minute drive. In fact, if you want to escape for a weekend, this is a good place. You'll enjoy the food, the entertainment the large pool and most of all, the friendly, personable staff at the Ramada Inn at Akron. Take my advice, and take a mini vacation there soon. You'll come away relaxed and refreshed.

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

The downtown Sheraton Hotel has closed its lounge off of the lobby and is completely remodeling the place. Opening the first part of September, the new lounge is named "Sadie's Stage Door," and will feature the top names in comtemporary music. Fred Hill, the Guest Service Agent at the Sheraton Motor Hotel, is quite enthusastic about the new room. Fred tells me that it will be te swingingest lounge

VaudVillities Chorus Will Perform Aug. 17

Two free outdoor concerts by the Vaud-Villities Chorus will be presented this summer by First Community Productions, Inc.

The first will take place Friday, August 17 at 7 p.m., on the Northland Mall.

The second will be sung in Schiller Park, August 19 at 7 p.m., as part of the "Music in the Air" 1973 Concert Series, sponsored by the Greater Columbus Arts Council.

There will be a selection of favorite songs, with soloists in specialty numbers and some routines by the Vaud-Villities dancers.

A rhythm section will accompany the chorus of 100 male and female voices in a program which includes "Begin the Beguine," a medley of Richard Rodgers songs, "The I Had a Dream, Dear' Rock," "You Made Me So Very Happy," a medley from "Porgy and Bess," "Celebration,"and others. Lowell Riley is music director.

Broadway At Kings Island

Christine Ranck Heads For The Top

By Ray Adams
Executive Editor

STARDOM is headed the way of Christine Ranck and a lot of other youngsters who cavort daily at Kings Island under the guise of "Give My Regards To Broadway".

The show (performances 7 or 10 times daily) is one of the many hidden pluses that sometimes are overlooked by Kings Island visitors who see the "rides" and stop at that point.

This exceptionally fast-paced 35-minute (give or take a second or two) show is one of the many entertaining shows on the giant midway that is called Kings Island.

BUT NOW to Christine, since she is a local girl by way of Worthington. Christine would be the first to say that the teamwork of "Give My Regards To Broadway" is what makes the show tick. And she is right.

There wasn't a second wasted in the show we observed and the teamwork was fast evident when a dancer's gown got caught in a hoofers coat and not a step went out of place while they struggled to free themselves from each other.

PRETTY and brunette, Christine Ranck sings, dances, has a flair for comedy in her expressive face and has all the natural and developed talent that George Whites Great White Way used to have before it became fuddled with inferior flash-in-the-pan hoofers, dancers, musicians, singers and actors.

She's Eastman School of Music (Rochester, New York graduate and her most-remembered role, according to her mother, Mrs. Robert W. Ranck, 5743 Olentangy River Rd., (her father is Dr. Robert W. Ranck, a practicing dentist) was the lead of Maria at the University of Rochester performance of West Side Story, as.

Reliving her performance of last Friday we remembered the gentleness she also showed and can now easily ascertain why the role of Maria fit her perfectly.

A June 1973 graduate of Eastman, Christine didn't take voice seriously until her freshman year there. She had attended Worthington High School until her junior year, then attended a private school in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

She and another performer had formed a duo in Rochester and had performed locally in coffee houses and even did an original production as part of their education process.

She excels at choreography, loves to write and is in love with her career that she hopes will lead to greater things.

Christine admires her co-workers. "We're all part of a team," she says "and sort of lean on each other to be sure we put the most into every moment of our performance,".

CHRISTINE took us back a few years when she soloed "Summertime" from the Porgy and Bess score and also as a change of pace vocalled "The Sound Of Music".

With her talent and desire to succeed we don't believe that the sky is her limit–that's not quite distance enough.

Christine Ranck. That's a name you'll be hearing more about in years to come.

in downtown Columbus. Tell you more about it when it opens. . .You fans of Susan Rose, will be sorry to hear that Susan is packing her Hammond Organ, her voice and is moving to Cincinnati. Hubby was transfered to the River City. Our loss is Cincinnati's gain. Good luck Susan. . .Two of the nicest guys behind a bar are Mike Grim and Vito Caponigro at the Ramada North. Both are friendly and loaded with personality and charm. . .For the best cheese cake in the world, it is Charbert's on east twelveth. It is out of this world. . .Keith-Charles Duo are back in the lounge at Lincoln Lodge. This is a fine musical-comedy duo that have always been crowd pleasers. Keith sings and plays drums, and boys does this boy sing. His partner Charles plays up a storm at the electric organ. Together, they are terrific. . .For a real fun evening plan on going to the Country Dinner Playhouse. The show, "The Odd Couple," is hilarious and Ronny Graham is full of laughs for his audience. You may know him better as Mr. Dirt, on the Mobil Oil commercials. The food is great, and until the 19th of this month, all escorted ladies get in at half price. This is a good entertainment bargain. See you Around Town.

GRASSHOPPERS AND CRICKETS

Next time you're walking through a field to get to your favorite trout or bass stream, catch yourself some grasshoppers or crickets and you'll have two of the best trout and bass baits to fish with.

During the season when grasshoppers are jumping all over the fields near water, I've seen trout and bass gourge themselves on any grasshopper unfortunate enough to fall in the water.

NOW TO catch a fish, use light weight line and a small hook, No. 8 or 12. Float your grasshopper or cricket down stream into pockets and pools below riffles making sure you use a quiet approach to the area before you begin to fish.

If you don't get a strike fishing topwater, then clamp on a small weight and sink the grasshopper or cricket down to deeper water where fish sometimes lay.

When you see grasshoppers and crickets jumping in fields, remember it's one of the best times to fish with live bait.

GRAND LAKE ST. MARYS

Located on the shores of Ohio's largest inland lake, the Class "A" campground at this popular park includes restrooms with flush toilets, wash houses, with showers and a coin operated laundry facilities, a trailer waste disposal stations and electrical outlets on 50 of the 206 campsites.

The washouse adjacent to the sites equiped with electricity is heated for the comfort of cool weather campers.

There is a small beach located within the controlled campground and during the summer, a naturalist is on duty to provide an educational program on the natural history of the area.

Water skiing is popular on the 13,500 acre former canal feeder lake and there is no limit on the horsepower of boat motors.

FACILITIES are provided for boats launching their and at several other points around the lake. Fishing for bass and panfish is good and the Division of Wildlife is presently carrying out an experiment program of striped bass introduction in the area.

The park is located between St. Marys and Celina in Auglaize and Mercer Counties and the campground is along the northwest shore approximately two miles west of St. Marys off S.R. 29.

CENTRAL OHIO FISHING REPORT

Indian Lake--Roily and slightly high, 78 F. Anglers are taking channel catfish on nightcrawlers and soft craws and crappies on minnows throughout the Lake. A few largemouth bass and walleye are also being taken on artificial lures while trolling or casting the shoreline. Night fishing is most productive either from the bank or while drifting in a boat. Outlook-fair.

Kiser Lake--Clear and normal at 75 F. Walleye continue to be taken from the deeper portions of the lake on nightcrawlers, minnows and artificial lures. An occasional largemouth bass is being caught on soft craws and nightcrawlers from the dam along the northwestern shoreline.

Nice sized channel catfish are reported being taken on nightcrawlers, dough balls and soft craws fished on the bottom from the access piers. Outlook-good.

Knox Lake--Clear and normal at 78 F. Largemouth bass, catfish and bluegill are being taken throughout the lake. The bluegills are being caught on wax worms, red worms and maggots, catfish on nightcrawlers, liver and shrimp and the largemouth on soft craws and artificials.

An occasional muskie is being taken from the south end of the lake on artificial lures. Outlook-good.

Hoover Reservoir--Normal and clear at 75 F. Walleye are being taken on artificials and spinners tipped with worms while trolling in 5 to 15 feet of water.

Good numbers of largemouth bass are being caught on minnows and artificial nightcrawlers by both boat and shore anglers in the north end of the lake. Bank fishermen are catching carp on dough balls and catfish on worms and cut shad. Outlook-good.

Delaware Reservoir--Normal and clear at 75 F. Channel catfish and bullheads are being taken throughout the reservoir on nightcrawlers and soft craws.

Carp are taken on dough balls and shrimp by bank fishermen. Both shore and boat anglers are catching bluegill on worms and largemouth bass on minnows and artificials. Outlook-fair to good.

Hargus Lake--Slightly high and clear at 76 F. Excellent catches of channel catfish are reported being taken at night using nightcrawlers and liver, fished in 3 to 5 feet of water. An occational largemouth bass is being taken on artificial nightcrawlers from around the standing trees at the north end of the lake. Outlook-good.

Kokosing River--Clear and normal at 76 F. Good catches of smallmouth bass and rock bass are reproted. Smallmouth are being taken on hellgramites, soft craws, and spinners. Rock bass are hitting small hellgramites and worms. Outlook-good.

Deer Creek Reservoir--Slightly high and clearing, Tailwater-Roily-77 degrees F. Anglers are taking carp on dough balls and worms, channel catfish on nightcrawlers, soft craws and liver. An occasional walleye is being caught from the tailwaters on yellow dollflies. Outlook-fair to good.

SAVE GAS

Gasoline can be saved and tire and engine life prolonged by avoiding unnecessarily rapid acceleration.

The Squirrel Must Have Been Sick

Dear Sir:

In your Outdoors Ohio column July 25, you had a story "Squirrel for Birdie on Fairway". A golfer had kicked a young fox squirrel to death.

Had the game protector used some common sense he would have realized the squirrel must have been sick. If so, it was better off put out of its suffering. It could have had rabies and should have been sent into the State University for a rabies check.

I doubt very much that anyone could kick a healthy young or old fox squirrel to death.

Very truly yours,

Plenty Of Handball

COLUMBUS Mayor Tom Moody (center) has proclaimed the week of August 27 "International Three-Wall Handball Championship Week" in Columbus. After 23 years in Detroit, the United States Handball Association has chosen Columbus as the site for the 1973 National Three-Wall Tournament. Shown with Mayor Moody (left to right) are Melvin B. Dodge, Director, Department of Recreation and Parks; W. T. "Ted" Bland, Tournament Chairman; Mayor Moody; State Senator Don Woodland, Dignitary and Approvals Chairman and David Cohen, Publicity and Promotion Chairman. The USHA National Three-Wall Championship Tournament will be held in Columbus Labor Day Weekend, August 30-September 3.

1973 Miss Columbus, Ohio Pageant Entries Accepted

The search for the 1973 Miss Columbus, Ohio has officially been opened by the Columbus Day USA Association.

Entries are being accepted from single females, ages 18-25, by Joyce Richards of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce (telephone 221-1321) and by the Eastland Mall office (telephone 861-3232). Eastland Mall Merchants Association is assisting the Columbus Day Committee on the queen contest.

Miss Columbus, Ohio will be selected on the basis of ambition, ability, participation in community activities, poise, personality, character, and general appearance.

Preliminary judging will be held at Eastland Saturday, August 25, at 10 a.m. to select 10 finalists.

The 1973 Miss Columbus will be chosen September 29 at 7 p.m. at Eastland Mall. The 1973 queen will receive a $300 scholarship from the Columbus Day Association and over $500 in other awards. She will become the official hostess for the Columbus Day Pagenat scheduled October 5-8.

She will also compete for the title of Miss Columbus USA with queens from 20 other cities bearing the name Columbus and traditionally invited to participate in the local pageant.

The current Miss Columbus, Ohio is Miss P. J. Campbell who is now pursuing amodeling career in New York City.

The 1972 Miss Columbus Day USA, Debbie Mohler of Columbus, Indiana, will visit the city Monday, August 6, to assist the Columbus Day Association in planning this year's queen contest.

Golden Age News And Notes

Wien, Austria: The old woman looks at the large kitchen clock. "He must be coming any minute now." She gets up a little laboriously picks up a glass with lemon squash from the kitchen table and goes to the sink. "It's hot today," she says, "he will be thirsty."

She runs cold water into the glass. Another glance at the clock. Eleven thirty. The old woman goes to the window. "What's keeping him?"

So begins the description of "Meals on Wheels" in the book Heritage and Mission, Social Work in Vienna published by the city. Vienna serves more than 2500 senior citizens daily meals. Let us continue to eavesdrop:

The doorbell rings. She rushes to open the door. "You forgot to look through the spy hole, Frau Havlicek," says the young man who comes in. "Yes I know," the old woman admits. "But look, it can only be you at this time. And then I forgot. I am so happy to see you." The young man puts the shiny dishes on the kitchen table.

"There's goulash soup today and yeast buns. four buns with vanilla sauce, "he says, "you like puddings don't you, Frau Havlicek?" "I do, and in this heat, one does not want meat anyway. The meat patties yesterday did for supper too. It was so much, too much for an old woman."

She points to the glass on the table. "Would you like a sip in this heat?" The young man gratefully accepts. "You are quite right not to drink hard stuff," she chatters on.

"It's no good. I know about it with my friend's boy. He became a drunkard and had been such a nice boy. Won't you sit down a little?"

"Well, two minutes," says the young man and sits down. "You know Herr Wilhelm is also waiting for his food and all the others too. And I have to be at work at two."

"And how's your finacee?" asks the old woman with a knowing twinkle in her eyes.

"Fine thank you., She has a new job, now, much better pay. We might be able to get a flat soon."

THE OLD woman has taken the dishes of the day before from her kitchen cupboard. "And what are we getting tomorrow?" she asks.

"Oh, no, tomorrow is Saturday.

You are not coming tomorrow. Pity, It is not just the food, you know. Even if it is a blessing not to have to climb up to the fifth floor every day. But I do so enjoy talking to you, the likes of me are alone a great deal. . ."

The youngman has finished his drink and picked up the dishes "Till Monday, then, Frau Havlick!" He shakes hands with the old woman. "And don't forget to look through the spy hole before you open the door. So much happens these days."

He is gone. The old woman shuts the door behind him and goes back into her kitchen. She open the dishes. "Still all nice and warm," she says, "Well, I'll eat straight away and save myself heating it up!"

FOR YEARS now private cars of the four largest private charitable organizations in the City of Vienna have been driving through the streets in the late morning hours. Merely a small sticker on the back window reveals that volunteers are driving the cars Essen Auf Radern (Meals on Wheels) says these modest stickers. About 350 Viennese volunteer to take the warm meals prepared in a central canteen.

The program your columnist writes about--in addition to central feeding of senior citizens--is currently in the "hoped for funding process."

The Franklin County Council on Aging has submitted to the State Administration on Aging a comprehensive nutrition program for Franklin County. Funds being sought are from Title VII of the Older Americans Act and the nutrition program has been approved by both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Currently the State Administration is awaiting word from Washington about the funds allocated to the State of Ohio.

If approved the nutrition program--both home delivered and central feeding--will be able to be started in full. It will be operated by the Community Health Care Services Agency fo the Columbus Public Health Department, Dorothy Royce, Director, and Jean Jones, Nutritionist.

Mr. Dinner Will Come To Your House Anytime

MR. DINNER is a new concept in the food service field in Columbus--a home dinner delivery service.

In the past a person had three options when he was hungry--going out to a restaurant, cooking a meal at home, or driving out to bring dinner back home.

Now Mr. Dinner offers a fourth alternative--dinner catered to your home. Now the weary housewife, working people, or the elderly can order an a'la carte dinner by 10 a.m. and have it delivered to their residence by 6 p.m.

The service may be ordered for one person or the entire family; one evening or the whole week.

The dinners are ready to popped into the oven and out within 10 minutes at the diner's convenience.

Using only top-quality, freshly-prepared foods, U.S. Choice meats, grade A vegetables--Mr. Dinner packages the pre-selected portions in disposable aluminum containers that eliminates the washing of pots and pans after dinner.

The purpose of Mr. Dinner is to provide a well-balanced dinner at ecomonical prices while saving shopping preparation, clean-up, and effort.

Mr. Dinner also has a menu that changes daily and weekly to provide out customers with a wide variety of selections.

The manager of Mr. Dinner is Richard Patrick, a native of Circleville and a graduate of Wittenberg University.

The Food Service manager is Charles K. Sanborn of Granville, who has had over 12 years of experience in all facets of the food service industry.

Sanborn is keen on the Mr. Dinner concept and emphasizes this service for the elderly who can't shop and cook for themselves, anyone who is convalescing and especially the housewife who welcomes a vacation from the kitchen at any opportunity.

Catering any occasion is another phase of the Mr. Dinner operation Patrick and Sanborn hope to expand in the near future.

All in all, Mr. Dinner's theme of "From our kitchen to your door" should alert Columbus people that they may now have the services of a chef in their home at any time.

Muptiple Sclerosis Appoints Chairman

Mrs. Melvin Winner, 406 Westphal Ave., Columbus, was reappointed chairman of the Gift and Memorial Committee at a recent meeting of Multiple Sclerosis Key No. 1.

According to Mrs. Winner, there has been a most enthusiastic response to the use of Gift and Memorial cards. Many people are using the cards to remember friends and relatives for birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, graduations, etc. or from condolences.

The cards represent a donation to Multiple Sclerosis by the sender as well as a special thought to the recipient. Mrs. Winner paid that the success of the sale of Gift and Memorial cards is because of the special thoughtfulness they convey. People also like the ease and convenience of merely calling Mrs. Winner, who takes care of mailing and details.

Each card is handsomely printed on high quality paper and has the name of the sender. They may be obtained for a minimum of one dollar donation per card. All proceeds go for Multiple Sclerosis research and patient care in Franklin County.

For more information call Mrs. Winner, 231-4473.

New Departments Set At Electric Company

Two new departments have been established at Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company in Columbus.

The Public Affairs Department will be headed by Robert E. Sisinger as Manager. Department will include such areas as governmental affairs, community and educational activities and civic affairs.

Robert E. Boyd will be Manager of Corporate Publications, and will be in charge of photography, publications, the company's employee newspaper, art and display and special corporate events.

Sisinger attended Ohio State University where he studied education. He has been with the company since 1948 and has served in several capacities. His most recent position was Manager of Municipal Relations.

Boyd attended Ohio State University, majoring in business administration. He joined Columbus and Southern in 1947 and has held several positions, the most recent of which was Marketing Information Manager.

FRIENDS MEET after the Bexley Pool Awards Day swim meet and compare ribbons they won for the various races in different classes and age groups.

Everyone Wins At Bexley Swim Meet

Bexley-Five hundred and ten awards were given out to members of swim classes at Bexley Pool at the second annual Awards Day, Aug. 3. Most were Red Cross patches issued for attaining certain levels of proficiencey in strokes and dives this summer. Others were ribbons for winners of the many races held at the Friday event.

About 750 youngsters were enrolled in swim classes this summer, according to Mrs. James Click and Mrs. David Miller who are in charge of Red Cross swim instruction. The Bexley Pool, in its ten years of existence has taught 8000 children how to swim, at the rate of about 800 per year. (The Spectator erroneously reported a ten-year total of 800 taught, in an earlier summer issue.)

THE ADVANCED swimmers, in the only race for time, swam 100 yards freestyle and the winners were John Humley, first, and Melissa Page, second. The times were 1:36.1 and 1:44.5.

GIRLS' WINNERS

Winners in the races for girls of various age groups, and swim classes in order of first, second, and third places are: Swimmer class, nine year olds, Virginia Queen, first; Jennifer Lombardo, second, Michele Hosfeld, third.

Swimmer class, ten years or older, 100 yd. individual medley, Terry Strang, first; Leslie Worch, second; Stephanie Acton, third.

SWIMMER CLASS, eight years and under, 100 yd. freestyle, Lisa Herring, Kim Bainter, and Stephanie Hall.

Intermediate girls, ten years, 50 yd. 2-stroke medley, Robin Cannon, Regina Ruth, and Laura Bostic.

Intermediate girls, nine years, 50 yd. freestyle, Debbie Frost, Karen Grebus, and Rachel Thurn.

Advanced Beginners, seven and eight years, 25 yd. crawl, Ann Maria Flynn, Paula Rovnak, and Celia Meshanko.

Beginners, eight and nine years, 25 yd. crawl, Katie Fagan, Alice Nagle, and Ann Fagan.

BOYS' WINNERS

Advance Beginners, ten years, 25 yd. crawl, Dan Dressel, first, Troy Widdis, and Robby Szymczak second and third.

ADVANCED Beginners, nine years, 25 yd. freestyle, Mark Beck, Tom Hendershot, and Jimmy Klunk.

COOL IT

Everybody's telling us that modern tensions will eventually do us in if we don't learn to cool it. And they're probably right. It's not easy to keep a level head all the time, but the Automobile Club says one way to stay healthy is to make sure you're relaxed when you get in the driver's seat. When you're behind the wheel, nothing can cook your goose like a hot temper.

COLUMBUS–JACK Price and Sgt. James Cottrill, who heads up the mobile crime unit, look at one of two vans used in the investigation of major crimes in Columbus. The nine men on the unit take nine to twelve hours to gather and process evidence at the scene of each major crime. Last month the men worked 98 hours of overtime, not including time in court. Rolling Crime Unit Brings Experts To Scene

By Kathy Devaney

Columbus–The average length of time to gather evidence at the scene of a crime is 9 to 12 hours.

The mobile crime laboratory of the Columbus Police Department is involveil in gathering evidence at all major crimes; homocides have the number one priority. It is attached to the technical evidence section of the detective bureau.

At the scene of a homocide the two-man team visually inspects the scene, photographs everything pertaining to the crime, measures and draws a sketch of the scene pinpointing where items are.

Then the men collect evidence which may include vacuuming for microscopic particles, taking blood samples and dusting or photographing fingerprints, according to Sgt. James Cottrill, who heads up the unit.

The men are responsible for processing the victim--removing clothing, fingerprinting for identification and photographing wounds.

After returning to headquarters they refine the drawing and make a progress report to the investigating detectives and to Cottrill.

"Before this unit was established two and half years ago, the identification bureau would be called to take fingerprints, the photography department would send someone to take pictures and the detectives would gather their own evidence. Now one man does all this. This gives the detective more time to interview witnesses and suspects and also makes for a better presentation in court," Cottrill said.

Two vans are required to carry all the equipment needed. There are various sized bags, bottles and boxes for evidence; lighting equipment, measuring and drawing equipment; carpentry, mechanics and plumbers tools; ropes, chains and barricades.

One of the newest pieces of equipment is an anti-putrification mask which filters out all odors when the men have to work with a decaying body.

Most of the nine patrolman assigned to the unit have completed courses at Columbus Technical Institute in criminal investigation and are working on their own time for criminology degrees, he said.

Cottrill is hoping to get a new truck and an additional fully staffed unit.

"My nine men average 140 hours of overtime a month and there are 20 men waiting to join this unit," he said. The overtime doesn't include time in court.

The unit traveled 50,043 miles in 1972 on 4,905 runs. the men processed 1,659 crime scenes, collected 6,820 crime scene photographs and lifted 6,846 latent prints.

Madison Board Readies Programs

GROVEPORT--The Madison Local School Board of Education, in last night's meeting authorized the implementation of an intramural program, hired personnel, voted to change athletic leagues, and announced state approval of their free meal policy. (See story related to the free meal policy in this issue of the Spectator East on page 2.)

The board approved the resignation of the district high schools from the Mid-Eight Athletic League, effective at the end of the upcoming school year and the entry into the Ohio Capitol Conference, effective with the start of the 1974-75 school year.

They authorized the payment for 15 district's physically handicapped students so they may attend special schools in Columbus.

SAMUEL J. CARINE, D.O., with offices at 3494 S. Hamilton Rd., was designated as the school doctor for the 1973-74 school year. His service would include physical examiniations for all participants in the athletic program of the school district and also attendance at home high school football games.

THE PROPSSED INTRAMURAL program presented to the Board of Education on July 30, was approved and the superintendent was authorized to implement the program for the 1973-74 school year.

The following new teacher appointments were made: Charla Buzzard is assigned to teach music in the high school; Mrs. Linda Graves, elementary; Mrs. Sandra Lake, elementary music; Mrs. Janet Lasley, art in the seventh grade; Dennis Laneza to teach industrial arts in the high school; Mrs. Linda Scheeler to teach music in the elementary grades; Mrs. Kathy Seibel, elementary; Ruthann Tocci, elementary art, and Linda Williams, elementary E.M.R.

Anthony Campolo was given a supplemental contract to be assistant coach for reserve football and be in charge of freshman wrestling.

Seventeen substitute clerical personnel and subsititute school bus drivers, and one temporary summer custodial employee were hired.

Expenses are to be paid for atttendance of Board members, administrators, clerk and Director fof Community Relations, at the annual conference of the Ohio School Board Association in Columbus, Nov. 13-15.

In other action, the board agreed to again sign for the services of the Central Ohio Educational Research Council, Inc., to construct an eight foot wide blacktop walk from Arnsby Drive to the northwest corner of the Sedalia Elementary School, to furnish school buses and drivers for field trips for the Eastland Joint Vocational School District.

THE BOARD ANNOUNCED that all buses have passed inspection by the State Highway Patrol, and congratulated the transportation director, Leroy Sexton and mechanics Donald Noble and Harol d Rice for their work in this area.

The need for a meeting prior to the opening of school (set for Tuesday, Sept. 4) was felt, and the date was set for 7 p.m., Monday Aug. 27. The next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Sept. 10.

Two New Schools Planned, Nine To Get Additions

East Columbus- Plans for two new schools and extensive additions to nine others in the East Columbus area are in various planning stages, with several ready to have construction cost bids advertised for in a month or less, according to Dr. Howard O. Merriman, executive director of devopment fo the Columbus Public Schools. Construction could start in another month on the latter projects.

Phase I

In Phase I, projects wth the highest priority on which planning started in January, a new junior-senior high school in the Refugee-Noe-Bixby Road area has it's educational specifications completed and architects are working on preliminary plans.

At Walnut Ridge High School, preliminary drawings have been approved by the board of education for an addition and remodeling. A school architect is doing working drawings. Completion of these drawings is about a month off, Merriman says, and if approved by the board, the board would then advertise for bids Construction contracts could be awarded 28 days later, with construction beginning in the fall.

The Columbus School Board approved working drawings last Tuesday for a new library-learning center, new classroom space and other remodeling at Johnson Park Junior High School. Bids are being advertised for, beginning Monday, Aug 13. Bid opening date will be Sept. 11, so construction could begin in the fall.

For Sherwood Junior High and Yorktown Junior High, preliminary drawings for new library-learning centers and additional classroom space have been approved by the board. Architects are doing working drawings.

Also in Phase I, final drawings are to be approved at the next regular board meeting, Aug. 21, for a new learning center and additional classrooms for Easthaven Elementary School.

For Oaklawn Elementary School, the board has already approved the drawings for a learning center and additional classrooms.

PHASE II PROJECTS

Phase II projects are those for which planning started in April and on which construction will not be started until 1974.

The educational specifications for a new elementary school in the Noe-Bixby area came into the office just this week, Merriman reports. They were turned in three months earlier than had been expected, and are the result of months of planning by a committee of professionals, teachers, administrators, parents and other community memebers.

The specifications have been reviewed by the board and preliminary drawings are already started.

Preliminary drawings are also on the architects' boards for an addition to Brentnell Elementary School.

Planning committees are now at work on educational specifications for additions to Eastmoor and Woodcrest Elementary Schools.

An Editorial

We Liked Bill Grover

The passing of F. William (Bill) Grover, Executive Secretary and Promotion Manager for the Town and Country Shopping Center Business Association leaves an emptiness in the hearts of those who had the good fortune to be associated with him.

Bill was unique in this era of specialists in that he was a specialist in every phase of the graphic arts which he touched so superbly: advertising, public relations, copywriting, promotion and above all, goodwill.

He had the ability to work equally as hard for his business associates as he did the consumer and was a perfect example of management and the buyer getting along in a partnership that produced dividends for all.

He made goals, reached them, and also helped other attain theirs by setting good examples and counseling them with sound advice as well as listening with a sincere ear.

Those who knew him respected him and our sympathy goes to his survivors with the knowledge that he has left a host of monuments and stmilards along the path of life he trod so well, and with such honesty and integrity.

Madison-Groveport Police Communication To Rate With Best

Groveport-Robert Brobst, president of the Madison Township trustees, announces that a $40,625 grant of federal and state crime-fighting funds has been awarded to Madison Township for police communication equipment. The remaining cost of the $50,000 project will come from local sources.

Brobst reports that a new base radio station will be installed in the township radio dispatch section, including control instruments and antenna.

In addition, each village police department in the township, Groveport & Canal Winchester, will be provided with three mobile car radios complete & installed, two portable radios (walkie-talkies), and one desk radio & intercom unit for each village police station. Participating funds of about $370 will return over $9,000 in equipment to each village.

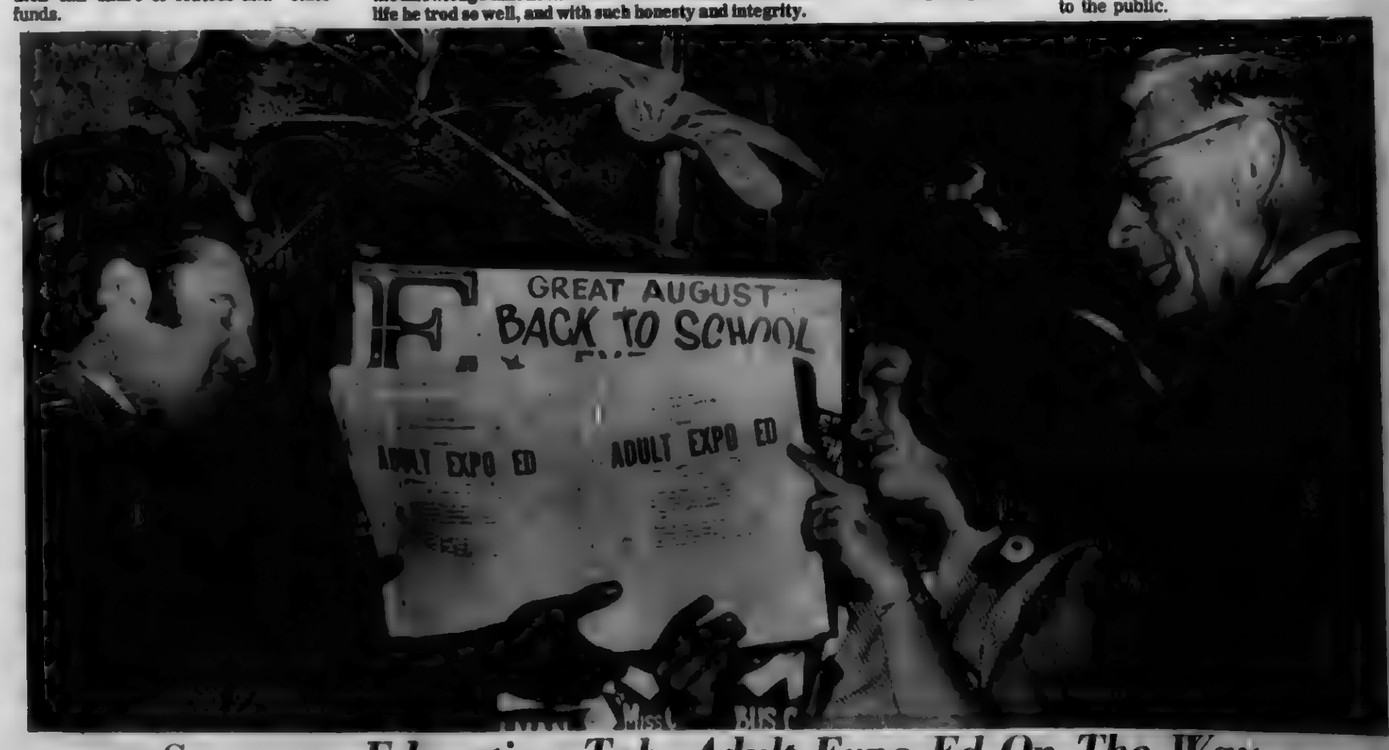
An additional and continuing expense for each village will be the lease of a telephone line used in connecting with the desk & radio & intercom. This cost is about what a business telephone costs per month.

The Madison Township Police Department will receive similar equipment.

THE FINAL APPROVAL of this project came some 18 months after the project was initiated by Madison Township Police Chief James Alexander. It is expected that the equipment will be in place and operating by the end of the year.

The equipment will make the Madison Township, Groveport, and Canal Winchester Police Departments among the best communication-equipped in the country.

CHIEF Alexander stated that a major factor in the approval of this project was the fact that it involved several police jurisdictions that required the cooperation of Madison Township, Groveport, and Canal Winchester. Had any one of the three departments "gone it alone" on a communication project, it would likely have been disapproved. Township Trustee President Brobst added that he hoped that future cooperative projects could be initiated so that Madison Township, Groveport, and Canal Winchester could continue to realize their fair share of federal and state funds.



Spectator Education Tab, Adult Expo Ed On The Way

THE CENTRAL OHIO Adult Education Association will present "Adult Expo Ed" on the Eastland Mall Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6-7. Robinwood placed second in the City-Wide Softball Tournament for boys, 14-18. Players included Mike Gaskins, Mark Foltz, Russ Rixchardson, Moose Luster, Bill LeMaster, Steve Perry, Angle, Green and Brobst.

Aides Needed For Oldsters

Bexley- According to Ted Flickinger, director of Bexley Parks and Recreation Department, volunteers are needed in the senior citizens's program.

Membership in the Bexley Oldster's Activities Club has grown from nine to two hundred members just this year, he reports, and help is needed to take the place of additional staff.

Housewives or others who have time to help, especially on trips taken by the club, are needed. Assisting the senior citizens on and off buses would be one of the chief functions of the volunteers. Trip expenses would be paid.

Other ways volunteers could be helpful would be in the supervision of bingo, and in asisting with, or teaching, arts and crafts.

The amount of time needed from a volunteer would fluctuate. Trips are taken about once a month, never more than two a month. Other activities are on a continuing basis.

People willing to give of their time and talents are asked to contact the Parks and Recreation office, Jeffrey Mansion, or call 258-5755.

Governor To Be Speaker

Governor John J. Gilligan will be the featured speaker for "Victory Dinner '73," sponsored by the Whitehall Democratic Club. The fund-raiser for Whitehall Democratic City Council candidates will be at Ilonka's Provincial House, 4040 E. Broad St., Friday, September 7 at 7 p.m.

Bexley Park Proposals

BEXLEY--A scenic overlook and improved walkway along the Alum Creek is proposed for Jeffrey Park, above. Below is a creative area furnished with redwood blocks, suggested by the landscape architects.

District Free Meal Policy Is Adopted

Groveport-The Madison Local Board of Education is announcing a free meal policy for school children unable to pay the full price of meals served in schools under the National School Lunch Program.

Local school officials have adopted the family-sized, income scale for use in determining eligibility, as shown in the chart below.

In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses may apply also.

They may do so by filling in the appplication forms sent home with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

The information provided on the application willbe confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Applications may be submitted anytime during the school year.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If parents have such children living with them and wish to apply for such meals, they should contact the school.

Under the provision of the policy the Building Principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Fred S. Cover, Coordinator of Business Affairs and Employee Relations, whose address is 5055 S. Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio 43125, for a hearing to appeal the decision.

Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Madison Local Board of Education, 5055 S. Hamilton Rd., where it may be reviewed by any interested party.

Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of the same school food authority are to receive the same benefits.

Columns A and B represent family-size, income scale below which Free Meals must be provided.

Golden Age News And Notes

WIEN, AUSTRIA: Old people in general are provided for in Austria. Of course, some have provided for themselves throughout their working life through their social insurance contributions.

However, not every one has been in a position to do that and quite a few would be penniless in advanced years, often through no fault of their own, if the community did not look after them.

EVERY old person in Austria can depend on it that his pension will arrive on a certain day every month.

Regardless of whether he has earned it in full, in part or not at all, whatever the reason may be. Every Austrian receives enough to cover absolute essentials and if he has not earned it, the community helps out.

The community either makes up the minimum pension or else provides welfare up to the amount of the minimum pension.

Almost 7,000 old or disabled citizens are supported by the city of Vienna in this manner. One-time relief can also be granted to bridge a destitute situation or cover the period while the pension application is pending.

ONE MIGHT say that the minimum pension is very little and only covers absolute essentials not leaving enough for the old to have any enjoyment in life.

(Locally any senior looking for gainful employment to supplement a retirement income may contact the Senior Citizens' Placement Bureau at 252-5238.)

However, the City of Vienna also makes sure that there is room for a little happiness and sociability without being legally bound to do so.

FIRST there are the Senior Citizen Centers or clubs Warmestuben (warming rooms). In 1971 in these clubs 320,000 cups of coffee, 1,145,000 pieces of cake or sweet buns and 57,000 lunches were consumed. Besides food, these centers provide facilities for constructive hobbies. In addition, anyone who has a problem will always find someone there to help and advise, either a colleague or one of the leaders who have all studied the worries of senior citizens.

(Columbus Recreation & Parks Department operates six full-time senior citizens recreation centers. For further information contact the Supervisor's office at 461-6519.)

A film at the club, a visit to the theatre, an evening at the Circus or at the ice revue in the Town Hall-senior citizens receive free tickets to these.

There are also bus trips into the lovely countryside around Vienna, and boat trips up the Danube. About 8,000 Viennese senior citizens take part in these excursions every year.

All these things are just the "first push" for older persons to find sociability and communications among themselves. No Senior Citizen need ever feel lonely in Vienna. (If you need a daily friendly conversation and are a senior citizen, Tele-A-Friend is operated in Franklin County by Columbus Area Community Mental Health Center. Their number is 224-7444.)

AS IN our country, the age of the automobile has left many Viennese old people by the wayside. Even those who could afford to run their own car would find it impossible to find their way in the city traffic. Most older persons in Vienna take trains or buses.

Since it is not possible to keep public transport fares on a level compatible with the minimum pensions, the fares are reduced.

Like the Austrian Federal Railways who issue pensioners' cards which entitle the holder to a 50 percent reduction, the City of Vienna has been issuing such cards for years. (This fall (October 1, 1973) should bring about the rate reduction for senior citizens now the Central Ohio Transit Authority is operating the transit system in the community.)

FOR ALL these available services, the City of Vienna sends information cards to all households in the municipality giving the essential data on social services in the respective districts. There is also an emergency telephone service.

Monday to Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. every Viennese has a direct line to the social worker on duty in the Town Hall. Whether it is a question of reaching an urgent service, obtaining information or just good advice-every Viennese knows he can get help by dialing this special number.

Give yourself a Christmas present NOW!

Join the gas company's budget payment plan.

Next January, when you're groaning over all your Christmas bills, you'll be glad you gave yourself a gift of the gas company's Budget Payment Plan in August.

Naturally, you use more heat in your home during the cold weather, and your gas bills for those months are higher. But the gas company has a 12-month Budget Payment Plan that reduces those higher cold-weather heating bills by spreading the cost over the entire year.

This winter, when the temperature drops outside, you can relax and enjoy your warm, comfortable home without worrying about the mailman delivering those normal winter gas bills to you.

Give yourself a Christmas present now. Join the Budget Payment Plan by paying the budget amount, which will appear on your next gas bill. For additional information, call your local gas company office.

New World Of Electricity Will Illuminate The Fair

THE OHIO Electric Utility Institute will present "A New World of Electricity" in the Electric Building at the Ohio State Fair, August 23 through September 3.

The Institute is comprised of the eight investor-owned utilities in Ohio: The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company, Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, The Dayton Power and Light Company, Monogahela Power Company, Ohio Edison Company, Ohio Power Company, and Toledo Edison Company.

The purpose of "A New World of Electricity" is to show what electricity is doing to provide comfort and convenience in the home, on the farm, in business and industry, and in helping to solve ecology problems.

COOKING demonstrations, five daily, at Noon, 1, 2, 3, and 4 p.m., will be presented by members of the Travelers Aid-International Institute. Eleven different ethnic groups will prepare delicacies of their homelands in these "New World of Cooking" demonstrations.

Copies of recipes will be available, and awards will be given at each show.

Other features in the Electric Building include:

"Home Entertainment--Crystal Sets to Videotape"--a display of historic radio memorabilia from the Gray History of Wireless Museum and, by contrast, the newest in home entertainment: an Admiral Cartrivision videotape recorder.

The Baldwin Piano Company will be "Teaching Music Electrically" in their exhibit. Actual classes will be held in the Baldwin booth, using the "Electroconsort" and other modern applications of electronics in the teaching of music.

A MODEL of the cooling tower for the William H. Zimmer Nuclear Plant is one of many features in the Nuclear Energy exhibit. Three nuclear plants now under construction in this part of the country will be highlighted in the exhibit, and "Uncle Ben," a huge animated light bulb patterned after Ben Franklin, will tell the story of nuclear energy.

The Farm Food Factory of the Future, designed and built by the Ohio Edison Company, incorporates ideas, structures and equipment available enabling the farmer to produce more food and fiber with less labor and expense, electrically.

Two beautiful Garden Lighting Displays show both outdoor and indoor garden lighting. The outdoor display highlights lawn lanterns, ground floods, border and path lights, etc. The garden setting includes a variety of flowers.

THE INDOOR garden Lighting exhibit, entitled "Light Gardening--Bright Ideas for Growing Plants Indoors," shows how lighting simulates sunlight so that plants can thrive year-round. The hobby has thousands of enthusiasts in his area. Industry exhibits include Electric Heating, Microwave Cooking and the Westinghouse Cool-Heat Range.

Two Ohio companies, Black and Clawson and Armco Steel, are presenting displays showing how their companies are participating in recycling and ecology activities. Other ecology displays show the recycling of paper and fragmentizing automobiles.

"Electricity in Hospitals" and "Electricity in Schools" show the many ways in which electricity aids health and helps our children in various learning processes.

WHEN YOU visit the Ohio State Fair, be sure to see "A New World of Electricity" in the Electric Building.

Balloon Race Will Be Fair Highlight

It will be "Up, Up and Away" during the 6th Annual 7-Up International Balloon Race at the 1973 Ohio State Fair.

Liftoff is set for 12 noon, Friday, August 31, from the infield area.

In making the announcement, Vic Lucas, General Manager of the Ohio State Fair, noted that although balloon racing is a relatively new sport in this country, "the 7-Up International Balloon Race at the Ohio State Fair is now the most continuously held race at one location that is officially sanctioned anywhere in the world."

Among the ten entrants for the race will be Dennis Floder of Flint, Michigan. Floder, currently United States national Champion, flies under the name of Captain Phineas Fogg, the hero of Jules Verne's Around the World in 80 Days.

Also entered in the competition will be an entry from France called the "Paris Match," sponsored by the magazine of the same name.

Lucas added that the President of the Balloon Federation of England will be a special guest at the 7-Up International Balloon Race.

"He'll be on hand to observe how these events are staged in this country," Lucas said.

Courtland Communications Buys New York Papers

Courtland Communications Corporation, a Cleveland based multi-media chain, has announced the acquisition of Southern New York Publishers, Inc. of Monticello, New York, the publisher of Republican Watchman News, Liberty Evening News and Watchman News Shopping Guide.

The announcement of the acquisition was made jointly by Eldon C. Gensheimer, Executive Vice President of Courtland Communications, and Rubin Katz, President of Southern New York Publishers, Inc.

The three newspapers published by Southern New York Publishers, Inc. have total circulation in excess of 31,345 and according to Gensheimer the acquisition of these three newspapers completes a 2-year master plan through which Courtland achieved total circulation in the New York counties of Rockland, Orange and Sullivan.

"We are now able to offer our advertisers complete saturation of all three counties", stated Gensheimer, "with only one advertising purchase-an advantage that no other newspaper can provide."

Gensheimer went on to say, "We purchased Rockland Leader, Inc. of Nanuet, New York in June 1972 which enabled us to offer complete distribution in Rockland County. Then came Northwood Communications Corporation of Warwick, New York in October 1972 which gave us a major foothold in Orange County. We finalized our coverage of Orange County last month when we acquired the Orange County Free Press. Southern New York Publishers, Inc. now gives us complete saturation in adjoining Sullivan County."

Gensheimer announced that Rubin Katz will remain on as General Manager of the new Courtland subsidiary and that the company expects no change in either format or personnel.

This acquisition brings the number of publications in the Courtland chain to 25 with total circulation in excess of 318,000.

Courtland Communications owns six other publishing companies - in Englewood, New Jersey - Palisades Newspapers, Inc.; in Euclid, Ohio - Collinwood Publishing Corporation; in Columbus, Ohio - Gibralter Publishing Company; in St. Clair County, Michigan - The Independent Press-The Review. Courtland also owns two printing plants located in Nanuet, New York and Richmond, Michigan, as well as radio stations WFAS-AM and WWYD-FM, full-time stations located in Westchester County, New York.

Crusade For Christ At Stadium Aug. 19

Dr. John Knight of Kansas City, the Executive Director of the National Board of Evangelism for the Nazarene Church, will be the keynote evangelist for a community wide Crusade for Christ on the South Side of Columbus to be held from Sunday, August 19 through Sunday, August 26.

Dr. Knight

It is organized and sponsored by the South Side Ministerial Association.

Each evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Knight will be complimented in the Crusade by a mass choir from churches of greater Columbus, the Pickens Family, and The Royaltires.

Any questions regarding the crusade, and further details about Dr. Knight of any of the paricipating groups are available by calling Marrill Nelson, Publicity Chariman for the South Side Ministerial Association, 444-6170.

American Packages A Premium Product

Flight Attendants (Not Hostesses) Fill The Air With Beauty, Care

By Ray Adams

HEY, THERE do you have a healthy, vibrant appearance?

A well proportioned figure? Good posture and graceful walk? Hair well groomed and smartly styled? A clear, well cared for complexion? Hands that are smooth and perfectly manicured? Meticulous wardrobe appearance? A good dental display?

AT LEAST 20 year old? A female--or male?

Then with these and other high standard qualifications you just might qualify for American Airlines Flight Attendant training.

The days of female ONLY are gone yet most of those who qualify are of this beautiful species. Ask the man or woman who travels via the arilines a lot which they prefer.

We did and the women won out 17-1.

AMERICAN Airlines Port Columbus Manager Sidney Small, American Airlines Flight Service Supervisor Carl Wimmer and two Flight Attendants, Judy O'Dell (Dickson, Tennessee) and Joan Biggs, New York, were all compatible with information on the ins and outs of becoming a Flight Attendant.

They all included in their package these important items--you MUST like people, be a good conversationist and know your job thoroughly.

Flight Attendant Judy O'Dell attended Middle Tennessee State for two years and worked with emotionally disturbed adolescents. After college she worked in several businesses getting to know more about people.

She's relatively new to American Airlines with four months under her wing and looks forward to a rewarding career.

"You must be tolerant of people's feelings," she told us. "It's self-satisfaction to know you've made someone's first flight a little easier or have comforted someone who just needed a good listener."

Joan Biggs echoed Judy's remarks and added, "You must want to work hard and always be willing to continuously learn to stay on top of your position."

FLIGHT Service Director Carl Wimmer who lives on Columbus' North Side told us that his work entails a lot of closely-knit public relations in making everyone's flight, from pilot to passenger a memorable event.

"I try to observe the kind of service the flight attendants give without a critical evaluation. I enjoy telling them what they are doing right--the plus factor--so that they will know someone has recognized their assets and this gives them a sense of pride."

He continued, "A smile is a great umbrella when you're in the air and our Flight Attendants have the kind of warm smiles that put passengers at ease. You must be flexible as a Flight Attendant since most people are apprehensive of flying especially when it's their first time."

HE ADDED, "Those who want to become Flight Attendants would be wise to get public contact jobs such as sales clerks and te like. This way they will know how much of people they can handle prior to the time they apply to the Airlines.

Sidney Small believes that at least two years of some advanced education (and even a full four-year college degree) have many advantages to those who would seek Flight Attendant careers.

"A college education shows that the person has stuck it through to try to reach a goal. Those who continue learning after they have the degree use that education to its full benefit," he remarked.

"We want the best educated person we can get who fits our other requirements. The competition is keen and those who eventually qualify are not only terrific employees but terrific people."

New Albany High School graduate Vicki Ramney has her heart set on becoming a Flight Attendant, Her present height, though, five foot one and three-fourths puts her the shade under that means no.

Small outlined some of the basic requirements that Flight Attendants are required to have from the information sheet sent to all who inquire.

CITIZENSHIP

Must be U.S. Citizen. We are restricting our recruitment to United States citizens or aliens who are already United States residents with permanent visas.

Vision

Vision must be at least 20-50 in each eye separately. If vision is not this good, correction must be used to attain at least the 20-50 standard. Only contact lenses are acceptable for correction and the wearer must be able to tolerate lenses without signs of eye irritation for at least ten (10) hours per day.

Education

The applicants must have a high school diploma or a General Education Development rating equivalent to high school graduation. College level education is very desirable and will be considered in the applicant's favor in evaluating qualifications. The applicant who has not had the opportunity to obtain college training should have two years of work experience, if possible. Part-time or vacation work experience is considered a plus for college students. Work in contact with the public is usually most beneficial in preparing for a Flight Attendant career.

Suggested Preparatory Courses

If you are still in school, we suggest the following Preparatory courses listed below which will supply basic fundamental knowledge necessary in the constant contact with people of varying tastes and temperaments, care of children and sick persons, serving of meals, etc.

Not to be forgotten is health to assure a vibrant appearance and a well proportioned figure which is so important to the Jet Age Flight Attendant.

Psychology, English, Sociology, Public Speaking, Nurses Aid, First Aid, Physiology, Nutrition or Home Economics, Hygiene, Languages, Music, Art, Current Events, Geography, Phyand Physical Education.

Height

Height is measured in stocking feet with hair pressed down on the top of the head. The applicant who is just a "shade" under 63 inches in height, or over 72 inches, will not qualify. Sorry, but no waivers can be granted in this or any of the other requirements.

Weight

Weight must be in proportion to height. A table giving maximum weights for specific heights is available on request. Also included is the maximum hip circumference permitted for each height. Hip measurements should be taken at the largest circumference. Applicants whose figure proportions exceed the maximums will not be selected for training.

Personal Appearance-

1. A healthy, vibrant appearance.
2. A well proportioned figure-physique (see height and weight table).
3. Good posture and graceful walk.
4. Hair well groomed and smartly styled. (IF color treated, it must have a natural looking appearance, be in good healthy condition, and must be complimentary to the skin tone.)
5. A clear, well cared for complexion. (Distracting scars, moles, large pores, noticeable blemishes and excessive facial hair are not acceptable.)
6. Hands that are smooth and perfectly manicured. (Nails and cuticles should look perfect and well cared for.)
7. Meticulous wardrobe appearance. (Your clothes are a vivid expression of your personality; good taste and judgement are very important.)
8. A good dental display is extremely important; fairly straight teeth, good bite, clean and white.

Training Schools

American Airlines has no interest, financial or otherwise, in any commercial airline training school. We do not require nor prefer that applicants be graduates of such schools.

No school is authorized to guarantee its graduates employment by American Airlines, Inc,, or even preferential consideration.

Our employment is based upon a personal interview and an exhaustive investigation into the applicant's total background. Our aim always is to employe the persons best qualified for the position in question. In most classifications any necessary training is given by us after employment.

American Airlines has its own Flight Service College outside Dallas, Texas, where Flight Attendants and Airline Pilots and Flight Engineers get their training.

Some make it-some don't.

Flight Service Director Carl Wimmer told us there are some area persons at these schools.

That will be a later story when we pay a visit to that spot.

CLOSER THAN she's ever been to an American Airlines jet is Vicki Ramney, left, as she discusses the joys of flying with Flight Attendants Joan Biggs and Judy O'Dell. (Photos by Ray Adams.)

FLIGHT SERVICE Director Carl Wimmer lets everyone know all there is to know about American Airlines and here reviews some high points with Vicki Ramney.

East Meets West At Swim Meet

BEXLEY—Off to a flying start are these five swimmers in one of the 25 races held at the Bexley Pool Aug. 10. between Livco Pool, Lincoln Village and Bexley. The meet at which 85 ribbons were awarded, was sponsored by the Central Ohio Swimming Association. The league is known as a development league, so individual involvement is more important than team ratings. From bottom to top, the girls are Ann Nolan and Colleen Clifford, from Livco Pool; Marcia Campbell, Ellen Baird and Melissa Page, Bexley.

DID I WIN? Huh? Huh? Yes, he won. John Baird won the boys' 25 meter 8 and under freestyle race.

He's Been The Best Knight Of The Year

By KATHY DECANEY
West Editor

Observing, questioning and probing through ashes are part of the job of an arso investigator which were put into practice Wednesday and Thursday as 80 men from 36 Ohio fire, state, police and sheriff departments met for the 19th annual state arson school sponsored by the Department of Commerce, Divisiion of Ohio State Fire Marshal. There were also men from Indiana and Pennsylvania departments.

The men viewed house, auto, set and accidential fires at some desserted homes along Big Darby Creek. Members of the State Arson Bureau and members of fire departmentx set the fires and then acted out the parts of victims as the firemen asked questions and investigated to find out the causes of the fires.

Melvin Billman of the Sttate Arson Bureau was in charge of setting fires that can be found n the hjome.

"WE TRY TO teach them to think of possibilities. That's the purpose of teaching," he said.

The first fire was a cidental. Someone had been cleaning coins with sodium hydride; the cleaner spilled, came in cotact with water and started the fire. The clues of an empty can and a warning label were there.

The second problem was very tricky. The wrong type of wires had been used for splicing. The inspector muddled up the clues by having an extention cord under the carpet and all kinds of plusg in one socket.

ONLY ONE man found the real cause, Billman said, and he was an electrician.

The inspectors were also tricked by this problem. They set the fire and put it out. When they came back in the morning the chair was almost burned up. They thought they had put out all the smoldering pieces of fabric.

Other problems included a radio that shorted out and set the kitchen on fire and a boosing, careless smoker with a sippy wife who set his chair on fire with a cigarette.

Paul Evans of the arson bureau set five different arson fires using fiver methods he didn't want published because he was afraid kids might try them.

"THE WAY TO spot arson is to find clues in the wrong places such as candle wax in an unlikely spot," Evans said.

Robert Grandstaff, assistant chief of the Lancaster Fire Department, set 10 accidental fires.

"These accidental causes have to be eliminated before arson can be considered," he said.

This house contained examples of the stupid things people do which lead to fires and also some things people do but never thing could cause a problem.

"WE FIND pennies in fuse boxes or the big fusses with aluminum foil wrapped around them. Since the fuse can't blow, a wire or appliance heat up and burns," he said.

Grandstaff recommends checking the circuit breakers every 30 days to make sure they haven't oxidized and no longer work.

Extention cords are run under carpets. The constant walking over them braks down the insallation, it shorts out and sets the carpet on fire.

"PEOPLE WITH 30 -year-ole houses still have the original wiring,. They add all sorts of electrical appliances and never change the size of the wire. Eventually there may be a fire," he said.

One problem that is easily overlooked is the driving of nails into the wall. The nnail may go through the wire, breaking the insallation and causing a fire when the wire gets hot.

Another nail problem is caused by putting on aluminum siding. The long nails aused may slice through a wire causing it to short out later or it may electrify the siding.

GRANDSTAFF warns of storing chlorine for swimming pools in the garag e because f it comes in contact with any organic material it will burn.

He also warned of puttingout charcoal briquets with water and trying to save them for future use.

"A person puts out the coals, puts the grill in the garage and four or five hours later they start burning again," he said.

Mt. Carmel Committee Studies Patient Care

Columbus—Mount Carmel Medical Center and Mount Carmel East Hospital have set up a patient care committee to study whether patients are treated with dignity and are made to feel comfortable.

"With hospitals being forced to adopt more businesslike characteristics and adapt to fiscal realities, they often fall into the trap of becoming more and more impersonal," according to Don Smith, director of public relations.

The committee has been set up to seek answers to the following questions:

"Is the patient being treated as a person and not just as a case? Is the patient really as comfortable as he can be? When the patient is being transported from his room to x-ray do we enable him to maintain his sense of dignity? Is food being kept as warm as it should be? If the patient is in a semi-private room, do we help him maintain the privacy he requires?" And many other areas.

The group is concerned with the comfort and dignity of the individual patient and compassion for the sick as well as professional care and efficiency of hospital use, Smith said.

Patients will also contribute to the study. They will be questioned about their care and their suggestions will be incorporated into the committee's study.

The committee will be composed of a physician chairman and representatives of the Clinical Services, emergency Department Nursing Service, Administrative Staff Technological Staff and Pastoral Care.

Representatives of all areas of the hospital will be used for resource information also.

Speaking of Beauty

TO SPEAK ELEGANTLY IN A WHISPER
By Martha Massey

Elegance never shouts whether its hair coloring, hairstyling, or anything else in fashion or behaviour. Almost any good salon artist can achieve an effect that is flamboyantly eye-catching, but it takes our kind of artistry to give you a winning style that simply says quietly what you want it to speak for you.

GAYLA J. AMBROSE

Trains In Iceland

East Columbus-- Midshipman Gayla J. Ambrose, daughter of Mrs. Rita Ambrose of 1120 Eastmoor Blvd. Columbus, trained for three days at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Base at Keflavik, Iceland as part of her Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps duty.

The three-day session was part of a six-week summer training program.

OSU Cadet Attends Training Camp

Whitehall-Howard M. Hackman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard V. Hackman, 221 S. James Road, recently completed a U. S. Air Force Reserve Officeers Training Corps field training encampment at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

During the encampment, cadets receive survival and small arms training and aircraft and aircrew indoctrination. They also have the opportunity to observe careers in which they might wish to serve as Air Force officers.

Cadet Hackman is a member of the AFROTC unit at Ohio State University.

United In Marriage

East Columbus- Christ the King Church was the setting Aug. 4 for the wedding of Miss Patricia Anne Ledinsky and Derrel Bernard Hauser Jr. The Rev. Andrew Cifeini of Chicago, officiated at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Ledinsky Sr., 3373 Roswell Dr. and Mr. and Mrs. Derrell B. Hauser Sr. 1389 Crestwood Ave.

Miss Mary Anne Ledinsky was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids included another sister, Susanne Ledinsky, Donnna Uckbar of Cleveland, and Carol Lindisch. Denise Hauser, sister of the bridegroom, was the the flower girl.

Patrick McLaughlin was best man. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brothers Christopher and Bradley Hauser, and his cousin, Michael Barleycorn. The bride's nephew, Raymond Ledinsky, Chicago, was ringbearer.

The bride will attend Indiana University and will receive her bachelors degree in Spanish from Ohio State University in the spring.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the church.

Whitehall Recreation Roundup

TRACK MEETS

The Wednesday Night Track Meets sponsored by the Whitehall Recreation Department were a tremendous success this past summer. There were five meets which averaged about 230 contestants each meet from all over the Columbus area. We had many young contestants between the ages of 6 and 14. We had a good number of high school athletes and a strong response from men 18 and over.

All spectators were treated to many exciting races and competitions. An example would be Dr. George Knox, age, 62, who ran the hundred year dash, the mile run, and half mile run, the two mile run, high jumped and set a world age group record in the shot put with a throw of 24'1½".

..AS A FIRST YEAR EXPERIMENT, it was very successful. Many of the coaches and adults of the younger athletes expressed their thanks for a chance for good competition in an organized track meet. The enthusiasm of the older groups, expecially the men, could be seen each week as they competed in some very exciting and close races. With a little revamping and an OK from the recreation and school boards, we hope to continue the program next year by going to two evenings a week for six weeks.

MENS SOFTBALL

Agler Davidson won the City Championship by defeating Klamfoth Honda in the finals. The final score of the first game was Agler Davidson, 7, Klamfoth Honda 3. The final score of the second game was Agler Davidson 6, Klamfoth Honda 5. Outstanding players in the first game were Butch Martin who went three for three and John Dean who was two for three, with one home run. Glenn Foltz pitched a five-hitter in the first game. Steve Kanter went four for four in the second game. Agler Davidson finished the league season with a record of 13-0.

Moose Lodge Is Organizing

Whitehall- George Worley, 3966 Beeckbank Rd., enrollment director in the Whitehall area for the Moose Lodge, is announcing that a Whitehall Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose is now being formed.

Interested Moose members who live in the Whitehall area, including Reynoldsburg and Gahanna, may contact Worley at his home, or call 759-9872.

The Moose traditionally back the Boys Scouts, and the new lodge will help in this area, Worley reported, and also will be one of the sponsors of the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association.

Ohio's eight major ports carried 92,353,713 tons of freight and 334,891 passengers on 18,882 vessels in 1971. Toledo led in total freight handled, while Sandusky led in passenger traffic.

Hair-The Sweater Girl

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

Very put-together with shoulder length pageboy with fluffy curly sides and flipped up bangs. . .wearing Outlander's sleeveless V-neck vest with matching bias striped cardigan.

A short layered cut with pouffed and touseled bangs and close sides. . .the perfect style for Halston's floor length red sweater dress. . .his signature cardigan tied loosely over the shoulders.

A sleek, short cut with flipped up side and waved bangs above a camel sweater set and paisley shirt by Kasper for J.L. Sport.

AS A PROFESSIONAL FASHION WATCHER, I've discovered, that for Fall, proportions are switching around...the young woman who has grown up in snug sweaters and wide pants and shaggy hair, is now going to flip over the bulkier sweaters, straighter pants and skirts...the new longer proportions, the fanny sweater pulls, shades of the sloppy joe, and everything that is big, baggy, bulky, slouchy and roomy.

If you've been wondering...where is the hair headed? During the Hair and Beauty Show in New York, for the fashion press...we asked leading hairdressers throughout the country, and the magic word was "relaxed"...relaxed which doesn't mean untamed. Fall's sweater girl will be put together and refined, from the hair down to her shoes...above all, the hair will be neat.

DAVID MILLER, spokesman for the Trimmers throughout the country, sees the newest haircut as shorter, with the big emphasis on bangs...waved, straight and bluntly cut, flipped...in all variations. Perfect for the new shawl collars, the tilted berets, the tweedy men's hats, and the skimpy brimmed cloche.

PIERRE HENRI, Style Director for Saks Fifth Avenue Beauty Shops, envisions his sweater girl look as short, sensuous, and curly, with emphasis on the upturned, fringed over the forehead bangs.

VINCENT ROPPATTE, Style Director of the Enrico Caruso Salon in New York, sees his sweater girl with all the interest up front, with pouffed and tousled bangs and short close sides...a perfect look for the high necklines on most of this year's sweaters.

FROM AROUND the country we heard words like "flipped up fronts", "curly sides", "pageboy". Hair has a definite proportion and shape. The Sweater Girl for fall is going to find out she loves looking beautifully turned out instead of just thrown together...and she'll most likely turn a few heads in the process!

BARNETT RECREATION CENTER

The Intermediate Boy's Softball Team clinched the divisional section by beating Courtright this past week 4 to 1. Their current record is 5 and 0. The team consists of Rus Barton, Dave McIlwainne, Micky Turner, Jeff Willcoumbe, Randy Steinmetz, Jeff Callander, Todd Hunter, John French, Pete Liptrap, Steve Moore and Chuck McDaniel.

EASTHAVEN

Pageant practice continued this week in preparation for the Wednesday night production of the "Watergate News", at 7 p.m. at the Ohio theatre. The theme for this year's pageant is "Channel Chuckles" with each playground presenting a short pantomime of their favorite television program.

The girls softball team had a very uneventful week with the loss of two games by the Jr. Girls team. They were defeated by Scottwood, 7-3; and Courtright, 23-5. The Intermediate Girls had no scheduled games this week, however, they will be playing Fairmoor next Monday for the district title.

FAIRMOOR

Thursday, August, 2, Fairmoor Recreation Center had a telephone book drive where the children collected old books to be recycled for the Salvation Army. The grand total amounted to 451.

Debbie and Sue Ashburn collected 153 books, Rick Ochs and Jeff Douglas collected 108. Jeffrey and Nadine Baggs collected 49 telephone books and Kristi Dorn, 29 books.

Small prizes were given to the two highest scorers. The drive was a overall success with a great deal of enthusi[illegible]

Round Robin Winners Netted

BEXLEY- At the Mother-Daughter Tennis Round Robin July 28 at the Jeffrey Park courts, look-alikes Mrs. Kathryn Kirn and daughter Louise won the first place in the contest for daughters 13 and under. Louise, 13, at left, began playing tennis three years ago. For Mrs. Kirn tennis comes in second to her chief sports interests, swimming and diving. About six or seven years ago, she says, she started the diving instruction program at the Bexley Pool, and about the same time came in second in AAU diving competition behind Mickey King who went on to a U. S. Olympic berth.

ADMIRING IDENTICAL trophies they won in the Bexley Mother-Daughter Round Robin on the Bexley courts for daughters 14 through 18, are Mrs. Ann Webster, left, and her "borrowed" daughter, next-door-neighbor Linda Nagle, 18. Tennis has been the chief sports activity for many years for Mrs. Webster. Linda, a June Bexley High School graduate, looks forward to playing her favorite sport of tennis at Sullins College, Virginia, where she starts her college study in the fall. (Photos by Elsie V. Announce Engagement

MISS DEBORAH S. DAMRON

East Columbus- Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Damron, 2979 Easthaven Ct. N., announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Sue, to Mark Michael Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Randall, 1197 Arkwood Ave.

Miss Damron is a graduate of Walnut Ridge High School and is attending Ohio State University, majoring in elementary education. She is employed by Spencer Gifts.

Mr. Randall is also a graduate of alnut Ridge High School and is a stock controller for Sears.

The wedding will take place in early December in Christ United Methodist Church.

Outdoor Concerts Scheduled

East Columbus- Five free concerts of the summer's Music In The Air series remain on the schedule.

The last four Wednesday afternoon programs in the Governor's Let's Hear It For Ohio series, on the State House lawn are as follows: Aug. 22, Jack Hedge's Dixieland Band; Aug. 29, International Day, featuring Stan Wolowic's Polka Band; Sept. 5, U.S. Navy Tidal Wave Rock Group, and Sept. 12, The Columbus Symphony "Brown Bag" Concert. The events are from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

At Marion-Franklin Neighborhood Park, on Aug. 19, the last of the Sunday evening concerts of the summer season will be presented. The Load Jazz And Rock Group will entertain.

The music for these occasions is provided by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Funds, and or municipal funds.

Go—"where the living is Easy"...Sunset Hills Estates.

Just a 20 minute drive from downtown Columbus is Sunset Hills Estates. There is every convenience and recreation facility planned to make living worth while. 220 rolling acres, including a 13 acre well stoced lake offers plenty of room to roam and relax. Jim R. Bolin (right) points to the plan view of Sunset Hills. A nine hole regulation golf course will be a popular feature for future residents.

James R. Bolin the son of the developer stands beside a finished Modular home. Minimum size of the modular home is 12' x 60'. Each home will have a 10 x 30 covered patio. Blacktop parking area for 2 cars. Each home is skirted for a finished appearance. Nothing is crowded together. There are Cul-de-Sac streets and rectangular grid plots with no more than 12 houses to a block.

This home is ready to be skirted in. Modular homes are sturdy and well planned with all the latest in features and construction. All uutilities are underground. When you buy a home in Sunset Hills you get a complete home. There is a monthly economicaly maintainence fee. If you own a modular home 2 years or les in age you can move it on to an attractive lot.

When you stand on the shores of this beautiful lake you start planning your new home site. The lake is well stocked. Around the lake are hiking trails, picnic areas and good terrain for winter sports. No-swimming has not been overlooked. A generous size pool will be centrally located for all the folks of Sunset Hills. Starting price for a new home is around $14,500 (this includes all assesments.)

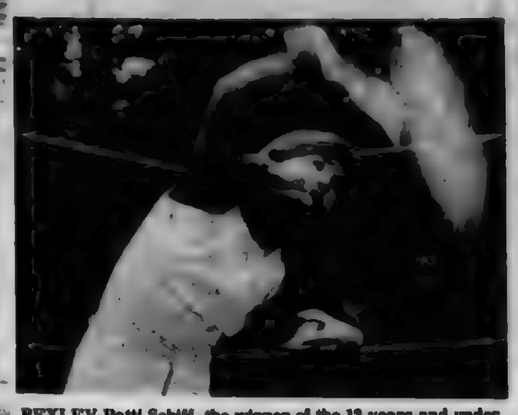
Winning Is Getting To Be A Habit With Them



BEXLEY-Patti Schiff, the winner of the 12 years and under girls division tennis trounament championship on Bexley courts, is not a new comer to tennis tournaments or the winners' circle. She recently returned from the Nichols tournament in Dayton, where she won the girls 12 and under title with scores of 6-0, 6-1. She also attended the Western Open Tennis match where she placed in the top eight winners in same category. In the Ohio Valley Conference she placed tenth and was an alternate to the National Tournament. The Bexley seventh grader has interests in swimming and golf, also, but hopes to one day represent the U.S. at Wimbleton.

Wendy Sweeeny is no stranger to tennis tournaments or winning titles in these matches. In addition to winning the Girls 18 and under title at the Bexley Trounament this 14 year olld placed fifth in the Regional Tennis Meet an ninth in the Western Closed Tournament. She also attended the Swim and Racquet Tournament. An important thing on her mind at the moment is getting to the National Tournament and maybe later, Wimbleton.

Grace Johnson is the 14 year old winner of the Girls 14 and under title at the Bexley Tournament. Despite having her appendix out early in the summer Grace has attended the Western Open, Jim Nichols, and Swim and Racquet Tournaments. Tennis isn't her only interest swimming and horseback riding, even though they are taking a second place, are on Grace's list of interests. Grace, as of yet, has no real desire to go to Wimbleton.

IN SERIOUS ARCHERY competition, bows like the AONE Archer Randy Gidley owns, and holds here, are used. A "take down bow", the handle is metal, the two limbs are epoxy and wood. Arrows such as the one in the bow are of aluminum. The metal rod is a stabilizer, to keep the bow from "twerking" from side to side when the arrow is released. The hitehall archery instructor has won a long list of state and national class championships, including the only now presidential award in Ohio with this piece of equipment.

President's Award Goes To Archer

WHITEHALL----Randy D. Gidley, who with his wife Pat, head the Whitehall Recreation Dept. archery program, has been awarded the Presidential Sports Award in the field of archery.

President Nixon has instigated a program offering special awards for achievement in a variety of sports. After completing a 16-week program with a stringent set of requirements, Gidley has received a framed certificate proving his mastery of the sport.

Gidley has been in archery most of his adult life and in serious competition the last three years. In that time he has won 23 awards, among them four state championships.

Mrs. Gidley has also won four state class championships.

The Whitehall archery program is in it's second year. It has taught dozens of youngsters and adult alike the elements of modern archery. Many of these are shooting competitively.

The Whitehall Sagittarians archery club founded by Randy and Pat, who also serve as President and secretary-treasurer, has made itself well known in state competition and on occasion completely dominated it, according to the Gidleys.

Anyone wishing to learn archery or participate in the club may call Gidley at 861-9706, or call Whitehall Recreation.

EAST SIDE ROUNDUP

BARNETT RECREATION CENTER

WEDNESDAY, August 8 21 children participated in the city pageant. The theme of the Barnett-James Rd. playground was "I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing".

The participants from Barnett were Barbara and Debbie Snodgrass, Tami Proter, Tina Smith, Portia Blunt, Scott Mullett, Tom and Bill Kirwin, Jill Jackson, Alicia and Angala Moralcs, Joey and April and Jaymee Wadley, Steve Wesley, Marva Tahana, and Georgeann Wells, Dianna and Harriet Morris, Sibyl and Susie WOULD LIKE TO THANK THEM FOR ALL THEIR HARD WORK.

FAIRMOOR

This past Wednesday the East pageant was held at the Ohio Theatre. Using the theme of "Television", the Fairmoor school palyers staged an "Operation from Mash," where the patient, Troy Bouchard, ended up with two green heads, The doctors and nurses were: Suxi Reiser, Kristi Dorn, Lauri Dorn, Donna Bouchard, Jacki Julian and Vicki Puchovich.

On Tuesday, the Central Ohio Theatre Company put on a pantomine show which 50 children attended and greatly appreciated.

EASHAVEN

THE JUNIOR BOYS softball is off and running as they won three games last week to tie with Fairmoor for the division lead. Easthaven won the playoff 5-2 playing errorless ball. The league championship was attained when the Easthavén softballers defeeated a strong Pinecrest team 12-4. Keith Bledsoe led the team to victory with a triple and homerun and five RBI's once again the team played perfect ball in the field. The team's record stands at 6-2.

The Senior boys won the league by taking two games from an extremely talented James Road ball team. James Road won the first of the three game series 14-10 but the determined Easthaveners came back 12-10 and 6-2. In five games, Easthaven won three which proves their roughness and equality in the two team competition.

Great pitching by Eddie Parker combined with solid fielding by Jim Michael, Craig Passen and Russ Herr lead to Easthaven's victory over Binns in the city tournament first round game.

Marv Rapenport and Kevin Reed blasted three run homers and Dave Molenaver knocked out a two run homer enroute the 10-4 victory.

EASTHAVEN

THE INTERMEDIATE GIRLSSoftball Team began the week with an exciting 8-3 win over Fairmoor for the district title. With a 4-0 record, the team will play in their first tournament game Monday at 3:30 at Southview Field.

With the end of the pageant and the construction of costumes, arts and crafts will resume as always as we begin making lanterns for the lantern parade Aug. 20.

Easthaven had 3 district winners for the Paddle Tennis Tournament. Patty Law for the Int. Girls title, Greg Warsch, Intermediate boys, and Walt Brunfield won the Jr. boys division.

PINECREST

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8Pinecrest participated in the east pageant at the Ohio Theater. The theme of the three, minute non-verbal act was Saturday Morning Confusion. Many playground regulars had parts. Outstanding performances were made by Gary Kubicki as the father, Lisa Warner, as Bozo, and Jackie Graham as "Harry" the dog.

Other week activities included the paddle tennis tournament.

On Thursday, Aug. 16, Pinecrest will hold a cook-out. If you are interested in coming drop by Pinecrest before Monday, August 14, evervone Welcome!

SCOTTWOOD

IT WAS A VERY busy week at Scottwood Playground as in addition to the weekly programs in softball, horsehoes and various other activities we had the added attraction of the Drama Pageant at Ohio Theatre on Wednesday Aug 8.

The general theme was television and the Scottwood Players wrote, produced, directed, acted in it, and built the background scenery, props, costumes. Scottwood's plot was the MacDonalds Restaurant theme complete with walking hamburgers, French fries and Ronald McDonald.

Also in the busy, artistic week a traveling mimi group came. They presented an inspriing patamime production. The arts and crafts program included astrology wall hangings.

JAMES ROAD

THERE WAS a real menagerie at the Pet Show at James Rd. on Friday, August 3. Ribbions went to the following: Most Unusual Pet to Chinchi the chirchilla owned by Rob Post; Longest Pet to Duke the dachshund, shown by Diane Anderson; Floppiest Ears to Willie the rabbit owned by Lisa Cindell. (Willie liked his ribbon so much he ate it.)

Biggest Pet & Most Ferocious to Bob the German Shepherd owned by Debbie Bowling; Most Lovable to Fluffy, a sheep dog puppy owned by Matt Zulovitch & John Garver; cutest Pet to Nap (short for Nappleon) a small poodle owned by Brenda Lewis; Friendliest Pet to Raccy a mixed dog owned by Randy Ash; Smallest Pet to Fluffy a smaller sheep dog owned by Pam Collins; Furriest Pet & Bushiest Tail wen to Taffy a small dog owned by Alice Miller.

AUGUST 8 was our Drama Pageant at the Ohio Theatre. James Rd. and Barnett Center together did "'I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing."

Children from James Rd. were Cynthia Jackson who was a Russian dancer, Scott Tingler who was an apple tree; Vicki Alford, Chris Alford, Lisa Sompres, who were people from Holland; and Pam Collins and Alice Miller who wer Mexicans. They did a really fine act-Congratulations!

SCOTTWOOD

Because of the rainy weather last week, we held many indoor activities. Two of these were a checker tournament and a tic tac toe tournament. Winner and playground champion in the checker tournament was Debbie Komives, and in the tic tac toe tournament the winner was Lisa Todd.

In arts and crafts class we have been concentrating on puppets and puppetry. We made some frog puppets out of paper plates on Tuesday and plan to use them in a puppet show to be put on for the playground later some time.

The city championship track and field meet was held recently at the Ohio State Stadium. Among our participants we had Eric Van Bibber, who placed fourth in the standing triple jump, Jim Donaldson placed fifth in the 880 yd. race walk, and Steve Chin was sixth in the high jump for his age group. They received ribbons for their efforts.

What do all those numbers mean?

Every bank in town has announced higher interest rates paid on savings accounts. Ohio State Bank is no exception.

But higher interest rates aren't always the answer to your savings needs. Sometimes just having your money available when you need it outweighs the advantages of a higher interest return.

If you are concerned as to what is best for your particular needs—ask us. We will help you add up all the factors and determine if a regular savings, a "Cookie Jar" account, C. D.'s, Special Savings Certificates or a combination is just right for you.

That's why Ohio State Bank is called "the bank of personal service", we do the little things that make the big difference in banking.

Freedom Tree At Ramada South

BY THE TIME you read this, yours truly will be experiencing the wonderful southern hospitality of Atlanta, Georgia. During my week's stay in the swinging city, I plan on visiting Atlanta Underground, and several of their better clubs and restaurants. Be sure to watch this column in weeks to come for some interesting stories on what's going on in Atlanta.

In the meantime, back in good ole Columbus town, Freedom Tree is the current attraction at the Ramada Inn-South. If you are lovers of the top twenty or forty type of group, then you'll dig this one, that's their bag.

Coming on with good, solid arrangements, Freedom Tree comes across as an entertaining musical ensemble. What they may lack in showmanship, they make up for in musical talents. In fact, this is what saves them. The instrumental abilities of all four is more than acceptable. Terry Lasaponara turns in a rather fine job with the sticks and brushes. Guitarist Jim Gombatto shows some fairly nice work with the electric strings.

Jim Kupl at the organ does some fancy work, that pleases the people. Louis Fusilli, plays sax, flute, congo drums and handles the M.C. work. He does fine in all categories. Louis produces nice, and I do mean nice, sounds on the sax.

Then there is purt and pretty, Nancy Berger, a gal owning a voice that grabs you by the ears. When she sings, Nancy means business. She doesn't play around with the lyrics or melody line. While she may lack an individual style, Nancy does have a pretty definite approach.

The main problem with the Freedom Tree is their almost total lack of pacing and movement of the act. There are too many dead spots between numbers. It needs to be much tighter and much stronger.

Musicians they are, showman they are not. That is why I said at the beginning of the review, that if you enjoy the top hits on today's charts plays in a contemporary manner, then you will have yourself a pleasant evening with Freedom Tree at Ramada Inn South.

Joe Lord At Imperial North

Up at the Imperial House-North there is a totally different type of musical quartet. Their bag is playing music, and that's spelled MUSIC, that is excellent for easy, relaxing listening and for those of you who enjoy good old fashioned dancing. Called the Joe Lord Quartet, plus Joanie Stuart on vocals, the entire outfit is laced with top musicians from the local area.

There is the well known Charlie Pickens on piano. Now, for you who have heard this man play, you know that he is a true artist at the black and whites. Charlie can play any type of music, jazz, swing or what have you and keep the audience enthralled. Without a doubt, Charlie is one of the best local pianists Around Town.

The rest of the musicians in the group are equally as good. Leader Joe Lord produces a host or pretty, pretty tones from the sax. And, wait until you hear his work on the clarinet. Simply beautiful. Of course, the bass man is known by just about everybody in town, Joe Schmalz. Joe has appeared regularly on local television shows, as well as having worked in many of the better rooms in Columbus. Joe is a true artist with the bass. His work adds a lot of body to the group and keeps everyone moving. The same is true for drummer, Glen Kimmel. Glen has worked with many of the big name bands in the country. Glen is a true drummer, not a pounder. He gives the group plenty of drive, yet Glen does not overpower them.

Then there is cute Joanie Stuart, one of my favorite local singers. I have not seen nor heard her work for a while, and it is a welcome sound to hear Joanie again. This girl, too, has appeared regularly on local television, and I know that she has many friends who will be glad to know they can catch her at the Imperial House-North.

Put all the members together and you will be pleased to hear music played the way good music should be played. The Joe Lord Quartet deals mostly with the good songs of yesterday. It is the type of music where you can hum along and tap your feet with, if you want to.

The musicians are at the Imperial House-North Monday through Saturday. Joanie is there only on Friday and Saturdays. However, I feel, that she may be singing a few more nights a week. Let's hope so, because it is a treat to hear a good, local vocalist. Columbus deserves more of Joanie Stuart.

So you readers who enjoy this style of music make sure that you stop in at the Imperial House-North. Let the hotel know that this is what you want. Joe Lord and his group will be there for a few more weeks. Plan on visiting them a couple of times.

Skipping Around

Most all of the Ohio State Fair stars will be staying at the Ramada Inn-South. Denise Scalzo, of the motel really pulled off a big one when she landed people like Helen Reddy, Mac Davis, The Jackson Five, Sonny and Cher, Charley Pride, Dionne Warwicke, Doc Severinsen and the stars of the Grand Ole Opry to eat, sleep and rehearse at the Ramada Inn-South. Take a hint, if you want to meet some of your favorites, why not drop in for lunch, dinner or a cocktail. You may be rubbing elbows with the stars.

Agler-Davidson Captures Whitehall Softball Title

Agler Davidson won the Whitehall City Championship feating Klamfoth Hond a in the finals. Agler Davidson advanced to the finals by defeating Us Kappa Keg, and Klamfoth Honda deffeated the Whitehall Merchants.

The Finals of the City Championship pitted two undefeated teams against each other in a best two or three series.

In the first game, Agler Davidson began the scoring in the top of the fourth with a lead-off single by utch Martin. Rex Gregg singled, Tom Petty hit into a fielder's choice, then John Dean singled. Steve. Kantor flew out, and with the bases loaded, Jam,es Shirley hit a home run, making the score 4-0.

In the bottom of the fifth, Klamfoth Honda scored three. Agler Davidson scored three more runs in the game, two in the fifth and one in the top of the sixth. Klamfoth Honda failed to score in the sixth and seventh innings. The final score was Agler Davidson 7, Klamfoth Honda 3.

In the second game, neother team scored until the top of the second when Klamfoth used four hits to score three runs. Agler Davidson came back and scored two runs in the bottom of the second and one run in the bottom of the third.

Klamfoth Honda scored one run in the top of the fourth, then Agler Davidson scored two in the fifth to lead 5-4. Klamfoth scored one run n the sixth, then neither team scored until the seventh. In the bottom of the seventh, with the score tied 5-5, Butch Martin walked to begin the inning.

ex Gregg hit into a fielder's schoice and moved Butch Martin to second. tom Petty made the second out, and Klamfoth Honda put John Dean on first with an intentional walk. Steve Kantor singled to center and Butch scored from second to win the game for Agler Davidson, thereby making them the City champions.

Outstanding players in the first game were Butch Martin who went three for three and ohn Dean who was two for three, with one home run. Glenn Foltz pitched a five-hitter in the first game. Steve Kantor went four for four in the second game. Agler Davidson finished the league season with a record of 13-0.

Sportsmanship Awards Made At Bexley League Banquet

By Sandy Schwartz

Eastern Kiwanis shared the spotlight with six sportsmanship award winners at Bexley's annual Little League awards picnic last week.

Under the direction of Rick Marsh and Jim Burke the slugging Kiwanisans chalked up a 9-1 season for their league winning laurels.

Kiwanis blended the stickwork of Steve Marsh, Rex Elliot, Scott Edwards, Rick Fisher, and John Ettore, all .300 and above hitters, with the mound work of Edwards and Brad Ettore to lead the championship way.

Steve Hill was tabbed as the sportsmanship winner of Kiwanis. The sturdy backstop slugged at a healthy .430 pace while being smooth infield.

John McCrystal of the Lions Club, Curt Scharf of Hanna Paint, John Riesman of Drexel Theatre, Ed Rice of A.O. Wing, and Divine Realtor's George Gantner all picked up nifty trophies for their accomplishments in the field of sportsmanship for their respective teams.

All players in the league were awarded participation patches on behalf of the Bexley Recreation Department.

Football Coaches Receive Governor's Community Award

The five Ohio high school coaches enshrined in the Ohio High School Coaches Football Hall of Fame Friday night won by the North 25-0) during halftime ceremonies at the North-South All-Star Game at Fawcett Stadium in Canton were also surprised with an award from Gov. John J. Gilligan.

The Governor's Award for Community Action was presented to each of the five inductees by Joseph J. Sommer, director, Ohio Department of State Personnel, on behalf of Governor Gilligan. Receiving the Governor's award were: Mike Hagely of Columbus North, Elmo Lingrel of Middletown, Lou Meszaros of Toledo Woodward, Mary Moorehead of Upper Arlington and Eddie Lentz of Akron St. Vincent.

Each was selected to receive the award in recognition of his "outstanding devotion to the physical education and development of Ohio's young boys and for your skill and interest in guiding them."

About the Governor's Award for Community Action, Governor Gilligan has said, "Thousands of our fellow Ohioans contribute their talent, time and energy to helping their fellow citizens, and most of them are never properly recognized for their contributions. Through the Governor's Waard for Community Action, we hope to bring to many of these people the recognition and the respect in their community they so richly deserve."

Nominations for the award are submitted by various state agencies, by members of the news media and by ordinary citizens who feel a fellow citizen deserves special recognition.

There is no quota on the number of awards which can be given out. No one is in competition with any one else for this award. As Governor Gilligan said, "It is simply a way for the people of Ohio to say 'thanks' to a fellow citizen who who has contributed to the common good."

Each coach received a personal letter from the governor prepared on parchment and bearing the Great Seal of the State of Ohio. The letters cited their particular contributions.

The Governor's Award for Community Action is meant to recognize a broad range of contributors"people who are working to clean up the environment, working with kids who are on drugs, helping the sick or the handicapped, or helping the poor.

Library Movies Conclude Aug. 25

The free movies to be shown at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 25 are: "Elsa and her Cubs," the personal documentary photographed by Joy and George Adamson about their friendship with the lioness, Elsa, and her cubs; "Let's Find Life," the discovery by two youngsters of the habitates of birds, insects and housepets who live with man in the city'; and "Floats," one in a series of craft films for children stressing creative use of common throw-away materials such as milk cartons and balloons.

The starting time for "Saturday at the Movies" has been changed from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. for the fall-winter series of the family program that begins Sept. 29.

The Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development reports it has distributed almost $250,000 in planning grants to 27 Ohio communities during fiscal year 1973.

Cage Camp Led By Ridge Scots

Todd Loe and Doug McFann of Walnut Ridge dominated competition for older boys in the Ashland College Basketball Camp of Champions last week on the college campus.

Loe was named Most Valuable Player for the entire camp of 119 boys. He also won the foul-shooting tournament by dropping 83 of 100 attempts and reached the quarter-finals of the one-on-one tournament.

McFann was runnerup in the one-on-one tourney, got the Quickest Player award and team MVP honors.

Both cagers will be seniors at Walnut Ridge High School this fall where they played varsity basketball last year.

They carry B averages in the classroom.

Wrestling Tourney At Grove City

The first annual Grove City Invitational Wrestling Tournament will be held Saturday, Aug. 18 at Winsor Park in Grove City.

How To Hook And Net A Fish

PROBABLY the most told fish story is the one that got away. It's happened to all of us, we don't expect to land every fish that strikes, but you and I can improve out odds with a few of these tips.

Some of the reasons we miss hooking a fish is that we strike too late and fail to set the hook, or we may set the hook to fast and take the lure away from the fish, or we set the hook with too much force and break our lines and lose everything including the lure.

I've found the best way to set a hook is to keep my rod tip parallel to the water as I retrieve and when a fish strikes I pull back to the right or left keeping tension on my rod, then once I feel it's hooked, I'll lift the rod tip over my head keeping tension while I let the fish fight the force of the rod until he tires and is ready to land.

Sometimes I'll even wait until my fish is so tired he's laying belly up before I lead him to the net. Most of the fun of fishing is playing a fish after you have em hooked. I've seen too many anglers reel in so fast they'll pull the hook out of the fishes mouth.

Always remember, don't try to land a fish until the fight is out of him and always net a fish head first. A fish that goes in tail first has a better chance to jump out.

Kelly's Island

Located along the north shore of this picturesque Lake Erie Island, this 394 acre park has a class "B" campground with approximately 125 sites, all within walking distance of the beach.

Several large sites are also available for groups using the area. The island can be reached by private boat or via ferry service from Sandusky of Lakeside. Air travel service is also available from Sandusky.

Deep grooves in the limestone bedrock carved by the glacer of 13,000 to 15,000 years ago and pictures inscribed in a rock by early Indian inhabitants of the area are among the sites to be seen on the Island.

Seasons Set

Ohio's season for four popular marsh and shore birds has been established, along with the early teal season. Gallinules, Sora and Virginia Rails may be taken from September 1 through November 9. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily bag limit is 15 with possession limit of 30.

Woodcock and Wilson's Snipe may be taken from September 17 throught November 20. Shooting hours for both woodcock and snipe are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, with a daily bag limit of eight snipe and five woodcock and a possession limit of 16 snipe and 10 woodcock after the first day.

A federal migratory bird stamp is not required to hunt these species, however, they may be taken only with a shotgun capable of holding no more than three shells.

Ohio hunters often overlook the hunting opportunity provided by these excellent game birds. Not only are they excellent table fare, but they provide the sportsman early season hunting afield and an opportunity to sharpen his shooting eye for the waterfowl, pheasant and quail season which will open later.

The early Teal season (blue-winged, green-winged and cinnamon teal) will be from September 14 through September 22. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset. The daily bag limit is 4 with possession limit of 8. A federal migratory waterfowl stamp is required.

Central Ohio Fishing Report

Indian Lake--Clear and normal at 75 - 80 F. Anglers are catching crappie and bluegills throughout the lake on minnows and wax worms. An occasional walleye, muskellunge and northern pike is being taken on minnows and nightcrawlers. Catfish are being caught on crayfish and worms fished around the sand bars and deeper protions of the lake. Largemouth bass are hitting artificial lures fished along the shoreline. Outlook--good.

Kiser Lake--Clear and normal at 75 F. Walleye continue to be taken from the deeper portions of the lake on nightcrawlers, minnows and artificial lures. An occasional largemouth bass is being caught on soft craws and nightcrawlers from the dam and along the northeastern shoreline. Nice sized channel carfish are reported being taken on nightcrawlers, dough balls and soft craws fished on the bottom from the access piers. Outlook-good.

Knox Lake--Clear and normal at 77 F. Largemouth bass, catfish and bluegill are being taken throughout the lake. The bluegills are being caught on wax worms, red worms, and maggots, catfish at night on nightcrawlers, liver and shrimp and the largemouth on soft craws and artificials. Outlook-fair to good.

Hoover Reservoir--Normal and clear at 75 F. Walleye are being taken on artificials and spinners tipped with worms while trolling in 5 to 15 feet of water. Good numbers of largemouth bass are being caught on minnows and artificial nightcrawlers by both boat and shore anglers in the north end of the lake. Bank fishermen are catching carp on dough balls and catfish on worms and liver. Outlook-good.

Delaware Reservoir--Normal and clear at 75 F. Channel catfish and bullheads are being taken throughout the redervoir on nightcrawlers and soft craws.

Carp are being taken on dough balls and shrimp by bank fishermen. Both shore and boat anglers are catching bluegill on worms and an occasional largemouth bass on minnows and artificials. Outlook-fair to good.

Hargus Lake--Clear and normal at 76 F. Excellent catches of channel catfish are reported being taken at night using nightcrawlers and liver, fished in 3 to 5 feet of water. An occasional largemouth bass is being taken on artificial nightcrawlers from around the standing trees at the north end of the lake. Outlook-good.

Mercury Level

A report on the levels of mercury contamination in Ohio's major Lake Erie tributaries has been published by the Department of Natural Resources. The report, compiled by David A. Stith of the department's Division of Geological Survey, describes the laboratory methods used and contains tables showing the mercury content of samples collected from six tributary-harbor systems, including the Ashtabula, Black, Grand, Cuyahoga and Maumee Rivers and Sandusky Bay.

Identified as Information Circular No. 40 "Mercury Concentrations in Sediments of the Lake Erie Basin, Ohio," the report will be of interest to agencies concerned with the quality of the environment.

Heads New Driver Training

NORM CHESROWN, President of Chesrown Oldsmobile, is welcoming Stacy Hall to the staff of the motor company. Hall has just been appointed department manager of the new driving school program inaugurated at Chesrown Oldsmobile. Stacy Hall has just returned from Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he has undergone intensive training in "Driver Education" by Dual-Drive System, a nationwide organization which operates a driving school program associated with General Motors Dealers throughout the nation. For a limited time, a free 30 minute lesson of "Behind-the-Wheel" training in an air conditioned Dual-Control Oldsmobile will be given to anyone over 16 years of age. Special attention will be given to nervous and elderly people. The program being offered by Chesrown Oldsmobile will include a complete driver education course, also a refresher course for persons who need a lesson or two. Free pick up of students at home or business is available by phoning Chesrown Oldsmobile, 846-3040. (Chesrown Photo.)

Let's Tour Beautiful Ohio

Ohio River Trip Would Be A Great Adventure

(One of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Auto Club Travel Department)

An auto trip along the Ohio River from historic Gallipolis to Portsmouth where the Scioto River joins the Ohio with possible side trips to West Virginia and Kentucky or vice versa is this week's AAA tour suggestion.

Gallipolis, "City of the Galls," was founded by French Royalists in 1790, the third permanent settlement in Ohio by settlers fleeing the French Revolution.

OUR HOUSE, built in 1819, as an early inn and tavern has been restored and is now administered by the Ohio Historical Society. Its taproom, ballroom, and other public rooms are of interest to tourists. Lafayette was entertained at Our House in 1825.

Rio Grande College is located a few miles north of Gallipolis. Another point of interest at Rio Grande is the 2000-acre Bob Evans farm, open to the public as a rural community center.

A brief out-of-state trip would be to nearby Point Pleasant, West Virginia, where the Great Kanawha River joins the Ohio River. This resort and industrial area is believed to have been used first by George Washington in a survey trip in the 1730's. Many relics are on display from the Battle of Point Pleasant in the Mansion House, erected in 1796 and now the oldest building still standing in the Kanawha Valley.

For those making the trip to Portsmouth with a few hours additional travel time, a bridge crossing the Ohio River into Kentucky will bring visitors quickly to such "south of the border" attractions as Greenbo Lake and Greenup Dam with its Riverview observation platform and recreational area.

PORTSMOUTH is no longer the bustling triver trade center that was the trademark of this river front city a few years ago. Today there are only occasional business and pleasure calls by boats and barges. Portsmouth has become a busy industrial city protected by hige flood walls.

A few miles away, near Lucasville, is the new maximum security prison that has replaced the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Twelve miles to the southwest, on State Route 125, near Friendship is the Portsmouth State Park. Just opened the first of this year is the 50-room Shawnee State Lodge, Ohio's newest vacation facility.

The 664-acre recreational tract lies within the 57,000-acre Shawnee State Forest. Swimming, fishing, boating and camping are available here at the 17-acre Roosevelt Lake.

AAA suggests this routing to today's tour area: From Columbus, go south on U.S. 23 to U.S. 35; southeast on U.S. 35 to the tour area.

Cherry Creek Is A Very Pretty Spot

Cherry Creek was opened in 1970 by Ernest G. Fritsche and since that time more than 100 apartments and 130 condominiums and single family dwellings have been built.

Covering an area of over 300 acres, Cherry Creek will have approximately 1200 homes when all building is complete.

The most recent addition to the area is the luxurious Clubhouse which is for the exclusive use of the residents of Cherry Creek.

On the Clubhouse grounds are tennis courts, large patio and barbecue facilities. An outdoor swimming pool is under construction.

Supervising activities at the Clubhouse is Dennis Griffin, full—time Recreational Direcotr. He plans all social activities held at the Clubhouse.

Future plans for Cherry Creek call for the building of a shopping center that will include: supermarket, beauty parlor, barber shop, drug store, drycleaners and hardware store.

Cherry Creek is the most recent area to be developed by Ernest G. Fritsche Company. Since the foundation of the Company, more than 8000 homes, apartments and commercial buildings have been constructed in the Columbus area.

PROPER POSTION

When you are riding in a car and you see an accident coming, you can often save yourself from serious injury by taking a more favorable position, says your Ohio Department of Highway Safety. When you see a front-end collision coming, the thing to do is lean forward as far as possible. Get yourself in contact with the part of the car's interior in front of you—before the collision. At the moment of collision your body hurtles forward, picking up speed. So, what to do is to move forward to reduce the distance you will be thrown.

Vapor Lock Causes Explained

One of the problems auto manufacturers have not over come completely-which can be irritating to the motorist-is "vapor lock", the Allstate Motor Club points out.

What causes vapor lock? A fuel pump is full of gas normally. Inside there is a diaphragm that goes up and down. As the diaphragm goes down, it squeezes the gas past a check valve toward the carburetor.

If the fuel pump is filled with vapor, the gas flow is blocked.

The main cause of vapor is excessive heat from the engine, plus outside temperature. The engine overheats, it actually "boils" the fuel in the pump and lines and varporzation starts. The carburetor is now starving for gas. At this point, the car "stalls".

What can be done once vapor lock occurs? The Allstate Motor Club recommends turning off the engine and allowing it to cool. Open the hood, allowing the air to cool the pump. To speed the cooling process, pour water or other cool, non-flammable liquids on the fuel pump.

When the pump has cooled, the vapor will condense into liquid and the pump will start again.

Although vapor lock occurs primarily in the western states, due to high altitudes, it also occurs when creeping along in bumper-to-bumper traffic on a hot day. The stop-and-go driving causes overheating and the fan is unable to cool the engine.

When stopped in bumper-to-bumper traffic on a hot day the engine maybe cooled by putting the car in park or neutral and accelerating periodically to allow the fan to pull more air through the radiator.

Heads New Driver Training

NORM CHESROWN, President of Chesrown Oldsmobile, is welcoming Stacy Hall to the staff of the motor company. Hall has just been appointed department manager of the new driving school program inaugurated at Chesrown Oldsmobile. Stacy Hall has just returned from Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he has undergone intensive training in "Driver Education" by Dual-Drive System, a nationwide organization which operates a driving school program associated with General Motors Dealers throughout the nation. For a limited time, a free 30 minute lesson of "Behind-the-Wheel" training in an air conditioned Dual-Control Oldsmobile will be given to anyone over 16 years of age. Special attention will be given to nervous and elderly people. The program being offered by Chesrown Oldsmobile will include a complete driver education course, also a refresher course for persons who need a lesson or two. Free pick up of students at home or business is available by phoning Chesrown Oldsmobile, 846-3940. (Chesrown Photo.)

Let's Tour Beautiful Ohio

Ohio River Trip Would Be A Great Adventure

(One of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Auto Club Travel Department)

An auto trip along the Ohio River from historic Gallipolis to Portsmouth where the Scioto River joins the Ohio with possible side trips to West Virginia and Kentucky or vice versa is this week's AAA tour suggestion.

Gallipolis, "City of the Galls," was founded by French Royalists in 1790, the third permanent settlement in Ohio by settlers fleeing the French Revolution.

OUR HOUSE, built in 1819, as an early inn and tavern has been restored and is now administered by the Ohio Historical Society. Its taproom, ballroom, and other public rooms are of interest to tourists. Lafayette was entertained at Our House in 1825.

Rio Grande College is located a few miles north of Gallipolis. Another point of interest at Rio Grande is the 2000-acre Bob Evans farm, open to the public as a rural community center.

A brief out-of-state trip would be to nearby Point Pleasant, West Virginia, where the Great Kanawha River joins the Ohio River. This resort and industrial area is believed to have been used first by George Washington in a survey trip in the 1730's. Many relics are on display from the Battle of Point Pleasant in the Mansion House, erected in 1796 and now the oldest building still standing in the Kanawha Valley.

For those making the trip to Portsmouth with a few hours additional travel time, a bridge crossing the Ohio River into Kentucky will bring visitors quickly to such "south of the border" attractions as Greenbo Lake and Greenup Dam with its Riverview observation platform and recreational area.

PORTSMOUTH is no longer the bustling triver trade center that was the trademark of this river front city a few years ago. Today there are only occasional business and pleasure calls by boats and barges. Portsmouth has become a busy industrial city protected by hige flood walls.

A few miles away, near Lucasville, is the new maximum security prison that has replaced the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Twelve miles to the southwest, on State Route 125, near Friendship is the Portsmouth State Park. Just opened the first of this year is the 50-room Shawnee State Lodge, Ohio's newest vacation facility.

The 664-acre recreational tract lies within the 57,000-acre Shawnee State Forest. Swimming, fishing, boating and camping are available here at the 17-acre Roosevelt Lake.

AAA suggests this routing to today's tour area: From Columbus, go south on U.S. 23 to U.S. 35; southeast on U.S. 35 to the tour area.

Cherry Creek Is A Very Pretty Spot

Cherry Creek was opened in 1970 by Ernest G. Fritsche and since that time more than 100 apartments and 130 condominiums and single family dwellings have been built.

Covering an area of over 300 acres, Cherry Creek will have approximately 1200 homes when all building is complete.

The most recent addition to the area is the luxurious Clubhouse which is for the exclusive use of the residents of Cherry Creek.

On the Clubhouse grounds are tennis courts, large patio and barbecue facilities. An outdoor swimming pool is under construction.

Supervising activities at the Clubhouse is Dennis Griffin, full—time Recreational Direcotr. He plans all social activities held at the Clubhouse.

Future plans for Cherry Creek call for the building of a shopping center that will include: supermarket, beauty parlor, barber shop, drug store, drycleaners and hardware store.

Cherry Creek is the most recent area to be developed by Ernest G. Fritsche Company. Since the foundation of the Company, more than 8000 homes, apartments and commercial buildings have been constructed in the Columbus area.

PROPER POSTION

When you are riding in a car and you see an accident coming, you can often save yourself from serious injury by taking a more favorable position, says your Ohio Department of Highway Safety. When you see a front-end collision coming, the thing to do is lean forward as far as possible. Get yourself in contact with the part of the car's interior in front of you—before the collision. At the moment of collision your body hurtles forward, picking up speed. So, what to do is to move forward to reduce the distance you will be thrown.

Vapor Lock Causes Explained

One of the problems auto manufacturers have not over come completely-which can be irritating to the motorist-is "vapor lock", the Allstate Motor Club points out.

What causes vapor lock? A fuel pump is full of gas normally. Inside there is a diaphragm that goes up and down. As the diaphragm goes down, it squeezes the gas past a check valve toward the carburetor.

The main cause of vapor is excessive heat from the engine, plus outside temperature. The engine overheats, it actually "boils" the fuel in the pump and lines-and varporzation starts. The carburetor is now starving for gas. At this point, the car "stalls".

What can be done once vapor lock occurs? The Allstate Motor Club recommends turning off the engine and allowing it to cool. Open the hood, allowing the air to cool the pump. To speed the cooling process, pour water or other cool, non-flammable liquids on the fuel pump.

When the pump has cooled, the vapor will condense into liquid and the pump will start again.

Although vapor lock occurs primarily in the western states, due to high altitudes, it also occurs when creeping along in bumper-to-bumper traffic on a hot day. The stop-and-go driving causes overheating and the fan is unable to cool the engine.

When stopped in burper-to-bumper traffic on a hot day the engine maybe cooled by putting the car in park or neutral and accelerating periodically to allow the fan to pull more air through the radiator.

Exhaust Fan Will Cool It

What? You don't look forward to sleeping in a hot house after the end of a hot day, and you don't have air conditioning? Well, just because you don't have air conditioning is no reason to swelter during hot August nights. Roger Miller, Extension agricultural engineer at The Ohio State University has a solution for that problem.

He suggests mounting a large fan horizontally in the hall ceiling, a fan with self-closing shutters. Exhaustin g hot air from inside the house throuhg this fan will bring in the cooler night air. The air will enter the house through windows and doors and exhaust out through the attic.

the positive and onctinuous movement of ar through the house will also provide addionall comfort to occupants.

When the fan is installed, it will be necessary to check for orprovide sufficient outlet vent area in the ttic walls or roof overhang. the area needed will depend on the capacty of the fan.

Fan capacity, in cubc feet per minute -(cfm), is determined by the volume of the house. It should provide about 40 air changes per hour, the engineer advises.

A house with a floor area of 1,200 square feet and ceilings 8 feet high has a volume of 9,600 cubic feet. Sincd this volume is to be changed 40 times in an hour, multiply 9,600 by 40. Then, to get fan caopacity, divide by 60 minutes. he answer is a fan capacity of 6,400 cubic feet perminute.

This fan will have a capacity to ventilate the whole house but can be used to ventilate and cool one or several rooms. That can be done by deeping all windows closed except those in the rooms to be cooled and ventilated, Miller points out.

YEAR-AROUND INDOOR COMFORT

Styles Of Bygone Eras On Fall Fashion Scene

A RETURN to the style of bygone earas, including the Great Gatsby look, 1932 roadster dress and Panama (Superfly) hats, are all part of the predicted fall fashion scene.

Besides a revival of fashions of yesteryear a return to the good old days will, to some degree, signal a resurgence of the "natural" fabrics, like untreated cotton, linen, silk and wool,

TODAY'S generation grew up in the Synthetic Fiber Age and few can remember living without easy-care permanent press garments. However, some fall fashions will likely require a return to earlier laundering techniques, according to laundry specialists at Maytag.

Untreated cottons should not be laundered with synthetics, since some cotton garments tend to shed a great deal of lint, which can be picked up by the sunthetics during the wash cycle.

It is also important to sort cotton garments by color. Wash whites in hot water, colors in warm water and bright or dark colors in cold water. Keep a bottle of bleach nearby to keep those white cottons white and bright.

COTTON garments should be washed on the regular cycle, and Maytag advises that they be dried on the rregular dryer setting, or even on the damp dry setting, if it apperars the garments will require extensive ironing.

Linen, which is durable, absorbent and tends to wrinkle if untreated, should be washed like cotton. On the other hand silk usually requires drycleaning, but if it is labeled "washable" it should be treated as a delicate garment.

THIS FALL'S fashions may also signal a re-emergence of wool. Always check the manufacturer's care label on the wool garment for specific instruction. The label may indicate it sould be drycleaned, machine washed and dried, or hadn washed.

Woolens that can be machine washed and dried have been given a special finish by the manufacturer that protects them from shrinking. Some woolens are blended with nylon to give strength and stability.

Wash these woolens three to eight minutes on the gentle or delicate cycle. Be sure to remove them from the dryer when they are slightly damp.

WOOLENS labeled "handwash" indicate the garment should be laundered "as if" it is being had washed. The hand wash cycle on an automatic washer may be labeled as "gentle" or "delicate." Some such cycles slow the agitation speed by about one-third of the speed.

Others use a new comcept whch alternates short periods of agitation with longer periods of soadk.. The alternation agitation-soak cycle is automatic on some new washers and it can be done manually on older models by letting the washer agitate fro one minute, then shutting off the washer for three to four minutes; then repeating.

Hand washable woolens should be blocked to shape on a flat surface and allowed to air dry.

WHICEVER method of accomplishing a "hand wash" cycle is used, always wash with plenty of water. Water is a cushioning agent. When a full tub of water is used for a small load of delicates, the garments come cleaner because the water circulates gently and freely around the clothes.

For those looking for the "natural" look this fall without the bother of the natural fibers, synthetics that look like natural fibrics, but require little care, will, of course, still be in the forefront.

IF THE trim or lining of these easy-care garments does not alter the care procedures, they should be laundered like permanent press garments. Wash in warm water on a permanent press or regular cycle and tumble dry in a dryer. Avoid overloading, as wrinkles fall out of clothes ,more easily when they have plenty of room to circulate in the washer and to tumble in the dryer.

Be Careful

Motorists should be especially carefull during the first few weeks of the new school year, caution s the Columbus Automobile Club-AAA. Many youngsters will e attending school for the first time and the excitment may cause them to forget.

Ellis Report Says:

'Year Of Improvement,' Outlines Problems Ahead

Columbus–Major improvements were made by the Columbus Public Schools during the past year, according to a report issued by school superintendent Dr. John Ellis.

The 11-page report, entitled "1972-73: A Year of Improvement," reviews progress made by the schools in several key areas.

In an introductory letter to readers, Ellis says the report "emphasizes positive action because we have had a very positive year."

INCLUDED IN the report is a review of the school construction program, staff development and human relations activities for the year, and development and implementation of the Columbus Plan.

Also covered in detail are numerous improvements in the instructional programs of elementary, junior and senior high schools, advances in career and vocational education, special education, adult education and several special projects.

Other sections of the report review developments during the year in the areas of personnel and finance.

In the report's conclusion, Ellis states accomplishments helps us see that that "a review of the year's substantial progress has been made and that 1972-73 was truly a year of improvement for the Columbus schools."

HE POINTS OUT, however, that 1972-73 "was not a year in which all our problems were solved," and highlights some difficulties facing the school system.

The superintendent commends the Board of Education, the school system staff, PTA members and the people of Columbus for making the city "a very special place," and concludes: "We face the new school year with a sense of readiness and eagerness to continue serving the growing Columbus community."

The report follows:

September 5, 1972, the Columbus Public Schools faced a new year, their 128th. The day before classes were to start for 104,000 students, I spoke with school employees and encouraged them to make this "a year of improvement."

The preview followed an active summer, one that saw the creation of many new opportunities for the school system.

THE BOARD OF Education had voted unanimously to place an $89.5 million bond issue–largest in Ohio history--on the November election ballot.

A new Board policy providing for a system-wide program of staff development and human relations training for all school personnel had been approved.

The Board had adopted a "goal statement on integrated education" that called for development of a plan to provide all students with equal access to career, vocational and special educational programs.

Some 24,000 students, 4,000 more than the year before, had attended classes during the 1972 summer term. WCBE, the school system's FM radio station, had begun broadcasting in stereo, thanks to a new transmitter purchased with contributions from a highly successful public fund drive.

IN THE FINAL weeks of the summer, 350 school administrators and more than 2,500 teachers had taken part in the most extensive program of pre-school-year preparation in Columbus school history, attending a series of workshops to learn about new instructional programs and curricular innovations. (Continued on page 16.)

value of education along the road to success. What hasn't been emphasized enough, we feel, is the necessity of continuing that education once success, at any measured degree, has been reached. Too, those who want to develop later life skills for personal development or to reach perfection goals in hobbies, often wait until "too late" for the start of the learning process. A guide to the answer of some of these philosophies is in today's issue of The Spectater. It's titled "Back To School and On To College" and is worthwhile reading, both ads and copy for people of all ages. In today's complex world "The Answer Is Know" to the universal question of understanding our universe. .

Madison District Gets New Federal Funds

Groveport-The Madison Local School District has been granted new federal funds for use in the coming school year.

The district has been notified that because of the increase in the DPPF (Disadvantaged Pupil Program Funding) count of students in the school district from less than 50 to 322, they are entitled to a federal grant of $45,724 for the coming year.

The funds must be used to supplement present programs. The district officials have decided to use them in the following programs:

A person will be employed to serve in a Drop-Out Prevention Program at the middle school and the high school level, from January to July, 1974.

Three additional librarians will be employed to serve fulltime in the Dunloe, Glendening and Sedalia Elementary Schools. The four elementary librarians already on the payroll would be assigned to the other five elementary schools.

A nurse will be hired to serve the Dunloe, Glendening and Sedalia Elementary Schools and the Middle School. The other nurse already employed would be assigned to the other schools in th district.

The proposed use of $54,600 additional Title I funds to be received in the fall will be for four language development teachers. There will be one each at Dunloe, Glendening and Sedalia Elementaries an the Middle School.

The money has been approved but will not be released until November.

Council Votes To Improve Street

Whitehall- In a resolution introduced in the regular meeting last night of Whitehall City Council, Mrs. Louella Compton, a counselor and teacher retiring after 20 years of service, was commended for her dedication to the students of the city district.

Mrs. Compton first came to the area schools in 1953 teach at Courtright Elementary School, which has since become a Columbus school. The next year, she started to teach eighth grade math at the Whitehall-Yearling building before it became a high school. In 1956, when it became a high school, she became Dean of Girls, the position she held until 1963.

"This was before the days of school counselors," says Assistant Superintendent Austin Peel. "If a girl had a problem, she went to Mrs. Compton. She started the student council there in 1957. It became one of the outstanding councils in Central Ohio."

Mrs. Compton was a school counselor from 1963 until 1970. 1970 she was put of in charge of student activities, the job she held through this year.

"Mrs. Compton," Peel concluded, "has a way with working with kids, has a special insight, a method of talking with them and getting the best out of them. You don't find many Mrs. Compton's."

The council voted to proceed with the improvement of Wright Ave. from Hamilton Rd. west to Bernhard Rd. by the construction of a permanent paved street. The grade will be changed, curbing and paving added and sidewalks constructed.

The necessary storm sewers, water mains and sanitary sewers will be constructed at the same time.

The council is at work revising the wording of ordinances entitled "Suspicious Persons." They are also revising and amending a whole chapter on sidewalks, driveways and parking lots.

5.5 Mill Levy To Be On Bexley November 6 Ballot

Bexley-At the regular August meeting of the Bexley Board of Education on Monday night, Dr. John A. Blough, superintendent, announced in his report on the financial status of the district, that the board has resolved to submit a 5.5 mill operating levy to the community at the November election.

The actual increase in millage to Bexley residents will be approximately 4.5 mills, since approximately 1 mill will be dropped from the Bexley tax rolls in January, 1974, as a result of retirement of the bonded debt on the Maryland Elementary School.

Of the 5.5 mill request, 3.5 mills are earmarked for rising costs involved in continuation of the current program, one mill is to be used for maintenance and improvement of plant and facilities, and one mill is to be used for curriculum and program improvement.

Details of the millage request will be provided to residents through written material and a series of public meetings now being planned.

The additional millage, if approved, will cost the owner of a home with a market value of $25,000 about $45.00 a year in additional taxes.

NEW TEACHERS hired are Carolyn Hollis, second grade at Cassingham Elementary and Nial Davis, social studies for the high school.

Three custodial staff members were hired, and James C. Griffis, high school instructor, was given the position of assistant basketball coach for the coming year.

Two bus bids received this summer were rejected because there were only two bids on a bus body and none on a chassis. Other bids will be advertised for in October, with delivery of a new bus in the spring. (con't. on next pg.)

What's Going On, On The Other Side?

BEXLEY - Peering wistfully through a fence at something mighty interesting are these tiny tots from Bexley Playschool and one of the staf members, Michele Hamshare. What could be so fascinating that they would forego the usual "hammy" antics which the sight of camera and cameraman brings out in kids? (See page 7 for the answer.)

Clowns Danced For Those Who Can't

In regard to transportation for non-public use, the board has received 33 requests from Columbus Academy students for transportation and two more requests expected. They received 20 requests from Torah Academy students, with 15 more expected. Also, there were two from St. Joseph's Academy, and four from Six Pence School in Worthington, with perhaps two more to come. All requests will be filled by the board. If the number is so small as to be impractical for Bexley school buses to handle the transportation, the board will contract with the parents for reimbursement funds.

DR. BLOUGH announced that a new salary schedule had been arrived at after negotiaitons with the Bexley Teachers' Association. The new schedule starts a bachelor degree teacher with no experience at $7700, up from the previous $7550. In one year this figure will be increased to $7950. All increases will be effective Sept. 1, 1973 and another new scale will become effective Sept. 1, 1974. The association agreed not to present further salary proposals until March 1, 1975.

For non-teaching personnel, the same percentage of increase was given as teachers will receive. The merit system of pay for non-certified employees was dropped this year. The employees themselves thought it was unfair.

BOB NUSGART, a junior at Bexley High School, reported that 16 students held a two-week seminar this summer on FM radio and the feasibility of establishing a FM station in the school. They studied FM and AM radio, visited a studio, heard specialists in educational radio, TV stations, news, advertising, radio market research, etc. All the preliminary work has been done, even to filing for FCC frequency search.

The students have requested the use of two of the three nurses' offices in the high school for an FM radio operation.

IN OTHER business, the board agreed to send a representative to the Ohio School Boards Association conference at Ohio State Wed., Sept 26; passed the Cassingham Dress Code on a provisional basis for one year and accepted the federal recommendations for free meal policy.

Guidelines for choosing a student representative on the school board will be set up at the September meeting and he or she will be seated in October.

Receives Medal

Whitehall-Captain C. Wayne Dolezal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dolezal, 6740 S. Foresthill St., Littleton, Colo., has received his second award of the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska.

Captain Dolezal, a vehicle maintenance officer, was cited for meritorious service at Fairchild AFB, Wash.

A 1964 graduate of Littleton Senior High School, he received his B.S. degree in 1968 from Colorado State University and was commissioned there through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

The captain's wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cronin, 960 Conestoga Drive, Columbus, Ohio.

Mayor Proclaims Aug. 30 "Operation Stork Day"

East Columbus- A new layette item will be part of the admission when B'nai B"rith Women holds its annual Operation Stork Shower, Thursday, Aug. 30.

The 11:30 a.m. luncheon at the Country Dinner Playhouse, 11500 Tussing Rd., Reynoldsburg, is the "kick-off" of a city wide drive for clothing to be distributed throughout Columbus and Franklin County to needy pregnant women receiving regular prenatal care.

Each layette will contain one new donated item, as well as the used items. Things most needed for the layettes include diapers, receiving blankets, undershirts and clothing in newborn size.

Drop-off points for the clothing are: St. Edward's Episcopal Preschool, 214 Fairway Blvd.; Jeffrey Mansion, 165 N. Parkview Ave.; First Community Church, 1320 Cambridge Blvd.; Martin's Kosher Foods, 3685 E. Broad St.; Snyder's Professional Dry Cleaning, Inc. 915 S. James Rd.; The Convenient Food Mart, 2220 E. Livingston Ave.; The Jewish Center, 1125 College Ave.; Big Bear Store at Town and Country Shopping Center, and one northend location not yet designated. Items may be left until Sept. 28.

Operation Stork is carried out in conjuction with Mt. Carmel Medical Center and the National Foundation-March of Dimes. By encouraging regular prenatal care through offering the layettes as an incentive, it is hoped that birth defects will be reduced, according to Carole Schwartz, publicity chairman.

At the Aug. 30 luncheon, a matinee ot "Come Blow Your Horn," starring Julius Adler and Henrietta Jacobson will be presented and a complete luncheon offered. Cost of the entire afternoon is $3.25. For reservations, call 864-1760.

Corsair Unit Recruiting Youngsters

Whitehall--The Corsairs Marching Unit, sponsored by the Whitehall Post 8794 VFW, 4100 E. Main St., is now recruiting drummer boys or girls, and girls for marching with the unit.

Tryouts are being held on Monday nights, at 7 p.m. at the VFW parking lot.

Let's Hear It For The 1973 Ohio State Fair

The Ohio State Fair is a breeding ground for litterbugs

In a loop-the-loop atmosphere of noise, laughter, fun and frivolity, the only thing down-to-earth is debris—thoughtlessly discarded cups, food wrappers and other refuse

At this year's fair, you ll frequently be reminded to "clean up your act

All around the grounds you'll see kids wearing snappy green-and-white T-shirts and carrying litter bags They re environmentally minded youngsters we enlisted from all over Ohio not only to help keep the fairgrounds clean, but to dramatize the need for pollution clean-up We call them "Litter Raiders

Our job (and yours) is a lot bigger than the fairgrounds of course We've got to be concerned about dealing with all forms of air, water and solid waste pollution But we figure the 'Litter Raiders' are a good way to remind you there's a job to be done

Be sure to catch their act

Gala Entertainment Exhibits, Excitement August 23-September 3

"The whole works" will highlight the 1973 version of the Ohio State Fair that Fair Manger Vic Lucas has promised to be the biggest and best ever.

The million-dollar lineup of entertainment is only one of the many highlight activities that encompasses something for everyone.

Aug. 23-24-Helen Reddy and Mac Davis; Aug. 25-Rare Earth; Aug. 26-Dionne Warwicke, and Doc Severinsen; Aug. 27-28-The Osmonds; Aug. 29-Sonny and Cher; Aug. 30-The 5th Dimension; Aug. 31-Jackson Five; Sept 1- Charley Pride; Sept 2-Al Green and Sept 3-Grand Ole Opry.

Fearless Bauers To Be At Ohio Fair

The Fearless Bauers, exciting high-pole performers, will be appearing each day of the 1973 Ohio State Fair at the Main Grandstand at 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., prior to each free entertainment show.

The Fearless Bauers, consisting of a husband-wife-daughter team, are featured in an extremely risky mid-air exchange, in which all performers cleverly and quickly switch poles without the benefit of any safety device or landing net below.

Their aerial skills also include a gruelling, hand-over-hand "monkey walk" up their poles, bending masts almost to the breaking point. They climax their on-high stunts with speedy, head-first slides down the white poles.

Joseph Bauer narrowly escaped death when his swaypole tore loose and crashed 72 feet to the floor of a Cleveland circus February 12, 1970. Seriously hurt, Bauer underwent emergency surgery and a follow-up operation four days later that lasted 7½ hours.

The only aerilaist to survive a fall from that heights, Bauer was initially told he would be lucky to walk again, and that his performing days apperared over. Making a miraculous recovery, however, the Swiss-American swaypoler was back performing within five months after his near-fatal plunge.

The Bauers have performed both indoors and out at leading shows, expositions, fairs, circuses, amusement parks and celebrations across the United States,Canada and Mexico.

2291st Army Hospital To Participate At Fair

The 2291st US Army Hospital will actively take part in this year's Ohio State Fair.

The Hospital, headquartered at the Whitehall Memorial Reserve Center, will provide free first aid classes and demonstrations to those attending the fair.

Complementing the first aid classes will be live helicopter medical evacuation demonstrations, along with displays of the Army's latest emergency medical equipment.

On hand for public viewing will be a UH-1D "Huey" Medical Evacuation Helicopter and a 1½-ton Army Field Ambulance.

Medical Corpsmen from the 2291st Hospital will conduct the classes and demonstrations, and will answer questions concerning the Army's vital role in medicine.

First aid classes and medical evacuation demonstrations will be given five times daily at the fair.

Ohio Folk Festival One Of State Fair Highlights

THE THIRD annual Ohio Folk Festival, a celebration of Ohio's cultural heritage, will be presented as a special event at the 1973 Ohio State Fair, Thursday, August 23 through Sunday, August 26.

The Ohio Folk Festival will be held on the Arts and Crafts Building Lawn at 17th Avenue.

The festival will feature craft and food demonstrations from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and continuous music from 12 noon to 7 p.m. daily.

DRAWING from the diversity of Ohio's cultural groups, this year's festival will feature: the music of a Mexican-American "mariachi" a band, A Black gospel choir, a country bluegrass band, and traditional Russian folk dancing. Scottish, Mexican, Soul and Polish cooking will be highlighted, and traditional crafts ranging from construction of a log cabin and a sod house to galssblowing, quilting and balcksmithing will be demonstrated.

The Ohio Folk Festival was first presented at the 1971 Ohio State Fair at the request of Gov. John J. Gilligan. Previously that year Ohio was the featured state in the Smithsonian Institution's Festival of American Folklife in Washington, D. C. Gilligan wanted to bring that presentation of Ohio's folk traditions home, within easy reach of all Ohioans.

"I THINK the Ohio Folk Festival gives visitors to the State Fair a chance to taste, smell, hear and experience the great cultural richness and diversity we're fortunate to have as Ohioans," Gilligan said.

The festival is sponsored by the Ohio Expositions Commission and coordinated by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Don McLean Is New To Ohio State Fair

Singer Don McLean has join the power-packed lineup of free grandstand entertainment at the 1973 Ohio State Fair.

McLean will headline the 4:30 p.m. show Saturday, August 25, and will join Rare Earth at the 8:30 p.m. performance.

McLean is a writer and performer of distinct artistry.

He has written dozens of songs and each one is different and entirely unique.

McLean's recent hits include "Bye, Bye Miss American Pie" and "Vincent."

It will be Don McLean's first appearance at an Ohio State Fair.

Transbus Featured At Ohio State Fair

Visitors to the 1973 Ohio State Fair, August 23 through September 3, will have the opportunity to preview the transit bus of the future.

Transbus, as the new vehicle is called, will be on display September 1-September 3 at the Ohio Department of Transportation Building on the Fairgrounds, just east of the Administration Building.

Transbus is a totally new bus and not a remake of buses now operating in America's transit systems. Even the pedestrian will find its sleek exterior and low profile pleasantly improved.

Above all, Transbus will be comfortable. The first step will be only six inches from the curb.

Seats will be wider and spaced farther apart, allowing more leg room. The rear of the bus will be transformed into a U-shaped lounge-like area.

The interior will be kept at uniform comfortable temperatures and fume free in summer and winter through improved air-conditioning, heating and exhaust systems.

Speakers, inside and out, will enable the driver to assist passengers with current route and stop information.

Broad, tinted windows will provide a glare-proof view. Individual wheel suspension will insure a smooth ride.

Transbus will move its passengers faster, capable of traveling 70 miles per hour for high speed operations utilizing exclusive bus lanes. A front door, more than 25 per cent wider than those on today's buses, will enable riders to board and leave the bus more quickly.

Transbus will be safer. Its windows will be resistant to the high impact of thrown or falling objects. The window, under normal conditions will not open, will have emergency releases.

All of the materials inside the bus will be splinterproof and the windows will be made of shatterproof glass. If the bus should roll over, there will be escape hatches in the roof.

Original Moon Rock Set For State Fair

THE FIRST moon rock to be brought back to earth will be featured in the Ohio Department of Transportation's exhibition at the state fair, Aug. 23 through Sept. 3.

State Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley said the ODOT display of the Apollo 11 moon rock is of special interest to Ohio residents since Ohioan Neil Armstrong commanded that historic flight.

"One of the biggest advances in transportation was that first step taken by Neil Armstrong onto the surface of the moon," said Richley. "Throughout history, Ohio has been a leader in transportation. This feat, the greatest to occur in our lifetime, carries on that tradition."

THE ODOT building, located near the main grandstand, will display the moon rock through the cooperation of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The director said the displaying of the moon rock is part of the department's exhibition which will focus on all modes of transportation, from bicycles to moon flights, from riverboats to electric automobiles.

A history of highways will be featured with an actual, one-lane roadway showing the progression of roads from dirt, corduroy, gravel and brick to asphalt and concrete pavements.

TO GO along with the history-highway, modes of transportation which might have traveled similar roads will be displayed. Included will be a pre-1900 bicycle; a 1905 motorcycle; a 1913 Cartercar; a present-day racing motorcycle and an electric automobile now used as a commuter vehicle.

The exhibit will also feature the old and new models of the Delta Queen riverboat which cruises the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. The new model is being used to help build the future riverboat to replace the present wooden structure.

ANOTHER aspect of transportation, urban mass transit, will also be featured in the building.

One of the transit buses on display will be the double-decked vehicle used by the Columbus Transit Company for special functions. Other systems featured include a replica of the Toledo Area Regional Transit Authority's bi-modal system which is proposed for the Toledo Area.

ODOT will also display three models of the U.S. Department of Transportation's Transbus which is virtually odorless and smokeless.

THERE will also be a display of the new international signs which replace the former highway directional signs; a display showing the metric system as fairgoers weigh and measure their heigth according to both the English and metric system; a movie featuring the history of transportation in Ohio; and a van which simulates flight as the fairgoer sits in the cockpit of a fighter plane.

"We want to cover every aspect of transportation to show the visitors to our state fair that the ODOT is working from the past and present to build a better future," said Richley.

It's Always Fair Weather

IT WAS ALL FUN and a fair wide at the annual press get-together last week as Fair Manager Vic Lucas pledged "the best Ohio State Fair ever" for the 120th annual event that starts tomorrow, Thursday, Aug. 23 and continues through Labor Day, Sept. 3. Six of the key figures who have made this 120th Fair the outstanding Fair it is sure to be are pictured here. At top is Governor John J. Gilligan in his "fair weather" boots that are guaranteed to be "elephant proof". That's Fair Manager Vic Lucas at right. Center is the new Fair Public Relations Manager Tom Rizzo, a veteran media man who pledges to make this a "newsworthy" event for all the Spectator readers. That's lovely Miss Ohio State Fair Brenda Sutherland with Tom, not that she needs any introduction. Bottom are two of the people who make things cook on all burners. At left is Junior Fair Director Bill Stalter and at right is Mrs. Ohio Homemaker Mrs. Conni Oatney. With a spectacular lineup like these six it's bound to be the best Fair ever. Ninth Bishop Of Columbus Installed

Bishop Herrmann, was named the Bishop of Columbus by Pope Paul VI June 26. Ordained a preist June 12, 1947, he was named auxiliary bishop of Washington and titular bishop of Lamzella by Pope Paul March 4, 1966. Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle, now retired as archbishop of Washington, ordained Msgr. Herrmann a bishop April 26, 1966.

The new bishop of Columbus has been a parish priest since his ordination in 1947. He was assistant pastor of Our Lady of Victory parish, Washington, from 1947 to 1960, when he became pastor of St. Mary parish in Washington's inner city. Bishop Herrmann returned to Our Lady of Victory parish as pastor in 1968. He has served there since.

Bishop Herrmann has also been in diocesan administration since 1951, when he was named assistant chancellor of the Washington archdiocese. He was promoted to vice chancellor and secretary to the archdiocesan board of consultors in 1962, became a consultor in 1964 and has served the archdiocese as vicar general and chancellor since 1966.

Born November 6, 1913 in Baltimore, the bishop is the son the Mrs. Jennie Doyle Herrmann and the late Walter E. Herrmann. After Mr. Herrmann's death in 1916, Mrs. Herrmann and her son and daughter were received into the Catholic Church in 1919 by Father Thomas Toolen, now th retired archbishop of Mobile.

The future bishop attended St. Bernard and St. Jame s grade schools and Loyola High School in Baltimore, from whcih he graduated in 1931. After high school, he worked for a number of years, holding clerical and secretarial positions with an oil company in the Baltimore area.

In 1940, he entered St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., to begin studies for the priesthood. He completed his theological studies at the age of 33 in 1947. When St. Mary's College formed a board of trustees in 1968, Bishop Herrmann was one of the original members. He has been board chairman since 1970, when he succeeded

High Schoolers Attend Drug Abuse Institute

Columbus- Patrolmen, narcotics bureau chiefs, drug treatment center personnel, ex-addicts, Ph.D's and M.D.'s joined over 400 Ohio teenagers this week for an anti-drug and anti-alcoholism "experience" that lasted four days and much of the intervening evenings.

The Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Drugs convened for the better part of this last week at Ohio Wesleyan University. It was the ninth consecutive year for the Institute, sponsored by the Ohio Department of Health.

The week included discussions and films, as well as some lighter moments ranging fromskits on social issues to recreational use of Ohio Wesleyan's athletic facilities.

The Institute concluded Aug. 16 with a recommendation to the students by Institute Director Paula Wead and other Institute advisers on how on how the participants can best spread what they learned to their immediate high school communities.

Those participating from this area were:

Jeffrey S. Bowman, Brookhaven High School; Natalie E. Bowman Worthington High School; Jerry D. Enright, Bishop Watterson High School; Marian C. Gobe, Brookhaven High School; Charles K. Heiskell, Bishop Watterson High School; Michelle R. Hinshaw, Worthington High School.

Swim Classes Were Fun

EAST COLUMBUS- The water safety instructors of the JewishCenter Pool who were in charge of the Learn to Swim classes this summer are shown above. Left to right, they are: Cynthia Stucker, Carole Ann Serio, and Suzanne Jack. Cynthia Stucker holds certificates in water safety aide, water safety instructor and standard first aid as well as basic sailing. This was her fourth year on the pool staff and, according to the pool director, saved one of the swimmers from a very serious accidnet. She will enter Vanderbilt University in the fall. Mrs. Serio, after two years with another local pool, came this summer to the Center as the turtle Class instructor. Mrs. Jack spent her fourth summer as a member of the Center staff and is an alumna of its swim meets and water ballets as a young girl.

Don't miss up this opportunity to say goodbye to the playgrounds and their leaders....see you there.

ARTS AND CRAFTS SHOW

Michele Hamsher, arts-crafts specialist ith the Parks and recreation Department, has planned a special exhibition, tonight, of work done during the special arts and crafts periods on the Bexley playgrounds this summer.

Some of the items on display will include diaramas, tissue collages, sand paintings, masks, paintings.

The exhibit will be open for viewing in Jeffrey Park on Wednesday evening from 6 to 7 p.m. (or indoors in case of rain).

Youth To Present Drama At Church

East Columbus--The Ohio State Fair's Youth Ministry which performs shows daily at the Ohio State Fair will be at the Brookwood Presbyterian Church, 2685 E. Livingston Ave., Sunday, August 26 at both the 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. worship services.

"Shalom" is the theme of their performance which includes dramatizations, dialogues, skits, singing and dancing.

Girl Scouts Attend Special Camp

East Columbus–Members of Girl Scout Troop 704, including two Scouts from the Eastside area, will participate this month in a special camp program. The two Eastsiders are Jean Merle 530 Justin Rd. and Charlotte Branham 293 James Rd.

Troop 704 is composed of young women who are excluded, because of their mental and developmental limitations, from other scout units.

"Scouting is an important part of the normal experience of growing up," explained Mrs. Garnett Steele, troop leader. "Our troop was formed to give mentally retarded girls an opportunity to enjoy as many of the so-called "normal" activities of youth as possible."

The camp program, to be conducted in two-week sessions, will include such traditional scouting activities as nature study, field trips, arts and crafts, and song fests. "Members of Troop 704 do all the things their non-handicapped sisters do," said Mrs. Steele. "They just require a little more assistance in doing them."

The camp sessions are scheduled for August 19-25 and August 26-September 1 at Breezewood Acres, a rural retreat operated near Sunbury, by the Franklin Council for Retarded Children.

Tennis Tourney Deadline Aug. 23

Bexley–Registration deadline for Bexley Tennis Tournament is Thursday, Aug. 23, before 4 p.m.

The dates of the tournament are Aug. 27 to Sept. 1 or 2.

Times are, after 5 p.m.: Men's Singles, Senior Men's Singles and Doubles, and Mixed Doubles, and all other events played in the day time.

The cost is $2 per person for each event. Applications may be obtained from the Recreation dept. office, or at Jeffrey courts.

Whitehall Recreation Roundup

PLAYGROUND CLOSING

The Whitehall Recreation Department announces a very successful summer playground season. All five playgrounds, Etna Road, Kae Ave., Robinwood, Beechwood, and Norton Field close on August 17.

The season came to a close with many trounaments. The checker tournament was a huge success. Results were: Boys, 16-18--first Mike Luster, second. Steve Perry, both representing Robinwood.

Airman Assigned To Ellsworth AFB

Airman Michael R. Delong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Delong, 3200 Alum Creek Drive, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tes., from the U.S. Air Force water and sanitation specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Delong is being assigned to Ellsworth AFB, S. D., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The airman, whose wife is the former Deborah K. Boebert, is a 1972 graduate of Groveport Madison High School.

About People

Whitehall-Mrs. Mary Kay Clark, principal of Mater Dei Academy, 3695 Elm Street, was one of more then 140 administrators and board members of Christian schools who recently attended the third annual National Institute of Christian School Aministration held on the Grace College Campus in Winona Lake, Ind.

Bexley–Berklee College Of Music, the international educational institution for the study of modern American music, Boston, has enrolled Daniel C. Warner Jr. 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Warner, Sr. of 2434 Bryden Road, in its Freshman Class of 1973.

Warner's curriculum will include courses in arranging, composition, improvision, solo and orchestral performance as well as courses in the humanities. Upon graduation from Berklee, he will be qualified for a career as a teacher, arranger, composer, and instrumentalist, according to the college officials.

Bexley-Two East area students are among 13 high school students participating in an enrichment program at Battelle Memorial Institute this summer.

The program provides several hours a week of exposure in their area of particular research interest, apart from and in addition to the maintenance, custodial, or clerical duties of their summer jobs there.

The students are getting acquainted with the research environment and also gaining insights in to supporting funcations at Battelle.

Basis for selection of students for the summer job and enrichment program was academic standing, college aspirations and faculty recommendations.

Chubby Girls And Teens Never Had It So Good!

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

Junior-Teens have a ball in Hang Ten football jersey knit shirt with red 10 and stripes, topping a stripe cotton knit rugby shirt and blue denim straight leg jeans. A-line football-inspired dress in navy Orlon knit with white patches at elbow...striped knit ribbing on cuffs and turtleneck...Chubby Girls sizes 16½-18½.

White Sherpa Chubbie with striped sweater-knit trim, topping varsity-bright confetti-knit pants...matching sweater knit vest.

Junior-Teens warm-up in this red-fox fake-fur Chubbie with real suede trim...teamed with colorful plaid cotton pants.

SHOPPING FOR BACK-TO-SCHOOL CLOTHES is more exciting this fall than ever before...and Lane Bryant gets into the excitement with their Varsity Look in specialized sizes for Chubby Girls and Junior-Teens...sportswear and dresses that carry that "old school spirit".

FEATURED IS a charming collection of short dresses that look like elongated letterman-sweaters and football jerseys...and two-piece dresses that are as cute as a cheerleader's uniform, in bright school colors. Silhouettes are flattering...tent and A-line, giving a slimming look to the well-rounded girl...with plenty of new fashion mileage for school and extra-curricular occasions.

SPORTSWEAR, too, is reaching new goals...a pre-coordinated look. Just like grownups, there's a new focus on longer sweaters, chubbie jackets and super-looking short coats. Girls will flip over the longer sweaters (many in fanny lengths), the sweater sets, varsity cardigans, and the shetland crew-neck pullovers. Collars come in for their share of excitement, especially the shawl collar on a wrappy sweater-jacket, boxy pea coats and duffle coats are the fashionable way to weather the big freeze...everything big, baggy, bulky, slouchy and roomy.

LOOKING FORWARD to that fall football game, there's nothing more wearable and groovy than fake furs...for instance, a red-fox fake fur jacket with real suede trim...or a white Sherpa Chubbie with striped sweater knit. Wool plaid coats are winners too. Under these super tops are narrower pants and jeans, plus the newest fashion look of short flippy skirts.

Chubbies are a whole new breed of coat! You'll want to snuggle into this Verel® modacrylic with the look of long haired fur. You can even cuddle up to the price--just $20. Grey, reddish, and beige in Millinery D410 Downtown on 2, Northland, Eastland, Westland, Kingsdale.

Miss Queen Is Betrothed

MISS KATIE F. QUEEN

Whitehall- Mr. and Mrs. George Queen, 330 Maplewood Ave., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Katie Francis to Mr. Gregory Funk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Funk, 4099 Elbern Ave.

An open wedding will be held at Columbus Park of Roses, October 6, with the bride-to-be's brother-in-law, the Rev. Dan Stires, officiating.

Miss Queen is employed by Radio Shack Enterprises in a clerical and bookkeeping position, while Mr. Funk is employed by both Scioto Kitchens and Holiday Inn East.

Here's What They Were Looking At

BEXLEY- This is the action the kids from Bexley Playschool (see p. 1 picture) were watching so raptly, from outside the fence. There were swim races, thrills, spills, splashes and splutters at the annual Bexley Playground Swim Meet, Aug. 15. Flying through the air after a jump out from the high board, this youngster is trying to make the biggest splash of anyone. "I GOT FIVE NICKELS!" cries Kathy Miller as she comes up off the bottom of the pool where she found coins thrown in by Mrs. Jo Miller, Bexley Pool swim instructor.

Growth Problems Plague East Side Schools

By David Lindsey
Director Of Community Relations

To the school administrator, growth is a mixed emotion. The more students a school has, the greater the number of programs it can offer. At the same time, however, growth means a need for more classrooms and more teachers.

As the East end of Columbus has grown, each of the suburban districts have had to face this problem. Reynoldsburg, Whitehall, Westerville, Canal Winchester and Groveport all have been, or are being, confronted with the growth of student population without a corresponding growth in their tax base.

The root of the problem lies in the type of growth. Most of the areas have had residential development with little industrial growth. Taxes on homes simply will not provide the needed revenues.

As an example, in the Madison Local School District, a $25,000 home will yield only $250. per year in school operating funds ($25,000 x 36 per cent assessment rate x 28.5 mills.) At the same time, the District spends $570 per pupil.

These figures do not include building money, and with some districts growing at a rate of 500 students per year, this presents another problem of major proportions. Considering 27 students to be an average class size, and 20 classrooms to be an average elementary building, a district could need a new elementary school every two years.

While the recent bond issue and the accompaning decline in enrollment promises the easing of pressure for the Columbus Public Schools, the suburban districts face a continuing problem of little money and many students.

David Lindsey is director of community relations for the Madison Local Schools.

Asburn Center Fights Juvenile Delinquency

By Charles Finnell,
Program Director

The J. Ashburn Jr. Youth Center is located at 64 S. Highland Avenue in the Oakley Baptist Church and next door to the Highland Avenue Elementary School. The facility also contains the Oakley Child Development Center. The Ashburn Youth Center is attempting daily to help meet the growing and vital needs of Hilltop youth in their growth and development processes. The Center's program seeks to expand the children's horizons and visions, explore new possibilities and life's multiple alternatives.

It attempts to give expression to youthful energies in creative rather than destructive ways. In so doing, the Center contributes to the limitation of juvenile delinquency in the community which is its stated puprpose as an agency funded under the "Safe Streets Act" of the federal government.

Children and youth 6 to 21 years of age participate in center activities each week. Approximately 500 youth are registered participants in the program to this time. Over 150 children 6 to 13 years old are participating in the Center's "Summer Life Enrichment Program" with activities varying from art to gymnastics to week-long excursions to places such as metropolitan park, an Amish farm, Sea World and others.

Throughout the year the Center provides a multi-dimensional program for the youth. Recreational activity is vitally important to young people with tremendous energies to expend. Youth spend hundreds of hours in the Center's gym and games room and on the playgrounds in sports and game activity. Annual basketball leagues and one-on-one murnaments are held for healthy and creative competition. A professional staff directs the youth in organizaing and supervising these activities.

The Center program also puts great emphasis upon the creative arts, such as piano, crafts, art and creative expression. There is a very active drama group at the Center, "The Ashburn Youth Players," that does seasonal productions.

As well as program activity in cultural creativity and recreation, the Center works as a social work agency to provide vital services to young people growing up in a metropolitan community. The Center's Social Worker helps youth in locating the assistance they need in school, for university, for future careers of jobs and to deal with special problems such as drug abuse.

In order to carry on such a multi-faceted program for youth, enrichment and development, the Ashburn Center acts as an agency among other community agencies in cooperative effort. This inter-action with other institutions and agencies is an important key to developing a program to meet real needs of young people today.

The Center works with the educational institutions of its young constituency. The Highland Elementary-Ashburn Center Tutorial Program was begun this past year as an effort to assist children with "special problems" in their school work. Hilltonia Jr. High School girls in Home Economics redecorated the Center's games room as a special project to learn about interior decorating. West High School students used the Center to prepare for their Black Studies Assembly program at the high school and were able to put together a very impressive producation. These are examples of how the Ashburn-Center works in direct cooperation with the schools on the Hilltop.Other educational and social agencies work cooperatively in the Center's program. The Columbus Board of Education co-sponsors the excursion program for the children during the summer and provides a free bus for the outings. The Defense Construction Supply Center provides an excellent summer program for many Center children 10-16 years old. Ohio State University provides both graduate and undergraduate students as field placement in the Center program. The Center also provides placements and on the job training for youth in the Neighborhood Youth Corp. Columbus Public Library, Southwest Mental Health Center, TICO, Kiwanis Club, Hilltop Civic Center, Juvenile Court, Columbus Police Department, Columbus Department of Recreation and Parks and other agencies give assistance in carrying on programs, and equiping, training and sensitizing the youth leadership.

The Ashburn Youth Center continues to serve the Hilltop as a community based service for the prevention of juvenile deliquency, believing that the best way to control deliquency is to prevent it by providing youth with opportunities to use their leisure time creatively and thus help them become constructive participants and contributors to their growing complex world.

Volunteers are always welcome and should contact the Center Social Worker, Mrs. Jaymes Saunders, 279-6968 or the Central office at 279-3307.

Prairie Players To Hold Auditions

Casting for Prairie Players' production of "Impossible Years" will begin on Aug. 26 and Aug. 27 at 8 p.m. The try-outs will be at the Prairie Playhouse, 6463 W. Broad St., in Alton.

Bev Davis, who has appeared extensively in community theatre throughout central Ohio will direct the family situation comedy. Show dates are Oct. 12, 13, 19 and 20.

The characters needed are nine males and five famales, teens through middle age.

If more information is desired call Prairie Players president Eve Anne Wilkes, 274-2871 or the membership chairman, Lee Bender, 279-5313.

Equality Day March Sunday

Sunday Aug. 26 is Women's Equality Day. At 3 Sunday afternoon women dressed as suffragettes will assemble at the NOW booth at the Fair (Booth 32 in the Buckeye Building).

The women will be carrying banners and posters relating to both the ERA and the franchize in Ohio. They will march from the booth north of to the grandstands.

DRUNK DRIVING

One out of 50 cars on the road is driven by a drunk driver says the Department of Highway Safety. The drunk driver is a potential killer. His reaction time is slowed. And we have to get him off the road. Highway Safety Director Pete O'Grady says, if you see a driver driving recklessly, weaving or driving left of center, call a law enforcement agency give license number, make of car and location. Help get this potential killer off the road.

Mans Relation To Environment Explored By Natural Resources

"Art from Nature" and an exhibit showing how plant life, animals and humans affect an aquatic ecosystem will be but two of the attractions in the seven-acre Ohio Department of Natural Resources area at the 1973 Ohio State Fair.

The fair opens a 12-day run Thursday.

The "Art from Nature" program will feature a different artist each day, including three from the Natural Resources Department, who use natural materials in art forms such as sculpturing, wood carving, ceramics and painting, or who depict scenes from nature in their art work.

The artists will be at work from noon to 3 p.m. and 4 to 7 p.m. daily.

The ecosystem exhibit will border one side of the Natural Resources pavilion. The exhibit is designed to show the interrelationship between all living things and their enviornment.

"Man has a long history of neglecting his natural heritage, thinking that the earth's natural resources were inexhaustible. Today, more than ever, there is a growing realization that this is not so, said Natural Resources Director William B. Nye.

"We think the ecosystem exhibit will be both an education and entertaining experience for Ohio citizens and will make them more aware of the importance of the wise use of our natural resources."

Opposite the ecosystem exhibit in the Natural Resources pavilion will be a stream in an outdoor setting. The stream, which will be stocked with fish, will have push-button ecology and natural resources question-and-answer panels spaced along its bank.

An information booth will be staffed by department employees who will answer questions and distribute pamphlets and brochures.

The scenic and grassy seven and one-half acre Natural Resources area in the southeast corner of the fairgrounds offers a pleasant contrast to the hectic pace of the rest of the fair.

There are numerous benches where visitors can relax, including 88 marked with the names of each Ohio county. The area has 125 picnic tables, three picnic shelters and restroom facilities.

There is a replica of a grist mill at one end of the area's one-acre lake. As in past years, the lake will be stocked and young anglers will be furnished fishing gear and bait if they want to try their hand at landing a catfish.

The 14-foot-tall Smokey Bear has a new hide and says he is "anxious to talk" to his young friends.

Activities in the Natural Resources area during the run of the fair, all free of the fair, all free of charge, include:

All-Ohio outdoor show—Daily outdoor shows will feature pole-climbing in a race against time and axe throwing exhibitions by lumberjack Hap Johnson of Washington. Johnnie Wilson of Columbus will demonstrate the retrieving abilities of his abilities of his dogs. The shows will be at noon and 6 p.m. daily.

Fishing Derby—From 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. daily, youths can fish in the area's stocked lake. Wildlife officers will assist youngsters needing help. Fish that are caught will be kept under refrigeration in the area until the angler is ready to leave the fair.

Fire Tower—Visitors can climb the tower and chat with a forest ranger, who will have a complete set of equipment to show how he detects, locates and reports a forest fire.

Conservation Groups—Seven Ohio conservation organizations will present educational and entertaining displays.

Ohio's 98 Elk Lodges To Meet Aug. 24, 25, 26

Representatives of 98 Ohio Elks' lodges are scheduled to attend the 44th annual fall meeting of the Ohio Elks Association. State resident F. H. Niswonger of Dayton will preside at the three-day meeting slated for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 24, 25 and 26 at the Sheraton-Columbus Motor Hotel. The agenda includes planning for Elk sponsored charitable and humanitarian projects.

Registration will begin at noon Friday, Aug. 24. Irving W. Davies of Lakewood will be in charge of a meeting of the state board of trustees at 11 a.m. and at 3 p.m. Friday the advisory council will convene with George Walker of Wiloughby, as chairman. Saturday morning, Aug. 25, workshops and clinics will be conducted by State President Niswonger.

Plans for sponsoring youth activities, including youth leadership and scholarship contests, are to be announced by Donald Peters of Dovers, M. A. Mihalick of Mansfield, Nick M. Kovic of Warren, Vernon Luma of Piqua and William Hank Jr. of Warren.

At the 1:30p.m. Saturday business meeting, state and grand lodge awards will be presented to outstanding Elk lodges in the state. Additional scholarship awards are to be announced.

Mrs. John R. Shafer of Columbus will be hostes for a women's party at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting will conclude Sunday, Aug. 26, with ritual instruction under the direction of Arnold Fitzgerald of Washington, Ind., Grand Lodge ritualistic Committeeman. Fred M. Lees of Maumee is convention chairman.

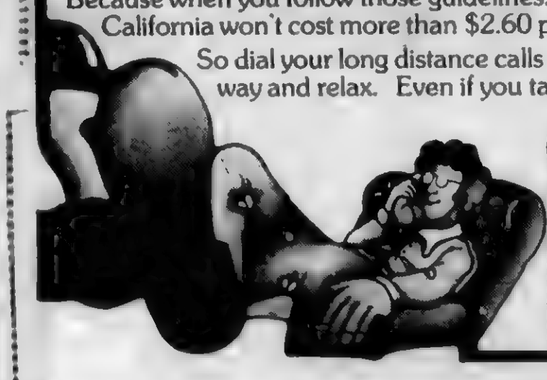
How to make a relaxed 10-minute long distance call.

It's really very easy. Just, dial your call direct, without operator assistance, between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11 P.M. and on weekends.)

By doing that, you'll be able to relax and enjoy your call. Instead of worrying about the cost.

Because when you follow those guidelines, a 10-minute call to California won't cost more than $2.60 plus tax.

So dial your long distance calls the less expensive way and relax. Even if you talk for 10 minutes.



Ohio Bell

Dial-it-yourself rates apply on out-of-state dialed calls (without operator assistance) from residence and business phones anywhere in the U.S. (except Alaska and Hawaii) and on calls placed with an operator where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-it-yourself rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel guest, credit card, collect calls and on calls charged to another number.

AUG 1973

AROUND TOWN

It's Fair Time. The Ohio State Fair opens tomorrow, and what a fair this year's 1973 extravanganza promises to be. The entertainment lineup looks like to Who's Who of Hollywood and Broadway, plus a host of spectacular special events.

Opening the free grandstand entertainment this year is the one and only Mac Davis and Helen Reedy. They will be there this Thursday and Friday. Followed by a dynamic group for the younger generations, Rare Earth. Then on Sunday, one of the State Fair's favorites, Doc Severinsen along with Dionne Warwicke will headline the grandstand entertainment.

Monday, August 27 sees the Osmonds performing for two days. Wednesday is the big blockbuster, the one that everyone is talking about, Sonny & Cher. Thursday finds The 5th Dimension on stage, followed on Friday by the Jackson Five.

Saturday, September 1, Charlie Pride takes over the entertainment at the grandstand, with Al Green doing his thing on Sunday. Then closing out the fair on Labor Day is the entire troup from the Grand Ole Opry.

That's the free entertainment schedule at the grandstand. There are a lot more exciting happenings.

The N. R. Pufnstuf Show will perform twice a day for the children. Then something for everybody at the fair, the Schlitz 40-Horse Hitch. This is a real sight, one that you haven't seen since 1904. The horses, driver, wagon and harnesses are a story themselves.

For you who enjoy watching your favorite local and area TV personalities in person, both WLWC and WBNS-TV will be broadcasting several live shows each day from the fair. WLWC will televise the Bob Braun, Paul Dixon and Phil Donahue shows with their entire casts.

Ten Balloonists will compete in an International Balloon Race at 12 noon, Friday August 31. There will even be an entry from France.

For those who enjoy a good boxing match, The Sixth Annual Ohio State Fair National Amateur Boxing Tournament will take place at the fair, with over 300 youngsters from throughout the United States participating.

As always, the famed All Ohio Boys Band, The All Ohio Youth Choir and the All Ohio Youth Symphony will be making several appearances during the fair.

There are countless more exciting events every hour of every day during this years Ohio State Fair. So, follow their motto, "Let Yourself Go! Go to the FAIR."

Currently doing a fine job of entertaining the people at Lincoln Lodge is a group called, This 'N That. This 'N That is not a dynamic duo, just one of the most enjoyable ones that have come down the pike in quite some time.

Dick Bittner is the organist and Ron Foeller handles the drums. Both of them sing. Each of them own a voice in their own right. But, wait until you hear their vocal harmonies. Simply beautiful. They give out with some of the prettiest, closest harmony I have heard for a while.

This duo does just one thing, ENTERTAIN. Dick handles the black and whites in a very tasty style. While he plays the typical type of electric organ, he realizes that it has many other purposes than just to see how loud it can be played. Dick caresses the keyboard as if it were a delicate instrument.

The same is true for Ron with the drums. He does a lot more than pound the drums and cymbals. Both of them knows the meaning of music and what it is all about. They have class, style and a taste for real music.

The same is true for the both of them in the vocal department. Ron has a voice that I could listen to all night long. His tonal qualities are very pure and not doctored up with gimmicks. Ron sings, and I do mean sings. His voice is rather full and rich. Dick is no slouch in this area either.

While This 'N That do most all type of music, their style and sound seems to me to mend itself best to the better country and western songs. When they perform some of these tunes, Dick and Ron receive their biggest applause.

As I said at the beginning, they are not a powerhouse duo. But, I will guarantee you one thing, if you enjoy listening to music, and I mean good music played the way music should be treated, then I know for certain that you will have a pleasant evening when you catch This 'N That at the Lincoln Lodge.

As I told you in last week's column, I was taking the ole typewriter on the road, to let you know what is happening in other parts of the country.

After visiting Atlanta, which I will tell you about next week, I headed for the land of sunshine, and ended up in Naples Florida. This is one of the most beautiful towns I have seen in Florida. While many of the other cities are lovely, I dug this one the most. I hope the Chamber of Commerce doesn't get too upset with that last sentence.

But, Naples reminds me of a picture post card of Florida. Regardless of what time of year, winter or summer, you must make this a stop or your winter headquarters. There are many fine restaurants in the area. Prices are just about the same as in Columbus. For you who enjoy taking in the tourist attractions, there are plenty of good ones in the area. Not the types that skin you.

My recommendation for accomodation is the beautiful Hilton Inn in Naples. What a picturesque setting. It has a large pool, loads of palm trees and is only a few blocks from the gulf. The rooms are extremely nice with a restful decor. Everyone at the Hilton Inn, from the maids, desk clerks to waitresses, to management are friendly and hospitable.

Of course, like most restaurants in Florida, the Hilton Inn's dinner menu is loaded with delicious seafood items. Dining there was worth the trip.

Summer and winter rates for rooms are more reasonable than you may think.

A trio, The Starliters, were appearing in the lounge while I was there. And, if this act is any indication of the quality of entertainment that regularly appears in the lounge, then I have to recommend you stop in just for the entertainment.

I have to recommend Naples, and the Hilton Inn winter or summer. The only thing you won't like about the place is leaving it.

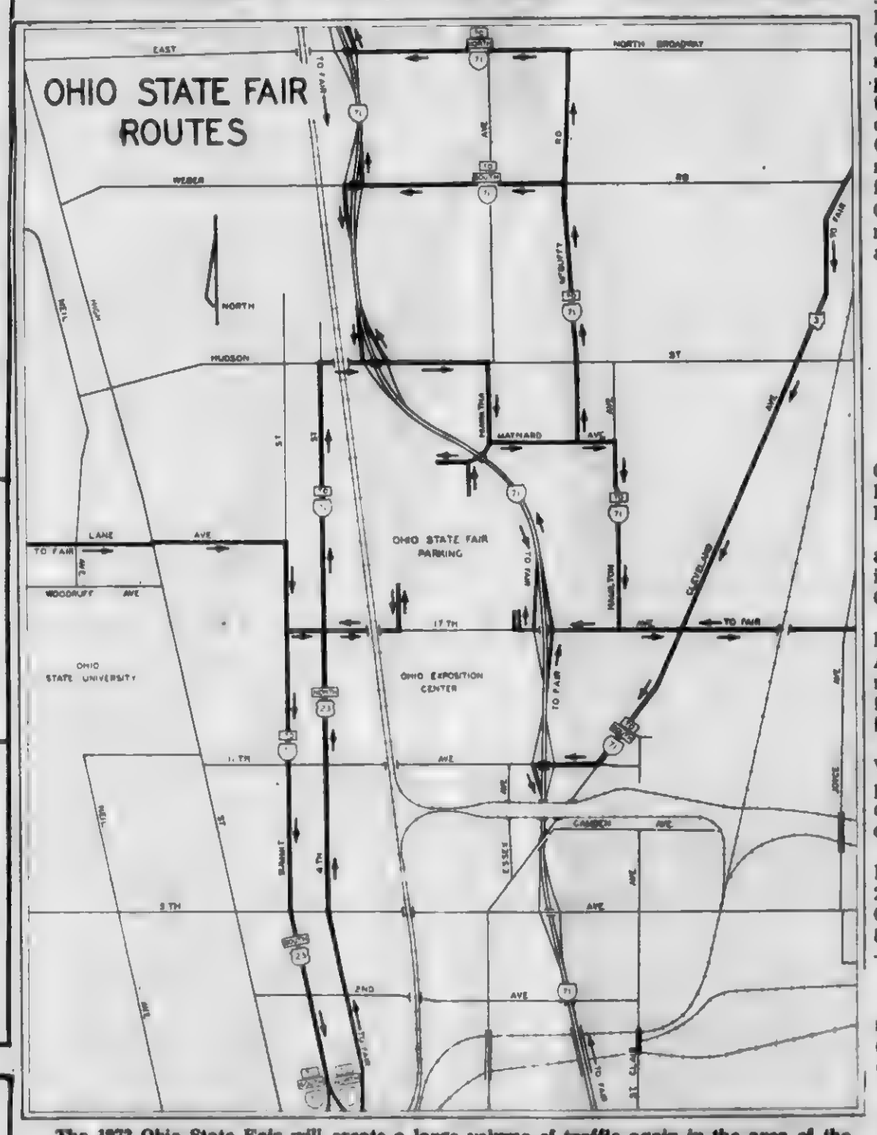
SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Keith-Charles are now appearing at the Olentangy Inn Motel. I know their many fans will want to catch this outstanding duo . Their music and song are a treat. Both Keith and Charles dish out plenty of entertainment, be it music, vocals or comedy. It is a well rounded act...Miss DeLois and Her Music Men are doing a fine job at her own lounge, The Miss DeLois Lounge. Located is Gahanna, The Miss DeLois Lounge is a real fun and friendly place to go. Of course, with Miss DeLois singing and dancing, you know the entertainment is tops...A smorgasbord style restaurant designed to provide all the food you care to eat at a moderate price opened this week in Columbus. The Sveden House restaurant, located across from the Westland Shopping Center on W. Broad St., is the newest of 36 such restaurants and the first in Columbus.

The restaurant differs from most eating establishments by giving its customers the opportunity to try such varied items as Swedish meatballs, chicken, barbecue ribs, hand-carved roast Baron of Beef, fish and more than 15 salads and relishes and all for one fixed price. Lunch price is $1.95 and dinner is $3.50 including beverage and dessert. Children under age ten pay 15 cents per year of age. The almost half a million dollar restaurant can seat 250 people. More on the Sevden House later.

The hottest quartet around today is Slinky and Surprise, currently at the Marco Polo's Lounge. Known for its friendly atmosphere, top entertainment and the place where the swingers meet, Marco Polo's Lounge is featuring Slink and Surprise Monday through Saturday this week and next for listening and dancing.

Ohio boasts almost 900 research and development facilities located throughout the state, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.



..The 1973 Ohio State Fair will create a large volume of traffic again in the area of the exposition grounds. Motorists are reminded that effective 6 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 23. and extending through Monday, Sept. 3 no through traffic will be permitted on Seventeenth Avenue, as it will be closed between Korbel and Clara Avenues. In addition, no through traffic will be permitted during this period on Velma Avenue between the I-71 overhead and Seventeenth Avenue. Motorists going to the State Fair may use Velma Avenue to enter the State Fair Parking Lot. All motorists not going to the Ohio State Fair are requested to use Fifth Avenue of Hudson Street to avoid unnecessary traffic delays.

Chess Championship Labor Day

The 1973 Ohio Chess Congress will be held Labor Day weekend at the Southern Hotel, Main and High Sts.

The event includes chess activities for all players and is highlighted by the State Championship Tournament.

United States Chess Federation and Ohio Chess Association memberships are required and payable at the tournament. Entry fees vary from $7 to $15.

SEAT BELTS

There are lots of safety belt myths, says the Department of Highway Safety. Why not consider the truths?

..If belted, car occupants won't plunge through the windshield, hurtle through the air, scrape along the ground or be crushed by their own car in a crash.

Without a belt, a motorist might be stunned or knocked unconscious by the crash.

Hunting, Trapping Licenses Sale Will Start Sept. 1

Ohio hunting and trapping licenses for 1973 have been mailed to license agents throughout the state and should be available from the agents now or within the next week, Natural Resources Director William B. Nye has announced.

Most stores that handle hardware and sporting goods are agents, as are county clerks of courts.

The new licenses will be valid for a year, beginning September 1.

Nye reminded Ohio hunters and trappers that they must have a license regardless of their age.

The only hunters and trappers not required to have licenses are (1) members of the Armed Forces on leave or furlough, who must carry an identification card or other evidence of being on active military duty; (2) landowners and their children while hunting or trapping on their own land, and (3) tenants or managers of land, and their children, while hunting or trapping on the property where they reside.

Resident licenses, costing $4 plus a writing fee, are issued to United States citizens who have resided in Ohio for at least six months prior to applying for a license. Non-resident licenses are issued to peoplewho do not qualify as residents. Their cost $20, plus a writing fee.

A copy of the 1973 Ohio Hunting and Trapping Regualtions will be issued with each license. The guide provides a digest of current hunting and trapping laws, as well as detailed hunting and trapping information.

Boating A Big Fish Can Be Done Properly

THERE'S nothing more frustrating than losing a large fish right at the boat. It happens often and is usually caused by the fish being "green" or still full of fight.

Many anglers, in the excitement of hooking and playing a big fish, fail to realize that it takes time to wear down a fish to the point that it can be safely handled.

Here are some tips from Mercury couboards' fishing experts that will help you boat the next big fish you catch.

BE SURE your equipment is in top condition. Test the reel to see that the drag is set at the right tension, and will function properly when it's needed. Inspect the line guides for worn places which could weaken monofilament line, and check the line tiself for damage.

When a fish strikes, raise the rod quickly and firmly to set the hook. Never let slack into the line. With a large fish, it's sometimes possible to turn him away from snags and other underwater debris by pumping the rod in slow motion. Don't jerk against the fish; that will only open the line.

If your fish goes to the bottom and sulks, it sometimes helps to strum the line like a guitar. The resulting vibrations will cause the fish to move and you can then begin heading him toward the boat.

If he jumps, lower the rod tip and let some slack into the line. A tight line will break as the fish's weight comes against it. When the fish hits water again, immediately raise the rod and take back the slack.

As long as you can control the fish, let him run until he comes to the boat willingly. Then either land him with a net, or grasp the lower jaw (if it's a toothless variety of fish) and lift the fish into the boat.

One thing the Mercury staff suggests you remember is not to hurry! After all, the real enjoyment in fishing comes in catching and playing fish.

Ohio Track Club Wraps Up Successful Season

THE OHIO Track Club wrapped up its 1973 outdoor season on a high note with two boys bringing home medals from the National AAU Boys Age Group Track & Field Championships in Denver, Colorado.

It was the first time OTC boys had participated in the Nationals and also the first time the boys had been west of the Mississippi. After a day of sightseeing on Mr. Evans and panning for gold, they went to Jefferson County Stadium ready to race.

Kevin Butler led things off by becoming the new national champion in the mile walk. His time of 8.55.5 proved to be too fast for the rest of the field and he brought home a National gold medal for his effort.

Steve Eisnaugle also brought home a medal from the Nationals by placing 6th in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:41.2.

IN THEIR first national competition both of these boys placed in their respective events.

In the meantime the rest of the OTC members ended the outdoor season in style with almost everyone placing in an event at the Ohio State Championships held at Baldwin-Wallace College on August 4th.

In the 9 and under, the 440 relay with Karen Bartlett and Susan Cotner took first in 60.3. Karen also finished 2nd in the ball throw while Susan took 2nd in the 100 (14.1) and set a new record in the 440 (71.2)

The 10-11's looked real good and came away awith a team trophy to lead the team. Dana Disabato took a 3rd in the 220 while Libby Bartlett improved to a 2:50.2 4th place in the 880 and Kim Shanton took 2nd in the mile (6:40). Darla Igel and Dana Disabato were also on the winning 440 relay team that posted a 59.2.

IN THE womens division, Sue Duffy, running with a sore ankle, still placed 3rd in the 100 meter hurdles while Kathy Rose bettered her time in the 400 meter low hurdles. (71.3).

Beth Cotter, a newcomer to the club, placed 5th in the 100 yard dash and Diana Bartlett looked really strong in the two mile to finish 2nd with a time of 13:12.

Chris Hart placed 3rd in the high jump and 3rd in the shot put, discus and javelin.

Beth Cottner and Kathy Rose were on the "A" mile relay team that finished 1st (4:10) while Sue Duffy and Diana Bartlett were on the "B" mile relay that placed 4th with a (4:28).

Mark Cotner ran a strong 880 in the 10-11 boys age division to finish 1st in 2:45.

Scuba Classes Scheduled

The next session of Scuba Classes will begin Sunday, August 26 according to Joung Suh, Health & Physical Education Director, Y.M.C.A.

"Classes will be from 1:00-5:30 p.m. with a combination of pool session and lecture period," said Suh.

The fee for the ten week session is $60 which also includes use of the scuba equipment.

Handball Tourney Aug. 24-25

The Columbus Central Y.M.C.A. will be the sponsor of the 1973 3-Wall Outdoor Pre-National Handball Tournament to be held August 24-25, according to Joung Suh, Health & Physical Education Director.

"Matches will begin at 11 a.m. in the newly built courts at Westagte Recreation Center," Suh said.

Play is open for Singles and Doubles with plates awarded to 1st and 2nd place.

Thomas E. Bogen is the Tournament Director and Suh is the Coordinator.

Griffin Named To Morehead Staff

Morehead State University Head Football Coach Roy Terry has announced the appointment of a graduate assistant to his staff.

LARRY GRIFFIN

Named for the 1973 season was Larry Griffin of Columbus, a two-year starter for the University of Lousiville. He is an Eastmoor High School graduate.

Griffin, who was named U of L's outstanding back last season, will work with running backs and receivers.

"We're very pleased to have Griffin join our staff," Coach Terry said. "He was an excellent player and should make important contributions."

In addition to assisting with the Eagle varsity Griffin will also coach the MSU junior varsity squad.

He is pursuing a master's degrees in secondary education with emphasis in health, physical education and recreation.

Trolling Tips

One of the oldest lures I have is one my father gave me many years ago on our first trip to Canada. It's a June bug spinner, a trolling lure that has a spoon attached to a shaft with a bearing that holds it out from the shaft in a fixed position. You know they're still for sale in some sporting goods stores and if you bait them with a minnow or nitecrawler they're one of the best combinations you can use for walleye.

Another spinner lure that works well for trolling in weedy waters are the ones with hackle, feathers, or squirrel hair covering the hooks. They help to keep weeds off.

In the past couple of years I've been trolling lures with a lip that float at rest, but dive under when trolled. These lures run deep and no weight is necessary to get them down to ten or fifteen feet. If you need to troll deeper, add only enough weight to get the job done. Too much weight takes a lot of fight out of fish. Fighting a fish is the best part and very seldom will I add weight to a lure.

One of the first trolling questions I'm always asked is, "How fast should you troll?" I've found the best trolling speed is slow, just fast enough to keep a plug vibrating, your spoon flashing, or a spinner revolving. Keep your boat moving about the same speed as your lures when you retrieve them.

Change the speed to change the depth and if you lower your rod tip when trolling and let your lure drop back you can work it deeper.

Keep your line from twisting by tying on a swival from line to leader and another from leader to lure. The more swivals you rig up the better. Watch your rod tip when trolling vibrating lures, because when it stops vibrating, you've probably picked up some weeds. If this happens, real in and get rid of 'em. Keep your lures weed free for better action.

When trolling for walleyes and you catch one, turn around and troll over the same spot. Walleyes are a school fish. When you find one chances are others will be in the same area.

South Bass Island Campground

Located above limestone cliffs on the southwest shore of the Lake Erie Island of the same name about 5 miles off the mainland. This 32 acre park is really out of the ordinary. Once the site of a magnificent resort hotel, the ornamental masonry and foundation remains to conjure pictures of past grandeur in the minds of campers. The Perry Victory and International Peace Monument located at the neck of the island affords a spectacular view of the west end of the lake and the products of native fisheries and vineyards make the hour pleasant. Boats, bait and marine supplys of all varieties are available on the island as is expert guide service. The Class "B" campground with it's 150 family sites and 10 group sites is located close to the water near a launching ramp and pier. They're is no horsepower limit on motors on Lake Erie. Transportation to the island is by private boat, ferry or plane.

The ferry service operates from Port Clinton and Catawba Point and the air service from the Port Clinton Airport via the Tri-motored Ford, nick-named "Tin Goose". The trip in one of these still very air worthy relics of the early days of air travel is an experience of a lifetime.

Controlled Waterfowl Hunts

The Division of Wildlife of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources will begin accepting applications for controlled waterfowl hunting permits today, Aug. 13, Division Chief Dan C. Armbruster announced recently.

The permits will allow the permit holder to hunt for one day at Killdeer Plains and Mosquito Creek Wildlife areas. Armsbruster said hunting dates have not been set. Applications will be accepted until Sept. 7. A public drawing on Sept. 12 will determine which applicants will be able to hunt. Armbruster said hunters will use blinds constructed by the Division of Wildlife. Two hunters will be assigned to each blind.

To apply for a permit, hunters should send a $5 certified check or money order to Mosquito Creek or Killdeer Plains Hunt, Division of Wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224. The area desired should be indicated. Hunters wishing to hunt with a partner should submit a $10 certified check or money order. In each case, the check or money order should be made payable to the Division of Wildlife. Armbruster said a stamped, self-addressed envelope should be included with each application. Either a 1972 or 1973 hunting license number for each hunter should be included on each application.

Persons submitting more than one application per area will be disqualified.

Pheasants For Gentle Release

Fish, Game and Conservation Clubs throughout central Ohio, in cooperation with the Division of Wildlife, have received a total of 4,400 six week old pheasants. These pheasants are placed in open top predator-proof pens and become "hardened" to natural conditions until they are old enough to fly out by themselves, usually in three to four weeks or when the birds are about nine weeks old.

The holding facilities of each co-operator must meet standards set by the Division of Wildlife and they must provide feed, water and cover for the birds until they are able to fly.

The pheasant fly-out or gentle release program is designed to supplement native populations throughout the state that receive heavy hunting pressure during the regular season. Pheasants released in this manner have a chance to acclimate themselves to their surroundings and adapt to feeding and nesting habits in this area.

Hunter Safety Courses

Sept. 9 and Sept. 30 courses on safe fun handling will be given at Division of Wildlife, District One Headquarters, located at 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus. Each course will begin at 1 p.m. and be over at 5 p.m. each date.

Although the course is designed primarily for juvenile hunters, the classes are open to the public and many parents enjoy attending with their youngsters, and picking up valuable tips to improve their own safe gun handling.

Juveniles aged 10 through 15 who wish to participate in the special youth hunts at the Delaware Wildlife Area on November 3 and 10 must have successfully passed one of these courses in hunter gun safety.

Ohio Dominican Has Orientation For Parent-Students

Orientation of new students at Ohio Dominican College, Columbus, will begin Wednesday Aug. 29, with arrival on campus of the rest of the student body Sept. 2 and Labor Day. Regular classes are scheduled to open Tuesday, Sept. 4 at the college, 1216 Sunbury Rd.

Emphasizing parent-student joint involvement, during the summer, new students and their parents were invited to participate in a pre-Orientation Workshop held on campus. Continuing the effort, opening night, Wednesday, a buffet supper will afford new students and their parents the opportunity to meet and talk with college officials concerning academic and student life programs.

Susan Mishler, director of Student Programs, who arranged Orientation plans for the college, said that for the first time new students at Ohio Dominican will form groups of 10 to 20 for individual sessions to help them get acquainted, plan individualized academic programs of study, expore personal strengths, values and life goals and communicate and identify with others in the ODC campus community.

Each of the smaller groups will have its own trained undergraduate orientation leader, a faculty advisor and a student services staff consultant. Students will be given vocational and personal testing in their groups.

During the week there will be special meetings for resident, commuting transfer, international and married students.

Friday at 1 p.m., all new students will register after an informal session of registration procedures.

Saturday mini-workshops on topics of current and personal interest, such as today's woman, Christ in the modern world, financial planning and the college environment will be spotlighted.

Social activities round out the week's orientation with a coffeehouse, movie, one-act plays by the ODC Theatre Department, a slide-talk presented by campus' Dominican Sisters in which they will trace the histories of the namesakes of campus buildings, a special interest activities fair and a trip to the Ohio State Fair among plans. An all-campus picnic, with games and a dance on Labor Day will climax the week's activities.

Non-Credit Seminars Scheduled At OSU

Three courses scheduled Saturday morning only will be offered Oct. 20 by Ohio State University's division of continuing education.

The non-credit seminars are: "Psychics and Scientists," "Human Sexuality," and "Future Shock."

"Future Shock," which includes a film based on the best-selling book, is scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The other two courses run from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

"Psychics and Scientists" will deal with some of the research conducted on psychic phenomena in the United States, Russia, England, and several other countries. Another course on extrasensory perception is being offered Tuesday evenings through autumn quarter.

"Human Sexuality" will focus on: sex in the American culture, gender and sex roles, and controversial issues.

The fee for each of the Saturday classes is $3.50. For registration, contact the division of continuing education at 422-2947. The office is located in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, 2400 Olentangy River Rd.

Seventh Step Gets Additional Funding

The Columbus Foundation has authorized a grant of $2,342 to the Central Ohio Seventh Step Foundation for the purpose of strengthening its staff and developing programs to serve female prisoners and juveniles.

Central Ohio Seventh Step Foundation is a non-profit organization involved in remotivating convicts, exconvicts, parolees, probationers and juvenile deliquents.

At the present time The Foundation is servicing the Lucasville Correctional Institution, Chillicothe Correctional Institute, and Marysville Reformatory for Women, along with community programs in the 36 central-southeastern Ohio counties which they serve.

The grant will allow the foundation to expand its services to Marysville and also to their juvenile branch.

Glick's Plans New Eastern Store

Robert A. Glick, President, and William Glick, Executive Vice President, Glicks Furniture stores have announced that the nationally recognized furniture firm has broken ground for a new Showcase store at 2233 South Hamilton Rd.

The new store will constitute an investment on the part of Glicks of over 1.7 million dollars.

"The public acceptance of the new concept in a home furnishing idea center has been so outstanding it prompted the opening of our new store to better serve the east and southeast areas of Central Ohio, said Robert Glick.

Upon construction, the new Glicks Showcase will represent a 280 ft. by 220 ft. addition to the firms rapidly expanding organization. It will provide Glicks with one of the largest and most modern home furnishing stores in the Midwest.

Scheduled for opening early in February, 1974, the new Hamilton Road store will be closely patterned after Glicks Furniture Showcase on Morse Road. Glicks Morse Road store gained national recognition upon its opening late in 1972.

The architect, George Acock, of Acock White and Associates, Columbus, says the new Glicks outlet will add 61,600 sq. ft. in which to arranage nearly 200 three-walled, individually-decorated rooms to enable customers to better relate specific home furnishing ideas to their own homes. Glicks has long been a leader in the home furnishings industry in employing this principle of management.

Glicks estimates that when the new Furniture Showcase store facilities are completed, they will increase the firm's sales volume by about 28 percent. The new store will employ a staff of approximately 40.

Glicks emphasizes that, "At the Hamilton Road store, as at all Glicks for that matter, our customers will find that good taste in home furnishings need not be expensive."

Glicks now employes 265 people. In addition to the new Hamilton Road location, and the Morse Road Furniture Showcase, Glicks has stores in Columbus at the Town and Country, Northern Lights and Great Western Shopping Centers, Glicks Warehouse Outlet and stores in Chillicothe and Newark.

Buckeye Federal Unveils New Office

Columbus-Ralph C. Kunze, president of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, has announced the opening of a new Buckeye Federal branch office at 3180 E. Broad St. in the Bexley-Eastmoor area.

Designed by Brubaker and Brandt, Architects, the building and graphics were designed to be residential in character as well as compliment the "street-scape" of the surrounding area. By locating the parking on the northside of the building, cars are shielded from the beauty of the surrounding area.

From the parking area, pedestrians are led into the building through an attractive brick foyer connecting the exterior plaza and lobby area. Also, by use of earth mounds and extensive landscaping, large expanses of grass are able to be used to create an open gracious area for the lobby and community meeting room.

The new Buckeye Federal branch office, also offers night depository, safe deposit boxes, drive-in window, free customer parking and evening group meeting facilities (by advance reservations).

The whole building was designed for customer satisfaction and convenience and also offers computerized transactions that are fast and accurate.

One of the feature attractions of the new Bexley-Eastmoor office is the introduction of "PAT" to Buckeye Federal customers. "PAT" is a new serivce for Buckeye Federal customers known as the Pass-Card Automatic Teller. "PAT" happens to be the nickname for this new automatic teller.

Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan is the first savings and loan association in Columbus utilizing the "on-line" automatic teller service. "It is connected directly from the Bexley-Eastmoor branch to the sophisticated Buckeye Computer Center in the main office downtown," reported Kunze.

This new automatic teller service will be offered to Eastside customers of the new Buckeye Federal office seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. for the withdrawal of funds from the Pass-Card savings accounts.

"Our customers are being invited to come in a acquaint themselves with this new service that offers still another dimension to customer convenience offered by Buckeye Federal," according to Kunze.

The opening celebration is scheduled to begin Monday, Aug. 27 with special gifts and awards for savers as well as a chance to win a vacation for two to Mexico plus $700 cash spending money.

Buckeye Federal has devised a unique method of determining the winners of the prizes to be given away during the celebration.

A demonstration automatic teller will be placed in the lobby. Visitors are then welcomed to activate the machine. Participants will receive in the money clip, in place of cash, one or more coupons indicating their luck.

In addition, they become familiar with the use of the automatic teller.

"Additional Buckeye Federal branches will soon be offering Pass-Card Automatic Teller Service to many other areas of Columbus," concluded Kunze.

MD Carnival

BY ELSIE V. WEAVER

East Columbus-There is no end to the energy and ingenuity of young kids and the Howard Morrises' children are certainly no exceptions.

The Muscular Distrophy two-day carnivals they held in their backyard at 1784 Brinwood Court the last two summers were so successful it overflowed with patrons and participants so this year they have moved to the parking lot of the York Plaza Cinema, 5524 E. Livingston Ave. The one-day affair will be held on Sunday, Aug. 26.

The kids have built a concession stand (well, Dad Morris did help a little), they have made prizes, devised costumes and makeup (Mother Morris helped out here).

Friends and neighbors will join Morris family clowns and help out directing some of the activities such as a toy auction, fortune telling, bake sale, darts game, basketball throw, fish pond.

A riding lawnmower will be the "engine" and train cars will be go-carts and wagons for a train ride sure to thrill young kids.

There will be a fire engine for the kids to swarm over and a live band to swing to.

Ed Phillips, a neighbor, will be the balloon man.

Businesses and friends have donated movie passes and dinners for which there will be a drawing.

Kids will conduct a spook tent, puppet show and a pet tent.

"The whole idea of a carnival for the benefit of the Muscular Distrophy drive came about as we explained to the children," Mrs. Morris says "how it affects so many children." "It really 'got home' to them that some kids can't run and play hard like they can." They are learning young that it is fun to help others.

THE BOND ISSUE

While the Board of Education and school system staff can be credited with much of the progress made in 1972-73, it was the people of Columbus who breathed new life into the schools.

Even many strong school supporters were only dimly hopeful of success when the Board decided to take its case for new and better schools to the voters. It was to be the third attempt at passing a bond issue in four years.

The amount had grown to nearly $90 million, but so had the school system's needs. Overcrowding had forced 27 of the 42 junior and senior high schools to emergency scheduling. At the elementary level, over 70 classes of children were being transported from their own schools to those that could make room for them.

With student interest in vocational education soaring, there was insufficient room for expansion of the vocational program. Facilities for teaching handicapped children were sorely inadequate. Most schools had sub-standard libraries, or no libraries at all. And a few schools had simply outlived their educational usefulness.

THE MONTHS LEADING up to the election were hectic, filled with campaign activities. An ambitious citizens' committee spearheaded the drive for support of the bond issue. Board members, school personnel, PTAs and scores of civic groups and community organizations joined together for the same goal.

The hard work paid off Nov. 8—the bond issue was passed by a better than 18,000-vote margin. Planning was started immediately on 34 top priority projects, and planning for more than 30 others began five months later. In line with a campaign promise, school staff members, students parents and other citizens were were included in construction planning. (To be continued.)

Bexley Schools To Open Sept. 6

Bexley - Bexley schools will open their doors for 2600 students on Thursday, Sept. 6. This opening date is a day later than is customary in the district. The enrollment figure has remained fairly static for years.

Teachers will hold a two-day workshop on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 4 and 5. Outside consultants will be presenting part of the program.

Students will be paying 50 cents for lunch, up from 40 cents last year, and teachers will pay 65 cents instead of 50 cents as in the past. The Board of Education voted the increase in student lunches in July, when they voted to join the federal school lunch program, in a move to help get the school cafeteria out of the red. The teachers' lunches had to be moved up 15 cents over the students' to satisfy federal requirements.

Dr. John Blough, superintendent, stated that no major work on any buildings was done this summer because of the austerity program the district has been on for the past year. However, the Cassingham playground was completely renovated.

The playground was rebuilt "from scratch" and a new surface applied in assorted colors. It is not the traditional blacktop coating, Dr. Blough says, but color-coded for different play areas. The running track is in green, for instance.

The PTA contributed $1000 to the project, and the Bexley Recreation and Parks Dept. helped with the planning and gave $2000 since it uses the playground in its program.

ADULT EXPO ED is gearing up for the most expansive extravaganza in adult education ever displayed in Central Ohio. They key dates are Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6-7 at the Eastland Shopping Center Mall, Hamilton Rd., from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. These will be more than 50 exhibits with information on evening degree, vocational training, special interest programs and refresher courses. Business and industry - colleges and universities - vocational and technical schools - private and public schools - churches and community service agencies - they'll all be represented. Going over the plans for the Adult Expo Ed are Chairman of the Continuing Education Division at Columbus Technical Institute Dr. Carol A. Fought and Eastland Mall Promotion Director Paul Killingsworth.

Eastland Mall Host To Adult Expo Ed

'ADULT Education is Central to Ohio" is the theme Columbus Technical Institute and the Central Ohio Adult Education Association will implement when Adult Expo Ed showcases at Eastland Mall on September 6 and 7.

This exhibit of educational opportunities for adults throughout Central Ohio illustrates that September is not only back to school month for youngsters, but for adults as well.

CENTRAL Ohio hosts many and varied educational opportunities for adults, yet each year citizens claim they never hear of these opportunities and thus do not enroll.

It was the original problem that resulted in the creation of an Adult College Night four years.

However, Dr. Carol A. Fought, originator of the program, felt this presented too narrow a scope of continuing education programs--feeling that not all adults wanted nor needed college degrees. In 1972, the idea was expanded into Adult Expo Ed, hosted on the Columbus Tech Campus.

IN AN effort to make the information and displays more accessible to adults, Columbus Tech and the Central Ohio Adult Education Association, through the cooperation of the Eastland Mall Manager, Paul Killingsworth, are moving Adult Expo Ed to the Eastland Shopping Mall.

The exposition of adult continuing education opportunities will open September 6 at 10 a.m., and continue through Friday until 9:30 p.m.

Over 50 representatives from business and industry, colleges and universities (public and private), vocational and technical schools, churches, community service agencies and high school adult programs will participate.

Information on career opportunities, degree and training program requirements, admission standards, evening degree programs, personal enrichment courses, refresher courses, and financial aids for continuing education will be available.

ADULTS interested in upgrading job skills, training for new positions, renewing employment, training for volunteer activities, or seeking knowledge for personal interest are invited to view the exhibits and talk with program representatives.

Planning committee for Adult Expo Ed include Edward Riley, Eastland Vocational Center; Tom Snider, Columbus Public Schools; and Carol Fought, Columbus Technical Institute.

Another area graduate, Miss Lynn Fields, Ferguson Dr., Groveport a 1973 Eastland graduate via Groveport-Madison, (Photo by Thom Doenan.) was on the scene to to congratulate Miss Acquista and the Queen Terri Bigley. The lucky fellow in the middle is Mitch Greening, who MC'd the pageant and is well known in the East Columbus area for his theatrical activities. Miss Acquista has also entered the Miss Columbus USA pageant.

Columbus Schools Meet State Standards

By Lisa Ann Doenan
Special Staff Writer

The results of the State Evaluation of Secondary Schools was presented by Ted Mayer, executive director of secondary education, to the Columbus Public School Committee-Of-The-Whole meeting Aug. 14. The results according to Mayer were very high in all areas except in library learning centers.

The reports were compiled by a team of 32 educators in a review that is required by state law every four years.

Included in the review conducted May 2-11, were the Columbus school system's 12 senior high schools, two junior-senior highs, 26 junior highs and the Adult Day and Evening high schools.

The review is to determine whether the schools comply with the state minimum standards in eight general areas that range from administration and physical facilities to the staffing and curriculum.

MAYER SAID that the team that had reviewed the Columbus Schools had reported a "high degree of compliance" and had found that the schools met or exceed the standards that had been set.

Such words as, "capable, experienced, effective, imaginative, vigorous and dedicated" were used to describe the administration of the 12 schools by the review team.

According to Mayer the reviewers commented on the high morals of the teaching staff, and a commitment by the teachers to provide a good learning climate.

One reviewer felt that the highly diversified curriculum increased the student interest, improved the teacher performance, that it was geared to the of the students and provide opportunity to teachers to instruct in areas of special interest.

THE REVIEWERS did find that the junior high curriculum was still on a more traditional level of subjects but that the new industrial arts and pre-algebra courses are a step to the curricular revision.

The specialists had high commendation for the language arts program which was said to be in front ranks of the large urban programs and could possibly be used as a model.

The advances in the social studies through diversification of the program also drew favorable comment along with comment on the mathematics instruction. More individual instruction and practical application were stressed as being needed in the mathematics.

The resources in the arts instruction including the exemplary Arts Impact program were commended, but scheduling deviations due to crowded conditions were mentioned as needing attention.

THE SPECIALIST IN physical education noted with the favor on lifetime spots and outdoor recreation, but noted that the program was too much oriented toward and often dominated by interscholastic athletics in some instances.

The potential of the reading improvement program at the junior high level with its reading teacher-leader in each school and the support of the administration was noted by a specialist observer to say it could well serve as a model for all Ohio Schools.

At the senior high school level the eight standards contained 136 sections which are divided into subsections. For the 14 high schools and the junior-senior high schools a total of 68 deficiencies were reported by the review board. This is about 3.5 per cent of the total 1,904 items, this means that 96.5 per cent of the areas reviewed were found to be satisfactory.

At the junior high school level the eight standards contain 109 sections which also have subsections. For the 26 junior high schools a total of 122 deficiencies were reported which is 3.9 per cent potential of 2,834 items which means that 96.1 per cent of the sections were found satisfactory.

THE BOARD ALSO heard an in depth evaluation on vocational education in the Columbus school system.

The program is known as Project PRIDE (Program Review, Improvement, Developement and Expansion of Vocational Education); the evaluation was conducted during the past school year in cooperation with the State Department of Education.

Ricketts said, that major recommendations of PRIDE call for establish ment of advisory committees for all vocational programs, increased time for selected programs, a continuous effort to develop vocational curriculum and additional evaluation.

Overall, Ricketts said, PRIDE found vocational education in the Columbus schools to be healthy and congratulated the school system on its vocational master plan.

Children Need Clothing

For the fourth consecutive year The Spectator Newspapers are asking readers to help send a child to school by contributing clothing that is clean and in good repair.

Although the Welfare Department is interested primarily in clothing children for school, baby clothes and shopping bags for carrying items home are also needed.

Shoes are also badly needed, according to Mrs. Julia Stewart of the department.

The boxes will be in place for two weeks only, at Penney's in the Eastland Shopping Mall.

Whitehall Schools Set Dress Code

Whitehall - Students new to Whitehall-Yearling High School and ninth grade grade students are invited to attend orientation set for August 31. Orientation, 9:00 a.m. until 12 noon, includes: tour of the building, general group meeting, meeting each teacher and schedule briefing.

Guideline for Grooming:

According to school officials, Whitehall-Yearling High School is interested in having each of their students at school physically clean, decently attired and well groomed--this applying to hair, make-up and clothing.

There will be no see-through clothing allowed for either sex, or clothing that is designed to expose the trunk of the body. This includes tank shirts and halters that expose the midriff.

There will be no barefootedness allowed.

There will be no garments allowed that contain obscene words, phrases or numerals.

The policy of the school relative to repeated violaters of dressing and grooming guidelines will be, according to officials.

1. Counseling of the student to determine why he is in violation of the dress and grooming guidelines:

2. Parental conferences to gather further information about the student's response and-or suggestions of approaches to correct habitual response, or

3. Return of the student to his home to correct the inappropriateness in dress or grooming. He or she may return to school after the correction has been made."

Madison Local Ready; Reassigns 6th, 7th

Groveport-Approximately 6800 pupils are expected to report for classes when school re-opens in the Madison Local School District on Sept. 4.

Kindergarten will begin on Thursday, Sept. 6.

All elementary pupils new to the District since the close of school in June are asked to register as soon as possible after August 15.

Pupils registering for grades 6 through 12 may begin to do so August 20.

Grades 6 and 8 may register at the Groveport-Madison Middle School Office, 751 E. Main St., Groveport, any week day between 9:30 a.m. and 3:00 p.m.

Grades 7 and 9, 10, 11, and 12 may register during the same hours at the Groveport-Madison High School Office, 4475 S. Hamilton Rd.

Middle School and Senior High School schedules will be mailed out by the end of August. Pupils not receiving a schedule by Sept. 1 should call their respective buildings.

Pupils having unpaid bills from the 1972-73 school year may pick up their schedules at the same time the bills are paid in full.

New students must present evidence of immunization against diptheria, whooping cough, tetanus toxoid, polio (first of the series), rubeola (up to age 6), and rubella (up to age 10) at the time of registration.

School bus routes and pick-up points are similar to last year. On opening day, pupils riding buses should be at the nearest pick-up point about 45 minutes prior to the starting time for their building.

Asbury Elementary changes this year from kindergarten through sixth, to kindergarten through five.

Brice Elementary School remains kindergarten through fourth. Fifth grade pupils are assigned to Asbury Elementary.

Dunloe Elementary School changes from kindergarten through five to kindergarten through four. Dunloe fifth grade pupils will be assigned as follows: Pupils living north of Chatterton Rd., Noe-Bixby, Syracuse Ct. and Tuxworth Dr. go to Edwards Elementary School. All other fifth grades are assigned to Sedalia Elementary.

Edwards Elementary will be changed from kindergarten through six to kindergarten through five.

Also changed from kindergarten through six to kindergarten through five are the following elementaries: Glendening, Groveport, Madison and Sedalia.

All sixth grade students will go to the Middle School.

All seventh grade students will be assigned to the High School.

What do all those numbers mean?
Every bank in town has announced higher interest rates paid on savings accounts. Ohio State Bank is no exception.
But higher interest rates aren't always the answer to your savings needs. Sometimes just having your money available when you need it outweighs the advantages of a higher interest return.
If you are concerned as to what is best for your particular needs—ask us. We will help you add up all the factors and determine if a regular savings, a "Cookie Jar" account, C. D.'s, Special Savings Certificates or a combination is just right for you.
That's why Ohio State Bank is called "the bank of personal service", we do the little things that make the big difference in banking.

Ohio Dominican Evening Classes Expanded

There are new subjects to attract adults to Ohio Dominican College, 1216 Sunbury Rd., this fall, Richard R. Teaff, director of Continuing Education who heads up evening credit and non-credit offerings at the fully-accredited liberal arts college, outlined recently.

New to the curriculum this fall are the Evening Bachelor of Arts Degree program in Business Administration, the Associate in Arts Degree (2 year) program in Early Childhood Education, the Bachelor of Arts with a Construction in General Studies and a special training program for workers with alcoholics.

Also added will be a seminar for nurses in supervisory positions, a non-credit course in emergency medical care and a course in creative writing.

These programs, together with those begun last year: in training for teachers of the Educable Mentally Retarded; library science workshops and non-credit programs and seminars such as the liturgy, first-line supervisory seminars for business and industry personnel, as well as the non-credit courses in psychology, practical law, mathematics techniques and "Paperbacks and Coffee," among others, provide the student with many options for continuing education.

Teaff explained: "Our dedication is to make the curriculum as flexible as possible to meet the needs of students, no matter what their personal goals or their schedules, yet retain Ohio Dominican's prime objective to provide the best possible liberal arts education to its students.

"Evening courses are the solution for those who must maintain regular daytime work schedules," Teaff continued. "Frequently business and industries reimburse their eimployees for tuition charges," he pointed out and added that Ohio Dominican is approved for the education of veterans and thus the GI benefits are applicable. The College Level Examination Program often makes it possible for a student to receive college credit for previous experience.

Ohio Dominican is on a semester system, so that the standard four semester hour credit is eqiuvalent to six quarter hours, according to Teaff.

The undergraduate Evening Business AAdministration Degree program enables persons in business and ind industry to earn the Bachelors Degree through part-time evening study as well as those who seek entrance into a business career," Teaff explained.

"We adopted the program in General Studies to permit more flexibility. Thus a student may choose to construct his program from courses in 27 areas of study. The concentration is particularly attractive to the student who desires a degree and to tailor his opportunity for graduates of Associate Degree and Paraprofessional programs and of Nursing Schools to receive credit for their previous work a they continue toward a Bachelor's Degree.

The Associate Degree in Childhood Education emphasizes training for those interested in working in kindergartens, nursery schools and day care centers.

"We are proud of our training program for workers with alcoholics, too. It is the only one of its kind in Ohio-and possibly in the United States."

Under Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965, the $30,000 program is directed toward improving treatment practices, providing better coordination of agency effort and increasing the knowledge of personnel working or intending to work with the alcoholic.

Besides those working directly with such agencies, the program also is open to those dealing with concomitant problems of alcoholism, such as hospital police and welfare agencies pesonnel. It will consist of lectures, seminars, guest speakers and field experience.

Participants will take either the first semester program, beginning in September, or both the first and second semester programs. Thirty training participants will enroll in semester one courses. Twenty of these students will continue through semester two, while 30 new students will enroll in the beginning program. The first semester work carries four semester hours of college credit; the second, six semester hours

"Last fall, we determined a need for evening courses for teahcers of the Educable Mentally Retarded (EMR) to qualify them for State Certification. The classes will be continued.

Teaff continued: "At our 1972 Business and Industry Forum, participating leaders expressed the need for various seminars, including some for first-line supervisory personnel. The seminars last year were highly-successful and will be continued.

A similar program for Nurses in Supervisory Capacities is scheduled for the first time by Ohio Dominican.

Teaff concluded: "Our Continuing Education Divison last year adopted the motto: 'Lifelong Learning.' We are firmly committed to it. In planning our credit and non-credit curriculum for 1973-1974, we have built in that kind of thinking. Whatever your age, position, previous education or interest, there is something for you at Ohio Dominican this fall."

For information on any and all of these courses, please phone Teaff at Ohio Dominican College, 253-2741, Ext. 35.

BEE Buzzes Around Fair

The Better Environment for Everyone (BEE) Committee has arranged with the City of Columbus and the Neighborhood Youth Corps to have the neighborhoods surrounding the Ohio State Fair Grounds cleaned daily during the duration of the 1973 Fair.

In past years, neighborhoods surrounding the Fair Grounds have been inundated with litter dropped by Fair visitors; residents were not able to keep up with the trash problem.

Now, at the urging of the BEE Committee, 33 Neighborhood Youth Corps workers will clean up the Fair Ground neighborhoods every day between 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

The 33 Youth Corps workers were selected for the State Fair Clean-up by their supervisors for their outstanding work this summer. The Neighborhood Youth Corps program was extended for 10 days to allow the teenagers to work at the fair, thus giving the 33 workers 10 extra paid work days and fair privileges.

The Ohio Enviornmental Protection Agency (EPA) will provide the teenage workers with passes to the Fair, tee-shirts and a free dinner. The Ohio EPA is also sponsoring volunteer workers who will clean up inside the Fair Grounds for the run of the Fair in exchange for passes, tee-shirts and free dinners.

The BEE Committee has also arranged to place 30 litter barrels at one-block intervals surrounding the Fair Grounds. Fair visitors are urged to throw their litter into the litter barrels when going to or from the Fair Grounds.

The Columbus Division of Sanitation will service the litter barrels daily and will remove all litter picked up by the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Members of the BEE State Fair Clean-up Committee include Gary Sterling, chairman, United States Brewers Association and Pitch-In; James Paxton, co-chairman, City of Columbus; Joseph Wolfe, Columbus Chamber of Commerce; Barbarta S. Grano, Columbus Department of Development; Bert Korte, Neighborhood Youth Corps; Dick Harris, Columbus Division of Sanitation; Jack Speakman, Columbus Department of Recreation and Parks; and Larry Menchhofer, Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

Your Columbus Police Department

By Officer Jim Benham
Community Service Officer

To start with, I feel that I should tell you what the job of the Police Department is:

Police work today is still basically a law enforcement calling. But it is much different than the police department was of 50 years ago. The public idea of the police department's duties have greatly expanded, embracing many fields of human activity.

This in itself is not strange since there have been social changes that have affected all parts of our life in America. The police department's have been included in these changes and have in many ways helped bring some of them about to give you, the citizens, a better community in which to live without fear, unrest or hate.

Fifty years ago the chief job of the police department was to catch the thief. If that were done the department had done its job.

Many of our well-meaning citizens still think that the job of the police department is to be exclusively "Thief Takers". Yet these same people with modern communication (phone) in almost every home will call the police or fire department for any kind of an emergency.

Yes, the police department job is much different today than it was 50 years ago. Today's police department operation has to place emphasis on what we would call miscellaneous public service.

We of the police profession feel that for you, the citizens, to have a better understanding of what police work is today and what the duties of the police officers usually are find that the duties are classed into five categorise:

1. Preservation of the public peace; 2. Protection of life and property; 3. Prevention of crime; 4. Enforcement of the laws; and 5. Arresting of offenders and recovery of property .

In order for the police department to give you citizens all of the mentioned services, we must be forever pushing ahead in modern scientific crime detection devices. We have a good training program going on day after day.

Above all we must be very selective in our choice of new personnel. We feel that by being selective we will get only top notch men, who after intensive training and experience gained on the various job's within the police department, will make good policemen who will be fitted to give you the citizens the type of quality police service you deserve.

Paul Walker More Than Just A Man

PAUL WALKER was more than a man among men. He walked taller than all and in his adversity when he was on the short end of the odds in his fight against cancer his determination pulled him over the rough spots.

The Executive Director for the Franklin County Chapter of the American Cancer Society was among the foremost in the Public Relations field who went beyond the call of duty.

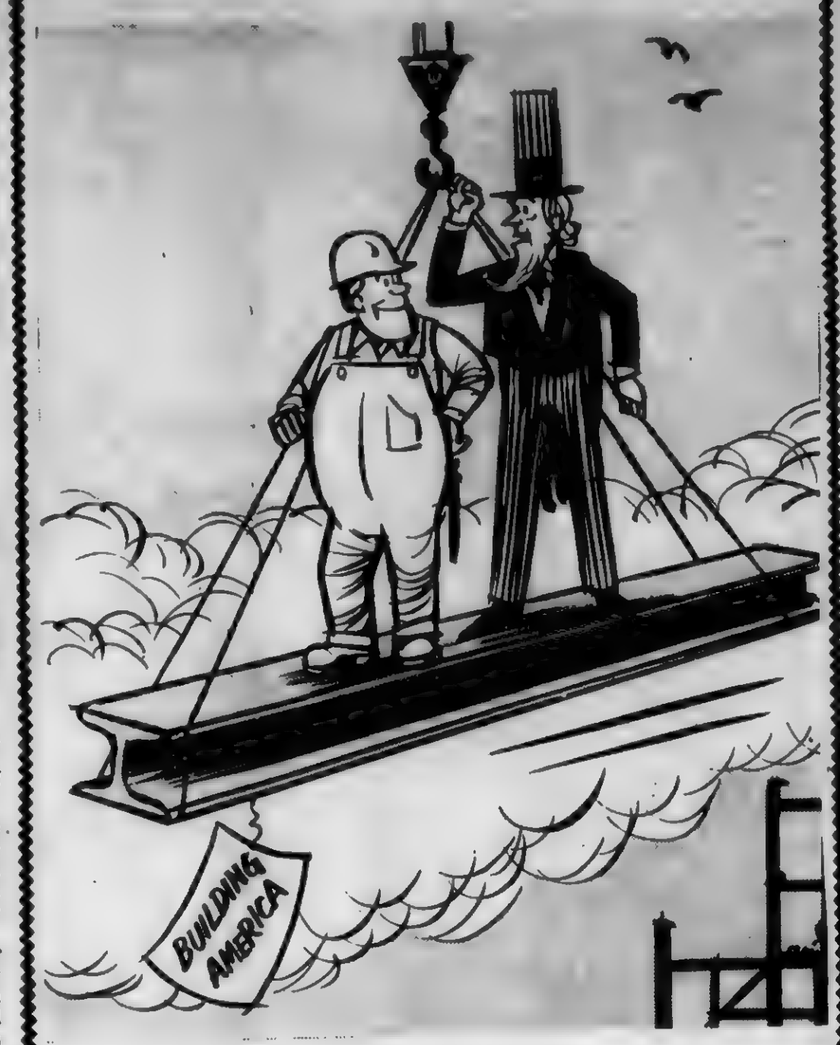
HIS DEDICATION to the search for the cancer cure was a personal crusade and the efforts he made toward this end will certainly be remembered when that search is fulfilled.

We remember Paul as a football official, a counselor of young men who would have been inside a wall fence with a number were it not for his faith, and more as just one of the many people who walk the face of this earth hoping to leave it a little better than they found it.

His love for his wife, children, family members were all that exceeded his quest for the dream that he never looked at as impossible--that of conquering cancer.

WE SHALL MISS his kind--they don't come our way often.

WE'D NEVER MAKE IT WITHOUT YOU!



Labor Day 1973

The nation pays its respects to American labor by setting aside the first Monday in September as a special holiday.

We honor those craftsmen who have taken the brain-children of scientist, engineer and iventor and turned them into products of mass production.

This melding of talent has resulted in a better life for all Americans.

One example of this effort was the work of Messrs. Shockley, Brattain, and Bardeen of Bell Laboratories. Their joint effort was the discovery of the transistor twenty-five years ago. This one invention opened the way for a new micro-electronic technology which helped ,ake possible the trip to the moon and the tremendous number of electronic developments for the easing of man's attaining of a livelihood.

With the introduction of the many technical tools for the advancement of industry and management, American education has teakenon a new dimension of down-to-earth learning which is now being called career education. Working hand-in-hand with future employers helps shorten the lead time between classroom and career.

Girl Scouts-- Can You Dig It?

By Lois Neff

During the month of September the Girl Scouts are having an intensive recruitment campaign for adult leaders and helpers. Where do you fit in?

There are girls in this [redacted]unity who need your help. Girl Scouting is the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world. It is a partnership of girls and adults. It helps girls grow into informed women, able to achieve their potential in a world where the emerging role of women is so important.

But where do you fit in?

Have you ever been in scouts? Do you remember the fun? Camping, trips, meetings, flag ceremonies; badges advancement; Brownies to Juniors, then Cadettes and finally a Senior Scout at last.

By that time at least eight years of your life had been deeply involved in an unusually close relationship with other girls. You learned from your leader the democratic way of doing things, from voting in a "Brownie ring," to a visit to a city council meeting.

You also learned to take a lot of static from your friends and peers who had never been exposed to scouts. "Meetings once a week? A waste of time. Camping during the summer? I'd rather go swimming and hang around with the gang. Girl Scouts??? Sissies!"

Sissies?

What's sissy about hiking 10 miles? What's sissy about living at camp for a week, with only a self-dug latrine instead of a comfortable bathroom? What's sissy about doing service projects, such as helping the mentally retarded or physically handicapped? What is sissy about having to wear a uniform with badges that you've worked hard for?

What we need are more Girl Scouts. The problem is that the girls are here, but the leaders aren't.

You may think you have to be "special" or "talented" to lead girls. All you need is an interest and a desire to help. You don't even have to be a parent of girls to help.

In Cincinnati there is a troop of Girl Scouts with a man leader and they have recently finished studying rocketry. Thousands of men and women from young singles to senior citizens, from every ethnic, economic and educational background are involved in Girl Scouting.

Maybe you are a mother who used to be a Scout, and would like some time away from your pre-schoolers. Maybe your children are "grown and flown" and the house is too quiet. Try Girl Scouts.

You don't have to be a leader either. You can always volunteer your time and skills to an established leader. Or maybe you have the ability for book work or such. Perhaps the Council office or service unit could use you.

Being involved with Girl Scouts means being part of a going organization that has always been ahead of its time, but yet has consistently maintained its basic values.

Consider this: today, Girl Scouting serves only one out of every seven girls ages 6-17 in the U.S.A. The girls are waiting and need you. Watch for the "Wanted--Girl Scout Leaders" advertisements, and then respond to your Council office. Help a girl to "be prepared" for life. You'll be better for it.

Tidal Wave To Appear

The United States Navy Tidal Wave Rock Group will send waves of music through the air at the State House lawn this Wednesday, Sept. 5, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The Tidal Wave Rock Group's Columbus appearance is part of the free "Music in the Air" concert series sponsored by the Greater Columbus Arts Council with funds provided in part by the City of Columbus and the Music Performance Trust Funds.

All Kinds Of People Getting It Together

Photos by: Kathy Devaney, Tom Holzer, and Elsie Weaver

PEOPLE-all shapes, sizes, colors, and ages get it together to help form the 120th Annual Ohio State Fair. The multitude of expressions on the faces of the young and old vary as greatly as the people themselves. These expressions ranging from a little girl's first look at a clown to a father giving his daughter her first ride down the Giant Slide to a lady's curious glance at the photographer all come into focus at the fair. For others eating and relaxing are more of their type of fun at the fair. This year's fair is a combination of Arts, Crafts, Midway Attractions, and Grandstand Entertainment that have all been put together for the people to come together and enjoy. For those who have not been to see this extravaganza, get [illegible] and LET YOURSELF GO!!!!

Kappa Alumnae To Welcome New Members

Columbus- Alumnae members of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority are planning an informal get-together to welcome members new to the Columbus area. The event is planned to give new alumnae an opportunity to become acquainted before regular monthly meetings begin.

The Newcomers' Party will be Thursday, Sept. 6 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Rannells Bauman, 1341 Clubview Blvd. North. Members of the alumnae board will serve as hostesses and provide transportation for the new arrivals.

PTA Plans Get-Aquainted Sessions

Bexley- Kindergarten coffees will be held for parents in the Multipurpose room on Thurs, Sept. 6 while kindergarten children attend class. (Classes for kindergarten children will be shorter than usual this day.)

On Friday, Sept. 7 at 10 a.m. a Newcomers' Coffee for parents whose children are new to the Cassingham School or who are interested in activities available for their children. Speakers will be in the library to explain their organizations.

The Room Mothers' Coffee will be held in the Cafeteria on Sept. 12 at 1 p.m. to discuss the responsibilities of room mothers and to get to know the teachers they will be working with.

The Cassingham PTA membership drive will be starting soon. Dues are $2.00 per family for any child attending Elementary and-or Junior High School.

Speaking of Beauty

WE SHARE OUR DREAMS WITH YOU

Know what a hairstylist dreams about?...Beautiful Women! All night long they parade through our dreams. When we have nightmares we see them with bad haircuts and awful hairdos. At our best most halcyon dreams they have shimmering silken hair styled with the perfection of angels. Out of these dreams come inspired new hairstyles. Want us to dream one up for you?

That's not so far-fetched you know? Hairstyling is an art and all artists depend on moments of inspiration. We might have to ask you to come back two or three times before we get you exactly perfect.

For an appointment or other information come in, write, or telephone.

Whitehall Recreation Roundup

PLAYGROUND WRAP-UP

Many events highlighted the summer playground season that just came to a very successful close. Many new activities were held this year. A new track and field program was initiated and turned out a huge success. A new basketball league was formed with the Bucks winning the league with a record of 10-0.

A basketball clinic was held featuring Nick Connors and Eddie Ratliff.

A new tennis program was started with free lessons offered 6 days a week at Whitehall Yearling High School with Lucy Edwards teaching.

A new boxing program was initiated.

Adult Square Dance Classes came to a close. Agler Davidson became the City Champions of the Men's Softball Program.

This summer was the first summer that Whitehall has sent two contestants to the State Hula Hoop Finals.

The Senior Citizen's Trip was a great success. Checker, chess, tetherball, horseshoe, softball, hula-hoop, and frisbee tournaments were held.

Senior Citizens Here's Action

East Columbus--Senior citizens will play Pokeno, at the 1100 East Broad Recreation Center on Thursday, August 30th at 1:30 p.m.

A progressive Whist Party will be Wednesday, September 5 at 1:00 P.M. with Flavilla Price as chairman.

Registration is still open at the 1100 Center for the senior citizens' trip to the Johnston Indian agency and farm. Cost of $5.50, includes transportation and admissions as well as a ride on the mule-drawn canal boat on the restored segment of the Miami-Erie Canal.

Bowlers from 1100 meet on Monday afternoons at New Olympics Lanes on East Broad Street. High bowlers for July were Cleason Curtis, Edna Kirk, Lucille Seward, Ada Elder and Katie Banks.

Anyone 60 years of age or older is eligible for membership in the senior citizen centers operated by the Columbus Recreation and Parks Department. Visit the 1100 East Broad Center anytime or call 252-2832 for information.

Jerry Silverman . . . In Person

A charming daytime dress in mocha double knit, with easy skirt and rising bodice of striped inserts of russet, black and mocha. The all important short sleeved wool crepe dress in blush peach with coral insert belt.

Perfect for today's style is this red matte jersey dinner dress with tucked waist releasing into a full soft skirt.

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

For Holiday parties, gold and turquoise flowers splashed on black velvetees...flared trumpet skirt and white satin collar and cuffs. All fashion designed by Shannon Rodgers.

ALL THE BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE, including Katie Gilligan, wife of our Governor, will be heading for Montaldo's next Wednesday and Thursday, September 5th and 6th, to welcome one of the great names in American fashion...Jerry Silverman, making his first appearance in Montaldo's beautiful new store, to present and commentate his new fall collection, designed by his good friend and partner, Shannon Rodgers.

These two lighthearted, charming, talented men, who have made Jerry Silverman a magic name in fashion, are people watchers of the first rank...which accounts for their tremendous success. "The most exciting, rewarding way to be inspired is to follow the customer through the pattern of her life...anticipate the clothes she needs and have them ready in the stores when she needs them," remarks Jerry Silverman. We design for the woman who loves clothes but is not a fashion victim...the woman that has a high taste level but not necessarily a large clothes budget...one that appreciates excellent workmanship, impeccable construction, and superb fit. She expects to feel happy, secure and comfortable in her clothes."

MONTALDO'S WILL be featuring the entire Silverman collection, anticipating the needs of all the pampered ladies, for daytime through evening. Clothes for travel, for little dinners, the theatre...the all-important wool dress, the newly important short cocktail dress...and evening formality. In fact, this is the largest collection of cocktail and evening clothes ever done at Jerry Silverman...bare, dressy, with thoughts of the Holidays and Southern resorts ahead.

There are many important coat costumes, with both the coat and the dress of independent interest. "No woman nowadays wants a costume that doesn't work several different ways. We believe in the little black matte or crepe jersey dress as a continuing way of life, year round and round the clock," explains Jerry, "but there is enormous interest in color too, from brights to pale complexion colors...with a coat keyed to them all."

Even though I attended Jerry Silverman's fall showing for the fashion press in New York...I am looking forward to seeing Jerry and his collection again at Montaldo's...the fashions deserve a second loving look...so irresistible!

Aaaahhhhh....argyles! They're back and looking smashing with rolled up jeans, flashing colors under slacks, alone with skirts. Come see our collection priced 1.65-2.25 in bold bright colors.. Hosiery D250 Downtown on 1, Northland, Eastland, Westland, Kingsdale.

Tri Delta Feted

Columbus- Alumnae of Delta Delta Delta Sorority new to the Columbus area will be guests of the present alumnae at a Sherry Party, Sunday, September 9, between the hours of 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William A. Guy, 5946 Rocky Rill Road, Worthington.

Those wishing to attend or place their names on the alumnae mailing list should contact Sandy Shidaker, Membership Chairman, 160 Brandywine Drive, Westerville, telephone: 891-5260.

Boys Ranch Breaks Ground For Pool

Is Your Complexion Older Than You Are?

Are you one of the many women who feel young and vital and alive, but whose complexion looks far older than it really is? No reason to despair every time you look in a mirror.

Very often skin dryness accents the little lines and wrinkles that can make a woman look older. But younger-looking women in many parts of the world have discovered the secret of a remarkable beauty blend created to help women stay looking younger longer.

Share the secret, the benefits of Oil of Olay beauty lotion. Quick-penetrating Oil of Olay, with its profusion of natural moisture, along with tropical oils and other emollients, was developed by beauty researchers. With faithful use your complexion becomes softer, suppler and more radiant. The treasured fluid even helps retain your skin's own moisture, to keep you looking your youngest.

Join the younger-looking women who use Oil of Olay twice each day. You will find Oil of Olay and its secret benefits at your drugstore. Don't let your complexion look older than you are!

COUNTRY DINNER PLAYHOUSE

Neil Simon's, "Come Blow Your Horn," currently at the Country Dinner Playhouse is one of the finest productions I have seen of this play anywhere! In fact, "Come Blow Your Horn," is the best production I have seen of any play at any dinner theatre in these parts, bar none.

The show has been receiving standing ovations. That is also a rarity among dinner theatres.

The reasons are many, and anyone of them make for a great show. First, the cast is one of the best assembled. Not only are they well cast for the part, each and everyone of them are truely a golden cast for a golden show. Each one deserves to be tagged a STAR.

First there is Henrietta Jacobson, a lady who could qualify for the Golden Age Talent Award. But, not this one. She has more spunk, spirit, and speed on stage than any of the best race horses. She is practically a master of comedy. Henrietta can wink an eye and draw a roar of laughter.

Playing the mother whose family consists of two play boy type of sons and a husband who owns his own business and believes that all work and no play makes a man wealthy. Her role as Mrs. Baker could have been lost in the shuffle. But with excellent directing by John Bowab and Henrietta Jacobson superb skills, made the part the fuse that ignited a whole case of dynamite.

Julius Adler played the hard working Jewish father. In real life he is married to Henrietta. But, in the show he gives her fits because of his two errant sons. It is bad enough for him that his oldest boy is a playboy with his own apartment and a bevy of girls that keeps him from the office. But, when the youngest son moves in with his brother and follows in his steps, it is more than dad can take.

Being a traditional old line Jewish family, they feel their sons are a disgrace to the family. In fact, Papa is in such a rage, that Mama has to move in with her sons. You can imagine the many comedy situations this presents. In the end, the oldest son marries and everything works out.

Julius Adler turns in a sterling performance as a distraught father who is upset with his sons and his business.

Bruce Adler and Arne Gundersen handle the role of the two sons in expert fashion. Arne, the oldest boy, Alan, is strong and convincing in his role. Bruce is simply hilarious. The scene where Buddy is preparing for his first fling with a very willing playmate is hilarious. For several minutes he keeps the audience in stitches with his solo routine on stage. To me, Bruce Adler showed a touch of genius in this bit. His sense of timing was by far the finest I've seen in years.

Dawn Didawick, an old friend to Columbus' audiences having appeared in a host of productions in Playhouse On The Green, turns in a fine job as a dumb blond who is willing to do just about anything to get into the movies, even to taking a trip to a ski lodge with Alan Baker and not skiing because it snowed so much.

Linda Zernecke, a petite brunet winsome girl was quite linsome in her role of Connie Dayton. She switched from one mood to another in her successful attempt to lead Alan to the altar. This girl has that rare touch that is needed in acting to be totally convincing.

"Come Blow Your Horn," is a must for you who enjoy good theatre. There is not a minute without laughter. In fact, most every minute of the shows produces a multitude of laughs. The show is well paced and moves faster than a Woody Haye's halfback.

For an evening you'll long remember, with good food and good entertainment, make reservations now for "Come Blow Your Horn," at the Country Dinner Palyhouse.

MARRIOTT INN

Four of the most talented and enjoyable musicians I have heard in mighty a moon are currently at the Marriott Inn. Billed as the Vince Mastro Quartet, with the leader being Vince Mastro. And, remember that name, because this man belongs in the big time with a huge gold star on his door.

I'll put Vince up against all of the Sinatras, Comos, Dean Martins and all of the rest of the big name male singers, and as far as I am concerned, Vince can hold his own with all of them. This guy isn't good, he is great.

Vince sings, and I do mean sings. He practically sends chills up and down your back with his intonations and powerhouse of a style. What control he possesses. Talk about a singer being a stylist, this man is one of the best.

Besides singing, Vince plays trombone, organ and piano along with three other guys who knock you over with their instrumental renditions.

Guitarist Mike Trivison is one of the finest in the business. He can make that thing talk to him. Playing a beautiful ballad, Mike makes the guitar drip with tones, it is so sweet and mellow. Yet, he has the ability to turn around and serve up some real hot licks. His chord structures and harmonics are a treat long to be remembered by this columnist.

Another member in the group is Bernie Tarrish, formerly with the Four Lads. Bernie handles the electric bass. By the way, Bernie was the one who wrote the big hit, "Down By The Riverside."

Last, but certainly not least is drummer Bobby Lopes. This fellow has a lot of class with the sticks and brushes. He doesn't pound he plays with so much technique, that he can really be classified as a percussionist.

Besides Vince, the three other members sing harmony. When this happens, you are treated to pretty, pretty four part harmonies. Some of their arrangements reminds me of the Four Freshman, the way they use to sound years ago. Be sure to ask for, "Here's That Rainy Day." Great.

The Vince Mastro Quartet do all types of music from good modern jazz, to dreamy ballads, the top 40 with all stops in between. All four play and sing as one, it has been a long time since I have seen such musical unity. You can hear and see them too, Monday through Saturday at the Marriott Inn Motel. Take my advice, this has to be on your entertainment schedule.

The food is tremendous, but if you don't care for dinner, stop in for a cocktail and listen to some of the finest music Around Town.

OHIO STATE FAIR

Well, we're right in the midst of the big Ohio State Fiar. So far, yours truely has caught Mac Davis, Helen Reedy, Dionne Warwicke and Doc Severinsen. All four gave out with tremendous shows. The crowds have been huge for every performance.

While talking with Helen the other day, she was amazed at the crowds and how receptive they were. According to Helen, the Ohio State Fair was the best, and most exciting booking she has had in her career. She was as excited as were the crowds.

Mac Davis did his usual bang up job. Sharing the bill with Helen, Mac brought the house down. Both of them received standing ovations. This is true for most of the acts that have played at the fair the past several years. The people of Ohio certainly love good entertainment, and they show it, that's for sure.

Sunday the crowds were so huge, that fair officials thought they would have to close the gates. The two shows by Warwicke and Severinsen and Company played to jam packed people, and some seem to mind the hot humid weather while viewing these two favorites. Doc had as much, if not more fun, than did the audience. After the show, he toured the grounds, and had a ball.

SONNY & CHER

Today, Wednesday, the fantastic Sonny and Cher take over the stage for the free entertainment. Take my advice, if you are planning on catching these two Television personalities, get there early.

Everybody Around Town is talking about this one. Sonny and Cher being personal friends of playbody magnate, Hugh Heffner, are flying in on his personal twin engine jet. They said they are bringing their baby and a sitter.

Thursday and Friday is for the younger generation, with The 5th Dimension on Thursday followed by th Jackson Five. Saturday finds Charlie Pride and Sunday Al Green. Monday, Labor Day, is all the troop from The Grand Ole Opry.

Belkim Productions have done a terrific job in bringing in a host of fantastic acts. As of deadline, the fair is breaking attendance records.

I feel most is do to good weather and the popular acts at the grandstand.

When I am not Skipping Around Town this week, look for me at the stage in front of the grandstand, getting some interviews for weeks to come. See you at the fair!

SKIPPING AROUND TOWN

Hopped down to Kings Island last Friday and was on the set for the taping of the Brady Bunch. The popular ABC program was at Kings Island for the entire week. Talked with Florence Henderson, and all the rest of the cast. All of them were having a ball, especially the kids on the show. An old Columbus friend, Ann B. Davis asked me to say hello to all of her friends. Watch next week's column for pictures and a complete story on the Brady Bunch at Kings Island...Sidewalk Arcade at Ramada Inn North is drawing in the crowds. They are an excellent group. More on them next week. While at the Ramada Inn East, Freedom, is dishing out some great sounds. Plan on catching either group, you won't be sorry...For something different and really good, head to the Waikiki Restaurant, and dine in true Polynesian splendor. The decor is beautiful, and so is the food...This is the last week for Slink and Surprise at Marco Polo's Lounge. Great group, Marco Polo's is always full of guys and gals. A fun place to go, that's for sure...The Apple Tree has changed its policy and is bringing in the finest modern jazz artists that money can buy. As soon as I get a list, I'll let you know what's coming in at the Apple Tree. In the meantime, call and ask, because there are some pretty powerful acts booked...For a treat, that's hard to beat, drive to the Taj Mahal, located about twenty-five minutes from Broad and High, on W. Broad St. You'll be delighted at the wonderful cusine from India and the most enjoyable and interesting entertainment offered in these parts. The authentic turkish music, is so very pretty , and the belly dancer is terrific...See you Around Town.

OSU Graduated 2,200

Ohio State University will hold commencement exercises for about 2,200 summer quarter graduates at 9:30 a.m. Friday Aug. 31, in St. John Arena.

Ohio State President Harold L. Enarson will preside, with Don M. Hilliker of Bellefontaine representing the Board of Trustees in the ceremonies.

Daniel J. Boorstin, director of the National Museum of History and Technology of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C., will deliver the commencement address.

Four retired Ohio State professors and administrators will receive Distinguished Service Awards. They are: Harold P. Fawcett, professor emeritus of science-mathematics education; Alfred B. Garrett, professor emeritus of chemistry; John H. Herrick, director emeritus of campus planning, and Fredrick Stecker, executive director of university relations emeritus.

Immediately after the ceremonies, President and Mrs. Enarson will be hosts to a public reception for graduates, their families and friends in French Field House.

Over 500 4-H'ers Model

It will be "fashion here, there and everywhere" as over 500 4-H'ers model in the Ohio State Fair 4—H Style Revue, Aug. 28-31. Each of Ohio's 88 counties may send up to seven participants to this annual event. Over a hundred a day are presented in the Rhodes Center Auditorium.

All the participants wear outfits they have made themselves in 4-H projects during the year. They are coached in how to model their clothes, and have a chance to practice before going on stage.

The winner receives a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in November, courtesy of Simplicity Pattern Company. There she will represent Ohio in the National Style Revue.

In connection with the Revue, each county may nominate one of its seven contestants for consideration as a member of the Ohio 4-H Fashion Board. During the Style Revue, judges will watch the nominees, and from the 88 eligibles choose 12 to serve on the 1974 fashion board. The teenagers will serve as consultants to 4-H Extension personnel who supervise the conduct the annual style revue and other functions for the state's 4-H clothing project members.

Legal Secretaries Will Meet

The Columbus Association of Legal Secretaries will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday, September 5, at Sixteen East, 16 East Broad St.

The social hour will be held at 5:30 p.m. with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Attorney Daniel H. Schoedinger.

There will be a question and answer period following.

Reservations may be made with Miss M. Lee Harrie, 10 East Town St., Columbus, Ohio 43215, phone 221-5525. The deadline is Friday, August 31.

Off Road Vehicle Registration Required

State motor vehicles registrar C. Donald Curry reminded all Ohioans who own snowmobiles, trail or mini-bikes or other types of "off-the-road" vehicles that their 1973 registrations will expire at midnight Aug. 31.

"Anyone operating a vehicle of this type on public lands or on private property that isn't his own after Aug. 31 will be required to display the appropriate 1974 decal or license plate," said Curry. "Anyone operating an unregistered vehicle is subject to a fine of up to $50 for the first offense—so I would strongly advise all owners to pay the $5 fee and obtain their 1974 plates or decal before Sept. 1, even if they don't plan to use their off-the-road vehicle until later in the year.

Registrar Curry noted that both the 1974 decal (for snowmobile) and "APV plate" (for trail and mini-bikes and other all-terrain vehicles) are valid from the date of issuance and will remain valid until Aug. 31, 1974.

He added that all of the $5 fee collected by the state for registering these vehicles is paid directly into a new fund established by the legislature for building and maintaining trails on state lands where off-the-road vehicles can be safely and enjoyably operated.

Only 113 deputy registrars across the state are handling registration of these vehicles.

Those in the Columbus area are:

Antique Show In Troy

For the 13th consecutive year, two chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority are sponsoring an Antiques Show and Sale at the Hobart Arena in Troy, Ohio, Sept. 7, 8, and 9.

The show and sale will open at 11 a.m. each day.

Each year proceeds from the show have been used for some charitable project and this year the proceeds will be donated to the Troy Miami County Public Library.

Handball Championship Tourney At Westgate Park

"Sixteen of the top 20 nationally-ranked handball players have signed up to play in the USHA (United States Handball Association) national three-wall championship tournament in Columbus over Labor Day weekend," says W. T. "Ted" Bland, national tournament chairman.

After 23 years in Detroit, this year's championship will be held in Columbus' new six-court facility in Westgate Recreation Park. Upwards of 500 spectators are expected daily for the event, for which there is no admission charge. The tournament runs from Aug. 30-Sept. 3. The competition will begin at 9 a.m. daily and run to about 6 p.m. The finals will be held Monday, Sept. 3 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Bland and tournament promotion chairman David Cohen says the annual Labor Day weekend classic has traditionally been the "Kickoff" for each new handball season. They say interest is running extremely high nationally and locally in the tournament. More than 200 players from across the United States, as well as the top 20 Columbus-area players will participate, according to Bland.

Miss Helen D'Andria has been chosen "Miss USHA" and will handle the presentation of trophies and assist with hospitality and other ceremonial events at the tournament. Columbus Mayor Tom Mooody has proclaimed the week of Aug. 27 "Internatioanal Three-Wall Handball Championship Week" in the Capital city.

Nationally-ranked players who will be on hand include Lou Russo of New York City, winner of the national three-wall singels championships in 1972 and 1971; Paul Haber, who has notched two doubles titles at Detroit (1970 and '71) and who was runnerup in the 1972 singles to Russo, Terry Muck of St. Paul, the current four-wall champion and national 1972 YMCA champ, and Fred Lewis, the 1972 four-wall national singles champ.

Bland invites the general public to "bring the family to Westgate Park for the championships. There are recreational areas for the youngsters and picnic areas near the courts. This outdoor three-wall tournament provides not only a chance for the entire family to get out in the fresh air, but a chance to see absolutely the best power-hitting handball players in the United States."

Bland concluded, "The only detriment to out outdoor tournament is the possibility of rain. If we should be forced indoors, the Columbus Central YMCA has consented to make their four regulation size four-wall courts available to us."

Sanctioned by the USHA, the tournament is sponsored by the Columbus Department of Recreation and the Columbus Central YMCA.

Hey, Man--remember the "Four Horsemen?" Name 'em!

"Elmer Layden, Don Miller, Jim Crowley, and Harry Stuhldreher."

Awright. When did they play for Rockne?

"From '22 through '24."

Awright, smart guy. Where did they stay in shape over the summers!

"Trivia?" Of course it's trivia. That's the name of the game!

Stop looking at your watch, Professor--and I'll let you in on the secret.

That's better. Now, Knute knew a good thing, so his Four Horsemen spent three summers at Cedar Point, lifeguarding and running up and down that mile-long, white sand beach. I don't have to tell you they stayed in shape!

WIPE THAT grin off your face, Professor--it just happens that there's a plaque at Cedar Point that says: "In grateful memory of the man whose standards of fair play are an immortal inspiration to the youth of America, and whose contributions to the great sport of football will never be forgotten--Knute Rockne!"

So hop on home, Professor. And tell your kids all about it.

Ready's Gardner To Attend Ohio Dominican

Don Gardner, 874 Timberman Rd., 6'1" selected twice to the C.C.L. Team in his three year basketball career at Bishop Ready High School, will attend Ohio Dominican College this fall, Basketball Coach Ron Lucas, announced recently. New student orientation opens Wednesday, Aug. 29.

Gardner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Gardner, is best known for scoring six of seven shots from the field in the 1973 State Championship Game. A guard on Ready Coach Pat Penn's two Ohio State Champion teams, Gardner averaged 14 points per game during the 1972-73 season.

Knute Rockne Developed Pass At Cedar Point

THE GRIDIRON'S "diamond" is coming up this year, and it's worth a look back to see how it all came about.

It'll be 60 years ago this November 1st that Fighting Irishman Knute Rockne's forward pass made believer out of Army's cadet-and a whole new game out of football. The score? Army, 13-underdog Notre Dame, 35.

In fact, the cadets believed so strongly that they persuaded coach Charles Daly to use the forward pass in the very next game. The score? Navy, 9-underdog Army, 22.

"Awright, awright," you say. "Any body who don't know that musta learned his football in England. . . ."

Ok, Professor--try this one:

JUST WHERE was it that ol' Knute developed this revolutionary pass? Nope. No South Bend. Give up? Try Sandusky, Ohio.

Well--now you know, Professor. But don't go 'way, 'cause now I'm gonna tell you exactly where it was in Sandusky.

CEDAR POINT amusement land--that's where. Right on that mile-long white sand beach, back of the Hotel Breakers.

Now don't leave yet, Professor! Since you've been such a good listener, I'll tell you the whole story. Then you can bend some other guy's ear with these fascinating details . . . .

IN THE summer of 1913, Knute was going into this senior year with the Fighting Irish. And he didn't have two or three hundred "angels" picking up the tab, like modern college football heros do.

So Knute, who like the girls as much as any guy, got himself a job as lifeguard on that big, wide beach.

Now it just happened that Irish quarterback Gus Dorias was vacationing at the Point. And girls or no girls, those guys couldn't help worrying about their upcoming football schedule.

NOTRE DAME wasn't all that well known in those days, and coach Jesse Harper had bitten on Army's $1,000 lure to play the cadets at West Point. Army just wanted a "soft" team to warm up on, to get in shape for their upcoming bash with the midshipmen.

So Knute and Gus spent the whole summer right there on that mile-long beach at Cedar Point, working up their forward pass routine. They even brought in Irish right halfback Joe Pliska, to train as an alternate receiver.

That big, round football had the aerodynamic properties of a punchbowl. But practice makes perfect, and by season's end quarterback Gus was able to hit either Knute or Joe just about ten times out of ten.

The rest is history.

OF COURSE, everybody knows that ol' Knute went on to coach the Irish in the Twenties--and that he developed the "Notre Dame shift"--and that he was the fun...in the SUN!

PANFISHING IS FAMILY FUN

Panfish are referred to as fishes too small to be considered gamefish, but I call them scrappy and fun to catch. What do you do if bass and walleye aren't hitting your artificial lures. I usually take my family and go panfishing. A lot of folks find sport and enjoyment using light weight tackle fishing for panfish. They're easy to catch and darn good eating.

Our favorite is perch fishing in Lake Erie. Perch like walleye are a school fish. If one is taken there are others in the same area. One of the best baits is the one and two inch minnows or pieces of nightcrawlers or dug worms. Small deep running spincasting lures and flycasting lures and flycasting wet flys fished near bottom will also take perch.

Here's a tip that sometimes works for me. When you're fishing from a boat, let your anchor hit bottom a couple of times, this will stir up the bottom and the cloud of commotion will attract schools of perch. Just as important is the way you rig your line. You can buy a spreader at most sporting goods stores which is designed for perch fishing or just tie a weight on the end of your line, then tie a snelled hook about 10 inches above the weight, then tie on another snelled hook about 10 inches above the first hook. Using two hooks gives you two chances and when perch are hitting real good sometimes you can catch a double. Just remember weight on bottom, two hooks above.

HOCKING HILLS CAMPGROUND

Situated among the trees on a ridge above the beautiful hemlock-lined blackhand sandstone gorge of Old Mans Cave, the 170 site Class "A" family campground in this park is a favorite of all who love the serenity of the woods.

With a modern wash-house, vault type latrines and electricity available on 26 sites, the area is suitable for tent or trailer campers.

Many miles of well marked trails carry visitors to nearby Cedar Falls and Ash Cave, all within the 10,274 acre Hocking Hills State Park--Hocking State forest complex. The Buckeye Trail crosses the area on its route from Lake Erie to the Ohio River. Ten class "A" and 10 primitive group sites serve adult and youth organizations and there is a primitive campground area that can accomodate about 75 units.

Swimming, fishing and boating are not available at the park, but all three can be enjoyed at nearby Lake Logan. The Olds Mans Cave area is located 12 miles southwest of Logan on S. R. 374 and the main campground is reached by fording Old Man's Creek just above the beautiful upper falls.

A comprehensive new publication, "Boating in Ohio," has been published by the Department of Natural Resources.

The 64-page booklet combines three former publications that covered Ohio's water-craft laws, boating facilities and major canoeing rivers.

Natural Resources Director William B. Nye, said, "It explains virtually everything Ohio boaters need to know about watercraft procedures in simple, easy-to-read language."

Rod Cooper, chief of the department's division of watercraft, said all boaters registering watercraft in 1974 will receive a copy of the booklet.

The four-color bookelt features boating tips by Commodore Buckeye, the unofficial guardian of Ohio's waterways.

It has information on the state's watercraft laws, registration and titling procedures, required and recommended safety equipment and operation of watercraft.

A chart listing Ohio's lakes and waterways provides navigation information and describes services and facilities available.

Maps of the Cuyahoga, Great Miami, Little Miami, Maumee, Sandusky, Mohican, Walhonding and Muskingum rivers are included in the canoeing section of the booklet. Information on how to plan a canoeing trip is included and suggested portage routes are outlines.

Copies are available free of charge at the Department of Natural Resources information center at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus through Sept. 3, and also can be obtained by contacting the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Colmmbus, Ohio 43224.

ANTLERLESS DEER PERMITS AVAILABLE

A limited number of antlerless deer permits are available for six counties in northwest Ohio; Williams, Defiance, Fulton, Lucas, Paulding, and Henry and 10 counties in southwest Ohio; Athens, Hocking, Jackson, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Vinton and Washington. These permits will be issued by means of a public drawing Oct. 324.

The application period is Sept. 1-Oct. 19. To apply for the drawing submit your name, address and deer permit number on a post card to: Antlerless Deer Permit, Division of Wildlife, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224. Indicate the county of your choice. Persons submitting more than one application will be disqualified.

WARNING TO SWIMMERS

Fred A. Schob, Enforcement Supervisor, District One Wildlife, cautions swimmers that it is unlawful for any person to swim in any pond or stream on any wildlife area. In addition to being unlawful, this can be very dangerous due to unseen obstructions in the water and there are no life guards on duty.

PENN CENTRAL CHARGED AGAIN

For the fourth time in three years.. and for the same offense, Penn Central Transportation Company finds itself in court on a charge of violating Ohio's stream litter law.

The Division of Wildlife of the Department of Natural Resources, Tuesday, Aug. 14, filed a charge in Franklin County Municipal Court alleging that diesel oil from the company's Buckeye Yards polluted a tributary of the Scioto River at Raymond Memorial Golf Course in Columbus.

The date of the alleged violation was July 26, three days after the company was found quilty of the same offense and fined $500 in the Franklin County court.

Penn Central also was fined $500 in 1971 and $500 in 1972 after being charged with similar offenses at the same location by the Division of Wildlife.

No court date has been set on the latest charge.

THE TRADE and Industries Center at 278 East Spring Street offers classes to further develop the related technical knowledge needed by the individual engaged in a trade or industrial occupation.

Registration will be held at the center for the first trimester on September 3 through September 21 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Specifically, offerings will include: basic environmental systems; environmental systems electric motors, controls and circuits; refrigeration and environmental systems; heating systems, environmental systems, service and installation, environmental systems trouble shooting, layout and design; arc welding, oxy-acetylene welding; tungsten inert gas welding-MIG-TIG; blueprint reading and layout; pipe welding; advanced welding technology; basic electricity, electric motors, controls and circuits; advanced electrical; commercial and industrial electricity; residential electricity, national electric code; basic mathematics and drafting; basic mathematics and blueprint reading; applied physics and mathematics; machine shop practice; hydraulics and pneumatics; general plant maintenance; aviation; automotive fundamentals; building maintenance; carpentry-home remodeling; stationary engineering I, stationary engineering II; appliance repair; and power sewing. Thelephone numbers for further information about these offerings are 224-5596 and 221-1591.

The Department of Adult Education is interested in wide-community participation in the programs offered.

The motto "Learning Never Ends" provides the rationale for the school system's service to adults in the Columbus area who wish continuing education tailored to individual needs.

If there is an item mentioned which interests you, or if you have special needs, contact the Columbus Public Schools, Department of Adult Education.

Students Meet

Students from Franklin County who will be starting at Miami University this fall will have a chance to meet each other at a picnic, 5:30 to 9:00 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 6, at Hickory Grove Shelter House in Blendon Woods Metropolitan Park.

The picnic is an effort to help incoming freshmen meet some of the other students from Franklin County who will be starting their first year at Miami.

Parents are welcome to attend. Soft drinks will be provided and everyone will bring their own food.

The affair is planned by the Franklin County Miami University Alumni Club officers. Further information may be obtained by contacting Larry Dill at 457-7653 or 225-3889.

Select Prizes

H & R Block Offers Two Tax Courses

H & R Block, America's largest tax service, will offer two tax courses here beginning in mid-September, stated Mr. Jerry Grise local manager in Columbus.

"The first course will provide instruction in basic tax preparation, Grise said, "while the second will give advanced tax training to those with a working knowledge of income taxes." Grise pointed out that the ever increasing detail work involved in preparing tax returns makes it imperative that a tax man or woman know their job throughly, hence the necessity for basic and advanced courses.

"One of the most exciting things about the H & R Block Tax Courses is that when successfully completed, a job interview will be arranged if you so desire. Graduates of the course are under no obligation to accept employment," Grise stated.

The modest tuition fees charged for these courses includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the schools. Both schools will begin in September and offer a choice of daytime or evening classes.

The basic course curriculum contains a total of 81 hours of instruction, presented in 27 three hour sessions, over a 13½ week period, and features practical application in all major areas of individual income tax preparation, including federal, state and local returns.

The Advanced Tax Course consists of 20, three-hour sessions (2-classes weekly) over a 10-week period and provides in-depth coverage of individual, partnership, fiduciary, corporate and other complex tax situations. The instructors for both the basic and advanced courses are all experienced Block personnel.

"Prospective students may obtain additional information or register for either school at the H & R Block office, 144 Graceland Blvd, or they may call the office at 888-5930 and we will be happy to send them the information necessary for enrollment," Grise said.

"I am available 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Graceland office and happy to discuss either school in detail with any interested party," concluded Grise.

Gardeners Day Out Sept. 3

Of interest to the 28 garden club members in Franklin County will be the annual state-wide "Gardener's Day Out" meeting scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 13 which will be held at Don Scott Field, Ohio State University.

Serving as general chairman of this event will be Mrs. Quentin Elder, second vice president, Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, which is sponsoring this meeting.

Serving as reservation chairman will be Mrs. Vance Hendricks, Rt., 1, Orient, Ohio, 43146. Deadline for submission of reservations will be Thursday, Sept. 6. Cost for the day will be $3.

Since this meeting is being scheduled one week prior to the annual Farm Science Review, all exhibits will be in place for the gardeners and their guests to observe.

As they are conducted about the 750-acre Review, they will view the latest developments in agricultural science and technology. There will be 250 exhibits covering the latest techniques for yard, garden and orchard plantings; in out-door recreation facilities; and in new ideas for homemakers.

Also planned will be a tour of the Horticulture Building, and landscape and flower plots, and possibly the cannery will also be in operation. The noon-day meal will be a beef barbecue around the farm pond.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. with registration at Don Scott Field.

She's Fairest Of The Fair

EAST COLUMBUS-Meet Ohio State Fair 1973 Senior Miss Majorette! She's Phyllis Van Arsdale. This attractive Eastmoor High School senior won over 30 contestants from all over Ohio last week at the fair, getting the highest average in four required baton twirling categories. The categories, in which she won two first and a third were: Best Appearing Majorette Military, Military Strut, Best Appearing Majorette Fancy and Fancy Strut. The seventeen year old is drum majorette with Eastmoor Warrior Marching Band. An excellent student, her ambitions for the future include a college education and a feature twirling position with a college band.

Capital University Appoints Provost

Bexley–Capital University president Thomas H. Langevin has announced the appointment of Dr. Waller B. Wiser as provost of the university.

He started his duties this month.

The provostship at Capital is a new position resulting from administrative reorganization which places academic and student matters under single rather than functionally divided leadership.

For the past five years, Wiser has served as vice president and dean for academic affairs at Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa. Before that, he had been dean of students, assistant professor of psychology and dean of the chapel.

Wiser received his bachelor of arts degree from Western Maryland College, the bachelor of divinity and master of sacred theology degrees from Drew University, and the Ph.D. degree from Boston University.

Wiser was appointed to the Capital post following extensive candidate interviews held during the past several months. Members of the campus selection committee, appointed by the president, included faculty, administrators and students. Wiser was chosen from a final list of about ten candidates.

At Capital, his office will be responsible for administering the university's three undergraduate schools and two graduate-level divisions; the student affairs office; and the various support areas including admissions, data processing, financial aids and the library system.

Wiser, his wife and their three children will reside at 492 S. Drexel Ave.

Intersection Improvement Scheduled

Bexley-State Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley reports the Highway Division is soliciting new bids, to be opened Sept. 6, for a Bexley TOPICS (Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety) project to improve the E. Main St.-N. Parkview Ave. intersection.

Low bid on the improvement opened June 5 was $10,711.30 over the state's $68,000 construction estimate and rejected.

Plans call for widening Main St. on the north side, east of Parkview Ave., to increase width of the approach lanes and align the curbing with the curbing on the west side of the intersection.

Parkview Ave. will be widened on the west side, north of Main St., to provide a right-turn lane for southbound Parkview Ave. to westbound Main St. traffic movements.

Intersection curb radii will be increased to ease turning movements.

New intersection marking will be applied after completion of construction.

Traffic signals will be reprogrammed to permit right turn during the advance eastbound Main St. traffic phase, providing additional right-turn time without altering the existing cycle or phase lengths.

Estimated completion date is July 31, 1974.

Livingston Gets New Gas Line

East Columbus-Work will begin soon on a $54,500 Columbia Gas of Ohio pipeline replacement project along Livingston Avenue to help provide continued natural gas service to gas company customers in east Columbus, it was announced this week.

Robert E. Roll, Central District manager for the gas company, said more than a quarter of a mile of new steel pipeline, up to a foot in diameter, will be installed along Livingston Avenue to replace two sections of an existing pipeline. One section to be replaced is between Alum Creek and Alum Creek Drive. The other is between Rhoads Ave. and Bulen Ave.

C. J. Hughes Construction Co., Huntington, W. Va., will make the replacement for the gas company, with work expected to be completed about Oct. 1. Traffic will be maintained during construction, Roll said.

Collection Continues

For the fourth consecutive year The Spectator Newspapers are asking readers to help send a child to school by contributing clothing that is clean and in good repair.

Although the Welfare Department is interested primarily in clothing children for school, baby clothes and shopping bags for carrying items home are also needed.

Shoes are also ba lly needed, according to Mrs. Julia Stewart of the department.

Collection spots where clothing boxes are located at Penney's in the Eastland Shopping Mall.

In Columbus Schools

Enrollment Drops But Overcrowding Remains

Despite an expected enrollment drop of nearly 2,300 pupils, overcrowding will still be a problem this year for many Columbus schools.

Elementary and secondary students are estimated to number 103,866 in 1973-74. Last year's enrollment totaled 106,146.

However, Deputy School Superintendent C. L. Dumaree said the decrease, due primarily to declining birth rates and families leaving the city, will provide little relief from the space problems of the last few years.

Dumaree said 23 secondary school s will remain on some type of emergency scheduling this year in order to house enrollments that exceed school building capacities.

AMONG THE 23 are nine severely over crowded schools that will continue on split or double sessions.

The nine, same as last year, are Marion-Franklin, South, Walnut-Ridge and West High Schools, Mifflin Junior-Senior High, and Clinton, Johnson Park, Woodward Park and Yorktown Junior Highs.

Seven other senior highs and seven junior highs will remain on extended day scheduling, Dumaree said. Extended days allow the schools to accommodate more students by adding extra periods to the regular nine-period school day.

Overcrowding will also pose problems for 12 elementary schools this year. Dumaree said current plans are to transport at least 73 classes of pupils from those schools to other nearby elementaries due to lack ofspace.

FOR THE MOST part, the schools are the same as last year, when 72 classes of students were transported.

Dumaree noted that Maybury Elementary is being returned to the list this year due to increased enrollment. Students were transported from Maybury during the 1971-72 school year.

Other elementaries from which students will be transported are Alpine, Cassady, Cedarwood, Deshler, Easthaven, McGuffey, Parkmoor, South Mifflin, Sullivant, West Broad and Wintercrest.

Dumaree noted that relief is on the way for other overcrowded schools. Planning is either underway or completed for additions to Cassady, Cedarwood, South Mifflin, Sullivant and West Broad, according to Howard Merriman, executive director of development.

A contract has been awarded for construction of an addition to Alpine, and advertising for bids is now underway for additions to Deshler, Easthaven, Parkmoor and Wintercrest, Merriman added.

Overcrowding at Maybury and McGuffey, he said, will be relieved by construction of new schools.

Columbus Schools Open 129th Year

Estimated elementary and secondary school enrollment for the new year totals 103,866, although figures for the first few days of school may fall below that number, according to Pupil Personnel Director Norval Goss.

Goss said official enrollment figures used in reports to the State Department of Education are not compiled until the first full week of October.

The 1973-74 enrollment is expected to reach the projected mark by that time, he said, adding that enrollment at the start of the school year is traditionally lower than the October figures.

Included in the enrollment estimate for the new year are 8,475 kindergarten pupils entering school for the first time.

Goss reminded parents of the children, as well as parents of other new Columbus students, that their youngsters should be enrolled, if possible,before the first day of school.

Children being enrolled in kindergarten must be five years old on or before Sept. 30, and new first graders must be six years old on or before that date, Goss printed out.

He noted that no further arrangements are needed for kindergarten pupils who were enrolled during a pre-registration period last spring.

Besides the more than 103,000 elementary, junior and senior high students expected this year, school officials anticipate about 765 students will enroll in the school system's Adult Day and Evening high schools.

LT. COL. FRANKLIN D. FITE

Fite, 499 Heater Hill Dr. is retiring after 23 years of military serv[illegible] Since 1969, he has served as cha[illegible]n of Capital's department of [illegible]ce studies and head of the un[illegible] awardwinning Air Force R[illegible]

Fite also served as a prof[illegible] aerospace studies at the univer[illegible]

He was active in numerous ca[illegible] projects and was an assistant coach with the Crusader varsity basketball team.

Earlier this year, he was named an "honorary alumnus" of Capital University.

Fite holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Houston and a master's degree from Ohio University.

After retirement from the Air Force, Fite will be associated with the Columbus-based Early Childhood Development Corp. and the Amerikid Day Care Schools.

Representing the Air Force at Friday's ceremony at Capital was USAF Colonel Addison T. Reid, area ROTC commandant. Also attending were university administrators, faculty and members of Capital's student ROTC detachment.

Pursue The Sight Thief

WHITEHALL–Mayor John Bishop of Whitehall, has designated the month of September as sight-saving month. Reading the proclamation with Mayor Bishop, is Lion Frank Gallo, President of Tri-Village Lions and Lion Fred Altherr, President of the Whitehall Lions Club. On Sept. 8 and 9 the Whitehall Lions will assist the Tri-Village Lions and the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness at the Glaucoma Screening being held at the Whitehall Municipal Building. Screening will also be held at the Vision Center, 1393 N. High . The times are Saturday, Sept. 8, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Sunday Sept. 9, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. It can be prevented, so the best defense against glaucoma is an eye examination at least once every two years.

Do Heights Make You Dizzy?

EAST COLUMBUS- If I shut my eyes I can still see those mountainous stacks of books, just part of the pile I'll wade through before my kindergarten and six years here at Leawood School are over. Wow! It's enough to scare a guy, just thinking about it. John Paul Alexander, 5, who starts kindergarten at Leawood on Sept. 10 really looks forward to diving into books, though, and so does little brother who slipped into a seat behind John Paul and opened a book curiously just as the picture was snapped. Bexley Park Plans Approved

BEXLEY- Mrs. Shirley Mees, member of the Bexley Recreation Board and Ted Flickinger, director of Bexley Parks and Recreation Department, look over the new brochure, "Master Plan for Jeffrey Park." The booklet was presented at the Bexley Recreation Board meeting, Aug. 27, when the final plans for the improvement of Jeffrey Park were approved.The final plans will be presented to Bexley City Council on Sept. 11 or Sept. 25. A schedule of priorities and financing for various phases of $145,987 project will hopefully be decided on shortly afterwards, Flickinger says. Copies of the brochures may be read or checked out by the public at the Bexley Library or at the Jeffrey Mansion Recreation Dept. office.

Prizes, Not Fish, Netted At Lake

Raising Funds The United Way

BEXLEY–The Public Services Division of the 1973 United Way Campaign launched their fund drive at a recent luncheon meeting. The division, spearheaded by Dr. T. H. Langevin, president of Capital University, is composed of clergy, education, social agencies, and hospitals. The division plans to raise $445,920 of the $6.8 million 1973 campaign goal. Discussing campaign plans are (left to right): Dr. T. H. Langevin, division chairman, and Paul Lindquist, Chairman of Education, 1002 S. Cassingham.

Instructing

East Columbus–Capt. Jeffrey J. Nelson, 1642 Burlington Ave. S., demonstrates the use of egg dyes in water projected onto the screen by overhead projector, during a class on training aids. This is Capt. Nelson's second year with the First United States Army Instructor Training School, which has been held annually for the past 17 years. A graduate research associate at Ohio State University, he is completing his seventh year in the military. He is assigned to the 2078th USAR School as an instructor.

Court Accepts Charge Cards

THE FRANKLIN COUNTY Municipal Court has begun to accept payment by BankAmericard or Master Charge for bonds and fines, including traffic tickets up to $100. Officials of Franklin County Municipal Court and two local banks are shown here signing the contract authorizing use of the bank cards for payment of these court costs. Signing the contract are (seated left) Chief Judge G. W. Fais and Clerk of Courts Ted Hysell as BankAmericard representative John Peters (left) of City National Bank and Master Charge representative Carl Ruzicka of Ohio National Bank look on. The new system is expected to be a time saver in the clerk of court's office, as well as a convenience for area residents.

Buckeye Federal Makes Promotions

Clyde Martin

Clyde Martin, 2990 Knoll Dr., has been promoted to Assistant Vice President for Savings of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, it was announced this week by Ralph C. Kunze, Association President.

Martin, formerly senior branch manager of Buckeye Federal's Bexley-Eastmoor office in the Esquire Shopping Center, will move into the downtown office , 36 E. Gay St., to assume his new responsibilities.

Martin will be responsible for all savings personnel in the downtown office overall systems procedures in the association's savings area of operations.

Kunze also announced that Thomas W. Ballinger has been appointed to head-up the Bexley-Eastmoor branch office as Senior Branch Manager.

In addition to his local branch responsibilities in Bexley, Ballinger will continue to function as Buckeye Federal's Assistant Branch Administrator and have direct supervision over Buckeye's Gahanna, Eastern, Mt. Vernon and Southern branch offices.

Buckeye Federal opened the new modern, Bexley-Eastmoor office, 3180 E. Broad St., for business last week and the official opening celebration began August 27.

Classes at Otterbein College will open for the fall term Monday, Sept. 10, at 8 a.m. Continuing Education Program evening courses are scheduled to begin the following week, Sept. 17.

The traditional Open House given by President and Mrs. Thomas J. Kerr IV for new students and their parents will officially welcome incoming freshmen and transfer students to the Otterbein campus Friday, Sept. 7. Other activities scheduled for the first-year students include a free campus movie Friday sponsored by the Campus Programming Board and a freshman shopping excursion followed by an all-campus dance Saturday, Sept. 8.

The annual Otterbein Cardinal Band Camp is scheduled for the week prior to the opening of school. Gary R. Tirey, Otterbein director of bands, explained that the various units of the Cardinal marching band will be on campus for practice and drill work. Included in the Band Camp practices are the colorful Flag Corps and "O" Squad.

The Continuing Education Program, under the direction of Morris Briggs, has scheduled six classes for the fall term. Theevening courses, meeting one night a week from 7-9 p.m. will continue for eight weeks, excepting a special 10-week teacher effectiveness course. These college-level courses are open to area residents for a $50 tuition fee.

Scheduled for fall are Starting and Succeeding in Your Own Small Business, Marketing and Sales Promotion, The Tourist's Germany, Dynamics of Human Interrelationships, Thomas Gordon's Teacher Effectriveness Training and Art and the Nature of Man.

Registration Set For Golden Age Hobby Show

The Columbus Recreation and Parks Department and the Columbus Citizen Journal are sponsoring the 25th Annual Golden Age Hobby Show, Sept. 21, 22 and 23 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad St.

Entrants must be 60 years old or older and a resident of Franklin, Delaware, Licking, Union, Fairfield, Pickaway or Madison Counties. Items brought in for entry must have been made after the entrant was 60 and not entered in a previous Golden Age Hobby Show.

Entries will be accepted at the six Senior Citizen Recreation Centers this year, not at the Gallery. Seniors may bring their entries to the following locations Monday, Sept. 17 between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.; McDowell, 275 McDowell St., Second and Sullivant, 95 E. Second Avenue; 1100 E. Broad, 1100 E. Broad Street; Marion Square, 1316 Marion Rd; Linton Gardens, 2385 Mock Rd. and Sawyer Towers, 975 Caldwell Place.

There is no entry fee and ribbons and medallions will be awarded by the judges. A certificate of entry is given to each entrant. For further information regarding the Hobby Show please call Kay Barnhouse, 252-2832 or Mrs. Julie Helenthal, 294-3757.

Riverside Guilds To Meet

The Executive Board of Riverside Methodist Hospital Guilds will meet at noon Sept. 10 in the guild room. Luncheon will be served by the Guild 46 Indianola United Methodist Church, Mrs. George Stewart, chairman.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:

President, Mrs. C. Russell Hartman; First Vice President, Mrs. Fred Elliot; Second Vice President, Mrs. Walter Fischbach; Third Vice President, Mrs. Oliver Witham, Fourth Vice President, Mrs. E. L. Denten; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Robert R. Daniell; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Byrd; Treasurer Mrs. M. Telfer; and Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. R. L. Shoemaker.

Rosemont School Seeks Volunteers For Mini-Courses

Columbus–Rosemont School for teenage girls 12-18 2440 Dawnlight Ave., is exploring the possibility of including mini-courses Wednesday mornings 9:30 a.m. to noon for a period of eight weeks, to start the first part of October.

They need volunteers to share skills, hobbies and talents with the young girls. The courses may be shared with several teaching volunteers. The course project may be part of the morning or all of the morning session depending on the course material and the teacher volunteer.

Some of the courses suggested are: auto mechanics, charm, child care, business machines, karate, yoga, three-dimensional plaques, interior decorating, stamp collecting, cake decorating, flower arranging, foods from other lands, tie dying, photography, chess, card games, needlepoint, knitting, crocheting, travelog slides, quilting, music, sports, current issues and careers.

Contact Rosemont School principal, or leave a message with one of the staff if you can provide this service. The telephone number is 471-2626.

Adult parole halfway houses in Ohio have increased residency capacity by 100 per cent during the last two years, reports the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Antique Show At Vets

Books for the sake of their own antiquity, or books to help the collector learn more about his chosen field--both will be found in a wide selection at the Columbus Fall Antique Show-Sale, at the Veterans Memorial Building, Sept. 6-9, Thursday through Sunday.

Other attractions in the 100 exhibit show, which brings leading antiques dealers from 52 cities in 16 states, include antique furniture, Oriental rugs, jewelry (some of it from 19th century Israel), lamps, clocks, Heisey glass, bronze statuary, carved ivory and jade, miniatures, dolls, primitives, china, art glass, porcelain, tools, paperweights, buttons, coins, prints, picture frames, and other antiues and collectibles too numerous and varied to list.

Hours of the Columbus Fall Antique Show-Sale at the Veterans Memorial Building, 300 W. Broad St., are from 1 to 10 p.m. the first three days and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on the final day, Sunday.

One of Ohio law enforcement's greatest needs is a statewide communications network to bring together the state's 900 police agencies, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Auxiliary To Meet

Franklin County Council Auxiliary will have the first meeting for 1973-74, Tuesday, Sept. 11, Vets Memorial Building second floor, 8 p.m.

Beulah Dorn, Franklin County Council Auxiliary president, urges all Auxiliaries to send a representative to this meeting to hear the plans and programs for the coming year.

Franklin County Council Auxiliary meetings will continue monthly, the second Tuesday of every month through June, 1974.

AAA Tip

Sunglasses are appropriate for daytime driving, but the Columbus Automobile Club-AAA advises that they are not advantageous at night.

Colored lenses limit vision and, contrary to what some people belive, they do not appreciably reduce the glare caused by lights of oncoming vehicles.

Ohio State Fair Queen Is Superb

THE OHIO STATE FAIR is over but the memories will live on for a long time for many area youngsters and their parents and friends. The Fair was especially beautiful for two area girls as they rated high in state competition. One was Miss Phyllis VanArsdale who was named Ohio Senior Miss Majorette. Another was Miss Lynn Fields who was fourth runnerup for Ohio State Fair Queen. She is the reigning Miss Ohio VICA. The beautiful Queen Miss Gayle VanDeGrift the state Business Office Education Queen (BOE), gave a big boost to Vocational Education as she was the first vocational education category nominee ever named Ohio State Fair Queen. Much of her success has been credited to Mrs. Estelle Fark, a former National FHA Queen. Mrs. Fark coordinated the five vocational queen entrants and guided them throughout the Fair. In these Queen and other photos by Executive Editor Ray Adams are the following. (1) Governor John J. Gilligan gets ready to bestow a kiss on Queen Gayle as MC Bob Braun observes. (2) The Queen and Lynn Fields, Miss Ohio VICA , POSE FOR AN OFFICIAL PHOTO.: (3) Miss Ohio Senior Majorette Phyllis Van Arsdale is with the 1972 Ohio State Fair Queen. Miss Brenda Sutherland. (4) Just as she was announced as the 1973 Queen Gayle bursts into tears and screams with joy as the first runnerup Taryn Hunter reflects. (5) Ohio Department of Education BOE Director Ted Johnson plants a happy kiss on Gayle. (6) Prior to the pageant Gayle visited with several other queens. From left are Gayle; Miss Lorain County Paula Stewart; Miss Ohio VICA Lynn Fields; Miss Lorain International Veronica Gonzales and Miss Ohio DECA Wendy Tanber. (7) The 1973 Ohio State Fair Queen and her family posed for a royal portrait.

Senators, Congressmen Have Local Addresses

Spectator area residents who wish to contact their representatives and congressmen dont' have to write to Washington for that purpose.

The four have local offices and mail sent to them locally will let them know it is from this area.

Adult Expo Ed At Eastland Mall

The Central Ohio Adult Education Association will present Adult Expo Ed Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6-7 from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on the Eastland Mall.

The exhibit will present educational opportunities for adults throughout Central Ohio.

Over 50 exhibits with information on evening degree, vocational training, special interest programs and refresher courses will be on display.

Exhibitors will include representatives from business and industry, colleges and universities, public and private schools, vocational and technical schools, churches and community service agencies.

Columbus Tech Plans Seminar

The Ohio Program in the Humanities and Columbus Technical Institute, Division of Continuing Education, are co-sponsoring a Saturday Seminar September 8, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on the topic of "Justice for Women: Law and Public Opinion."

The program is made possible through a grant from the Ohio Program in the Humanities, a re-grant agent of the National Endowment for the Humanities, whose purpose is to facilitate public programs of informal adult education in the humanities.

There is no charge for the program, only an optional fee of $1 to cover a box lunch. Enrollees may prefer to bring their own lunch.

Babysitting will be provided through special arrangements by contacting Columbus Tech.

This service is being provided so that both husbands and wives may attend the program together.

CMACAO Rummage, Bake Sale

The Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization (CAMACAO) Martin Luther King Action Center is sponsoring a rummage sale Friday, Sept. 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and a rummage and bake sale Saturday, Sept. 8, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Proceeds from the sales will go to the center's emergency relief fund.

Both events will take place at the center, 1169 Oak St.

ROTC Cadets Train

CADET STEVEN R. CASE

East Columbus-Cadet Stephen R. Case, son of Mrs. Carolyn Case, Wyandotte East, received practical work in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced summer camp, Ft. Riley, Kan., from June 9-July 20.

Cadet Case, a student at the University of Notre Dame, was one of some 7,200 students who attended Army ROTC training at five installations in the U.S.

His father, Kenniston W. Case, lives at 5481 York Lane N., Columbus, Ohio

CADET DONALD A. WOLFF

Cadet Donald A. Wolff, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Wolff, 1209 Huntly Drive, also received training in military leadership at the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps advanced summer Camp at Ft. Riley.

Cadet Wolff is a 1973 graduate of Ohio State University.

CADET ROBERT KRAMER

New Regulatory Signs Appear

COLUMBUS– Whether driving dowtown or in the neighborhood perhaps people have noticed the new regulatory signs that are beginning to appear, "Right Turn on Red After Stop". Fifty of these have been installed by the Traffice Engineering Division according to Bernard Chupka, Director of Public Safety. The new signs were first installed at 33 test locations, seven months ago. Different types of intersections were selected for the test, from the regular two phase light to the eight phase light at Karl and 161. The study is continuing at these locations and others are being added as requests come in for them. New installations have been limited since a bill is now before the State Legislature to make "right turns on red" legal at all intersections in Ohio, except where they are otherwise prohibited by signs. George Butzer of the Signal Section of Traffic Engineering is seeking response from the public regarding these turns. Do you like the new regulations, or do you feel they are necessary? Drop a post card to Traffic Engineering, City Hall, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Lucky Miss Luckoff

BEXLEY-Cheri Luckoff, Bexley, is shown receiving the first four-piece coffee set of International silver plate awarded in the Grand Opening contest at the new Bexley-Eastmoor Branch of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan, 3180 E. Broad St. Branch manager Tom Ballinger is giving her the set. The silver became an Aug. 30 birthday present for the University of Cincinnati freshman.

ROBERT H. CARLISLE

UW Gets 'Early Bird' Start

East Columbus-Businessmen and their employees in Franklin County will be contacted beginning this week (Sept. 4-8) by United Way solicitor teams in the "early bird" campaign of the UW General Business Division.

Robert H. Carlile, division chairman, said about 115 volunteers will begin contacting more than fifteen-hundred area businesses with information about the 1973 campaign. The General Business division goal is $289,500 of the overall $6.8 million UW goal in Franklin County.

He said his division is getting an early start because the job of contacting 1,580 business firms is an enormous one. The majority of the General Business firms have fewer than 25 employees.

Carlile has experimented this year with several innovative approaches to handling his division, such as initiating a more efficient direct mail program, and making maximum use of volunteer manpower.

For the first time in the local UW campaign, CMACAO (Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization) has supplied a full solicitation team of 13 members headed by Frank Sullivan. They will contact 121 accounts on the Near East Side.

Another "first" for this division is the organization of two all-women solicitor teams.

Area Students Make Franklin's Dean's List

East Columbus- Dr. Joseph F. Frasch President, Franklin University, has announced the Dean's Honor List for the full time (12 or more credit hours) students during the summer trimester. Students obtaining grades of a 3.3 or higher point average are accorded this recognition.

Danny R. Wiskotoni, Peter A. Lorms, James W. Mills, Allen J. Monroe, Lou V. Slwek, Glenda K. Stamps, Ernest E. Toadvine Jr., Lawrence L. Federer.

Attend Presidents' Institute

East Columbus- Among the 300 top leaders of the National Council of Jewish Women convening at Vanderbilt Aug. 14-17 for a President's Institute were two area women, Jean Stone, president of the Columbus section and Marsha Green president of the Columbus Evening Branch.

Faculty from the Graduate School of Management, Vanderbilt University, conducted workshops and seminars which reinforced the vital role Council women play in the Jewish and general communities.

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

Always the right combination no matter how you mix and match...a plaid sleeveless vest over dogwood cashmere turtleneck and matching tube pant. Prince of Wales Plaid flare pant teamed with dogwood bow-tie Qiana blouse...matching cashmere blouson sweater...zip-front duffle jacket. Lazarus Trendsetter Shop.

HAZEL HAIRE, creative designer for Friedricks Sport.

Smashing new looks for Fall... the classic shawl-collar cardigan in heather tweed cable knit, belted in natural tan leather. Matching skirt and dogwood cashmere turtleneck sweater.

IT'S GETTING harder to pin down sportswear as a category...when much of evening wear, lingerie and high fashion have the same casual look...however HAZEL HAIRE'S premiere collection for Friedricks Sport has come up with endless variations of the classic theme...exciting clothes in campatible groupings from which a chic woman can build her own wardrobe...it promises to be a winner!

HAZEL HAIRE'S return to the fashion world was greeted with applause during the showings in New York...I recall remarking to my daughter who was photographing the fashions...take as many pictures as you can, this is a great collection.

Although Hazel is an accomplished abstract impressionist painter, she gained valuable fashion experience as associate designer for Anne Klein, Wragge, and Beene Bazaar...her husband is Bill Haire, the well known designer for Victoria Royal.

She brings to her new assignment, as designer for Friedrick Sport, a wealth of knowledge and experience and a new fashion concept in sportswear...the unique touch of the fine artist...color. "My philosophy of designing", she remarked, "is to provide women with choice within color groups so that they can easily make up a diversified wardrobe." Very much in tune with what's happening today, she draws her inspiration from her surroundings...from people around her...from nature.

HER PALETTE of colors are predominantly earth tones...Sandy Beige, Smoke Grey, Forest Green, Raisin Brown and Terra Cotta...which she uses in solid color fabrics and Confetti Tweed; Prince of Wales Plaid, and Horizontal Stripes...fabrics made to her specifications especially for this collection...sweater knits, double knit jerseys, wools and worsteds, gabardines, lodens and cashmeres...frequently using the bias cut to achieve fluidity, especially in her dresses and long skirt separates.

IN AN EFFORT to be all things to all women, the Haire Collection also includes cardigans, sweaters, knit pants and skirts, dresses, jumpers, belted wrap coats, and duffle jackets...she even tops it with head-hugging caps and turbans.

I was delighted to learn, while chatting with Miss Lee, fashion buyer for the Trendsetter Shop at Lazarus, that the Hazel Haire Collection is now at Lazarus, exculsively in Columbus. You can see it...in all it's glory...in the Trendsetter Shop on the Third Floor Downtown!

Conley, Reider In New Act

At the request of the AVCO folks, WLWC, I stopped in at Scotts Inn the other evening and caught Rob Reider and Gwen Conley in their club act.

While I normally don't review an act that has already left town, I enjoyed these two so much, I thought you would want to know a little about their night club act. Even though many of you view them on the Bob Braun 50-50 Club TV show, seen over TV-4, their act in a club is different.

First, let me say that for state fair week, they did a good job crowd wise, Catching the second show on a week night, they practically filled the room.

But when you add together the talents and popularity of these two people, it is no surprise.

Rob opened the show. He came on with a good rendition of "Country Roads," then drifted into a real powerful tune which he handled with ease, "McCarthur Park." This fellow has a crystal clear voice with excellent control. In fact, Rob was in complete control of the show and the audience at all times. But, it is Rob's voice that sells his act. He is a good stylist, with a darn nice sounding singing voice.

Another plus in his favor is Rob's stage personality. Of course, after being on the 50-50 Club for so long, he should be an expert in stage technique and knowing how to handle an audience.

Helping out Rob are two fellows who travel with him in his act, Joe Stone, a fantastic banjo player and one of the bass men I've heard for a while, Larry Hamby. Not only do these two add some mighty fine instrumental work to the act, such as their bit on, "Dueling Banjos," where Joe plays banjo and Rob and Larry play guitar, but they add plenty of good voacl harmonies to the act.

Rob closed his show with another sock type tune, at least it is the way he does it, "Rocky Mountain High." The crowd were very pleased with Rob's performance, and believe me, they showed it. His act contains a little bit of everything, a good variety of songs, good pacing, some humor and lovely material, which kept the show interesting and entertaining.

After Rob did his bit, Gwen took over and knocked them dead with her voice. This gal belongs with the best of them in the business, including Ella, Mariyln Maye and the other top female singers. Gwen is one of the strongest stylist to appear in a local club for many a moon. She practically brought down the house with such things as, "Beautiful People," "Killing Me Softly," and the oldie, "I Should Care."

In fact, she possesses most of the qualities that I mention concerning Rob. Gwen is a personable, easy going performer. She is very much at ease on stage. While these has all of these assets that make or break an entertainer's act, there is no doubt about it, Gwen's voice is her golden facet.

Like Rob, Gwen appears regularly on the 50-50 ? Club. And, to think that both of these people are Columbus' products. Gwen and Rob are truely seasoned, professional performers. If you did not catch them, which by the way, was a last minute booking for Scotts Inn, since their scheduled cancelled at the last minute, I am sure these two will be brought back by some club in our area. And, where they do return, make sure you make it a point to see them, you won't find any better any where.

KINGS ISLAND

Last week I mentioned that I was on the set of the tapping of a Brady Bunch TV show at Kings Island. The show will be shown later on during the coming season.

After arriving on the set, and after the usual introductions to the cast and crew, they got down to business of finishing shoting the weeks schedule. I was there on Friday, and they had been shooting the entire week. Friday was a game of shoting between rain drops. But, the ole weatherman cooperated, and they were able to keep pretty much on schedule.

The day's schedule called for part of the cast to be filmed on a ride called the Monster. This did not involve much of a problem but, the last scene did, the entire cast on the Roller Coaster. The camera had to be specially mounted, since it could not be hand held on the wild ride. Florence Henderson, Ann B. Davis, Robert Reed only wanted one ride, so that meant a few dry runs to make sure everything was set. But, the children, in the cast, Susan Olsen, Mike Bookinland, Christopher Knight, Maureen McCormick, Barry Williams and Eve Plum, were very unhappy, because they wanted to ride the Roller Coaster several times. After several trys, the scene was shot with no hitches.

As you can imagine there was the nornal pademonium on the set. The show is produced by Paramount, and they sent in a crew of sixty people, including script consultants, make-up people, sound and film crews, press agents and a host of others.

There were about fifty extras hired from the areato fill in the crowd scenes at Kings Island. With all this activity, it was difficult to get an exact idea as to what this particular show was about, except the plot is a combination business and holiday for characters in the show, and they keep loosing each other at the huge park. From what I wastold,it will be a hilarious show, one the best during the season.

Just one thing about the cast and crew, all of them do get along like one big family. Everyone of them was extremely friendly and talked to this columnist as if I were a cast member.

When I get the date for the show, it will be passed on, so that you may make sure to view it. You who have been at Kings Island, will enjoy watching all of the happenings in the program.

By the time you read this the Ohio State Fair will be history. But, everyone has been asking me questions about Sonny & Cher.

Contrary to what you may have read elsewhere, in my opinion, Sonny and Cher put on one great act at the Fair. While there is no question regarding the vocal talents, I thought the entire act was just what was to be expected for that type of situation. After covering the fair for many years, and catching almost every name act that has set foot on the stage in front of the grandstand, I was pleased with their performance. One thing that amazed me, was the fact that both Sonny & Cher sound exactly the same in person as they do on TV or records. This shows that they don't have to use any electronic gimicks to see their voices.

Cher, who I believe to be the most talented, and the most conceited, as one of the finest of the name entertainers, today. What a sound, and what fantastic control. Now, if someone could only get her personality, both on and off stage to match her talents, I would be in her corner, all the way. But, her personality ruins her in my book.

Sonny, on the other hand, holds things together off and on stage with his friendly, warm approach. While he is also a top flight performer, it is Cherthat has most of the talent in the family.

Their stay at the Ramada Inn South was hectic for the Inn's staff. Very demanding. They flew in on Hugh Heffners private jet with a staff of twenty, including to Bunnies who serve as stewardesses on the plane. The Ramada Inn South was a swinging place, to say the least. And, so was the grandstand area during their two appearances. Sonny & Cher broke all records for entertainment at the Ohio State Fair. It was truely a mob scene. I rode with them to the fair, and even though there was a special Sherriff escort, I thought they would be mobed before they got the back stage area. They certainly have a large following. Yes, they will be back on fall television this year, with the same format as last years.

I hope this answers all the questions on Sonny & Cher.

Concert

The Columbus Symphony Orchestra will present the second annual "Brown Bag Pops Concert" on the State House lawn at noon, Wednesday, Sept. 12th.

"The one-hour free performance will be an informal event with many downtown Columbus shoppers, visitors and employees encouraged to bring their lunches in brown bags to the pops concert," explained Nat Greenberg, Columbus Symphony general manager. Several hundred people attended last year when the Symphony introduced its unique musical format of the "Brown Bag Pops Concert."

In case of rain, the concert will be performed at noon Thursday, Sept 13.

Oktoberfest Celebration Will Benefit Children's Hospital

Among those scheduled to appear during the September 27 through 30 event are: Frank Yankovic, internationally famed recording artist and "King of The Polka;" Cleveland's renowned Edelweiss Orchestra; Schnickel Fritz and Hummel; Rheingold Band; Jack Hedges and the Music Makers; The Lederhosen Five; Ray Galla and His Polka Gems; The Credit Card Quartet; The Scandanavian Folk Dance Group and Hank Haller's Barvarian Band.

Frank Massaro, Oktoberfest General Manager, recently announced a limited number of merchant and craft spaces remain unfilled for Oktoberfest.

The four-day "fest at the Ohio State Fiargrounds features many old world arts and crafts displays, games of strength and fun, German Village merchants, lots of good German food, sing-along, dancing and plenty of beer.

Reynoldsburg Prospects Looking Up

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

"We paid our dues last year but we've got speed, strength and most important experience," claims an excited Reynoldsburg coach Dick Kerschbaum.

When Coach Kerschbaum talks about paying dues last year he is probably referring to his 0-9 Raiders of a year past. But let's emphasize, that was a year past.

Or perhaps Coach Kerschbaum looks back on the past four Raider football seasons when the roaring Raiders have been completely zipped out of the win column in their league.

But now things look different. With 19 returning lettermen, 18 of those being first teamers last year, "things look pretty good," as Dick would put it.

Coach Kerschbaum grins when he speaks of last year, his first at the Reynoldsburg school. (He was busy building defenses as an assistant at Northland before that.)

Leading this year's long line of returnees is a quick stepping quarterback named Mike Cronin. Mike at 6-1,, 175 provides the punch for that option that Coach Kerschbaum likes so well. He is one of the co-captains and the bossman tells us that he has been instrumental in the leadership department.

Also in the backfield is Tim Malone (5-9, 145) a senior letterman and Robert Beasly (6-2, 170) Both are returning letter winners and Coach Kerschbaum speaks highly of both. "Beasly has just tremendous potential. He runs the 100 under 10 seconds and we really feel that this kid can go far," he adds.

The slotback spot is currently being occupied by junior John Francis (5-8, 145) who was in that same slot last year.

The receiving crew consists of Dan Starling (6-2, 190) and Darryl Newby (5-9, 150), both are seniors.

STANDING TALL on the line at center is Dave Dutro a 5-9, 175 pound senior. Guards are Greg Harpe (6, 160) and Dave Martin (6-2, 175). Those two also started on the team of a year past.

Tackles include Rod May (6-1, 210) and Mike Smith (6-2, 205) a pair of rugged juniors. Fighting to break in the starting lineup at the tight end sport is a move in student from West Virginia, Kevin Thomas. Kevin is only a sophomore and he is listed as a pleasant surprise by Coach Kerschbaum.

The defensive tackle positions are manned by the Wade brothers, Jeff and Paul. Jeff is a 6-1, 195 pound senior letterman and Paul is the same at 6-2, 205. Paul is also one of the tri-captains.,

Butch Shook a junior and Mike Rourke a senior are running neck and neck for one of the linebacker spots and the coach reports that playing time may be split there.

The middle guard will be junior Rick Wagner (6,220) and the other linebacker will probably be Jerome Mack a 5-9, 190 pound returning toughie.

BOB DOZER is at right tackle he is 5-9 and 250, yes that is 250 pounds, and Gary Stauffer returns at right defensive end, he is only a junior.

At the corners are John Peake (5-9, 160) and Dave Greenwell (5-8, 145), both are returnees and both are juniors, Dave is a letterman.

Dave Tinkham is the clog at safety; he is a sparkplug at 5-8, 145; and he is the other tri-captain. Jack Kenney (5-10, 160), a senior, mans the other safety spot.

Making strong bids for some work are Ernie Blan at middle guard and Fred Fraley in the secondary.

"I would like to see our depth be a little stronger," reports Coach Kirschbaum. "But we don't face the league contenders until mid-season, so hopefully some surprises will develop by then."

When Dick speaks of the Ohio Capital Conference league contenders he points the finger at Westerville and Delaware.

"Both have alot of men coming back and Westerville has last year's quarterback coming back; he's real strong."

But with a long line of returnees and with reports of great enthusiasm and great attitude, Reynoldsburg may be another team to focus on in that OCC race. Try them.

COUNT DOWN FISHING

Sometimes we cast our arms off in a spot where we caught fish before. We know they're there, but they just won't hit. If this has ever happened to you, chances are the fish you're trying to catch are at a depth you're not reaching with your lures.

Here's a tip that will help you to find how deep they're laying. First switch to a spinner or a lure that sinks when it hits the surface of the water, start counting until it hits bottom and remember the number you stopped at. If it hit bottom at the count of 20 for example, then start your retrieve. If your lure sinks to a count of 15, then retrieve it, if this doesn't find them cast again and stop your count at the number 10.

If you hook a fish or get a strike at this count, then each time you cast out, stop counting at the number 10 and you should be where the fish are laying.

You can't catch them if you can't find them, just remember, let your lure sink and count down before you retrieve it to find the magic number.

HIDDEN LAKES

A new concept in leisure-time living is now available within 45 minutes of Columbus at Hidden Lakes. Hidden Lakes, just east of Mt. Gilead off Rt. 95 West, is an ownership campsite area offering a wide range of recreational facilities to owners.

The project, being developed by Maurice River Company will feature a recreation complex with swimming pool, tennis courts, riding stables, archery range, basketball courts, baseball diamond and will also offer three lakes stocked for fishing, sand beach swimming area, central water and electricity, and comfort stations. The Kokosing River, a well stocked fishing river runs through the property and the area is heavily wooded for outdoor nature activities.

Hidden Lakes is open year round and its location affords easy access to winter sports, hunting, state lakes, boat marinas, golf courses, race tracks and other facilities.

Hidden Lakes is a charter member of ALDA (American Land Developers Association) and CCC (Camp Coast to Coast) which offers the use of private campgrounds nationwide to owners at Hidden Lakes.

Construction has begun on recreational facilities and sites are open for inspection seven days a week until dark.

NEW WATERFOWL POINT SYSTEM

This year, standard bag and possession limits have been abandoned in favor of the point system used by the U. S. Department of the Interior. Adoption of this type season in Ohio will give sportsmen five additional days of hunting under restrictions set by the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife of the Interior Department.

With the point system, each species of waterfowl is worth a certain number of points per bird. The daily bag limit will be reached when the point value of the last bird taken added to the point values of the other birds already taken during the day reaches or exceeds 100 points.

--canvasback and redhead ducks are 100 points each, except in Ottawa County, where they cannot be taken.

--hen mallard, woodduck and hooded merganser are 90 points each.

All other species and sexes of ducks, including black ducks and pintail, are 25 points each.

The possession limit is the maximum number of birds which could have been legally taken in two days.

The daily bag limit for coot is 15 and the possession limit, after the first day, is 30.

There will be a special waterfowl season at Pymatuning Reservoir. The season for ducks, coot and merganser is Oct. 13-20 and Nov. 2-Dec. 8.

The standard bag and possession limits will apply for the Pymatuning season. The daily bag limit for ducks is four including not more than two woodduck and two black ducks.

The possession limit at Pymatuning is eight including not more than two woodduck and four black ducks.

The Pymatuning goose season will be Oct.13-Dec. 14.

The daily bag limit for geese is one Canada goose, possession limit of two.

Waterfowl hunting season daily hunting period is sunrise to sunset. Sunday hunting, except for fox, is prohibited.

No person 16 years of age or older may hunt ducks or geese without having a valid federal duck stamp. The stamp must be validated by a signature across the face of the stamp in ink.

Migratory birds wounded by hunting must be immediately killed and possessed, to become a part of the daily bag limit.

No one may hunt merganser, coot, ducks or geese by an aid of baiting, or on or over a baited area; with a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells; with a rigle, pistol, crossbow, trap, snare, net, drug poison, fishhooks or explosives; from a sink box or any type of vehicle, including airplanes; from a moving watercraft having a motor attached or from moving sailboats; by the use of recorded or electrically amplified bird calls or sounds; or by the use of live birds or decoys.

No one may kill or cripple any migratory bird without making a reasonable effort to retrieve the bird and include it in his daily bag limit.

No one may leave any migratory game bird at any place or in the custody of another person unless such birds have a tag attached, signed by the hunter, giving his address, total number and kinds of birds and the date the birds were killed.

One fully feathered wing must remain attached to all migratory game birds while being transported from the place where they were taken until they arrive at the home of the hunter or at a commercial preservation facility.

HUNTING AND FISHING DAY IN OHIO

Governor John J. Gilligan has proclaimed Sept 22 as Hunting and Fishing Day in Ohio.

"Hunters and fishermen have always been in the forefront on the conservation movement," Gilligan said. "Cooperation among sportsmen's clubs and state and federal agencies has resulted in many fine wildlife conservation programs."

"Through the years, Ohio sportsmen have paid for wildlife conservation efforts in the state through license fees and taxes paid on hunting and fishing equipment." the Governor said.

During 1972, hunters and fishermen purchased 1.5 million licenses, producing more than $7 million to assist in financing wildlife management activities.

Ohio Hunting and Fishing Day will coincide with National Hunting and Fishing Day. Many state and national sportsmen's groups are planning open houses and other activities for the day.

Dan C. Armbruster, Chief of the Division of Wildlife of the Natural Resources Department and other wildlife division officials will visit Ohio hunting and fishing clubs and state wildlife areas during the day.

SQUIRREL POPULATION UP FROM LAST YEAR

Ohio's squirrel population is as good or better than last year in most of the 88 counties, and hunters should be successful when the 1973 season opens Friday, Sept. 7, according to Dan C. Armbruster, chief of the division of wildlife of the Natural Resources Department.

Armbruster said field reports from game protectors indicate a large squirrel population, accompained by a good nut crop statewide.

Cahill Confident That Ridge Will Be A Toughie

By Sandy Schwartz

WALNUT RIDGE coach Vince Chaill speaks confidently when he talks about his mighty Scot football squad and afterall, with the group of returnees he has, 21 lettermen and nine starters, he seems to have good reason for his confidence.

Last year's Scots knocked Eastmoor off of the City South throne and then fell short in the mud bowl for the City Championship and Coach Cahill expresses desire for a return to that coveted championship duel, and an improvement on that 6-3-1 1972 record.

"The conditions that we played Northland under last year in the aCity Championship game were just awful, mud everywhere, but we aren't making excuses, we'd just like to get back there this year," expalined Cahill.

ONCE AGAIN as its feature attraction, the Ridge features Matt Guttman a solid 5-11, 195 pound senior blockbuster fullback in the backfield. Matt, an all city performer anchors a backfield which once again will run out of the famed Wishbone T.

Gary Gioa a three game starter last year will direct that Wishbone T. George Snyder (5-7, 175) will be at one halfback slot with Pete Bickel (5-11, 175) a senior and Jeff Stace (5-9, 165) and Jerry Logan (6, 180) both juniors all vying for that other halfback position.

THREE SENIORS are fighting for the center spot, Pete Lesley (5-8, 175) John Shelton (5-10, 195) and Dave McBride (5-10, 190).

Returning starters Dave Moore (5-11, 180) and Dave Golden (5-10, 185) hold down the guard positions with John Hackett close behind.

Al Dolder (6-1, 225) and John Mannick (6-1,205) are experienced tackles and Jeff Welch will do the backing up there.

FLEETFOOTED and sure handed Bob Bartaing, only a junior will be an end spot and another junior Jim Gillmer (5-11, 155) will probably be at the other one.

The defense under the direction of Jack Stephenson faces major rebuilding in some areas but the Split 4 or Notre Dame 4, whichever you prefer to call it, finds 3 returnees to anchor it.

"If we have a weak spot right now its the lack of experience on defense but we'll iron that out," claims Cahill.

WHEN ASKED about the City League South race Cahill responded this way, "We are defenitely going to be a contender, and Marion Franklin who we open our league schedule with figures to be real strong. I also look for West and Eastmoor to be real tough, but again, we plan to be right up there."

Vince claims that attitude is at its finest and being labeled the team to beat has no bearing on theteam.

You'd probably be safe in betting that Walnut Ridge will be right up there and maybe more, and who knows, perhaps we have a City League football dynasty growing here, something like Eastmoor has had.

Lions Roaring But A Little Green

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

"We are really young and inexperienced," claims a concerened Bexley coach Dan O'Brien. "We have only seven lettermen retrurning and again I say that we are very green, but the enthusiasm that these kids are showing is just execptional."

Green is a pretty good word to describe a team that lost 19 starter from a third place 1972 Mid-Eight finisher. A few of the mainstays on that 6 wins and 3 loss finisher of last season are back, and one big one, is back in a different capacity.

CO-CAPTAIN Jeff Edelstein, an all league tackle last year, has made the move to fullback. At 6-1, 205, Coach O'Brien tells us that Jeff is quick on starts and he feels that he will fit right in and provide the Lions with some power running.

"We'll be running out of our Power T that we have used successfully in the past," said O'Brien. He also indicated that the speed and power of Edelstein will be of great value in that T, this being instrumental in the switch.

But one man that won't be back is Steve Germain a steady three year performer at quarterback for the nifty Lions. His abscense is being felt strongly already.

The quarterback spot is up for grabs and being shared by three sharpshooters and Dan indicates that it may be a while before a clean cut starter emerges. Steve O'Brien (6,145), Rich Germain (6,150) and Jim Betz (5-10, 160) are all contenders.

"No one has the inside track right now," added Coach O'Brien, "and this makes them scrap even harder."

STEVE AND Rick are both juniors and Jim is only a sophomore. Rick is Steve's younger brother. Steve quarterbacked Coach O'Brien's first two Bexley clubs and Coach O'Brien has nothing but praise for the young man.

LETTERMAN Howard Cohen (6,170) is expected to be the center and he will be flanked at the guards by Rick Kirk (6,185) and Dane Knolls (5-9,160).

Tackles include Rob Robertson (5-10, 185), Steve Engels (6-1,230) and Co-captain Tom Holden.

Holden is a solid 6 foot 200 pounder who along with Edelstein is expected to go both ways, (both offense and defense) and lead the fresh squad into combat.

THE END POSITIONS could be occupied by junior Jeff Holtfretter (6-1, 190) and Bryce Johnson (6-2,130). These two will be catching the bullets for the Bexley offense.

Along with Edelstein, the Lions will feature another hard nose running back in John Bernlohr. John is a holdover from last year's backfield and at 165 Coach O'Brien feels he is somewhat of a cannon on legs.

The other halfback slot will probably be shared by Steve Marr and Tom Beck. Reports are that both are showing steady improvement.

DEFENSIVE COACH Bill Hoyer finds that Edelstein and Holden are the only returnees from last years defensive squad. It looks as though some major rebuilding lies in his hands.

"OF OUR 53 squad members right now, 23 of them are freshmen so again, I say we are young, but I think that we can make up for this in other ways, enthusiasm being one of those ways," said O'Brien.

"These kids are really eager to learn and this is visible in our progress already."

O'Brien added that he feels this year's squad is quicker than last years.

"I figure Groveport and Urbana to be the teams to beat in our league and we play Groveport our third game so, I guess we'll know just where we stand early." This statement by Lion coach Dan O'Brien gives up about the best indication of how the Lions will be.

The Old Timer

West's Koblenz Sees Baseball Better Than Football

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

When you talk football with West's coach Dave Koblentz, he likes to talk baseball. It seems that Big Dave has a fine baseball squad coming back this school year and he sort of shrugs at his returning football squad.

Is that a decoy? Things don't look as bad around The WEST barracks as Kobe makes it look. Afterall, 10 lettermen do return.

Ron Williams, a 6-1, 180 pound smashing bruiser returns with his swift moves and unswift niceness to enemy tacklers this year. Smooth Ron is tabbed as a shoe in for All-city honors by area coaches.

But Coach Keblentz feels unsure at this point who will be handing the ball off to talented Ron. (He cracked the line at about five yards a try last year.)

"This is definitely a weak spot of ours, this quarterback situation, we have about four kids that don't look real bad back there but losing two good ones from last year and not having experience will hurt," contends Dave.

These two quarterbacks that made the Cowboy offense tick last year were Chuck Walker and Larry Todd. Filling their shoes should be no easy chore for their succesor (s) but giving it a whirl are Mike Bowman and Linwood (Scootie) Patrick.

Bill Brentlinger (5-10, 170), who shared the fullback duties last year, is back as a fulltimer this year, and he and Williams will be looked to to do most of the running chores.

Others expected to be of help in that ground gobbling offense are Tom Biggers (5-10, 195) and Mark Reeves (5-8, 145). Both were starters and lettered last year on defense where they are expected to play a big role again.

Rosie Williams a 5-7 running back is making a bid for some playing time according to Coach Koblentz and Dave seems to like what he sees in him. "He is real quick and maybe if he matures a little he could help."

The Buff and Brown will open up with Dave McKee, a senior letterman at one of the receiving spots and big things are expected of him.

"The offensive line is beginning to shape up now but we've still quite a few holes to patch up," explains Dave when asked about the interior line situation.

Gary Yoder a solid 5-11, 190 pound senior returns to anchor the line. He will be flanked on either side by returnee Hap Hall (5-11, 175) and possibly be another defensive standout, Don Snyder (5-11, 180).

Working hard there for starting roles are Larry Phillips (5-10, 155) a junior and Don Krebbs (6-1,175) also a junior.

Tackles will be Wayne Gatewood (6-4,230) who lettered at that same spot last year and Dave Keiser (6-1, 195). Doesn't sound bad at all now does it Dave?

"Our defense looks pretty decent but if we can develop some depth out of some of these 10th graders we'll be in good shape," Coach Koblentz sums up when speaking of the famed Cowboy defense.

Pete Katris (6, 270) will open up at middle guard. Coach Koblentz describes his 270 as solid. Working at tackle are Gatewood, and Joe Johns a 6-3, 230 pound junior.

Jerry Dymek (6-2,170) is slated at one defensive end slot and the coach puts the other spot up for grabs.

The linebacking crew looks real strong. Leading the way is Snider the snior member of the crew. He was an all-city pick last year. Ron Williams will also render his speed and talents to the secondary this year when he is not tired from running the ball.

Defensive halfbacks Tom Biggers (5-10, 145) a junior, and Mark Reeves (5-8, 145) a senior, return to the deep backfield this year as seasoned veterans after a year's service.

Tim Brink (5-8, 145) and Dean Smith (5-8, 155) are among others being considered for work in the secondary.

"We're really small but I will say that this is the best attitude and enthusiasm that we've had in a real long time, these young kids are quite coachable, eager to learn," speaks Coach Koblentz.

In this, Koblentz's sixth year, he is 30-14 with a tie in his first five, he picks Eastmoor, Marion Franklin and Walnut Ridge as the toughies in the City League South.

When we asked Coach Koblentz how it felt being picked a contender by area coaches Dave replied, "That is pretty nice of the other guys, tell'm I really appreciate it," but we're just not sure right now."

Coach Feels Rams Have A Chance

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

"If we can stay healthy and in real good shape, we stand a chance," says Whitehall grid mentor Mike Capoziello. "The way I fgure it we haven't lost a game yet," he added, at a pre-season get together.

When Coach Capoziello speaks of being in real good shpe, he probably is refering to last years fading Rams when they lost their lead to an aroused Eastmoor team with under four minutes of playing time left in the contest.

Or, he could be refering to the two other times that the Rams went into the fourth quarter with comfortable leads only to have the roof cave in again.

"I GUESS ONE of the reasons that we lost those leads was because of alot of those kids having to go both ways. To try to eliminate that tiuredness, we are going to do alot of pre-season running and I think that this will help us in super shape," explained Mike.

But as Mike insinuated, there's no use crying over spilled milk, and the black and white will hustle onto the field this football season with 10 returning lettermen.

Returning to the quarterback spot will be mighty Ram Jerry Montogomery, (6, 170#. Jerry only a junior, leads an all underclass backfield which Coach Capoziello indicates shows quite a bit of potential.

"Jerry needs alot of game experience, but he shows me alot of potential, he throws the ball real well," said Mike.

GLENN MCMILLIAM a 5-7, 175 pound gutty cannonball returns at fullback. Halfbacks look to be Mark Hunter (5-6, 135) only a sophomore and Steve Marinello (6, 165) a junior letterman.

Track speedster Jeff Phillips (6, 170) is also making a mentionable bid for work in the backfield.

Paul Dillon (5-11, 180) will be at tight end and Marl Wiggington (5-9, 180) will back him up. Both are seniors; Paul is a letterman.

Three swifties are fighting it out for thw wide receiver slot. They are Tim Anderson (5-10, 152) Ken Moore (5-10, 150) and Roger Day (6, 170), all are juniors.

A PAIR OF juniors are competing for the center position and when we last talked to Coach Capoziello, Kip Kane, (6, 185) had the inside track on Robert Ray (5-9, 165).

Dave Fl;emming a letterman at defensive end last year, will double up and play offensive guard this year, joining him thtere will be another seasoned starter, senior Tom Athey (5-10, 180). Backing up there will be Jim Jordan (5-7, 155).

Leading a healthy list of candidates for the tackle positio is returnee Brain Frye (6-3, 230) who Coach Capoziello feels is exceptional. Also making a run for playing time is Sam Miller.

"We've been working real hard on offensive, and I really think that there is alot of potential there. If we can gain some depth out of some of these younger kins we'll scare some people,;' boasts business like Mike.

TURNING TO defense we find alot of the same faces that man the offense.

Flemming (6, 185) and Dillon will man the ends with Frye and Matt Whittmer (5-10, 165), who is a sophomore, at the tackles.

Jordan will be the middle guard and showing much improvement there is junior Dennis White.

The linebacker spots are very much undecided according to Coach Capoziello.

MARINELLO AND Hunter will be in the cornerback positions.

A real struggle for the starting spot as the Monster Man of "Ram Man", as Coach Caposiello calls it, has developed. Working hard is Don French, a sophomore and Bryce Rile, a junior.

Coach Capoziello points to Westerville and Gahanna as league contenders gbut he ffeels that the rest of the league will be much improved.

And yes, he feels that one of those improved teams will be Whitehall.

Eastmoor Has Tradition-Griffin

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

Tradition is probably the best word to use when you describe Eastmoor High School football. Coached by Bob Stuart, the Warrior machine has rolled to seven city championships under the veteran boss since his arrival at the Weyant Avenue school 15 years ago.

Area coaches are always pointing the pre-season finger at Big Bob and his crew, "I think that this kind of helps us, mentally, that is. We've got a pretty good tradition going over here and this makes the kids want to work harder," explains a very modest Coach Stuart.

You might also add that in recdnt years (the last four) another word associated with Eastmoor, is that of Griffin.

This year is no exception.

RAY GRIFFIN, a 5-11 165 pound smooth gliding halfback will be once again thwarting enemy defenders. Ray is reported to look better than ever and of course Coach Stuart is real high on the senior co-captain.

"Super, is probably the best word available to describe him," gloats Stu.

A new problem that offensive back coach William "Red" Courtney will be faced with this year is finding a top notch quarterback. Mark Kraker a three year regular and all everything is now gone, and the man who handed off to the famed Archie Griffin and passed to the swift Monty Hannah in recent years could be sorely missed.

"We've got three kids that are fighting real hard at quarterback right now and we probably won't know for a while who it will be, they are all pretty even," said Stuart.

THOSE THREE are Brian Johnson, (5-10, 165), BrainThomas (6-1, 165) and Frank Laswell. Johnson would think to have the inside track, he played secodn fiddle to Kraker last year, but Coach Stuart tells us that Laswell is throwing the ball well. Johnson was a regular on defense last year while Laswell was with the reserves.

Coach Stuart has high praise for Thomas who will be attending Eastmoor for the first time this fall. He is a transfer student from Cleveland John Kennedy where he lettered last year as a sophomore.

Scooting along side Griffin in the Warrior backfield will be Rixk Meindel, a senior co-captain. Rick stands 6-2, 210 and has experience to spare. Tom Hamer (5-10, 165) who moved from part time duty at fullback. Hunter is a senior letterman; Kind is a junior.

THE RECEIVING crew looks like Duncan Griffin (brother of Archie and Ray) a solid 5-11, 185 pound pass catcher at tight end and Phil Lias (5-10, 160) at the wide spot.

They will most abley be backeds up by returnee Pete Cannon (5-11, 155) and John Davis (6-185). Coach Stuart relays that the pass catching department looks promising.

"Our offensive line, although not real big, does show some promise," says Stuart of his interior line.

Ron Bensinger (5-11, 165) is back at center. He was a frequent sub and lettered last year. Charles Garawnski (6, 165) should be at one guard spot with Ed Wolin or Smith Reid, a returning letterman at the other.

TACKLES WILL probably be good sized Jim Pike (6-3, 230) and Larry Gessel (6-1, 190), Bob Hilton (6-2, 185) a letterman at end last year, or Ed Rafael (6-1, 190).

"We are going to need some major rebuilding on the defensive line," explains Stuart when asked about his defense, but he was eager to discuss that strong returning Warrior secondary.

Hunter, Griffin and Meindel all strong two-way performers last year will do the same this year as they will man the linebacker spots.

Johnson, Cannon and Larry James (6-1, 165) all regulars last year will police the deep secondary.

The only positives up front that Coach Stuart could reveal when we talked to him were returning letterman Leonard Leveret (5-10, 160) tackle and Paul Lewis who was a regular at line acker last year and makes the switch to tackle this year.

STU SEES Marion-Franklin, West, and Walnut Ridge (the team that bumped the Warriors from the City South throne last year), as top league contenders.

"Things are looking better, I think we'l;l be all right," sums up the Eastmoror boss.

And area coaches will probably be on the close lookout for Sut and his mighty men this year, because when a Bob Stuart goes 7-2 as Stu's hard hitters did last year, a long winter and spring usually bring a whole bunch of revenge.

Arts And Craft Fall Season Is Sept. 10

The Coplumbus Recreation and Parks Department Adult and Crafts Center will open the fall season of classes September 10.

Adults who wish to learn to create with their hands and to develop new recreational interests may enroll in a wide variety of classes for a small materials' fee.

SPECTATOR NEWSPAPERS

Watterson Hopes For Repeat Of '72 Season

By Sandy Schwartz

COMING off of a championship season, in almost every way, Ron Shay and his Watterson football troops are busily at work trying to fill some large vacated positions off of lasy ears wonder team.

First, and most importantly, is the hole left by superman Art Yaroch. Yaroch who led the Eagles to a State AA runners-up spot last season and another CCL Championship is off and throwing for Ball State University.

THE NEED for top notch quarterback seems to be a must as the slant-and-sweep trademark which is branded on the Watterson men requires a commander there.

Top candidates for the director of that mighty offense right now are Dean Dixon (6-2, 170), Ed Golden (5-8, 150) and Fred Boyle (5-11, 170). Fred is the y ounger brother of Bill who quarterbacked Watterson to stardom a few years back.

"No one really has the inside track right now," stated Shay, "And we really won't have the spot sewed up until we are into the season," he added.

GENERAL consensus is that Yaroch, that classy all-starter, will not easily be replaced.

Whom ever the signal caller may be, he will have a solid fullback behind him in Jim Grimm (6-1, 194). Grimm a senior, was a regular on last year's Eagle squad and expectations are high on him around Eagle land. He is a three y.-" starter and quite a gutty performer.

In all, seven regulars are back from last year but with the reigorous schedule that Shay's men face maturation could come soon (they face Cincinnati Elder and Lancaster early in the season).

OTHER returning starters are Brad Walker (6-1, 205) who doubles as a center and linebacker, Dan Dillon (5-9, 180) a linebacker. Jeff Nadalin (5-10, 175) defensive tackle Steve Weisneback (6, 205) offensive tackle, and Mike Denning (5-9, 175) an offensive guard. All but Nadalin are seniors, he is a junior.

Dillon played a big role in the championship team of a year ago and Shay claims he's now better than ever.

Paul McCloskey a 5-9, 170 pound wingback is making a strong bid for a starting role. Paul was on the squad last year but saw little action.

UP FROM the reserves is Chris Bruzzise a fleetfooted halfback who renders promise to the run and gun offense and Doug Pardi a steady runner who has switched from quarterback.

"Right now our main concern is with the offense. We figure that we can put a defense together alot quicker than we can an offense so that is where the emphasis has been thus far," claims wonder boss Shay.

Defense has been strong points of past Watterson poll placers and everyone around Eagle country seems to be talking just about the same thing.

OTHER candidates who figure in the Wateerson plans include Scott Bringardner (6-3, 190) an sure handed tight end and Dean Sivinski (6-0, 180) at guard. Shay lettered eveyone on lasy years championship team.

"The ball club may be young and inexperienced but we'll be good, sharp and crisp," added Shay a verteran of six Watterson [redacted].

"Although our depth looks pretty good right now we'll have to stay healthy if we want to be a solid winner," said Shay.

When asked about the tough schedule he must face so early in the season Shay replied, "IT could work both ways I guess, if we win them it will help us a nd mature us quick, if we lose, well, of course it will hurt."

North and Westerville, perennial toughies, are also included in that tough schedule.

Commenting on the CCL race this football season Shay indicated that it probably would be a dogfight as it has in the past but he did sya, "Hartley has to be the team to beat. They have the most returnees and they were awfully solid last year."

Well, the mighty Eagles of past mightlook to have their football empire on the decline this season but you'd better wait a while, at least until mid October, to make any kind of irrational statement

Administrators To Help Small Businessmen

Columbus-Frank D. Ray, Director of the Columbus District Office of the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA), today announced the appointments of Kemper M. Allison and John H. Harris, Jr. to the Columbus Active Corps of Executives (ACE).

As volunteers in the SCORE-ACE program, these men will provide management counseling to present and prospective small business owners and managers.

Gernerd M. Cohen is Chairman of the Columbus SCORE-ACE Chapter. All persons interested in applying for membership should contact the Columbus District SBA Office at 34 North High Street, telephone 469-7325, Ray added.

Among The Fairest

Promoted By Crane

Columbus–Appointment of Paul D. Posey as senior plant manager at Crane Plastics is announced by Howard S. Bennett, Jr., vice president, operations.

Paul D. Posey, as senior plant manager, a new position, will be responsible for all first-shift manufacturing at Crane.

Previously an assistant plant manager, he joined Crane in 1952 as a production foreman and subsequently held the positions of quality control manager and production supervisor.

Posey is a member of Central Ohio Management Association, in which he has held various offices.

Pool Patter

by Peg Pierce

One of the outstanding groups of the Jewish Center Teen Camp this summer was ably led by counselor Mike Rosen and junior counselor Allyson Horne. The following boys passed their Red Cross Basic Canoeing Certification: Peter Adelman, David Blumenstein, Peter Fraenkel, David Herman, Chris Mann, David Portman, David Walcoff, Robbie Walhmann and Richard Wallach. Peter Aleiman, David Blumenstein, David Herman and Richard Wallach also were certified in Advanced Canoeing. Most of their work was completed at Hoover Dam and Alum Site Lakes.

Fall program begins Sunday, October 21.

Appointed Department Chairman

East Columbus - Philip E. Vanik, M.D., this week was appointed Chairman of the Anesthesiology Department at St. Ann's Hospital, 1555 Bryden Rd.

Dr. Vanik was graduated from Kent State University and received his M.D. Degree from Ohio State University.

He became a Fellow of the American College of Anesthesia in 1966, prior to accepting teaching assignments at both Western Reserve and at Ohio State.

Dr. Vanik became a member of the Medical Staff of St. Ann's Hospital in 1971.

Pvt. Robert J. Rieser

Graduated

East Columbus- Marine Pvt. Robert J. Rieser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Rieser of 2749 Maywood Rd., graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Speaking of Beauty

HELLO! IS FUN BUT GOODBYE! HURTS!!!

It's always such fun to greet old and new patrons but it feels bad when someone moves away or even just stops coming around. If you haven't been in lately please come around soon and say hello. We need you!

For an appointment or other information come in, write, or telephone.

Her Winning Record Is Hard To Beat

GROVEPORT—This ten year old, baton-twirling Sherry Rene Belville, a straight A fifth grader at Sedalia Elementary School, is shown with just 11 of the 160 trophies she has won in only five months of training and competition. On Aug. 31 she was named 1973 Sweet Corn Festival Juvenile Majorette Queen, also Miss Laker Queen, at Millersport. She swept the field, getting first place in modeling, twirling, fancy strut, fancy best appearing, military strut and best appearing, hoop, flag, two baton and knives. Six days before she was named 1973 Miss Bluegrass in Kentucky; nine days previously she gained the title Zanesville Fair Queen. In the picture she is holding medals she received at South Bend, Ind., in the World Championships at America's Youth On Parade, where with 8400 contestants, she placed in the top 10 in strut, hoop, two baton and flag classes. Let's Rock 'N Roll To 45s At The Dale

Columbus—Nostalgia or curiousity, one or the other, may play a part in motivating couples to attend the "Oldies But Goodies Dance," featuring a record library of hits of the 50s and 60s, to be held at Valley Dale, Sept. 21. It you never danced to rock and roll rhythms while Chubby Checkers or Elvis sang the lyrics, you might like to try it, or for "old time's sake" you may want to dance again to old and familiar tunes like "Peppermint Twist" or "Jail House Rock." Perhaps you just may want to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, which helps the five million children who have the serious lung-damaging disease. Mask II is sponsoring the dance to be held at Valley Dale. If you don't recognize the persons in the picture, meet Mask II members, left to right: Mrs. Dan Matya, Dottie Dooley and Mrs. Julie Strausbaugh. For ticket information call 891-1383 or get them at the door. (Photo by Elsie V. Weaver.)

High Prices Won't Affect School Lunch Price, Yet

Some items sold in Columbus school cafeterias, including milk, will cost more this year, but plate lunch prices will remain unchanged.

That was the word from Charles Hartman, the school system's director of food services.

He said price increases on food items such as pizza, chile, some sandwiches and desserts will be small, averaging only two or three cents.

Hartman pointed out that milk prices will be increased only in the 119 secondary and elementary schools that have food service programs.

The price of a half-pint of milk in those schools will go up from four cents last year to 10 cents in 1973-74.

In 51 elementary schools without food service, programs, Hartman said, the price of milk will remain at five cents a half-pint.

The change in milk prices results from new regulations adopted by the Food and Nutrition Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Hartman said prices of plate lunches, which include a half-pint of milk, will remain the same as last year: 50 cents in secondary schools, 40 cents in elementaries and 25 cents in priority schools (schools with enrollments that include a high percentage of students whose families receive Aid to Dependent Children).

Hartman cited higher food costs as the reason for the lunchroom price increases, adding that plate lunch prices can remain unchanged because of federal subsidies that support the plate lunch program.

About 20,000 plate lunches are prepared in the school system;s central kitchen and distributed to elementary schools each day during the school year. In addition, some 6,000 plate lunches are prepared each day in the kitchens of individual secondary schools.

On the possibility of a meat and fish shortage, Hartman said bids have already been received from companies that guarantee an adequate supply of those staples for at least the first eight weeks of school.

He noted that prices contained in the bids included increases averaging about 15 per cent. In some cases, he said, the price increases were has high as 60 per cent.

Hartman also said the school system will again this year offer free lunches for children from disadvantaged families. Letters explaining which families qualify and application forms were sent home with all school children the first day of school, he added.

Madison Local Board Hires Additional Staff And Needs More

Groveport-Madison Local Board of Education, in its regular meeting Monday employed four additional teachers and four school bus drivers, announced that it is receiving applications for librarians and a second health nurse, and authorized the attendance of a number of teachers, administrators and counselors at meetings. The board hired the following certificated personnel: Nancy Aiello, elementary teacher; Mrs. Kay Davis, elementary music; Linda Reeg, grade six, middle school and Mrs. Theresa Thullen, elementary.

The following teachers were appointed to head the intramural program: Rebecca Gallione, Edwin Gilkey, Barbara Jedinak, Flora Reinmuth and Sharon Scherbak.

Lloyd Burt, Dennis Lucy, Patricia Russell and Addie Yates were employed as school bus drivers for the school year.

A recommendation was passed that would allow the superintendent to reassign kindergarten students as necessary to better balance class sizes during the 1973-74 school year. It has been necessary to reassign some 20 kindergarten pupils from Dunloe to Edwards Schools as of this date.

AUTHORIZATION was granted for the Middle School football field to be used by the Madison District Athletic Association for three Sunday afternoons, Sept. 23, Oct. 14 and 28, for Little League football games.

The board accepted a donation from the Brice PTA for the purchase of library shelving.

The superintendent was authorized to sell the following obsolete equipment; a power lift gate for a pick-up truck, lawn mowing equipment and record players. He is to sell them at the highest amount that he can obtain for them and if they are not sold in a reasonable time, they are to be discarded.

THE BOARD noted an interest in an annexation hearing scheduled by the Franklin County Commissioners for 10 a.m. October 10. The hearing concerns a petition for the transfer of 81.299 acres from Madison Township to the City of Columbus. The area is between Refugee Road and Winchester Pike, immediately west of Courtright Road.

In other business, the board announced that state funds reimbursed them for the purchase of five school buses in 1973 in the amount of $30,711., with the net local cost being $17,097.70. One of the old buses was sold for $400.

The State Department of Education has approved the board's D.P.P.F. application the amount of $45,724.00. Therefore, they are now receiving applications for the following positions: three elementary librarians and a second health nurse.

A tentative contract will also be negotiatedwith the Village of Groveport for the services of a person to serve in a drop-out prevention program, beginning January 1, 1974.

ATTENDANCE at meetings were authorized as indicated below with expenses paid by the Board of Education: Status Seminar Seminar, Columbus, Sept. 11 for Fred S. Cover; All Ohio Guidance Conference, Columbus, September 27-28, Five guidance counselors assigned to high school building: Judith Antle, Kathy Handel, Sammy Meek, John Toms.

Interested People Are Sought

The Columbus Public Schools need housewives, students, senior citizens, men and women in all walks of life. The School Volunteer Program is recruiting all interested people to volunteer in the inner-city schools. People who love children and enjoy working in a direct action program are urged to participate.

Volunteers should be able to give at least one-half day a week and will work directly in the schools where their services have been requested. Schedules and locations are arranged on a mutually agreeable basis.

Programs where volunteers are presently needed are tutoring, pre-kindergarten and library. Orientation and training are provided for each program. The only requirement is a sincere willingness to serve.

Volunteers free the teacher from many non-professional tasks, giving them more time to teach, and at the same time build a stronger link between school and community. Volunteers are needed in every school program where children can profit from extra hands and hearts.

Anyone who has the time and interest may obtain further information by contacting the Volunteer Office at the Columbus Education Centerr, 464-4300.

New PR Assistant Appointed At Cap

Bexley-George Heddleston Jr., an August graduate of Mount Union College, has joined the Capital University staff as an assistant director of public relations and sports information director.

Heddleston's duties will include general public relations, news and feature writing, and all sports information.

While enrolled at Mount Union as an English major, Heddleston served as sports information director and was coordinator of all sports publications for the school.

Prior to that, he was the Mahoning County news reporter and later sports editor of the Alliance Review. Heddleston also was a play-by-play sports reporter for an East Liverpool radio station.

Excise Tax Distributed

A total of $8,883,033 in gasoline taxes was distributed in August to Ohio's cities, villages, counties and townships, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported.

The 964 cities and villages in the state shared in a total of $4,659,033 on the basis of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries, Deputy Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes, he added.

Distributions to this area in August included:

Columbus 3400,275; Grove City 11,100; Hilliard 5,468; Marble Cliff Village 425; New Rome Village 84; and Valleyview Village 277.

Bexley, 7, 127; Columbus, 340275; Brice Village, 109; Groveport Village, 2,156; and Whitehall 12,215; and Lockbourne Village 576.

Ground Broken For 1.5 Million Dollar Southeast Training Center

GROVEPORT—Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Friday, Sept. 7, on the site, 4200 Bixby Rd., Groveport of a one and one-half million dollar training center for the mentally retarded youth of southeast Franklin County. Construction is to begin immediately. Several hundred parents, teachers, village, township and county officials gathered to witness the ceremonies. A Boy Scout troop sponsored by ARC 28 formed the color guard for the presentation of the flag and the pledge of allegiance. The invocation was given by the Rev. Donald Catron, minister of the Groveport United Methodist Church. Giving brief messages to the gathering were Mrs. John J. Gilligan, wife of the governor; Dr. Roger Gove, who announced that he is retiring after 30 years working in the field of mental retardation; county commissioners, Mayor Robert Dagenhart, Groveport. and officials of the Mental Retardation Board, Council for Retarded Children, and the ARC Advisory Board. Stephen Pleasnick, administrator for the Franklin County Mental Retardation Program, was the master of ceremonies. Mrs. Gilligan and Susie Christy, 9, an East Columbus child who will attend the school at its opening in September, 1974, turned the first shoveiful of dirt. Mayor Robert Dagenhart shown at the right, was one of the dignitaries turning shoveisful of dirt at the site. According to architects Trautwine and Associates, the building, as shown in their drawing, will be brown masonry with light facias and solar gray glazing. It will be completely landscaped, including several playgrounds. The interior will consist of 18 classrooms, separate rooms for art, music, shop, housekeeping, a full kitchen and a combination multi-purpose room-gymnasium complete with a full stage.

Fashion Fantasy Sept. 18

THE COLUMBUS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA "Fashion Fantasy", a fashion show luncheon, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 18 at the Columbus Sheraton Hotel. The program is an 11 a.m. social hour and a noon luncheon followed by a one o'clock male-female fashion show. The show chairman is Mrs. George F. Busche. Male and female models will be provided by the Kathleen Busche Prestige Modeling Agency. Walker's will provide the men's wear and Cole of Columbus the women's wear for the models. Jack Ceader, left, president of Coles of Columbus, talks with model Chris Server. Miss Server is wearing a Coles of Columbus gown. Looking on are menu chairman Mrs. Mary Stern and event chairman Mrs. George Busche.

What's New In Fashion Will Be Pilot Club Show Theme

Members of the Pilot Club of Columbus a classified service club for executive business and professional women, have been busy making plans for its 7th annual benefit "What's New In Fashion" to be held Saturday, September 22 at the Neil House.

A social hour at 11:30 a.m. will be followed by a luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

The latest fashions in coats, suits, dresses, sportswear, evening attire, and furs will be presented.

Commentator will be Mrs. Joan Wernz.

One of the highlights of the annual event is the announcement and presentation of an award to the "Career Woman of the Year".

Miss Rosella Fabian is General Chairman, and Mrs. Jane Sutherland is in charge of reservations. Tickets are available from all club members.

Area women working for the event are: Miss Jeanne Anderson, 1097 Irongate Lane; Mrs. Ruth Eberle, III S. Dawson Avenue; Mrs. Herbert Jaymes, 736 South Cassingham Road; Mrs. Mary Starbuck, 797 S. Roosevelt Ave.; Miss Mary Ann Trapp, 1333 Haddon Road; Mrs. Marilyn Wills, 1374 Picard Road; Miss Chjarlotte Bassnmett, 739 Vernon Road; Dr. Wilma Parr, 739 Vernon Road; Miss Lucille Geyer, 6390 Feder Road and Miss Geraldine Crites, 1348 Deerlick Drive.

The club's most recent project is the completion and furnishing of a recreation area room at the Vision Center, 1393 North High St.

Historical Center Films Are Renewed

Free weekend film presentations resume in mid-September at the Ohio Historical Center, Interstate 71 and 17th Ave., under sponsorship of The Ohio Historical Society.

The schedule:

Sept. 15 - 16 - "The Great War" uses newsreel photography to illustrate events leading to the outbreak of Worlkd War I and the war's highlights.

Sept. 22 - 23 - "The Crooked River Dies: An Epilogue" (color) examines the Cuyahoga River and progress made in cleanup of its pollution.

Sept. 29 - 30 - "Our Gang" comedies: "The Awful Tooth," "Fishy Tales" and "Two, Two Young."

The films are presented at 2 and 3 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday on the above dates in the Center's auditorium.

Milk Variety Will Spice School Menus

Participants in child nutrition programs will now be offered a choice of the type of milk they drink in schools, under regulations announced this week by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The revised regulations apply to the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, Special Milk and Special Food Service Programs.

Under the new regulations, milk used in these programs may now include lowfat, skim or cultured buttermilk, unflavored or flavored, in addition to whole milk. Previously, only fluid whole milk was allowed.

The change will allow flexibility in menu planning, and will encourage student participation in feeding programs.

All types of milk served must, of course, meet state and local standards.

A proposal to revise the regulations was announced by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) June 1 and comments were invited over the next 30 days from all interested persons.

Responses were received from 512 persons. Of these, 501 were in favor, with 10 having reservations, and 11 were opposed.

The revised regulations were published in the Federal Register Aug. 13 and went into effect immediately upon publication.

At The Parks This Week

Beech-Maple Lodge in Blacklick Woods Metropolitan Park is the site for a display of wildlife art by local artists Sunday, September 16. Included in those to be at the show are John Davis. Jim Glover, Norv Hall, Dave Henderson, and Herb Rumfield. Wood carvings, oil and watercolor paintings, and charcoal and pen and ink drawings will be on exhibition. The public is invited to stop by anytime between 1 and 4 p.m. to meet the artists and view their work.

Darby Creek: The ancient Japanese art of cultivating trees in shallow containers to aesthetically create giant trees in miniature is the subject of a workshop to be given in Cedar Ridge Lodge Friday, September 21. The program will be conducted by Art Patznick, Dawes Arboretum Superintendent. Registration is limited and must be made in advance by calling 882-1796. The fee of $9 covers the cost of the tree, container and soil.

Sharon Woods: One of the fast growing hobbies today is that of gathering and eating wild foods. A workshop on this and also on native poisonous plants is scheduled for Tuesdays, September 18 and 25, at the Spring Hollow Conference Center. Call 882-1796 to register or for more information

Blacklick Woods: A tree walk begins each Sunday at 2 p.m. from the trading post. Park naturalists will use slides, tape recordings, and actual specimens in presenting a program about INSECTS OF THE NIGHT Saturday, September 22, at 8 p.m. in Beech-Maple Lodge.

Blendon Woods: The Walden Wildlife Refuge will be open Sunday, September 16, from 120 a.m. to 5 p.m. for the observation of early arriving waterfowl. A TREE WALK begins from the Visitor Center at 2 p.m. each Sunday.

Darby Creek: Programs are a GENERAL NATURE WALK Saturday and Sunday starting from the trading post at 2 p.m., a slide-talk on MIGRATING BIRDS Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Cedar Ridge Lodge, and a slide-talk on FALL WILDFLOWERS Saturday in the lodge at 3:30 p.m., all led by Naturalist Bob Blanke.

Republicans Plan Outdoor 'Roast'

A county-wide Republican Party will be held Sunday, September 16, at Franklin County Fairgrounds in Hilliard.

Honorary chairman of the party is Senator John W. Bricker.

The September 16 outing will kick off with carnival games and rides starting at noon, and will feature the "Donkey Roast" served from Noon to 2 p.m. and 5 to 8 p.m. The Capital City Young Republican Club is coordinating all arrangements for the Sept. 16 affair with participating groups.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 18 and may be obtained through Franklin County Republican Headquarters, 34 N. High St., 224-3939.

It's Tomato Time

IT'S TOMATO FESTIVAL time again and the City of Reynoldsburg, a good neighbor to many Franklin County communities, has invited all area residents to visit the city today through Saturday and find out just what the tomato is all about.

Reynoldsburg Mayor Richard J. Daugherty has issued a special invitation for area people to come to the city and enjoy themselves for the four-day festival that observes the fact that Alexander W. Livingston started the tomato on its way to becoming a national legend.

THE FESTIVAL is sponsored by the Reynoldsburg Business Association a group of business people who are proud of their community.

The city's doors will be wide open. Tomato exhibits, products, shows, games and a carnival will be some highlights.

There will be a gigantic parade Saturday, Sept. 15 starting at 11 a.m. and heading east on the city's Main Street.

VISIT THE Tomato Festival. It will be a tasty treat.

Fall Roundup Days Will Benefit Crippled Children

FALL ROUNDUP days have arrived for Ohio rodeo and horse show fans and participants. The 1974 Roundup, featuring a genuine western rodeo this year is set for September 13-16 at the Ohio State Exposition Coliseum.

It is sponsored by the Parents' Group of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children for the Ohio Western Horse Association with all proceeds from the event benefiting local handicapped children.

The Roundup will feature 1200 entries, from 42 Ohio horse clubs, participating in showmanship, horsemanship and performance classes as well as races and contests.

The clubs represent 4-H groups, horse clubs, pony clubs and youth groups. Riders will range in age from 9 years to 70 years.

THE WORLD championship J. Bar Rodeo will be presented four times during the Roundup. The times are 8 p.m. Friday, 1:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

The stars of the rodeo are Zoe Ann and Gary Henry. There will also be animals and clowns in the show.

THE HIGHLIGHT of the four-day Roundup will be on Saturday, September 15, which has been designated as Crippled Children's Night.

Hugh DeMoss, news director for WLW-C television, will be the master of ceremonies for the festivities which will start at 7 p.m. A new Roundup queen will be chosen from candidates from each participating horse club.

The new queen and her court will be presented in a royal coronation ceremony. Jill Gibbs, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibbs, 3201 Polley Rd., will reign as Roundup Princess.

SUNDAY morning at 10 a.m., September 16, a unique church service, one on horseback, will take place in the Coliseum. Tickets are available from the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children's treatment center at 565 Children's Drive West, 253-5523, from any member of the Parents' Group, or OWHA member and at the door.

Ed Cecil, New Albany, is president of the OWHA. Hugh Gibbs, 3201 Polley Rd. is Roundup chairman for the Parents' Group and Bill Bown, 3678 Milton Ave., is the president of the Parents Group.

Farm Science Review Will Overflow With Displays

LIKE A CURTAIN rising for a play, hundreds of tents will soon rise just west of the runways at Don Scott Airport. And the action will designate the start of the 11th Ohio State Farm Science Review, to be held September 18-20 from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Commercial displays will set a record this year, says Dale Friday, manager of the Review. The number will be higher than last year's 261 displays, and some exhibitors have expanded their space.

MUCH OF THE Review's 700 acres will be used for field demonstrations that will include plowing, disking, harvesting, silage filling, and other farm uses. The value of farm machinery on display will be more than $6 million.

Crops for harvest are progressing nicely, according to Friday, who says, "We have some of the best weed control demonstrations we've ever had."

Farmers' search for better crops will be reflected by the larger numbers of commercial demonstrations plots. For corn, the number of different hybrids is 340, up from 322 last year. There are 30 soybean varieties, compared with 19 last year, and 27 alfalfa varieties compared with last year's 18.

A NEW FEATURE this year will be short programs in the information tent designed to tell visitors what they will see at the educational exhibits at the Review.

This will include a 10-to 15-minute slide, tape, and live presentation, intended to provide a better view of interesting displays around the Review grounds. You can attend these programs any time between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Following this hourly program, and for those who wish information on "concerns of today," OSU faculty members will give mini-talks.

For perhaps 20 minutes, each authority will discuss such items as buying meat, identifying and controlling insects, growing and selecting Christmas trees, and outdoor recreation.

Plans call for 21 different mini-talks during the three days, with a different faculty member presenting each subject. Schedules of the various programs will be available.

IN ADDITION to the usual colorful gardens of flowers, this year's Review will have a special herb garden with a completely new layout.

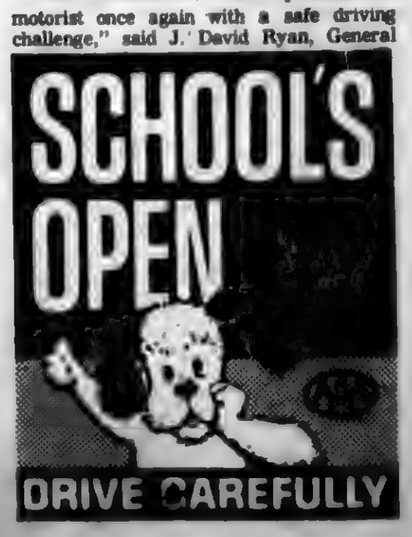
Mrs. Margaret Coon, technical assistant in horticulture, says the herb garden will display the total use of plants in our lives—food, additives to enhance our food, dyes, insecticides, and medicines.

A RETURNING attraction will be the operating sorghum mill, complete with mules. And, as in some past years, the Review will feature a collection of types of corn from around the world.

Educational exhibits will be prepared by 14 departments of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. This year, the new Agricultural Technical Institute at Wooster will also have an exhibit.

School's Open-Drive With Care

"THE OPENING of school presents the motorist once again with a safe driving challenge," said J. David Ryan, General Manager of the Columbus Auto Club.



Ryan pointed out that "motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death for children aged 5-14 years of age. This fact alone should make us stop and consider our own driving habits.

"YOUNGSTERS 5 to 8 years old, including first year students, are at the most critical age when it comes to coping with traffic." Ryan explained that the daily routine of going to and from school, as well as inexperience in traffic situations, were key factors in making children vulnerable to motor vehicle accidents.

The AAA official then emphasized the need for alertness and observance of safe driving procedures in the vicinity of schools and school bus loading areas.

RYAN concluded: "Our poster design for this year's campaign shows a child's very best friend, who is concerned for his companions in today's traffic-oriented society. Both our floppy-eared friend and the AAA urge you to drive with special care now that school is open once again.

PRESTO CHANGO!

An Unnecessary Agency

The Oracle of Delphi, seated on the golden tripod throne at Mt. Parnassus in ancient Greece, had the populace seeking inspired advice, and the treasures of the world were placed at her feet.

A new Oracle has been proposed for the golden dome of Capitol Hill, Washington, D.C. Its name will be the "Consumer Protection Agency" and it, too, will be the infallible expert on all things.

It will be the Oracle of the American consumers. It will interpret all the needs and wishes of "Consumers" to the hundreds of agencies, bureaus and departments carrying out the federal government's edicts and programs already protecting the consumer.

The CPA Oracle will gaze in its crystal ball and debate with other agencies on just what size of packaging will meet your needs; the size of the average serving; what advertising and promotion will be simple enough to understand and will not deceive you. Its scope will go beyond the everyday needs of the consumer by intervening in many other matters, from the determination of airline routes, to milk marketing orders, to labor problems.

The new Oracle will do all your thinking for you and speak for you as a consumer—whether or not it may hurt you as a worker, a farmer, or a businessman.

And you really don't need a crystal ball to tell you that, if Congress goes along with the idea, your money will go to support this new agency along with the 1,000 other agencies of government.

Martin Essex Says:

Tailored Education Should Fit Students Like A Glove

TAILORING education to meet the unique needs of an estimated 2,660,204 individual youngsters is the goal which Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex has set for the 5,038 schools which are welcoming students back for the 1973-74 school year.

"We must design learning opportunities specifically for each pupil," said Ohio's chief state school officer. "We must replace the assembly line, same-instruction-for-all approach which many schools were forced to adopt in the past because of fast-growing enrollments and shortages of classrooms, teachers and dollars."

ESSEX CITED three factors which should help the shift to individualized instruction:

.An increase of more than 50 per cent in state aid to elementary and secondary schools in just 19 months as a result of the new state income tax;

.An expected decline, for the fourth consecutive year, in the enrollment in Ohio's 4213 public and 825 parochial and private schools this fall. The all-time enrollment record of 2,773,514 was set in 1969.

.A surplus of teachers for many subjects. Until this year, the overage of teachers was real only in such areas as English, government and history.

John R. Meckstroth, president of the State Board of Education, said the State Board has already resolved to make drastic changes in teacher preparations. Meckstroth expects sweeping new standards to be ready within the next six months for all colleges and universities to meet if they desire to continue preparing teachers.

"There is universal disgust," Essex said, "with the sloppy, shabby, bargain—basement way in which teachers have been prepared."

FOR TEACHERS already in the classroom, Essex said, "the nation's first systematic preparation of kits containing new knowledge and methods for intensive study by individual teachers or groups of teachers is already underway."

Teachers today, Essex emphasized, "have to run just to keep up. They must constantly refresh themselves because of the knowledge explosion, changes in the national economy, and increasingly complex life styles resulting from technology."

SUPPORT FOR teacher education reform, both in college and on the job, William H. Cossler, vice president of the State Boarrd and chairman of its Committee for Redesign and Improvement of Education, said, "came through loud and clear" from 125,000 Ohioans who participated in the nation's most massive citizen involvement to determine education priorities.

The search for public opinion included 604 Local Citizen Seminars, 88 County Citizens Assemblies, 12 Regional Citizens Councils and culminated in a statewide meeting of 1500 in Columbus April 28.

Will the drastic changes stop with teacher preparation? "No!" Essex said emphatically. "Ohioans, he said, are demanding appropriate education and personal attention for each learner—not just those who happen to fit into yesteryear's pattern.

THIS MEANS redoubling efforts, he said, especially in vocational preparation and in training of the handicapped. The challenge Essex sees is to "design education which will permit young adults to be taxpaying citizens, not unemployed or welfare recipients."

Ohio's efforts to educate youngsters with mental and physical disabilities will reach a record peak this year as an additional 23,070 handicapped children will receive specially designed learning experiences.

APPROXIMATELY 312,383 handicapped boys and girls will receive instruction for their unusual needs this year, compared with 289,313 last year.

Ohio's national leadership position in employment preparation education will be further augmented with the opening of six new joint vocational schools to serve 8,590 pupils.

The Ashland County Joint Vocational School will enroll an estimated 840 students; Licking County, 1600; and Muskingum County JVS branch, serving Guernsey and Noble Counties, 600 students.

Three campuses in the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School District—Diamond Oakes, Live Oaks and Scarlet Oaks—will open for the first time to serve 5,500 pupils in Hamilton, Clermont, Clinton, Fayette, Highland and Warren counties. Laurel Oaks in Clinton County, also in the massive Great Oaks district, began operation last fall with 574 students.

VOCATIONAL education alone, Essex said, is not enough. "Young people today are far removed from the world of work," he explained. "Many are conditioned to seeing the welfare check—not a paycheck. Seldom does a child see either parent at work earning a living."

Career education in 24 districts will target upon an all time high projected enrollment of 148,374 students in kindergarten through 10th grade. Objectives are to develop career or employment interest and motivation for youngsters in kindergarten through sixth grade, generate concern for career selection in grades seven and eight and increased opportunities to explore their future as workers in grades nine and ten.

TO MAKE SURE nothing stands in the way of the new custom quality in Buckeye education, Mechstroth said, "Each standard, rule and regulation which has been set forth over the years is being scrutinized by the State Board of Education to make certain it is in tune with the times."

OHIO PEOPLE, Essex said, "want opportunity in education-not regulation. Our concern is that education opportunity has sound quality—not surface eye-appeal. Ohioans have consistently shown they will support high quality education."

Dear Consumer

Children Clothes: Coping Growth

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs

How our youngsters grow.

You may not have noticed their growth during summer, but you find out when it's time to get them ready for school and the fall and winter seasons.

Since all families struggle with this problem, sharing solutions can be helpful.

One mother I know puts away a small sum every week during the summer. By fall she has a nest egg for the shoes, socks, shirts, jackets her four boys need.

Another tells me that her daughters' dress-up outfits are always bought at a local thrift shop. Run by volunteers for the benefit of a community charity, the shop buys—and then resells—only those used garments that are in excellent conditions.

Since youngsters almost always outgrow their Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes faster than they outwear them, thrift shops are good places to buy children's clothing. (And by selling the outgrown clothes to the thrift shop, you have extra money for newer clothes.)

Here are other tips on getting the most for your money when you shop for children's clothing.

Take time to comparison shop. Look in different kinds of store: discount stores, small neighborhood shops, mail order companies and department stores. Compare prices, brands and quality. Keep in mind how long you expect the clothes to be worn—one season? two? or more?

Look for sturdy construction. Are seams straight, unpuckered, strong and wide enough to avoid fraying? Are pockets reinforced? Do zippers work smoothly? Are buttons sewn securely?

Read care labels and fabric content labels. If fabric is not washable, add expected dry cleaning costs to the price of the garment.

If fabric is not Sanforized (only 1 percent shrinkage) or pre-shrunk (only 3 percent), garment may shrink out of size.

If ironing is required, remember that your own time is worth money.

When buying sleepwear for small children (sizes 0 to 6x), be sure to buy garments made of flame-retardant fabrics.

With rainwear, realize that "water repellent" fabrics only shed water. Usually, only rubberized of plastic-coated garments are water proof. Girls' fashion boots, incidentally, are seldom water-proof. For foul-weather gear, look for labels that say "waterprooof."

Don't guess at sizes-they vary from brand to brand. Have your child try on each item before you buy it. This is a must, of course, with shoes-both feet, since each of us usually has one larger foot.

Look for clothes that will grow with the child. Stretch fabrics are a boon. So are garments for toddlers and small children that are made with special "grow" features, such as extra hems that you can let down by pulling a single thread.

There are several Federal government booklets that may be of interest to you: Clothing and Fabric Care Labeling (free), Clothing Repairs (25 cents), Fibers and Fabrics (65 cents), Look for That Label (free), and Removing Stains From Fabrics (20 cents). All are available from Consumer Product Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Make check payable to Superintendent of Doucuments.

OSBA New Office Building Started

Groundbreaking ceremonies at the Ohio School Boards Association new office site near I-270 will be held Thursday, Sept. 13. OSBA's new office facility will be constructed on a 1.9-acre site in Westerville, with the entrance off Schrock Road, between Rt. 3 and Cleveland Avenue.

1973 OSBA state president Charles D. Tabor, Jackson city board of education member, will officially turn the first shovel of soil. Columbus city board member Paul R. Langdon, 1971 state president, will offer the invocation.

David B. Martin, OSBA executive vice president, commented that the 11 a.m. ceremony marks a milestone for the statewide association. "This new office building will offer far more adequate facilities for our staff of 15 so that we can provide more services, more efficiently, to our membership." Cost for building and site is approximately $300,000.

The one-story, expandable building will contain 7,000 square feet, including a large conference room, printing and mailing areas, storage room, mechanical room, lounge and kitchenette, six executive offices and related secretarial stations, Journal and communications office, controller's office, entrance and reception area and library-information center. Completion is anticipated in February, 1974.

The Ohio School Boards Association is a statewide association of boards of education with membership comprised of 687 of 731 school boards in Ohio or 94 per cent. This is based on 180 city, 49 exempted village, 392 local, 88 county and 22 operational joint vocational school boards in the state. OSBA is divided into five regions with the central regional office operated from the state headquarters. Other regional offices are located in Bowling Green, Kent, Athens and Oxford.

Gals Chalk Up A First

Bloodmobile Here Sept. 17

Citizens of Reynoldsburg are asked to come together the afternoon of Monday, September 17 for a life saving crusade.

On that day the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in our town from noon to 6 p.m. at the Reynoldsburg United Methodist Church.

Coordinating the crusade is a committee from Messiah Lutheran Church.

Other churches are also cooperating by providing workers.

Unless 350 pints can be collected every day this month, Central Ohio hospitals will not have enough blood for their patients needs.

Giving blood is easy and very satisfying. One unit of blood will cover the donor and his immediate family for a year.

Please call Mrs. Plasterer, 866-2418, to make appointments for your donors.

First time donors will be recognized by a special certificate. Sick persons in 50 hospitals in Central Ohio depend on the blood program. Blood is the most wonderful medicine of all. No one can forecast when a need will arise in their family.

The Reynoldsburg Bloodmobile program was initiated by the local churches. Chairman for this drive is Mrs. Herbert Cowen, 8670 Rocky Den Road.

Police, Mayor Again Give Caution To Bike Riders

The Mayor of Reynoldsburg and the Reynoldsburg Police Department would like to remind the parents of those children with bicycles of several of the city's ordinances pertaining to bicycle operation.

No bicycle shall be used to carry more persons at one time than the number for which it was designed and equipped.

No person riding upon any bicycle shall attach the same or himself to any vehicle upon a roadway.

Persons riding bicycles upon a roadway shall ride not more than two abreast.

Bicycles shall be equipped with a bell or horn capable of giving an audible signal.

Between the times of one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, and at any other time when there is not sufficient light, a bicycle operated on a roadway or sidewalk must be equipped with a white light on the front and a tail light or reflector on the rear visible from all distances within 100 feet of such bicycle.

No person shall operate a bicycle unless such bicycle is equipped with an adequate brake.

No person under the age of eight years shall operate or use a bicycle on any of the streets of the city.

Bicycles operated on the streets must be licensed.

This is, by no means, all of the laws pertaining to bicycle usage.

Bicycle riders are required to ride on the right half of the roadway with the flow of traffic.

Riders should be aware of all traffic laws.

Vows Exchanged Aug. 31

East Columbus-Miss Debra Faith Meinzen and Bruce Dale Goodman exchanged wedding vows at Bethany Lutheran Church, 1000 Noe-Bixby Rd., on Aug. 31, with the Rev. William H. Lubkeman officiating.

The bride's parents are Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Donald F. Meinzen, 2900 Ronda Rd. and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Goodman, 6100 Richardson Rd., Groveport.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin with neckline insert and Peter Pan collar of lace.

The bride's sister, Diane S. Meinzen, was maid of honor. Another sister, Melissa L. Meinzen, was bridesmaid.

Best man for the groom was Gary Willison and ushers seating the guests were Lee Schwager, Don Waliser and Steve Ranft.

Both bride and groom are attending Ohio State University, he being a senior in aero science and she being a senior in medical dietetics.

The reception following the ceremony took place at Lockbourne Air Force Base Officers' Club.

After a wedding trip to Shawnee State Park the couple is residing at University Arms Apartments.

Milk Variety Will Spice School Menus

Participants in child nutrition programs will now be offered a choice of the type of milk they drink in schools, under regulations announced this week by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The revised regulations apply to the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, Special Milk and Special Food Service Programs.

Under the new regulations, milk used in these programs may now include lowfat, skim or cultured buttermilk, unflavored or flavored, in addition to whole milk. Previously, only fluid whole milk was allowed.

The change will allow flexibility in menu planning, and will encourage student participation in feeding programs.

All types of milk served must, of course, meet state and local standards.

A proposal to revise the regulations was announced by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) June 1 and comments were invited over the next 30 days from all interested persons.

Responses were received from 512 persons. Of these, 501 were in favor, with 10 having reservations, and 11 were opposed.

The revised regulations were published in the Federal Register Aug. 13 and went into effect immediately upon publication.

YOU'LL HAVE the delightful opportunity of seeing some of Columbus' top contemporary models in action when you attend the "Fashion Fantasy" luncheon showing on Tuesday, September 18th, in the Sheraton Hotel ballroom.

FASHION IS subject to the transient whims of the world it seeks to satisfy...so are the models who show it off. Today's model is a mover...a far stride from that immobile poker-faced beauty who modeled just a few years ago. Today's world is sexier and so are the clothes...they cling, they mold, and depend on natural body contours to project their message. Contemporary fashions are designed to move well, and move they do...but only when worn by the right models. Today's model doesn't just model...she gyrates, she undulates, she slinks and exudes unfathomed sex appeal. She tunes in to the feeling of the clothes and projects it to the audience.

KATHLEEN BUSCHE (Mrs. George F. Busche) is the creative gal who planned and produced this gala affair. What began as the annual fund raising show for her Berwick Unit of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra...has snowballed into a project to benefit all units of the Symphony. Kathleen is no novice when it comes to fashion production. Before opening her fantastic Prestige Modeling School and Agency, she was fashion-coordinator for one of Columbus' leading department stores...with previous fashion stints in several New York stores.

COLE OF COLUMBUS and WALKERS will show all the magnificent new "looks" for Fall and Winter on Prestige trained models...male and female.

For the ladies; sweater dressing for day and evening...big coats...the fitted suit...important daytime dresses...the short evening dress...the most exciting long evening clothes...and furs...opulent furs from fluffy fur trims to jackets and floor length spectaculars.

The excitement in men's clothes will be the fabrics...the weaves, the colors, the patterns...the double breasted suit...the vest...the "Great Gatsby Look".

THIS IS one Fashion Fantasy you won't want to miss...reservations are still available...call Kathleen Busche School at 252-1545.

Wins For Fashions

EAST COLUMBUS—Marji Noteman, shown above trying to decide which plaid to use for a fall blazer, recently turned eighteen. She entered three Ohio State Fair Young Homemaker's Shows (for ages 18 to 35) competing with ladies who have been sewing since before she was born, Marji won a first, second and a third place ribbon. In the picture she is wearing the light blue pants suit which won second place in spring and summer sportswear. A freshman at Ohio State, she is majoring in clothing; she has been sewing her own costumes for twirling competition and for modeling for many years; and in what spare time she has left, she sells fabrics in the Sears Eastland yard goods department. Her career ambition is to become a fashion merchandiser.

Bexley Recreation News

FALL-WINTER RECREATION SCHEDULE

BEXLEY PARKS and recreation Department has released their fall-winter program brochures in the mail this week. Residents are asked to watch for them, with the distinctive cover of the Jeffrey Mansion.

Registration for programs may be made at the mansion office, 165 N. Parkview Avenue, or by mail for all programs where there is a fee charged. Registration for free programs may be made by calling the office week days before 4:30 p.m., at 258-5855.

Some of the programs planned for children are: fine arts, horseback riding, ballet and modern dance, basketball for boys and girls, rip-flag football leagues for boys and girls, gymnastics classes for 3rd through 8th graders, tumbling classes for kindergarten through 2nd graders, guitar for beginners, youth center hours at Jeffrey Mansion, and many more special activities and events.

A special TV for Teens course will be offered for youth who are juniors and seniors in high school.

Adult programs include painting, ceramics, sewing, figure control, volleyball for women and couples, men's basketball, bridge, gourmet cooking, macrame, interior decorating, dog obedience, knitting and foreign language classes in Spanish, French, and Italian.

The BOAC, a club for Bexley senior residents, will be meeting the first Tuesday of each month at the mansion, and special activities will be scheduled for this group the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month in the afternoons at the mansion. The club is planning a trip in mid-October. Watch this paper for further details.

For information on these programs, read the brochure. If you do not receive one in the mail by Saturday, come to the Jeffrey Mansion in the afternoon and ask the attendant at the youth center for a copy.

Speaking of Beauty

TO LEAD A MAN ON..THE FIRST RULE IS..BE EASY TO FOLLOW!

Do you pay enough attention to your "back-of-the-head look?"? We do! It's more than half of your hairdo, you know, so it deserves more than to be just tied up or tied down, and left merely to say "Goodbye"! There should be an extra exit line like maybe, "You're welcome to try, although I won't promise anything."

For an appointment or other information come in, write, or telephone.

WR Project Near Completion

THE NEW STADIUM enclosure, sponsored and financed by the Walnut Ridge Boosters Association, will consist of new rest rooms, shower and locker rooms, storage areas and a new concession stand. Booster President Ray Newlin and Project Superintendent Nelson Winslow are hopeful the enclosure will be in use by the end of September. The enclosure of the stadium is a long time dream of the Boosters. Due to alot of planning, hard work and volunteer help the dream is becoming a reality. Help has come from many areas, including members of the Plumbing and Steamfitters Union Local 189, who are installing the plumbing. The WR Boosters will sponsor a door to door drive Sept. 8 with student members of the athletic departments selling football and basketball schedule cards to help finance the completion of the project. The next meeting of the Boosters will be held at Walnut Ridge High School, Monday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Red Cross Volunteers Are Honored

BEXLEY--A tea honoring Red Cross hospital volunteers was hosted recently by Mrs. Gwen Pavey, the agency's chairman of hospital volunteers. In paying tribute to the group, Mrs. Pavey emphasized the urgent need for more volunteers to serve in area hospitals and nursing homes. Attending the tea were, front row left to right: Mrs. Betty Ahrens, Director of Volunteers, Grant Hospital; Mrs. Kay Karrison, Director of Volunteers, OSU Hospital; Essie M. Robinson, Mrs. Martha Staub, and Mrs. Gwen Pavey. Back row left to right: Mrs. Marybeth Buynak, Mrs. Connie Pilkington, Mrs. Susan Ballard, Roberta Whitacre, And Mrs. Marilyn Georgia, Red Cross Chairman of Volunteers.

BEXLEY--Busy working on handcraft items for the "Country Store" department at Bargain Box are Junior League members (left to right) Mrs. William Hoyer, Mrs. Joseph Shepard and Mrs Charles Rath. Mrs. Shepard, department chairman, said, "The handicraft items made by the members range from purses to handmade baby quilts to some antiques. All these items are available at lower prices than normally found!

Bargain Box Sept. 22, 24

The 25th Annual Bargain Box sponsored by the Junior League of Columbus, Inc. will be held at Veterans Memorial Exhibit Hall Saturday, Sept. 22, and Monday, Sept. 24.

Bargain Box is a huge sale of new and used merchandise offered to the public at low prices. The merchandise is donated by the Junior League's 700 active and sustaining members as well as by approximately 175 local merchants.

This gigantic sale includes clothing for children and adults, toys, books, furniture, small appliances, sporting equipment, linens, china, hardware, notions and many speciality items and antiques.

There is also a "Country Store" section made up of handicraft items.

Bargain Box, the Junior League's only money-raising project, serves a dual purpose to the community. It offers a wide selection of high-quality new and used merchandise to the community. In additions, all monies from the sale are returned to the community through agencies and community services. Over the past 24 years, Bargain Box has raised over $350,000.

The following agencies and community services are only a few who have directly benefited from Bargain Box profits.

They are COSI, Columbus Junior Theatre of the Arts, "Bottoms-Up" newspaper printed at Gladden Community House, The Columbus Zoo, the A.B.C. Program (A Better Chance), Drug Abuse TV spots, Research on Runaways, 4-C program and Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

The Junior League of Columbus not only supports these projects financially but also provides them with trained volunteer service by League members.

This year, the Junior League is celebrating its 50th Anniversary and 25th Annual Bargain Box. The first Bargain Box netted $8,254 and the proceeds were given for a pilot study for a psychiatric center, which later became The Children's Mental Health Center in Columbus.

This year the goal set by the chairman Mrs. James Cushman and assistant chairman Mr. J. Richard Briggs is $40,000.

Mrs. Cushman says "As in the past, this money will be returned to the community as support for a great variety of projects."

The sale hours will be Saturday, Sept. 22 from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Monday, Sept 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

FARE Traffic Enforcement Report Made

The extra police manhours and stricter enforcement of traffic regulations that have gone into the Fatal Accident Reduction Enforcement (FARE) program are paying off with fewer fatal auto accidents in Columbus.

This conclusion was drawn Aug. 22, by Mayor Tom Moody and Police Chief Earl Burden at a press conference called to review progress of the program, which will complete three months of operation last Saturday.

FARE, launched May 25, assigns additional traffic police to high accident areas of Columbus. The patrolmen and officers are volunteers working on their days off. The program, which will run the rest of the year, is funded by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, a federal agency.

Figures released by the Columbus Police Department show that from May 25 through July 31, FARE delivered 3,834 extra manhours of traffic safety enforcement in addition to the normal enforcement maintained by the Department.

The result has been elimination of fatal accidents in FARE-patrolled areas from the three recorded between May 25 and July 31, 1972 to none for the same period this year.

Stricter enforcement of safety regulations also produced more traffic citations. A total of 1,676 citations were issued by FARE units and are considered by the Department to be in addition to the number mornally written.

"It is clear on the basis of this report that FARE represents an effective approach to cutting down the number of fatal auto accidents." Moody said. "Every indication is that while enforcement is up, fatailties are down, especially in the FARE-patrolled areas," the Mayor concluded.

Chief Burden also believes the program is making considerable headway. "Not only have fatals been lowered, but there is a noticeable reduction in driving speed in FARE-patrolled areas," he said. "People know we are out in force in those areas and they are slowing down."

FARE is at work in four areas of Columbus. They are the section bounded by E. Broad St., E. Whittier St., Parsons Ave. and Alum Creek Dr.; I-71 from Hudson St. to the S. Fourth St. exit; N. High St. from Goodale Ave. north to King Ave., and W. Broad St. from Hague Ave. to Souder Ave.

Mayor Moody and Chief Burden also pointed out that a FARE public information program is being carried out to make motorists and pedestrians aware of the effort to reduce fatal accidents. On display were bumper stickers and cut-out footprints sounding the FARE theme "Drive the FARE way"; posters declaring "This is a FARE-Patrolled Area"; and television and radio spot announcements featuring actor Paul Lynde, who donated his time.

No city or state monies are involved. Of the amount, 90 percent is allocated to operation, 10 percent to public information.

What do all those numbers mean?

Every bank in town has announced higher interest rates paid on savings accounts. Ohio State Bank is no exception.

But higher interest rates aren't always the answer to your savings needs. Sometimes just having your money available when you need it outweighs the advantages of a higher interest return.

If you are concerned as to what is best for your particular needs—ask us. We will help you add up all the factors and determine if a regular savings, a "Cookie Jar" account, C.D.'s, Special Savings Certificates or a combination is just right for you.

That's why Ohio State Bank is called "the bank of personal service", we do the little things that make the big difference in banking.

Promoted At Bell

JOSEPH S. LAKATOS

Whitehall-Joseph S. Lakatos, formerly of Gillette, N.J. has been promoted to supervisor of personnel and public relations in the Service Operations Department at Bell Laboratories. In his new post, Lakatos is in charge of administration of Bell Labs employment, benefit, education and equal employment opportunity programs at Bell Labs Columbus Laboratory, 6200 E. Broad St.

Lakatos joined Bell Laboratories, the Research and Development Unit of the Bell System, in 1966 at Whippany, New Jersey. Since that time his work has been concerned with financial services and technical employment.

Lakatos received the B.S. degree in Business Administration in 1962 at Seton Hall University. He received the MBA degree at Seton Hall University in 1972.

Mobile Show Coming To Center

WHITEHALL–Ohio Bell's rolling communications show, "Telemobile," will be at the Town & Country Shopping Center, 4600 E. Broad St., Tues.-Fri. (Sept. 18-21) according to Joseph Jester, district commercial manager for the phone company. The huge, blue, yellow and white van, full of telephone history and bright new telephone products will be open, admission free, from 4 to 9 p.m. beside Gray Drugs. The story of the transistor, invented by three Bell Laboratories scientists in 1947, is the theme of a feature display which points out that without the tiny transistor, today's computers, space flights satellites, solid state communications and heart pacers would not exist. The Bell System made the midget-but mighty–invention available for the world to use. Another attraction for all ages is the Telemobile's historical evolution and development of the telephone instrument, from magneto sets of 1876 to the 1949 table model phone. "Most youngsters today have never even seen a magneto set," is the reason Bill Burk, Telemobile manager, gives for bringing the whole family.

Whitehall GOP Plans Two Activities

Whitehall-The newly-formed Whitehall Republican Club is holding its first organizational meeting on Thursday, Sept. 20, at 7:30 p.m., in Etna Road Elementary School.

Residents of Whitehall who are interested in becoming involved with current political issues and Republican party political activities are invited to attend the meeting.

On Sept. 22, the annual Whitehall Republican party family picnic will be held at Orton Davis Park, Whitehall, from 2 to 8 p.m.

There will be no charge for the picnic and it will include free food, games, and recreational activities.

Interested residents of Whitehall are cordially invited to bring their children, families, and friends, according to William Davidek, president.

Hobby Entries Accepted

West Columbus–The 25th Annual Golden Age Hobby Show will be Sept. 21, 22 and 23, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad.

In order to enter, senior citizens must be 60 years old or older and entries must have been made after the entrant was 60 and not entered in a previous Golden Age Hobby Show.

There is no entry fee.

Entries will be accepted at the six senior citizen centers this year instead of at the gallery Monday, Sept. 17. Entries will be returned to the center.

The hours for the show are 7-9 p.m. Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

General chairman is Mrs. George Dysart.

For the eastside the entries may be left at the 1100 E. Broad St. Center.

Discussion Series Begins Soon At Bexley Library

Bexley–Conversations and Listenings, a discussion series sponsored by the Bexley Public Library, will begin on Wednesday, September 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Library auditorium. They will continue for four Wednesdays, one each month through December.

This year's programs, entitled "How To Read a Book", are based on the book by that title by Mortimer J. Adler and Charles Van Doren. Dates of the series and guest speakers are: September 19 Linda L. Wickham, Ohio Dominican College, Dept. of English, "Dimensions of Reading"; October 17 Jack Matthews, Ohio University, Prof. of English, "Fair Criticism"; November 14 Mrs. Howard Bloom, Motorists Insurance Companies, Editor, "A Practical Look"; December 12 Mary Jo Myers, Ohio Dominican College, Dept. of English, "Fantastic Fiction".

The programs are directed toward high school students but open to all the public. There is no charge.

For additional information please telephone the Library, 231-2784.

PLAN A FLOAT TRIP

September is one of my favorite months for fishing and hunting, but I sure get mixed feelings on which one to do. You can enjoy both of these sports at the same time if you plan a float trip down your favorite stream or river.

You'll need two cars, a light weight boat or canoe, in addition to your tackle and guns anddon't forget to pack an extra big outdoor lunch and take binolculars.

Pick a stretch of water where you can drop in your boat or canoe. You'll find these areas near a bridge.

For a full day float trip plan on covering four or five miles of water. You can check distances with a highway or county map.

Leave one car down stream at your take out point, drive back up stream and start your trip.

Just a note of caution, if you're taking your boat or canoe in or out on private property, ask the landowner for permission before you plan your trip.

It's also a good idea to wear an old pair of deck shoes or low cut rubber boots, as hip boots or waders are to darn dangerous to wear in any boat. You may get wet so take raingear and extra clothes to change after the trip for the ride home.

Here's a tip for the fisherman; as you're drifting along, cast towards the undercut ledges, near sunken logs and bolders. I like to cast quarter ounce spinners.

If you prefer live bait, try dunking nitecrawlers or soft craws with a long cane pole or flyrod. Dunking live bait right next to tree stumps and fallen logs is a deadly method for bass.

Make sure you use a quiet approach to these areas so you don't spook the fish.

Stop to stretch your legs when you come to ripples and fish the pools below, sometimes they're the best spots along the way. For the squirrel hunter, keep looking back in the woods, on the ground and along the bank as your drifting.

A combination hunting and fishing trip is a good way to chance your luck at both sports in the same day and if the fish aren't hiting you can spend most of the day hunting.

If squirrels aren't traveling near shoreline and sidersport isn't paying off, I don't know how you feel about it, but I'm thankful I've had another day outdoors to enjoy the gift of nature thats ours, as long as you and I protect and preserve it.

ROCKY FORK

Located high on a hill overlooking the west end of 2,080 acre Rocky Fork Lake, the class "A" campground at this popular park is one of the finest in the state. Not only does the area have modern restrooms and washhouses with showers and coin-operated automatic laundry facilities, a commissary, a trailer waste station and a beach; it has 80 boat docks that will accommodate 160 boats reserved exclusively for the use of campers.

One washhouse is heated for the use of cool weather campers. Launching ramps and a boat trailer parking lot within the controlled area provide added convenience and protection to the camper-boater.

Long a favorite with fisherman because of the good muskellunge and bass fishing, the 3,475 acre park with it's fine docks, marinas and lake shore restaurant is attractive to pleasure boaters.

There is no restriction on horsepower on watercraft motors and an area is designated for water skiing.

The summer nature program has been among the best atteneded in the park system during recent years. Thenorth shore area where the campground is locaterd and reached from U.S. 50 approximately 10 miles east of Hillsboro.

HUNTER SAFETY

September 30, a course on safe gun handling will be given at Division of Wildlife, District One Headquarters, located at 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus.

The course will begin at 1 p.m. and be over at 5 p.m.

Although the course is designed primarily for juvenile hunters, the class is open to the public and many parents enjoy attending with their youngsters, and picking up valuable tips to improve their own safe gun handling.

Juveniles aged 10 through 15 who wish to participate in the special youth hunts at the Delaware Wildlife Area on November 3 and 10 must have successfully passed one of these courses in hunter gun safety.

Hunters who wish to hunt in other states may need to attend a hunter safety course in order to hunt in that state.

Rent-A-Camp Extended

Ohio's novice campers have responded to the Department of Natural Resources' "rent-a-camp" idea so well the program is being extended a month through Oct. 28.

The program for families who want to try camping but don't own the necessary equipment was scheduled to end Sept. 30.

"We've had excellent response to the rent-a-camp concept," said Natural Resources Director William B. Nye, who estimates 2,500 people have used the 20 fully equipped campsites at five state parks since the new program started May 25.

Nye said the program is being extended a month to allow more people to try camping at a minimal cost while determining if they like the outdoors enough to invest in their own equipment.

He added that the month of October is an excellent time to enjoy the splendor of an Ohio autumn in the state parks and forests.

The rent-a-camp program, recognized nationally as an innovative step in camping, offers four equipped campsites each at Delaware, Findley, Harrison Lake, Punderson and Stonelick state parks.

The campsites rent for $6 a night, with a seven-night limit. Each campsite is set up to sleep four, but can accommodate two additional people if they bring their own sleeping gear.

Reservation application forms can be obtained by contacting any of the five state parks. The park addresses and telephone numbers are:

Delaware State Park, Rt. 1, Delaware, Ohio 43015, telephone: (614) 369-2761; Findley State Park, Rt. 3, Wellington, Ohio 44090, telephone: (216) 647-4490; Harrison Lake State Park, Rt. 1, Fayette, Ohio 43521, telephone: (419) 237-2593; Punderson State Park, Box 178, Newbury, Ohio 44065, telephone: (216) 564-2279; and Stonelick State Park, Rt. 1, Pleasant Plain, Ohio 45162, telephone: (513) 625-7544.

GAMES OF THE WEEK

Cards, Whitehall Miss Breaks; Ridge, Northland Are Winners

By Sandy Schwartz

WORTHINGTON'S pass happy Cardinal's needed a 56 yard pass interception return by speedy Don Wolcott to earn a 14-14 come from behind tie with Northland in the season's gridiron opener for both teams last Friday night.

Northland, defending kingpins of the City League, looked destined for victory as they marched 82 yards in eight plays to tally the game's first score.

Senior Dave Conley bowled over from the four yard line for the six pointer, the big play though was a 51 yard aerial bomb from Joe Mayhew to Bob Atwood.

BUT THE Cardinals of Smokey Wion mounted a drive of their own late in the first quarter and on the first play of the second quarter senior QB Tim Crandall clicked on a 33 yard scoring strike to Gary Chambers, Worthington's slippery Z back, and a Jay Hansley conversion knotted the score 7-7.

Things then swung Northland's way again, as John Giroux, a gutty 205 pound fullback, scored on a three yard plunge, that drive being highlighted by the hard nose running of sophomore halfback Dan Welle. Welle accounted for 120 yards in 23 carries.

Everything stood pat then with the Vikes leading 14-7, until mid fourth quarter when Wolcott provided his heroics for the Worthington loyalists.

In all, Crandall looked most impressive, as he connected on 10 passes in 20 attempts good for 151 yards.

Well, next week, its the long march to Upper Arlington for the Cardinals of Smokey Wion, and, who knows, maybe Smokey can Smoke the Bears.

WALNUT RIDGE, defending champs of the City League South, began their 1973 season with a 13-0 blanking of neighborhood arch rival Whitehall.

The Ridgemen looked strong from the onset as they marched 65 yards in the opening period for the games initial score. The final haul to the goal line came on a 20 yard strike from Gary Gola to Jim Gilmer.

But Whitehall threatened to score twice in the opening period themselves, only to have 31 yard field goal attempt fall short and then to have a TD called back because of a penalty.

DEFENSE then played the major role for the rest of the game, except for a one yard burst by Terry Logan in the third period that was complimented by Pete Bickie's conversion to stake the Scots to a 13-0 lead.

That score stood as the final, but also stood as a very deceiving one. The Scots mounted 153 yards while Whitehall was close behind with 120 yards. Defense was the highlight of the night.

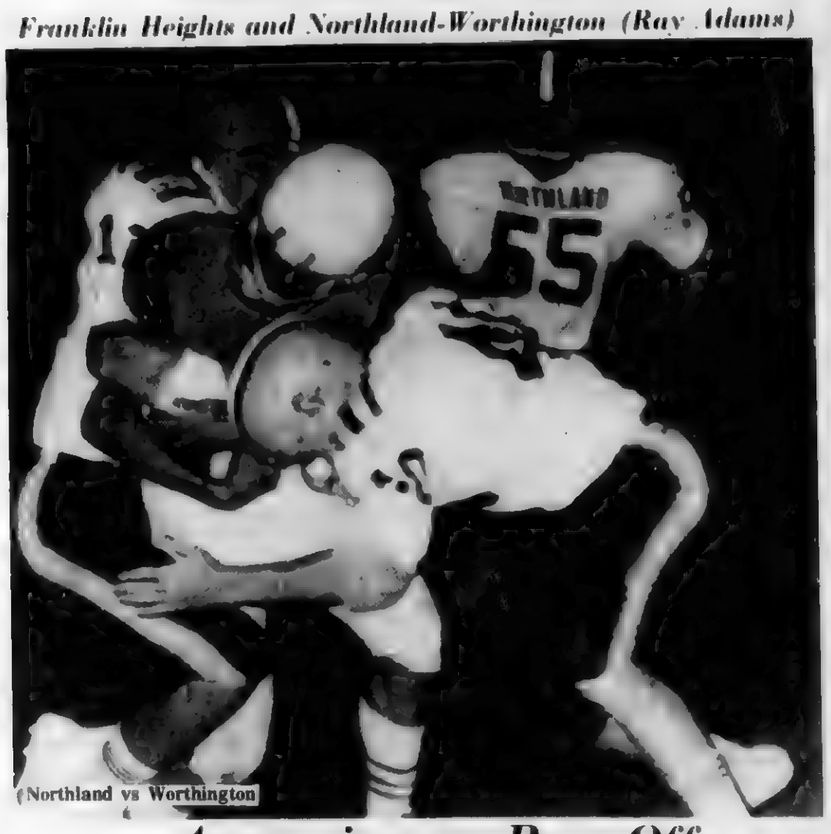
Franklin Heights vs Westland

Falcons Win Neighborhood Battle

IN ONE OF THE TYPICAL neighborhood battles on last weekend's football scene the Franklin Heights Falcons took the measure of Westland's Cougars 14-0 in what could be termed a mild upset - but not according to the Falcons who termed their team the favorites from the start. The Metro League Falcons kept the Ohio Capital Conference Cougars at bay most of the game. The game was turned wide open in the fourth period when guard Bill Oliver rambled 40 yards with a Westland fumble for the icing on the cake TD. This photo shows the typical action that took place with a lot of Falcons (in white) getting their hands on the Cougars ball carrier for another no-gain down. Franklin Heights and Westland are both in the Southwestern School District.



Northland vs Worthington

Aggressiveness Pays Off

WORTHINGTON'S John Madry was effectively bottled up most of the time by an aggressive Northland defense that kept his ground gaining to a minimum against the Columbus City League champs in this northside battle that ended in a 14-14 stalemate. Hitting Madry on this play are Steve Lowry (12) and Ken Dodson (40) while Ron Nichols (55) comes up to assist.

Northland vs Worthington

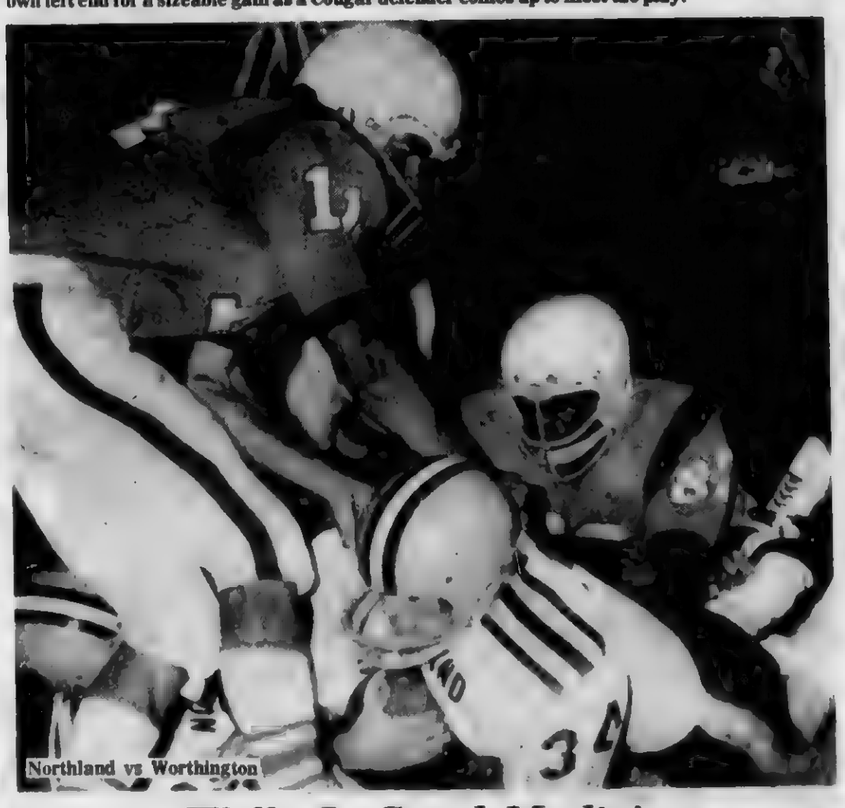
TD Signal

THERE WERE plenty of touchdowns in the Spectator area high school grid games but none was more welcome than this signal that meant a TD for Worthington's Cardinals that gave them a 14-14 tie with Northland. The TD came on an intercepted pass in the last minutes of the game. Senior defensive back Don Wolcott was the hero with the TD steal.

Franklin Heights vs Westland

QB Zips Past Cougars

FRANKLIN HEIGHTS Quarterback Hal Thompson was a thorn in the paw of the Westland Cougars all night in the Falcons 14-0 zipping of the OCC Westland team. Here, he sweeps his own left end for a sizeable gain as a Cougar defender comes up to meet the play.



Northland vs Worthington

Welle Is Good Medicine

Penalty Cancels TD

CLOSE BUT NOT QUITE-The closest Whitehall's Rams came all night to scoring was after a long and incredible punt return made by Steve Maranello. (44) Breaking wide and receiving excellent blocking, Maranello ran the ball back down field for what he enthusiastically thought was a touchdown. Unfortunately, he did not see fellow team members Brian Frye (84) standing near a penalty flag for clipping against Whitehall and (76) Paul Dillon expressively showing his disgust on the called penalty. This penalty brought the ball back to mid-field and prevented Whitehall from scoring.

Whitehall vs Walnut Ridge

Whitehall vs Walnut Ridge

Smothered Pigskinner

TRAPPED AGAIN-Seconds before being smothered by Marty Reid a (84) and Jeff Hann (76) of Walnut Ridge's defensive team, Whitehall Quarterback Jerry Montgomery (12) sees he is in trouble. In a desperate attempt to flee from his captors, Montgomery desperately tried to out run Reid and Hann but was thrown for a loss on the play.

AROUND TOWN

Holiday Inn OSU Opens

The Holiday Inn-O.S.U. opened this past week. Located on Lane Ave., just east of Olentangy Blvd., this is the most beautiful , largest motel in the Columbus area. The Inn has 245 rooms. two separate lounges with live entertainment in each six nights a week, and a dining room seating 150, with a menu that is bound to please just about everyone.

The dining room is called the Ohioian Room. It features all types of food, from the traditional steaks, chops and seafoods to gourmet meals. You will love the bright, cheerful decor of the room.

Off of the dining room is the cocktail lounge. It is gorgeous. Seating consists of tables and chairs, large plush booths or huge leather sofas. Part of the lounge is raised so that you may have a full view of what is going on. There is also a large, comfortable bar.

In this room, the current attraction is a five piece group, "Quintessence." More on them next week. I understand they play all types of music that appeals to an older age group.

Eleven floors up, you'll find another lounge that is really cozy. It overlooks the campus and part of Columbus. "Deeposse," opens in this room Thursday, September 13. To be quite honest, I can't figure out which lounge I like best. Both of them have so much class and sophistication.

Take my advice, don't hesitate, plan on visiting Columbus' newest motel now. As soon as people are aware that it is open, I have to believe that it will be busier than that big stadium across from the Holiday Inn-O.S.U. I know that you will talk about the decor, atmosphere, food, service and entertainment for days.

Rodeway Inn Act Is Tops

The Rodeway Inn Motel has booked its fourth act into their plush, swinging Stage Door Lounge. They opened with a truely dynamic act, and each one seems to get better and better. The current attraction is a show group by the name of Garfin Gathering. What a super outfit.

Garfin gets its name from the leader, Speedy Garfin. And, when it comes to fingering the keys on the sax, clarinet or flute, you know how and why Garfin got his name of speedy.

It has been a long time since I have seen and heard saxophone, clarinet and flute played the way Speedy does. Speedy is a stylist with the horns, that's for sure. I could sit and listen to him all night long. He can hold a note longer than a senate filibuster. Speedy will knock you right off your seat with his musical abilities. Be it hot or mood music, Speedy plays them horns for all their worth.

Speedy is no slouch in the vocal department either. Coming on will with a big, rich voice, Speedy sings the "H" out of a song. Speedy is not only an excellent musician, but he is an all around showman.

As I said, I could listen to him all night, except for one thing. That happens to be a sexy bundle with a voice that is pure dynamite, Kathy Pappas. This girl is really something else. You can hear singers after singers, and not find one like Kathy in a million of them. Kathy has a tremendous powerful voice, which she is in constant control of every minute. Possessing one the strongest vocal attacks in the business, Kathy gives out with plenty of beautiful sounds. Her range is as wide as you'll find anywhere with tones that are crystal clear.

Organist Dave McCullough and drummer Jeff Bond do an extremely strong job in backing up Speedy and Kathy. Without these two aboard Garfin Gathering would not have the punch it has. Besides being two top notch musicians, they lend their voices to some expert vocal harmonies with Speedy and Kathy. Rather it is two, three or four part harmony, you will not hear any closer or prettier than you do from Garfin Gathering.

In fact, that is the key to Garfin Gathering, the best. They are one of the best show groups, the best vocalist, the best instrumentalist that has come down the pike for many a moon. Every aspect of their show is first rate.

Brady Bunch At Kings Island

THE BRADY BUNCH visited Kings Island last week and filmed a show to be shown on television later this fall. Florence Henderson (the girl in front of the bus) headed the array of stars who appeared for the show. This event was covered in last week's Around Town. Sorry the photo didn't arrive in time to go with the story. The cast was super and Kings Island's Publicity Director Tom Olds really made everyone feel at home.

Make this a must on your entertainment schedule.

Holiday North Is Cozy Spot

For those of you who enjoy and want a spot that is quiet and cozy, with entertainment to match for listening, and dancing dancing, then let me recommend The Holiday Inn-North on Dublin-Granville Rd. Believe me, you will love the lounge and the music.

The Jerry and Nick Duo occupies the stage Thursday through Saturday for some very easy, enjoyable music. While it is a duo, if you close your eyes, at times you will think there is more than just two people on stage.

Jerry White is the organist. And what an organist. Jerry's playing at the black and white can only be described as a touch of genius. He is a masters' master. Jerry has more buttons, knobs and gadgets that a cockpit of a 747. Yet, he always is in complete command of everything. Jerry is a strong stylist at the Hammond Organ.

With a large mirror hanging over him, you can watch his fingers caress the keyboard. He plays so effortlessly, that if you could not watch his fingers, you you just wouldn't believe it was Jerry making all of the musical music. His technique is amazing, to say the least. Jerry can and does produce a zillion different tones and sounds from the electronic keyboard.

Adding plenty of exciting rhythms is Nick Nickerson. Now, here is what I call a good lounge and all around musical drummer. Nick doens't drive you bananas with a bunch of loud, crashing drum work. He, like Jerry is rather delicate with the sticks and brushes. While Nick lays down an abundant amount of steady, solid rhythms, he adds plenty of his own styling. The end result is a drummer that is pleasant to hear ans watch, as well. At times, he has just about every cymbal and drum going for him, yet he is not overpowering.

Add the two together, and you have a musical duo that is made for a small, intimate lounge, such as the one at the Holiday Inn-North. While all of this music is being served, you can still sit and talk without having to shout. Of course, their music is great for dancing.

In fact, with the Jerry and Nick Duo, the dark, quiet atmosphere of the lounge, you end up with just about the most romantic spot Around Town. It is a great place to go with that particular someone.

Their musical library runs from the old standards to the better music of today. There wasn't a song they played, that I did not recognize or didn't enjoy.

So, if you want to a relaxing, refreshing evening, plan on dropping into the lounge at the Holiday Inn-North. Jerry and Nick are there Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tuesday and Wednesday, as well as the rest of the week, finds Jerry alone in the Dining Room, playing some beautiful dinner music on the X-77 Hammond Organ. This is the only organ like it being played in Columbus. Talk about tone, words cannot describe the beauty of this instrument. I think it has everything on it but the kitchen sink. If you look hard enough, well who knows.

It all happens at the Holiday Inn-North.

Quintessence At Holiday

Quintessence, a quintet that sounds like a full orchestra, is the opening act in the lounge of the brand new Holiday-Inn O.S.U. Entertaining Monday through Saturday with good vocal harmonies and a total of 20 instruments, Quintessence has proven to be as exciting as the new Holiday Inn on W. Lane Ave.

Skipping Around Town

This week at Marco Polo's Lounge is April Brass. This is a seven piece outfit that really cooks. If you dig the big, full sound, then head for Marco Polo's this week...This is the final week for This 'N That at Lincoln Lodge. Their music and vocals have been a crowd pleaser at the swinging lodge. You will enjoy this duo, that's for sure...Ramada Inn East has held over the Don Hinton Show. This group dishes out a host of lively, entertaining music. This is a must...For something really different, bu sure to put the Taj Mahal on your entertainment schedule. The Turkish music and the swaying belly dancer adds a lot of fun to a night on the town. If you have never heard music from Turkey and Greece, wait until you hear this group. Simply beautiful. So is the dancer. The authentic cuisine from India is also a treat. It all happens at the Taj Mahal...The fabulous Joel Dane Show has returned tby popular demand to the Ramada Inn South. This group is highly entertaining...Up at Ramada Inn-North, the swinging Swingin Society is making a repear performance because so many wanted them to return...Danny Fox, who was formerly with the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg is now the assistant Inn Keeper at the brand new Holiday Inn-O.S.U. I know Danny has many friends, so drop into Columbus' newest motel and say hello to Danny...Watch for a couple of Holiday Inns to change hands soon, being bought back by the parent company...A new Hilton Inn is going up on I-70 near Brice Rd. More on that later. A popular west side place, is taking its last breath. Should fold in sixty days or less...Too bad you missed the "Floor Show" at one of the popular north end night spots last week. While the real show was on, this couple danced away while she showed more than you'llsee in any floor show in these parts. And, he just met her a few minutes before. Some guys have all the luck...That's all for this week, See you Around Town.

Model Airplanes Will Fly Sunday

Radio control model airplane hobbyists from a three state area will compete at the Central Ohio Radio Control Society's (CORKS) 4th Annual Invitational Contest, Sunday, September 16, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The contest will be held at the CORKS Club field which is on Delaware County Route 25, two and three-tenths miles east of Center Village. For Columbus area residents, take Ohio Route 605 north 6 miles from New Albany then take County Route 25 east to the contest site.

Admission to spectators is free.

Cap Boasts Depth, Experience

Spectator Sports

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

The purple and white Crusaders of Capital University will try to start off this football season just exactly where they left off last season.

Rebounding from a 4-5 season slate, Cap will boast depth as their main strength.

"This is something that we haven't had in the past," states a very confident Coach Gene Slaughter. "We're also going to start this season better prepared than ever before," added Slaughter.

"We hope to blend our running attack and our short passing game to give us good offensive balance," states Slaughter. "Cohesiveness is something that we like to have, everyone working together."

All conference runner Craig Snider will provide the punch for the wishbone backfield. Joining Snider in that backfield will be senior halfback Mike Colles (5-10, 190). Mike played his high school football at Worthington and Coach Slaughter is high on him.

"Mike is a good outside runner and I'm hoping that this will help balance out our running game," commented Gene.

Coach Slaughter also looks for much help from some of the local talent that he has recruited in recent football campaigns.

Joe Schleppi (6-0, 195) a sophomore guard from Columbus Eastmoor may merrit a starting assigmment but if he doesn't, Coach Slaughter feels confident he'll be seeing some action.

Curt Moore also a sophomore from Eastmoor will be vying for the fullback position. He is 5-10, 195 and coach Slaughter describes him as a hard nose running back.

Chuck Izzo, all-city at Columbus South High School is a candidate for some back up work at center while Harry Reed another all-city man at center will also vie for that position. Reed is from Marion Franklin High School.

"With the experience and depth that we have on defense, we plan to be quite mobile," says Coach Slaughter of his defense.

Eight regulars return from the defense of a year past.

Area standouts on that defensive unit are linebackers Dennis Bernhard (6-0, 190), a senior from Bishop Hartley and John Eborn (6-1, 190) from Columbus Mohawk. Coach Slaughter hopes to stop the opponents running game with this rugged pair leading the way on the tackles.

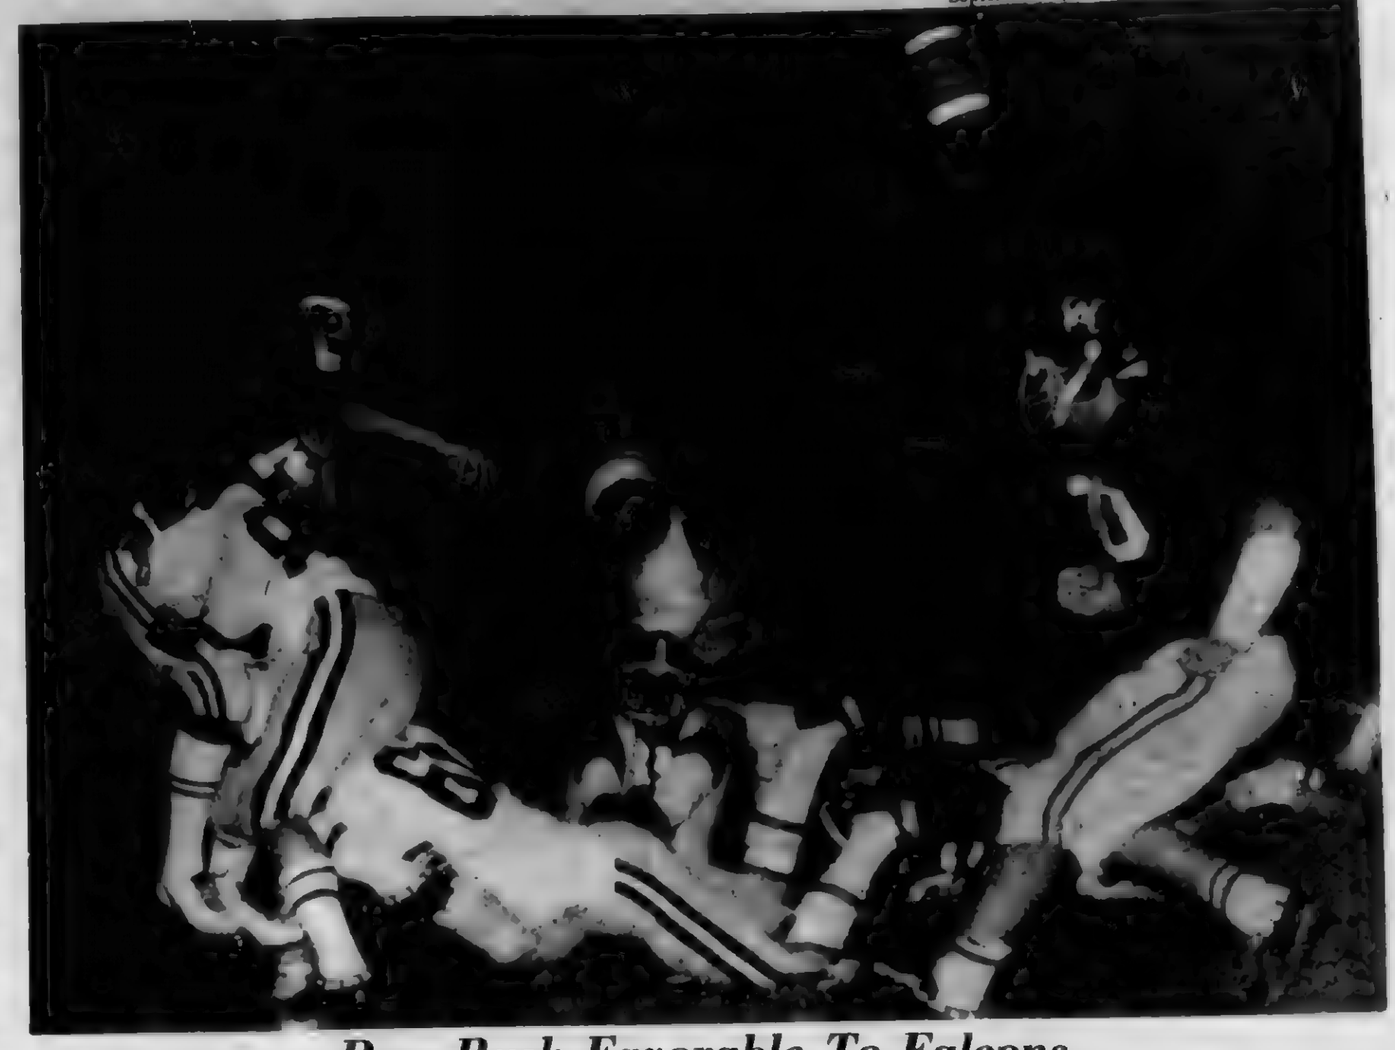
Other local men on defense, include John Baylin (6-1, 180) also from Northland and Bob Suber (6-0, 165) from Linden McKinley. All are deep backs.

Coach Slaughter has much praise for the squad as footballers but he speaks just as highly of them when the academic point of football is brought into the conversation.

"These student-athletes come here to play football, but more important is that they come for an education and I am very proud to say tht almost all of them receive this," stated Slaughter.

And yes they do, facts show that 93 per cent of all recruits (that is students recruited by Capital to play football and receive financial aid) receive their diplomas as scheduled. Probably even more impresive is that 67 per cent of the recruits receive their degree and then go on to higher education.

In all you'd probably have to say things look pretty good over at Capital.



Pass Rush Favorable To Falcons

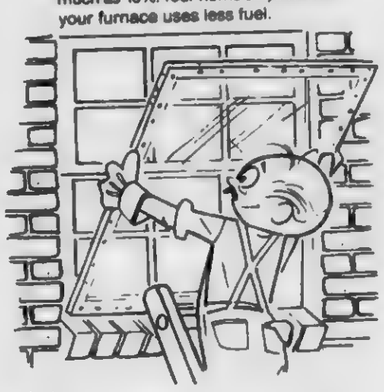
..PASSING IS THE name of the game in some high school circles this season. A heavy pass rush seems to be the answer to defensing the aerial-minded teams. That's what Franklin Heights' forward wall did to Westland's Cougars attempts last week. Fierce charges by the Falcon forwards kept the Cougar passers tight and as a result the game went to the Falcons, 14-0 along with a fine defensive and offensive maneuver. Here's an exmple of the white-clad Falcons getting to the Cougar quarterback.

DON'T WAIT 'TIL WINTER TO WINTERIZE YOUR HOME

By following these simple tips, you'll use a lot less gas next winter. And as prices rise, it's especially important that we don't waste valuable natural gas.

Install adequate insulation. Simply laying a 6 inch thickness of insulation in the attic can mean significant savings in gas and money.

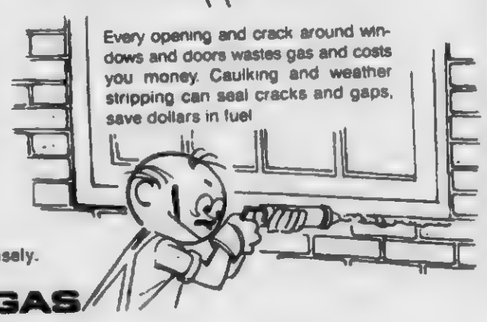
Storm windows and doors, or plastic sheeting can reduce heat loss as much as 10%. Your home stays warmer, your furnace uses less fuel.



New Gas Furnace

If you have an old conversion burner, you'll be wise to replace it with a modern new gas furnace, designed to operate with less gas. As a present gas heating customer, you can install a new gas furnace and be sure of getting gas supplies in the future. A more efficient new gas furnace will give you more heat for less money. Plus it will save space in the basement. Why not call your dealer for advice, while the weather's nice?

Every opening and crack around windows and doors wastes gas and costs you money. Caulking and weather stripping can seal cracks and gaps, save dollars in fuel



Gas is precious pure energy . . . use it wisely.

East High Tigers Have Workload Cut For Them

OPENING up a football scheduled at Steubenville and then having to face Northland in your first City League North game sounds like no easy talk. But the football Tigers of East High did just that.

East Coach Bob Steele claims to have a stronger team than last year's 2-6-1 squad. He returns 11 lettermen of which saw 5 of those as clear cut starters.

"We'll be stronger than last year in a few ways," says an optimistic Coach Steele.

THE TIGERS boast a pair of strong team leaders in Jesse Dixon and Robert Wilson. Both are 6-1, 206 and both are only juniors.

"These two are real team leaders and excellent linemen," says Coach Steele. He indicated that he was counting heavily on that identical duo to lead the way.

Dennis Fields (6-0, 170) and the backup there and Coach Steele also speaks highly of him.

Dave Scott (5-10, 170) and Sid Whiteside (5-9, 170) are a pair of tough guards and Charles Brooks (5-10, 165) will back up there. All three are juniors.

COACH STEELE is presented with a pleasant problem in the backfield. William Anderson (5-10, 155) a sophomore, and Tony Mathews (5-11, 170) a senior, are challanging for the quarterback spot. Coach Steele says that both show promise and he seemed confident that either could easily lead his I backfield to the goallines.

Phil Dixon (6-1, 195) will be the senior fullback of the squad. Vern Chisolm, who is currently mursing an injury will give him relief there when he mends.

Joe Sims will open up at halfback and he has been pushed hard for playing time by Allan Smith (5-10, 175). All backfielders except the quarterbacks are returnees who saw action last year.

"Our defense looks stronger than last year's , it will be much stronger if we can stay healthy,"

PLAYING up front on that Oklahoma defense with a monster back will be middle guard Mike McKee (5-11, 180). Mike is a rugged sophomore. Dixon and Wilson will be the tackles and their job will be to anchor the line according to Coach Steele.

Ron Littlefield (5-8, 185) and Dave Scott (5-9, 175) will be two of the linebackers, both are experiencees.

Defensive halfbacks look to be Mike Burke (5-7, 125), Joe Sims (5-8, 165) and Rodney Smith (5-8, 165). All are seniors.

Victor Flood, a 5-10, 166 pound junior will be one of the cornerbacks and Coach Steele feels he is the brightest spot in this deep backfield. Other possible cornerbacks could be either Butler or a surprising sophomore Laccern Scott. Coach Steele describes hjim as "a real strong hitter".

"Our enthusiasm and desire to win has made a real turnabout from last year," explains an excited Coach Steele.

Vying for the monster back or deep safety slot are Rod Smith (5-11, 175), James Page, (5-8, 145) and Carl Dallas (5-11, 165).

"IF WE CAN cut our mistakes, I will assure you that we will fool a lot of people," summed up an optimistic Coach Stteele.

Hartley's Hawks Aim For Top Rung

With Watterson being labeled the team to beat each year in the Central Catholic League, things could change. And Hartley just could be the squad to change those fortunes.

THE HAWKS lost two hardnose running backs from last year in Chip Jakeway and Tim Cunningham, both all CCL.

But complimented with 14 returning lettermen and flanked by 23 seniors, Hartley boss Jack Ryan, Mr. Football, is looking forward to an "interesting" as he would put it season.

COULD THIS ""interesting season mean a new type of gameplan?

Leading the Hawkeye barrage will be their 5-10, 167 pound sharp-shooting quarterback Mark Disabto. Disabato may change the Hartley game plan from that rugged running attack to a smooth aerial warfare type of play.

PRIME TARGETS will be, track speedster Ed Radcliff, senior returnee Don Swicki, and quarterback converted tight end Scott Williams.

"Disabato has a real quick release, and we have a good set of receivers, yes, the ball might be in the air a little more this year" claims Ryan, a football veteran of 33 years.

MANY AROUND the Hartley barracks feel that this rock solid line probably is a big strength that the Hawks posses.

This line could give the quick releasing Disabato the time he needs to unload. Doug Williams a 200 pound sophomore fullback will be in the backfield to balance out the attack and try to help improve on last years 6-4 record.

MARIO MASIOS returns to do the placekicking, he lettered last year and once again will be looked to for some needed points to add to the scoreboard.

Anchoring the defensive crew will be linebackers Paul Keglemeyer (6, 196) and Bill Gilliand (5-10, 180). Paul Jacobs is back at defensive tackle as is Tony Cunningham at defensive end. Pat Wilse a (5-7, 150 pound) defensive back returns as the veteran of the deep secondary.

Newcomers fighting for a starting spot on the primed defensive squad include John Sommers, Terry Monseur, Don Cole, Pat Burns, Mike Kelley and Kevin Trojack.

INCIDENTLEY, last year's defensive unit, a strong point of the Hartley team, loses an even half dozen by graduation, but Coach Ryan hopes to whip up a new crew of about the same strength.

"We should be real respectful," claimed the modest silver haired wonder. "Our weak point is our lack of depth but this is countered by real good attitude and great competition," Ryan was quick to point out.

"Barring injuries, we'll be right in the thick of things," and we don't really want to doubt the words of the man who makes Hartley athletics go, do we?

Academy Contender

Coming off of a Mid-Buckeye League championship, Columbus Acadmey's mentor Phil desdcribes this year's edition of Viking football as a "senior team".

Blesses with 14 returning lettermen, (10 of those were starters a year ago) Coach Hess again, expects to be a strong contender for those Mid-Buckeye championship horns.

Classy Jim Case, an all-leaguer returns at quarterback. Case is 6-2, 185 and Coach Hess reports that his passing is looking "Better than ever." Jim is backed up by Bill Worthman (6-1, 180) who also saw much action last year.

Trying to flag down those Case bombs will be Jon Sehring (6-3, 185) and Kevin McCoy (6, 170). You can probably also expect to see Webb Vorys a small 150 pound halfback wander out of the backfield to also retrieve a few.

Coach Hess lists one of the team's weaknesses as the need for a running halfback. But you can bet that Phil and his staff have been hard at work looking for just that.

Turning to defense, Coach Hess seems confident. "We have some of out artong defensive linemen back and I'm expecting big things out of them."

Anchoring that defensive wall will be junior Eugene Wilks (6-2, 200) John Chapman (6-2, 190) and Harold Coderre (5-10, 205).

Summerizing the Acadmey footballers, Coach Hess said, "If our experienced players, especiallyoour seniors, give us the hustle and leadership we expect, then we could have a real successful season."

Glancing down Coach Hess strong line of returning gridiron men, you would probably have to agree with him.

Cap Boasts Depth, Experience

Spectator Sports

By Sandy Schwartz
Special Staff Writer

The purple and white Crusaders of Capital University will try to start off this football season just exactly where they left off last season.

Rebounding from a 4-5 season slate, Cap will boast depth as their main strength.

"This is something that we haven't had in the past," states a very confident Coach Gene Slaughter. "We're also going to start this season better prepared than ever before," added Slaughter.

"We hope to blend our running attack and our short passing game to give us good offensive balance," states Slaughter. "Cohesiveness is something that we like to have, everyone working together."

All conference runner Craig Snider will provide the punch for the wishbone backfield. Joining Snider in that backfield will be senior halfback Mike Colles (5-10, 190). Mike played his high school football at Worthington and Coach Slaughter is high on him.

"Mike is a good outside runner and I'm hoping that this will help balance out our running game," commented Gene.

Coach Slaughter also looks for much help from some of the local talent that he has recruited in recent football campaigns.

Joe Schleppi (6-0, 195) a sophomore guard from Columbus Eastmoor may merrit a starting assigmment but if he doesn't, Coach Slaughter feels confident he'll be seeing some action.

Curt Moore also a sophomore from Eastmoor will be vying for the fullback position. He is 5-10, 195 and coach Slaughter describes him as a hard nose running back.

Chuck Izzo, all-city at Columbus South High School is a candidate for some back up work at center while Harry Reed another all-city man at center will also vie for that position. Reed is from Marion Franklin High School.

"With the experience and depth that we have on defense, we plan to be quite mobile," says Coach Slaughter of his defense.

Eight regulars return from the defense of a year past.

Area standouts on that defensive unit are linebackers Dennis Bernhard (6-0, 190), a senior from Bishop Hartley and John Eborn (6-1, 190) from Columbus Mohawk. Coach Slaughter hopes to stop the opponents running game with this rugged pair leading the way on the tackles.

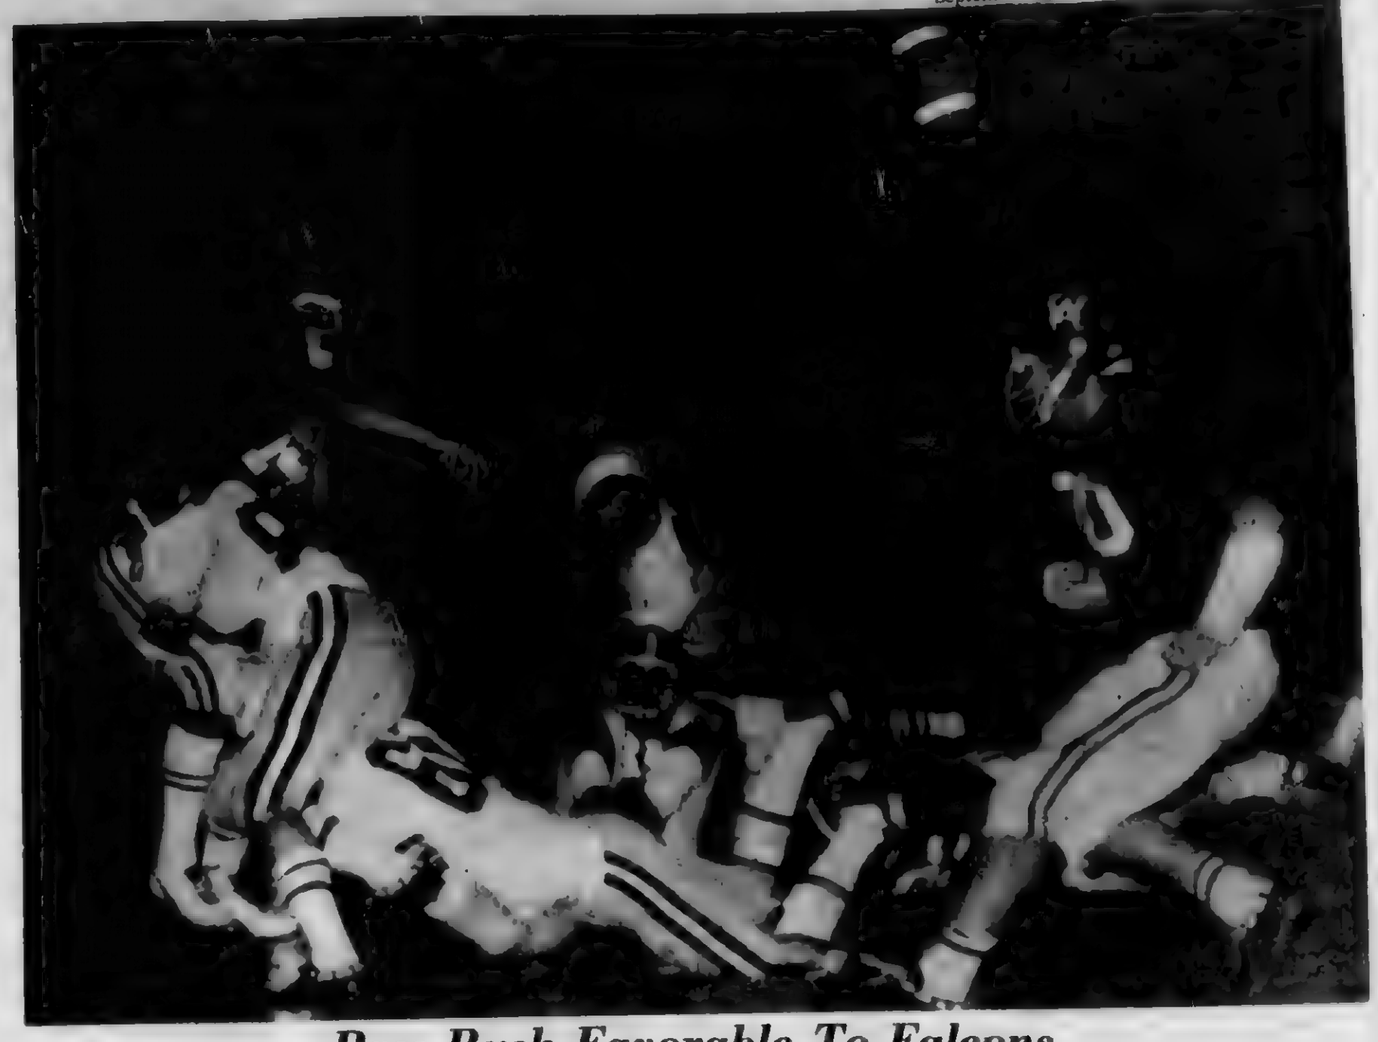
Other local men on defense, include John Baylin (6-1, 180) also from Northland and Bob Suber (6-0, 165) from Linden McKinley. All are deep backs.

Coach Slaughter has much praise for the squad as footballers but he speaks just as highly of them when the academic point of football is brought into the conversation.

"These student-athletes come here to play football, but more important is that they come for an education and I am very proud to say tht almost all of them receive this," stated Slaughter.

And yes they do, facts show that 93 per cent of all recruits (that is students recruited by Capital to play football and receive financial aid) receive their diplomas as scheduled. Probably even more impresive is that 67 per cent of the recruits receive their degree and then go on to higher education.

In all you'd probably have to say things look pretty good over at Capital.

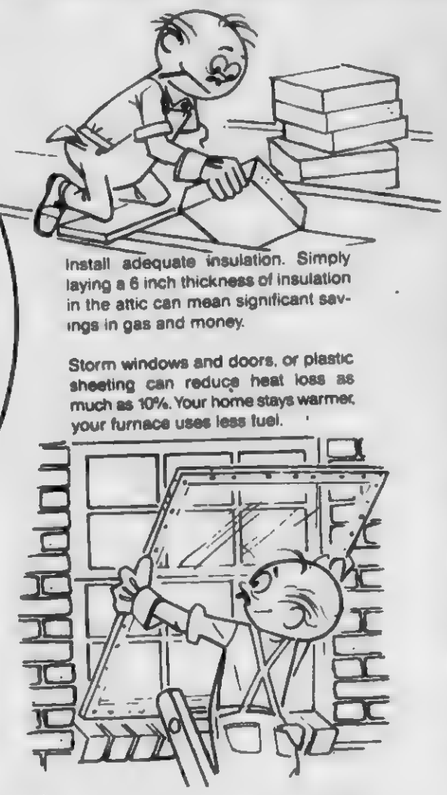


Pass Rush Favorable To Falcons

..PASSING IS THE name of the game in some high school circles this season. A heavy pass rush seems to be the answer to defensing the aerial-minded teams. That's what Franklin Heights' forward wall did to Westland's Cougars attempts last week. Fierce charges by the Falcon forwards kept the Cougar passers tight and as a result the game went to the Falcons, 14-0 along with a fine defensive and offensive maneuver. Here's an exmple of the white-clad Falcons getting to the Cougar quarterback.

DON'T WAIT 'TIL WINTER TO WINTERIZE YOUR HOME

By following these simple tips, you'll use a lot less gas next winter. And as prices rise, it's especially important that we don't waste valuable natural gas.



Install adequate insulation. Simply laying a 6 inch thickness of insulation in the attic can mean significant savings in gas and money.

Storm windows and doors, or plastic sheeting can reduce heat loss as much as 10%. Your home stays warmer, your furnace uses less fuel.

New Gas Furnace

If you have an old conversion burner, you'll be wise to replace it with a modern new gas furnace, designed to operate with less gas. As a present gas heating customer, you can install a new gas furnace and be sure of getting gas supplies in the future. A more efficient new gas furnace will give you more heat for less money. Plus it will save space in the basement. Why not call your dealer for advice, while the weather's nice?

Every opening and crack around windows and doors wastes gas and costs you money. Caulking and weather stripping can seal cracks and gaps, save dollars in fuel.

Gas is precious pure energy . . . use it wisely.

East High Tigers Have Workload Cut For Them

OPENING up a football scheduled at Steubenville and then having to face Northland in your first City League North game sounds like no easy talk. But the football Tigers of East High did just that.

East Coach Bob Steele claims to have a stronger team than last year's 2-6-1 squad. He returns 11 lettermen of which saw 5 of those as clear cut starters.

"We'll be stronger than last year in a few ways," says an optimistic Coach Steele.

THE TIGERS boast a pair of strong team leaders in Jesse Dixon and Robert Wilson. Both are 6-1, 206 and both are only juniors.

"These two are real team leaders and excellent linemen," says Coach Steele. He indicated that he was counting heavily on that identical duo to lead the way.

Dennis Fields (6-0, 170) and the backup there and Coach Steele also speaks highly of him.

Dave Scott (5-10, 170) and Sid Whiteside (5-9, 170) are a pair of tough guards and Charles Brooks (5-10, 165) will back up there. All three are juniors.

COACH STEELE is presented with a pleasant problem in the backfield. William Anderson (5-10, 155) a sophomore, and Tony Mathews (5-11, 170) a senior, are challanging for the quarterback spot. Coach Steele says that both show promise and he seemed confident that either could easily lead his I backfield to the goallines.

Phil Dixon (6-1, 195) will be the senior fullback of the squad. Vern Chisolm, who is currently mursing an injury will give him relief there when he mends.

Joe Sims will open up at halfback and he has been pushed hard for playing time by Allan Smith (5-10, 175). All backfielders except the quarterbacks are returnees who saw action last year.

"Our defense looks stronger than last year's , it will be much stronger if we can stay healthy,"

PLAYING up front on that Oklahoma defense with a monster back will be middle guard Mike McKee (5-11, 180). Mike is a rugged sophomore. Dixon and Wilson will be the tackles and their job will be to anchor the line according to Coach Steele.

Ron Littlefield (5-8, 185) and Dave Scott (5-9, 175) will be two of the linebackers, both are experiencees.

Defensive halfbacks look to be Mike Burke (5-7, 125), Joe Sims (5-8, 165) and Rodney Smith (5-8, 165). All are seniors.

Victor Flood, a 5-10, 166 pound junior will be one of the cornerbacks and Coach Steele feels he is the brightest spot in this deep backfield. Other possible cornerbacks could be either Butler or a surprising sophomore Laccern Scott. Coach Steele describes hjim as "a real strong hitter".

"Our enthusiasm and desire to win has made a real turnabout from last year," explains an excited Coach Steele.

Vying for the monster back or deep safety slot are Rod Smith (5-11, 175), James Page, (5-8, 145) and Carl Dallas (5-11, 165).

"IF WE CAN cut our mistakes, I will assure you that we will fool a lot of people," summed up an optimistic Coach Stteele.

Hartley's Hawks Aim For Top Rung

With Watterson being labeled the team to beat each year in the Central Catholic League, things could change. And Hartley just could be the squad to change those fortunes.

THE HAWKS lost two hardnose running backs from last year in Chip Jakeway and Tim Cunningham, both all CCL.

But complimented with 14 returning lettermen and flanked by 23 seniors, Hartley boss Jack Ryan, Mr. Football, is looking forward to an "interesting" as he would put it season.

COULD THIS "'interesting season mean a new type of gameplan?

Leading the Hawkeye barrage will be their 5-10, 167 pound sharp-shooting quarterback Mark Disabto. Disabato may change the Hartley game plan from that rugged running attack to a smooth aerial warfare type of play.

PRIME TARGETS will be, track speedster Ed Radcliff, senior returnee Don Swicki, and quarterback converted tight end Scott Williams.

"Disabato has a real quick release, and we have a good set of receivers, yes, the ball might be in the air a little more this year" claims Ryan, a football veteran of 33 years.

MANY AROUND the Hartley barracks feel that this rock solid line probably is a big strength that the Hawks posses.

This line could give the quick releasing Disabato the time he needs to unload. Doug Williams a 200 pound sophomore fullback will be in the backfield to balance out the attack and try to help improve on last years 6-4 record.

OTHER newcomers that could help include Frank Tension a tailback and Bill Williams a running back.

MARIO MASIOS returns to do the placekicking, he lettered last year and once again will be looked to for some needed points to add to the scoreboard.

Anchoring the defensive crew will be linebackers Paul Keglemeyer (6, 196) and Bill Gilliand (5-10, 160). Paul Jacobs is back at defensive tackle as is Tony Cunningham at defensive end. Pat Wilse a (5-7, 150 pound) defensive back returns as the veteran of the deep secondary.

Newcomers fighting for a starting spot on the primed defensive squad include John Sommers, Terry Monseur, Don Cole, Pat Burns, Mike Kelley and Kevin Trojack.

INCIDENTLEY, last year's defensive unit, a strong point of the Hartley team, loses an even half dozen by graduation, but Coach Ryan hopes to whip up a new crew of about the same strength.

"We should be real respectful," claimed the modest silver haired wonder. "Our weak point is our lack of depth but this is countered by real good attitude and great competition," Ryan was quick to point out.

"Barring injuries, we'll be right in the thick of things," and we don't really want to doubt the words of the man who makes Hartley athletics go, do we?

Academy Contender

Coming off of a Mid-Buckeye League championship, Columbus Acadmey's mentor Phil desdcribes this year's edition of Viking football as a "senior team".

Blesses with 14 returning lettermen, (10 of those were starters a year ago) Coach Hess again, expects to be a strong contender for those Mid-Buckeye championship horns.

Classy Jim Case, an all-leaguer returns at quarterback. Case is 6-2, 185 and Coach Hess reports that his passing is looking "Better than ever." Jim is backed up by Bill Worthman (6-1, 180) who also saw much action last year.

Trying to flag down those Case bombs will be Jon Sehring (6-3, 185) and Kevin McCoy (6, 170). You can probably also expect to see Webb Vorys a small 150 pound halfback wander out of the backfield to also retrieve a few.

Coach Hess lists one of the team's weaknesses as the need for a running halfback. But you can bet that Phil and his staff have been hard at work looking for just that.

Turning to defense, Coach Hess seems confident. "We have some of out srtong defensive linemen back and I'm expecting big things out of them."

Anchoring that defensive wall will be junior Eugene Wilks (6-2, 200) John Chapman (6-2, 190) and Harold Coderre (5-10, 205).

Summerizing the Acadmey footballers, Coach Hess said, "If our experienced players, especiallyoour seniors, give us the hustle and leadership we expect, then we could have a real successful season."

Glancing down Coach Hess strong line of returning gridiron men, you would probably have to agree with him.

OHIO VINYL'S NUMBER ONE IN THE COLUMBUS AREA

The Space-Age Material

VINYL SIDING

New in New, Authentic Woodgrain Pattern!

MADE BY
And

PRECISION POLYMERS

GUARANTEED NOT TO . . .

★ DENT ★ CHIP ★ CRACK ★ PEEL ★ MILDEW
★ ROT ★ RUST ★ BLISTER ★ FADE

. . . Like metal, wood or asbestos siding

Five times thicker than any metal siding and 30 times thicker than paint!

Substantial savings on fuel bills in winter . . . keeps your home cooler in summer!

easy to clean! Abrasive cleaners can safely be used for stubborn stains.

After years of research and the expenditure of huge sums of money, Precision Polymers scientists developed the perfect vinyl formulation for a siding that will withstand Ohio weather. So rugged is this vinyl material that it will never need painting.

This remarkable solid vinyl siding, made of space age compounds, insulates both against cold and heat, means a healthier, more comfortable home in Summer and Winter. Solid vinyl siding made of new miracle products, is so tough, so incredibly durable it eliminates virtually all maintenance costs for years and is non-combustible.

Vinyl siding made by Precision Polymers is now available at a price EVERYONE CAN AFFORD!

WE NEED 20 SHOWCASE HOMES

In the Franklin County Trade Area to demonstrate this outstanding material, our superb workmanship, and to stimulate activity. Our work is customized.

Fire School Ends In Glorious Blaze

EAST COLUMBUS–The 28th Annual State Fire School ended last week at O.S.U. with 466 firemen from around the state receiving instruction in such topics as Fire Prevention and Inspection, Emergency Victim Care, Maintenance and Operation of Pumps, The Movement of Water in Firefighting, Rescue, Aerial Ladders and Platforms and Leadership Development. The course in Fire Ground Tactics used the $4,000 Scott Fire Training Simulator. The simulator uses four overhead projectors which give an aerial view of the fire, smoke and hose lines and ladders. Four men, each in charge of a piece of equipment, directs the operator of the projector what action they are to take and it is projected on the screen. The course is designed to develop good tactical procedures at the scene of a fire, according to T & I Instructor, Chief Jack W. Rowley of the Columbus Fire Department. Other instructors were Joe Keefer, Bob Cosner, Bill Hennosey and Harmon Dutko. The picture above is of a tanker fire conducted at Port Columbus. This year's school at the College of Law Building and Hagerty Hall was sponsored by the College of Law Building and Hagerty Academic Faculty of Vocational-Technical Education and the State Department of Education, in cooperation with the Office of State Fire Marshal. Eastland Adds New Staff, New Programs

Groveport–Twelve new staff members have started their duties at the Eastland Vocational Center, 4465 S. Hamilton Rd. Four are replacements in existing program areas and the others are additional teachers required to handle new programs and the increases in student enrollment.

New teachers and their assignments are as follows: Mrs. Ruth Bobenread, English; Mrs. Carmen Buckalew, English; Carl Miller, Government; Jim Collins, Horticulture I; Robert Solt, Agriculture Mechanics II; Terry Garland, Distributive Education; Tom Grandstaff, Carpentry I; Norm Hendrickson, Carpentry II; Milburn McCloud, Food ServiceI; Mrs. Cathy Hahn, Food Service II; Ron Williams, Data Processing II; Robert Fisher, Media Specialist-Reading Lab.

Intra-staff reassignments because of a resignation have created an opening for an Occupational Work Experience instructor. Interviews have been conducted and the recommendation for this position will be made at tonights Board of Education meeting.

Use of the new building addition has resulted in the following program additions and changes.

FOOD PREPARATION AND SERVICE is a new two year vocational program offered for both young men and women. Food service is the third largest industry in this country today and the demand for trained help is far beyond the supply. This course covers the preparation and service of food in quantity and with quality. Graduates can enter the industry in a variety of positions and with additional training reach the management level.

Agricultural-Industrial Mechanics and Equipment Repair has become a two year program and will be located in a new 7200 square foot shop. The second year will cover large farm and industrial diesel machinery and equipment. Trained young men in this program can select from many job opportunities in the Franklin County area.

Horticulture-Floriculture is now a two year in school program and will soon be operating in a new 3000 square foot greenhouse. The propagation, fertilization, identification, and growing of plants are some of the areas covered. Students will develop the skills necessary for successful employment in a variety of horticultural jobs.

"Through the constant use of craft advisory committees the vocational programs offered at the Eastland Vocational Center are always changing to meet the needs of business and industry," says H. D. Chamberlain, director of vocational education at Eastland. Curriculum changes of one form or another have taken place in each of the programs over the past five years."

"The present challenge is the establishment of new vocational programs which would broaden the opportunities for young people. Many excellent vocations are not available to students until they leave school. Therefore changes will be made to make more vocational education available to students in the Eastland Joint Vocational School District."

Eastland has about 125 more students this year than last year. Total enrollment is now 855.

A new wing is now being built with monies from the bond issue passed in 1971. The addition will enlarge the facility by 35,000 square feet, increasing the number of classrooms by six, and will also contain a library, greenhouse, head house for the greenhouse, and a shop. Some restrooms and offices in the shops will also be remodeled.

Cancer Death Rate Is Highest In Bexley

Bexley–According to figures gathered by the Ohio Department of Health, Bexley has a higher death rate per thousand persons due to cancer than any other Franklin County community.

Bexley's cancer death rate of 208.2 per 1000 population compares with Franklin County's average death rate of 150.9 per 1000 population.

These figures indicated to American Cancer Society's Franklin County Unit's Board of Directors that Bexley residents, despite their high levels of education and income, fail to take the precaution of having an annual check-up.

The late Paul Walker who was director of the Franklin County Unit and a Bexley resident, credited an annual check-up with discovering the presence of cancer. Surgery in the early spring of this year enabled him to work on the April Cancer Crusade, helping to direct the drive from a mini-office in his bedroom at his home. Walker died Aug. 21.

Bexley has contributed a lot of manpower to the efforts to eradicate cancer, say the unit's leaders.

A former Bexley resident, Dr. Lucius Sinks, a graduate of Columbus Academy and son of Mrs. Allen Sinks, 130 N. Ardmore, has spoken on the subject of cancer and cancer research at various American Cancer Society meetings and seminars. Dr. Sinks, currently a resident of New York City, was a fellow at Childrens' Hospital and conducted cancer research here.

It has been pointed out by local officials of the American Cancer Society that cancer kills more children between the ages of one and fourteen than any other disease and that 16 per cent of the admissions to Childrens' Hospital are for cancer.

Another Bexley resident, Dr. Judah Folkman, son of Rabbi and Mrs. Jerome Folkman, 2658 Maryland Ave., is currently engaged in cancer research at Childrens' Hospital Medical Center in Boston under a grant from the American Cancer Society.

Although Bexley has given the American Cancer Society some leading researchers in the fight against cancer, the Society hopes that this year the residents will give more money to help the Franklin County Unit carry on its efforts to help cancer victims through education and rehabilitation. They remind the public that more funds are necessary if the American Cancer Society is going to fulfill this year's theme: "We Want to Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime."

City Spends Federal Funds

Whitehall–Whitehall City Council, in the federal revenue sharing payment period of Jan. 1,. 1973 through June 30, 1973, received $$170,750 and expended a total of $110,000.

The amount of $60,000 was spent on public safety and $50,000 on recreation and culture.

The expenditures had no effect on the tax level of the city, nor on the debt level.

The city has proposed the spending of a total of capital revenue sharing funds of $220,820 for the period of July 1, 1973 and June 30, 1974.

For transportation, they will spend 43.5 per cent of their allotment, or $95,900.

Twenty-eight percent, or $62,000 will go for public safety projects.

Recreation and culture programs will use 28.5 per cent or $62,922.

The proposed expenditures will prevent an increase in the rate of a major tax and avoid any debt increase.

Battelle To Fund New Library

Bexley–Capital University will receive a total gift of $45,000 over a five-year period from Battelle Memorial Institute to establish the Battelle Library of Administrative Science on campus.

The library collection will be developed in conjunction with Capital's new master of business administration program which officially began on September 4. Pre-requisite courses have been offered for the MBA program since January, 1973.

The first portion of the gift, amounting to $20,000, was presented to the university recently by Dr. Sherwood L. Fawcett, Battelle's president. Additional grants are to be made annually through 1977.

According to Capital University president Thomas H. Langevin, "resource materials from the new Battelle Library of Administrative Science at Capital will greatly assist in the development and growth of the MBA program. It is fitting that Battelle's support should be directed to such a vital area as the library."

Capital's new graduate-level business program was designed to meet the expressed needs of the local business and government communities.

Centennial Celebrated

EAST COLUMBUS–Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, 4500 Refugee Rd., is celebrating its centennial this year. As the symbol pictures, Grace has been a worshiping community in three different homes: the first church structure was located on Fourth near Mound, the second edifice at 492 Oakwood, and the present worship and educational complex on Refugee Rd. Sunday, Sept. 23, the congregation will continue the centennial celebration with a Home coming service at 10:15 a.m., followed by a reception. The Reverend Robert Heinlein, a son of the congregation, now serving parishes in central Wisconsin, will be the guest speaker. Pastor Heinlein's parents are actively involved in Grace congregation. Alvin Heinlein has been organist of the congregation for over 25 years. A special evening service will be held at 7:30 p.m. on the same day with Holy Communion being celebrated.

Editor's Mother Dies

Services were held at 1 p.m. today at Jerry Spears Funeral Home for Mrs. Maude Ireland, 2599 Brandon Rd., Columbus, who died last Saturday.

She was the mother of Mrs. Elsie Weaver, Spectator East editor.

Christian Church Marks 75th Birthday

EAST COLUMBUS–Observing its 75th year as a congregation next Sunday is the Southeast Christian Church, 3330 E. Livingston Ave. The church began on the East side in 1898 and 15 years ago this month they moved to their present location from Wilson Avenue and Fulton. They were formerly known as Wilson Avenue Christian Church. From left in the picture, are Stanley Head; Dr. H. C. Horden, chairman of the anniversary committee; the Rev. John J. White, minister; JoAnne Head; Mrs. Stanley Head and Mrs. Virginia Stainaker, church secretary. JoAnne, with the help of Tom Gussler, painted the lawn sign, which shows at the left the home where the church first met, at right the church on Wilson Ave., and in the center the new church on Livingston. The celebration begins at Sunday morning worship with Rev. Kenneth Coy, a former minister of the church speaking. At 4 p.m. the festivities will continue with a dinner at 6 p.m. The youth of the church will show slides of their work camp in Kentucky and present songs as their part in the celebration. The Rev. Paul Durbin is in charge of the youth program.

And So It Grows

It's Cricket Season

Perhaps you've noticed a lot of crickets around your home lately. Two species—field crickets and house crickets—may enter homes. Field crickets breed outdoors where they feed on all kinds of vegetation. They enter dwellings late in the summer when vegetation becomes scarce or after crops have been harvested.

House crickets are most troublesome in dwellings located near city disposal areas or similar places that are being filled in with refuse.

Large numbers of crickets may develop in these places and swarm to houses at dusk during September.

Crickets in the home may chew on and damage clothing and other fabrics, particularly if the articles are soiled.

To control this pest, close all openings to the house and

Computerized Phone Calls

'Life Bank' System Can Be Life-Saver

THE AVAILABLITY of an emergency telephone assistance system for Eastern residents and persons residing in 21 adjacent counties was announced Tuesday by Robert S. Phillips, president of Emergency Telephone Assistance, Inc. (ETA), Dallas.

Phillips also announced the appointment of Aid-Help, Inc., 814 Griswold St., Worthington, as the Emergency Telephone Assistance representative for the 22-county area.

PHILLIPS addressed area health and safety officials, including representatives from the area, at Ohio State University's Fawcett Center for Tomorrow. He described the ETA system as a 24-hour accident and emergency identification, information and notification system.

Phillips explained that a Dallas-based computerized reserve known as "Life Bank" contains important medical and personal data submitted by an individual.

Subscribers to the program carry a wallet card and wear a medallion or bracelet carrying pertinent instructions and the Life Bank emergency telephone number.

IN A CRISIS situation, one telephone call provides medical and law enforcement authorities with positive identification and essential medical information on an individual requiring emergency assistance. This one call also triggers the notification of family members or other individuals designated by Life Bank subscribers.

"This system has helped identify and assist lost children and persons injured in automobile accidents, criminal acts and natural disasters," Phillips said.

"In addition to assisting individuals and their families, the ETA program has helped school administrators, health and safety officials and medical personnel do a better job when dealing with the very trying circumstances of an emergency."

DEVELOPED in 1970, the ETA program is now operational in all 50 states, Canada and Mexico.

Phillips said that subscribers may also use the data bank to store personal records such as eyeglass prescriptions and charge card account numbers which may be needed in case of loss or theft. He noted that in addition to individual subscription, many firms are integrating the emergency system into company employe benefit programs.

Aid-Help, Inc., 814 Griswold St., Worthington, has been selected to direct the emergency telephone assistance sales and information program in the 22-county Central Ohio region.

Police Give Tough Bike Safety Test

EAST COLUMBUS—About 500 pupils of Leawood Elementary School, 1677 S. Hamilton Rd., had their bicycles and their knowledge of bike safety tested at the school's biennial bicycle clinic, Sept. 12, 13, 14. Officer Tom Hawkins of the Columbus Police Dept. is shown giving bike safety checks while the school's principal, Mrs. Kathleen Trueblood watches. The boy whose bike has no seat receives a failing mark on that part of the test and a brief lecture from the officer. Other items being checked are license, front light and rear reflector, tires, brakes, handlebars, wheels, pedals, and horn. A riding performance test was also scored, requiring the students to ride around traffic cones, ride in a circle, demonstrate the proper hand signals, show acceptable balance while riding 20 feet slowly and at normal riding speed. Bicycle licenses were available for purchase. A written test was also part of the project to promote bike safety. Unless the student passes the tests with a 70 per cent grade, he is not allowed to ride to and from school. Asked if the clinic was part of a Bike Safety Week observance Officer Robert Coontz replied, "No, but every week is Safety Week, as far as the police are concerned." Officer Charles Barleycorn was in charge of the clinc, and Mrs. Thomas McGlone and Mrs. JoAnn Reinheimer co-chairmen of the sponsoring PTA committee.

tighten screens, windows and doors. If they still find their way in the home, use a household spray containing chlordane, lindane, or 7 malathion. Apply it around baseboards in closets and in cracks where the crickets may hide.

Outside, spray a one-percent chlordane solution to the run-off stage around the foundation of the house. Be sure to spray behind steps, along sidewalks and in cracks.

The spray will also control ants, millipedes, and many other crawling insects.

From 1960 to 1970, the number of sound housing units built or rehabilitated in Ohio was 40,000 less than the new families formed, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

The Brown Baggers

By their "brown bags" shall you know them.

Hundreds of the mid-30 and up generation will start to burn the midnight oil as what we used to refer to endearingly as "Night School" finds silent bells ringing all over the Franklin County area.

Age has never been a barrier–or at the most an implausible one–to those whose quest for knowledge knows no bounds.

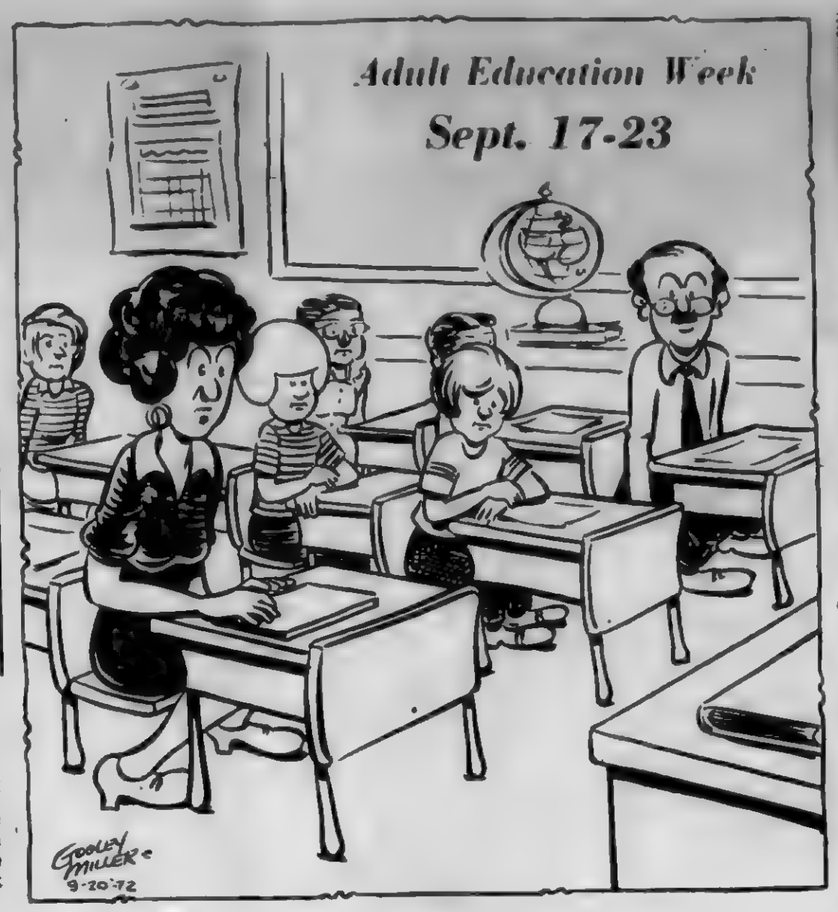
Some will be struggling with the basic three R's. Others will be advancing their own causes toward promotions by getting a little more book learning.

The road will not be easy as dust on the books will in some cases be matched by cobwebs on the brain until the rhythm of learning starts a smooth flow.

It's a tribute to these pre-senior and some much younger citizens that they will be foregoing some of the material pleasures of life to add a little more "smart" that can be turned into dollars. This effort will give them and their families a little more vittles on the table and a few bucks in the bank for that rainy day that sometimes comes too often.

As for the brown bagger tag-that's the little brown sack that might hold a sandwich, an apple, a "Twinkie" and some other magic goodie that will make recess all the sweeter.

Happy diploma.



Safety Belt Survey Indicates Need, Want

A SAFETY BELT attitude survey conducted by the Department of Highway Safety reveals most Ohioans favor required seat belt usage.

The survey, presented to Ohio Highway Safety Director Eugene P. O'Grady, was administered by the State Highway Patrol's Vehicle Inspection Teams. More than 25,000 drivers were interviewed.

"THE NOTION the public is against a required seat belt law is not true," Director O'Grady commented. "Our figures reveal as high as 69.1 percent of the interviewees favor required seat belts and as high as 96 percent of those polled said they would use seat belts if required seat belt law were passed."

The director said the patrol teams conducted the statewide, random survey during vehicle inspections.

"THE REPORT states 28 percent of the drivers were using some type of restraint," Director O'Grady pointed out.

The director also noted the rise in the percentage of seat belt usage in 1972 and 1973 model cars which come equipped with buzzer alarm systems to motivate use of safety belts.

"We find the percentage of drivers using restraints in '72 and '73 model cars jumping to 39.1 percent," he said.

SOME 93 percent of the drivers knew the 1973 Ohio license plate slogan and 80.2 percent thought the printing of the "Seat Belts Fastened?" motto was a good idea.

"We concluded the printing of the slogan on the 1973 tags is effective," the director said, "as 19 percent said their reaction to it was to buckle up."

Consumer Protection Law Strenghtens Installment Sales

A NEW STATE consumer protection law passed by the General Assembly, strengthens the Ohio Retail Installment Sales Law and modifies certain provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code.

Perhaps the most important provision modifies the legal doctrine known as holder-in-due-course. When goods are purchased on credit, the buyer often signs a promissory note which the merchant "sells" to a financial institution. The financial institution becomes the owner and collector on the note.

UNDER FORMER holder-in-due-course law, if a buyer refused to make payment to the financial institution because the merchant sold him faulty merchandise the financial institution could sue the buyer and the court would order the buyer to pay, because the court wcould not take into consideration that the goods were faulty or not delivered.

The new law eliminates this abuse to some extent. If the buyer notifies the financial institution within a specified period of time of his dissatisfaction with the seller of the goods he can defend on these grounds if he is later sued by the financial institution.

THE NEW LAW requires that the merchant or financial institution give the buyer a special notice telling him that his note has been "sold" to a financial institution and of the time period in which he must notify the financial institution of any dissatisfaction he has with the seller. Basically, the buyer has fifteen days in which to notify the financial institution.

Another provision of the new law modifies the present use of the waiver of defense clause. By signing a contract containing a waiver of defense clause, the consumer agrees in advance not to assert any defenses such as a breach of warranty or non-delivery should he be sued by someone to whom the merchant has sold the contract.

The new law modifies the use of waiver of defense clauses by setting out requirements exactly the same as those relating to holder-in-due-course.

Another new section prohibits a creditor from repossessing merchandise if the buyer has paid more than 75 percent of the total purchase price.

THE NEW LAW also concerns itself with balloon payments. A "Balloon payment" is a final payment which is significantly larger than preceding paunents under an installment contract.

It is used to make payments appear small, and thus assist in the sale; it is also used to require the buyer to refinance to the benefit of the seller. Under the new provision the payment schedule must be composed of installments which are substantially equal in amount.

Boy Scout Fall Roundup Plans To Corral 8,500

ADDITION of 8,500 new Scouts is the goal of the 1973 Fall Roundup to be conducted by the Central Ohio Council of Boy Scouts of America, according to Thomas L. Parker, Council President.

The roundup will be conducted during the week of September 26 by contacting prospective Scouts in approximately 350 schools in the nine-county Central Ohio area. The following program is planned:

THE CUB SCOUT age group (8-10 years) will be invited to join through a Cub School Night to be held at all schools Tuesday, September 25.

The Scout age group (11-14 years) will be invited to join through Troop Rallies at all troop meetings during September and October.

The roundup promotion program will be carried out through active Scouts and Scout Leaders. Both will be eligible for awards to be presented for attaining recruitment goals.

Parker said that three items have been identified as being major areas in bringing a new emphasis to Scouting and will be stressed to Scout Leaders during the recruitment roundup:

1. Relevant advancement with flexibility in programs and procedures
2. Greater involvement by Scouts in decision making and in growth development
3. The optional program for older Scouts in the troop, the leadership corps, with its emphasis on developing leadership competencies.

THE SCOUTING program emphasis will be made on decision making, perception of a broadening world and establishing a set of values and attitudes with the use of Oath and Law as a guide.

The Recruitment Program will be divided into districts. Eight of the Roundup Chairmen are from the Spectator area.

Untangling Traffic Jam Needs Study Of Facts

By Arch Booth
Executive Vice President,
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

WASHINGTON –Anyone who spends any time in a major traffic jam soon finds himself thinking: There must be a better way to move people than this.

And there is, but it's necessary to understand some often-overlooked facts about the urban traffic tangle:

1. The heart of the problem–excluding air pollution for the moment–is that private automobiles take up too much space for the number of people they carry. They carry an average of 1.4 people per car (possibly a high estimate in many areas).

In other words, building more freeways and more parking spaces in the "downtown" area isn't always the solution. The extra facilities quickly fill up with extra automobiles.

2. Public transportation is ideally suited to moving large numbers of people over a small right-of-way in a short space of time; that is, rush-hour commuters.

It is not now–and probably never will be–suited to moving people from one point in the suburbs to another point in the suburbs, unless the two points happen to fall along a major commuter artery, So, we will not be able to get along entierly without the private automobile.

Equipment No Problem

3. Technological breakthroughs are not needed to improve public transportation. A conventional high-speed rail system can carry 72,000 people per hour along one right-of-way.

There are very few corridors in the world that can take full advantage of such capacity. A bus-based system, operating on its own express right-of-way, can haul 54,000 per hour–and everybody gets a seat. These figures may be compared with the standard rule-of-thumb for freeway capacity of 2,000 vehicles per lane per hour, or 2,800 people at the average occupancy rate.

THE SECRET is the separate right-of-way. Put the bus or the train in regular traffic and they would both get bogged down in the regular traffic jams. Then capacity plummets. The local bus, operating in mixed traffic, hauls about 4,000 per hour.

MOST OF the "gee whiz" equipment that has been proposed–such as the famous monorail–offers no capacity advantage over conventional equipment. Further, these gadgets are often more expensive than conventional equipment, and they usually have unresolved technical probelms. Monorails, for example, are very difficult to switch. That's why most of the demonstration monorails either go back and forth on the same track, or around and around a circular track.

That's not to say conventional equipment cannot be made more attractive and more comfortable. Lord knows, it needs to be.

Assistance Essential

4. Public transportation needs public assistance. The most heavily traveled commuter routes can pay for themselves, in the peak hours. But additional routes, longer hours of service, more frequent service–all these factors add to operating cost much faster than they add to revenue. If the system must pay for itself, there are only two choices:

Cut back service or charge the peak-hour riders enough to cover the deficit operations. But socking it to the rush-hour commuter tends to drive him right back to his automobile, which leaves us where we started.

FEDERAL grants for the purchase of new equipment have been essential to staving off the total collapse of many of out transit systems. The program should probably be continued. However, I agree with Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar that federal subsidies for operating deficits would be a mistake.

Local voters should decide for themselves how much service they are willing to pay for. It would be unfair for one community–through its federal taxes–to be subsidizing for some other community a higher level of service than it enjoys.

State Income Tax Is Boon To All: Governor

Governor John J. Gilligan said this week the average Ohio taxpayer earning $10,300 annually who owns his home and has three school-age children, "surely is getting his money's worth for just 40 cents more a week in state tax."

THE AVERAGE taxpayer, who owns a home with a market value of $19,100, is receiving an annual reduction of $32 in his real property tax while paying only $53 in state income tax, the governor said.

"Besides the property tax relief," the governor explained, "the state is providing an average of $109 more annually per child in state aid to local school districts in addition to other improved state services with revenue from the income tax."

The $32 property tax reduction for the average taxpayer is part of an estimated $138.7 million in annual statewide real estate tax relief, Governor Gilligan said.

THE 10 PER CENT property tax rollback marked the first time in history that Ohio real estate taxes were reduced statewide through legislation which was a major point in the governor's tax reform program adopted late, in 1971.

The governor also noted nearly 250,000 of the state's Senior Citizen homeowners age 65 and over will receive an additional $27.3 million in real property tax relief through provisions of the Homestead Exemption Act.

Both the 10 per cent, across-the-board, real estate tax rollback afforded all Ohio property owners and the Homestead Exemption tax relief are funded with revenue from the state's personal income tax.

Gov. Gilligan said Ohio's 88 counties are fully reimbursed for the 10 per cent rollback and Homestead Exemption relief by the state.

As a result of passage of the state income tax, Gov. Gilligan said, school districts will receive nearly $726 million in state aid during fiscal year 1974.

GILLIGAN SAID this compared with slightly over $463 million in state aid for education in fiscal year 1971 prior to passage of the state income tax.

The governor noted the increased aid for education amounted to an increase of 57 per cent in two years or an average increase of $109 per pupil.

"ALL LOCAL school districts in Ohio would have been required to vote an average of six additional mills in property tax to raise enough money to fund this increase in aid for education," Gilligan said.

Resources Booklet Is Available Free

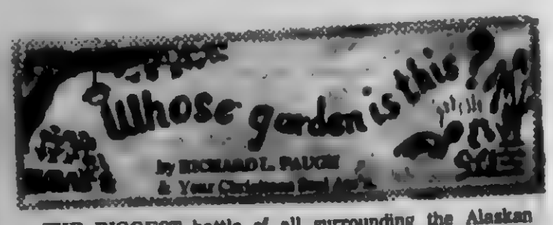
A new publication, "Preserving Ohio's Wild and Scenic Rivers," has been published by the Department of Natural Resources and is available to the public.

The brochure provides information on the state Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, outlines criteria used in designating scenic, wild and recreation rivers and explains the Department of Natural Resources' role in administering the program.

"Public understanding of our program of stream preservation is essential," said Natural Resources Director William B. Nye.

"This brochure explains the importance of protecting the beauty and quality of free-flowing streams and tells how citizens can help."

Copies of the pamphlet are available without charge at the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224.



THE BIGGEST battle of all surrounding the Alaskan pipeline controversy has been what route it will follow rather than whether or not it will be installed.

The Alaskan route would take the oil to the sea where it would be loaded aboard tankers and brought to the west coast. This route would keep the precious stuff entirely within our control, not having to pay a percentage to a foreign power.

THE ALTERNATE route, through Canada, would keep the oil in the pipeline until it arrives IN THE MISWEST for distribution. The major difference being the point of arrival in these United States. Should the Canadian route be used, Ohioans would get much greater relief from the gasoline shortage than if the shipping route is used.

It has been estimated by those who ought to know that NONE of the oil from Alaska would reach the mid-west if it is shipped into west coast ports.

Personally, I am in favor of the Alaskan route. This might surprise most who have come to believe the environmentalist's stand is for any other alternative. My rationale is simple.

The less gasoline on the market in Ohio, the quicker the citizens, business world and the politicians are going to realize a workable, funded mass transit is an immediate necessity.

MANY BATTLES will be won and lost in Washington and Columbus before the priorities on who may drive and who may not drive are settled. The real crunch that will bring about new lifestyles will come in your lungs. We can only breath so much junk before we must keel over.

I tender a personal thanks to the oil companies of the United States for not building a refinery in the past forty years.

Without that shortsightedness, we might have enough fuel to double the number of vehicles on the road. I look terrible in a gas mask, and it would surely have come to the road. I look terrible in a gas mask, and it would surely have come to that.

THE STATE and federal highway lobby is all-powerful. It will not relinquish the urge to blacktop the world. No lawmaker dare continually buck the cement, asphalt people or the equipment builders and contractors. The car manufactuers and oil people are the biggest corporations in the world. Standard Oil of Ohio made 17½ billion dollars last year. It was way down the list in size.

I sincerely congratulate those wheelers and dealers who have so beautifully painted themselves in a corner.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Learn once more the joys of cycling. It'll give you back your health, save you money and clean the air.

ZIP-ped Letters To Destination Much Sooner

THE ZIP CODE–The five-digit number following the state in United States addresses–now appears on more than 85 percent of first class mail.

The coding of mail has become even more important in recent months with a growing share of first class letters sorted on machines equipped with the Zip Mail Translator (ZMT).

With this computerized unit, the letter sorting machine operator simply keys the Zip Code appearing on the envelope.

The Zip Code is then "translated" so the envelope is routed to the bin which will give it the best transportation.

Previously, postal clerks were required to learn the complex local and regional sorting schemes that are now carried in the ZMT computer.

Zip Code usage is running about 85 percent on first class mail going from one business to another. The mail from the average family to businesses does much better, however, with the percentage nearing 90 percent.

This reflects the near universal use of Zip Code on business stationery, including return address, order forms, coupons, reply envelopes, etc.

Zip Code use by other classes of mail includes: Airmail letters, 91 percent, and parcel post, 96 percent. The use of Zip Code has been mandatory since 1967 for second class and bulk third class rates.

The five Zip Code digits are "a telescopic sequence," focusing on successively smaller areas. The first digit points to a geographically large area, the second and third digits to one of 556 sectional centers–key post offices which serve 30 to 200 or more smaller post offices, or to one major city post office. The last two digits stand for the post office or postal stations of ultimate destination.

For example, ZIP number 43015 means the letter is bound for Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana or Michigan as represented by the figure 4. The digits 30 single out the Columbus, Ohio Postal District.

Accordingly, the 15 represents the city of Delaware, Ohio. All letters bearing the first three ZIP numbers 430 or 431 from anywhere in the nation are sent to Columbus for redistribution to the respective Central Ohio post offices.

Letters bearing 432 as the first three ZIP numbers will be followed by two numbers representing delivery areas within the Columbus City Delivery Limits."

Sertoma Pancake Festival Saturday

The 12th annual Pancake Festival sponsored by the Columbus Sertoma Club will be held Saturday, September 22, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Arts and Crafts Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Admission is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. Tickets are available from Downtown Sertoma Club members, La Sertoma members and at the door.

Bill McDermott, Chairman of this year's event, has stated that the Festival will feature unlimited pancakes, prizes and entertainment throughout the 12-hour serving time.

McDermott pointed out that there will be extended hours of service and ample parking available at the Arts and Crafts building.

Proceeds from the Festival will benefit the Hearing and Speech Center of Columbus and Central Ohio.

Also on the menu will be sausage and beverages.

Women Petty Officers Recruited

Columbus—Four women petty officers were recruited into the Columbus U.S. Coast Guard Reserve Unit in a three-month period ending Aug. 9. The Spars, along with male reservists in the unit will take part in a new demension of Coast Guard Reserve life called "augmentation."

The 50 men and women in the unit will supplement the efforts of regular Coast Guardsmen in Central Ohio and neighboring states. Former weekend drills of classroom training are being replaced by assignments in the areas of port security harbor patrols, boating safety, environmental protection and the recruiting of both regular and reserve Coast Guardsmen.

The new Coast Guard augmentation effort was developed on a nationwide basis in response to the manpower pressures of an all volunteer service. Reservists may now enjoy an active employment of their special skills and talents.

The recently recruited women from Columbus are Betty J. Compton, Chris A. Parrill and Marcia K. Christensen of Columbus.

Ms. Compton is a physical education teacher at Everett Jr. High School; Ms. Parrill is attending Taylor University in Upland Indiana; and Ms. Christensen is employed as a researcher in the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

One Word For Men's Fashions . . . Elegant!

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

JOHN WEITZ ushers in the Fall season with this dashing three-piece sports ensemble. All-wool Saxony coat in striking Tartan plaid with reversible vest in matching plaid which reverses to a tawny rich suede. Companion trousers in modified flair leg and own contrast belt.

RICH CHEVIOT tweed in bold plaid pattern in tones of cocoa and rust for this handsome sport jacket. 100 percent wool in two-button, single-breasted styling...wide lapels and subtly suppressed waist...tilted flap pockets and deep side vents.

CLASSIC TATTERSALL check pattern in tones of lovat green, gold and rust, in classic 2-button, single breasted model.

NOSTALGIA IS not only sweeping the country...it is haunting the fashion runways as well...especially in men's wear.

JOHN WEITZ, one of our most creative men's wear designers, is one of the first to recognize the fashion mix of modern traditionalism and charm...with his classic uncomplicated lines and handsome tailoring in marvelous fabrics...this season in 100 percent wool.

Just because his suits follow traditional rules, there's nothing ol'hat about them. For instance, the rejuvenation of the natural shoulder style and two-button model in slimmer, more contemporary shapes. They look better than ever in all sorts of wonderful, new color-mixed patterns...plaids, tweeds, pinstripes, checks and tattersalls. The color mixes are fresher too...coppers mixed with greens and golds...heathery greys blended with misty blues...browns highlighted with over-tones of tan and rust. The latest details make them real trendsetters...generous lapels, bold flap pockets, and steep center or side vents.

SPORT COATS and blazers take on casual elegance with no-fuss lines and natty details...the English Country Look. The colors and patterns have a subtle, more sophisticated look. The best thing about sport coats and blazers this season is that they're so adaptable...fit into any lifestyle, from country to office.

Clearly, the direction in men's clothes for fall, is toward an easy, functional, colorful and informal style...which John Weitz has been advocating since he began designing men's wear about eight years ago...and which has finally caught on!

City Plans Revenue Sharing Use

Columbus--Mayor Tom Moody announced the City Administration's plan for the use of revenue sharing moneys for the period July 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974.

The single largest priority item Moody said is $3,000,000 for the projected municipal court building. In a report to City Council July 11 the Mayor indicated his intention of seeking Council support for this building in the Hall of Justice complex.

Other projects and purposes included by Mayor Moody in the proposed plan are continued support for the Division of Police including funds for the 82 patrolmen to be added to the force in 1973 and full funding for the 22 civilian jail guards and communication officers in 1974. The amount earmarked for these purposes is $1,411,591.

The second largest allocation of funds during this twelve-month period is for social services. Mayor Moody noted that $1,800,000 is projected for the cities participation in social service programs. Columbus has contracted to support community action agency (CMACAO) programs, the Central Ohio Council on Alcoholism and others in this service area to date.

Revenue sharing funds are also programmed for capital projects formerly funded by councilmanic borrowing ($750,000) and street cleaning assessment relief and improved service ($4000,000).

The total allocation is $7,361,591 for the 12-month period and the first quarterly allotment check will be sent to the City in October, 1973.

ASSIGNED TO AFB

East Columbus--Airman Keith E. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll E. Thomas, 3217 Wabash Court, N., has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB., Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Chanute for specialized training in the aircraft equipment maintenance field.

Airman Thomas is a 1973 graduate of Tri-County Joint Vocational High School Nelsonville.

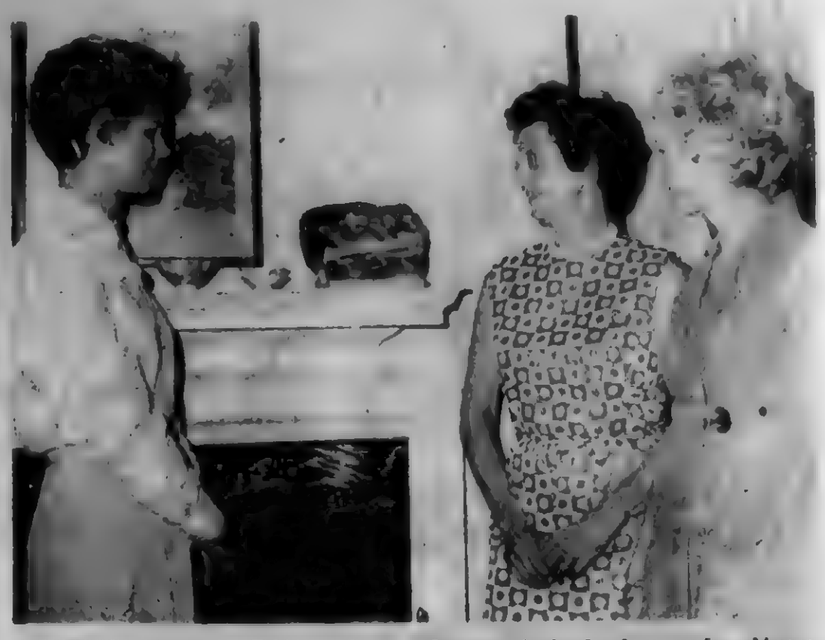
Hundred To Ride Trails

EAST COLUMBUS--Between 1200 and 1500 bike riders will be "hitting the road" Saturday, Sept. 22, on six different trails starting in suburban towns and extending in some cases into four other counties. Shown are four area residents who will be among the riders, age 13 up through middle age, who will be sponsored by friends, relatives, and others for pennies per mile in the annual Bike-A-Thon which is sponsored by the Columbus Council of American Youth Hostels and for the benefit of the American Cancer Society. In the picture are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ingram, Whitehall educators, she being a counselor at Whitehall-Yearling High School and he a math teacher at Rosemore Junior High. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, also shown, will lead the 100-mile "Snoopy Trail." The "Snoopy," so-called because the route forms the outline of the familiar character starts at 7 a.m. at Groveport-Madison Junior High School, 751 E. Main St., Groveport. Other trails start in Gahanna, Brice, Worthington, Arlington and Hilliard. They vary in length from 10 miles to the 100 mile "Snoopy." All proceeds of the event will be used to support the national research program of the American Cancer Society and the local programs of service, rehabilitation and education. Interested people may still obtain sponsor sheets at the Society's office, 1480 W. Lane Ave., or call for further information at 488-7917.



ADMIRING contemporary Eskimo sculpture, a Japanese rice bowl and saucers for saki cups, collected in the travels of their hostess are left to right AAUW members Mrs. John K. Groseclose, the hostess Mrs. W. F. Laird, and Mrs. Richard F. Schmidt. They will be attending the opening meeting of the Columbus Branch's 70th year, a reception for new members to be held Sept. 26. The theme of the meeting will be "Travel Treasures." Mrs. Groseclose is chairman of the Arts Appreciation Study Group, Mrs. Laird participates in a number of the groups and Mrs. Schmidt is associated with the New Members Study Group.

Thrift Shop Ready For Fall

BEXLEY--Mrs. George Conrad, left, vice president of Bexley Thrift Shop, 2461 E. Main St., and Mrs. Eugene W. Butler, right, president of the shop inspect and put price tags on winter coats. The shop, operated by Crew II of the American Cancer Society, opened its eleventh year of operation and the eighth at this location on Sept. 11. The benefits from the shop's operation are three-fold: people who consign goods for sale are able to clear out their homes of things no longer needed and receive 60 percent of the price the goods are sold for; the customers who buy the good used articles get them at bargain prices, according to the ladies who operate the shop, and the Society's cancer research receives 40 percent of the purchase price. The shop which has not only clothing for sale, but accessories and household goods, is open on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. for receiving merchandise, and 1 to 4 for selling.

AAUW Opens 70th Year

The Columbus Branch of the American Association of University Women will open its 70th year with a "Travel Treasures" reception for new and prospective members Wednesday, Sept. 26, from 4-6 p.m. at the Upper Arlington Municipal Center, intersection of Kenny and Tremont Roads.

AAUW is a nationwide organization of women graduates of accredited U.S. colleges and universities or of foreign institutions recognized by the International Federation of University Women.

Founded in 1882, AAUW now has 175,000 members in 1,759 branches in 50 states, Washington, D. C., Puerto Rico and Guam, with more than 1,000 U. S. college and university corporate members.

In Columbus 600 members representing 125 colleges and universities form 27 study groups meeting monthly to discuss topics ranging from drama and art appreciation to world affairs and travel. Members read, sing, research and even invest together. The Columbus branch is the second largest of the 80 branches in the Ohio Division.

Among the 1973-74 branch activities planned are the 40th annual Education Conference in January and the card party to benefit the AAUW Fellowships Foundation in March. The community service project is the compilation of a catalogue of educational scholarships available to Franklin County high school students.

President of the Columbus Branch is Mrs. Richard C. Brandes. Membership vice-president is Mrs. Donald E. Johnson.

Puppets Brighten Days For Preschool Kids

Holy Spirit Hosts Festival This Week

WHITEHALL–Students at Holy Spirit Catholic Church, 4383 E. Broad St., and members of the congregation, prepare to erect the big sign on the lawn announcing the annual Fall Festival there tomorrow, Sept. 20, through Sunday, Sept. 23. From left to right are, Tom Rachner; Karen Speakman; the Rev. Robert W. Harwick, pastor; Dave Stadler, "Manpower recruiter"; Danny Fox and Ed Podolski, post hole digger and general chiarman for the affair. Mrs. Larry Nolan is "Womanpower chairman" and Russ Sherman, publicity chairman. The Holy Rosary Society is preparing a Friday night FISH FRY. Mrs. Richard Stoughton is Saturday night's spaghetti dinner chairman. On Sunday before each Mass there will be a breakfast served by the guilds. A church yard sale will be operated throughout the four days of the festival and donations of items may be delivered to 4069 Elbern Ave., or phone 236-0116 for pick-up. Proceeds will benefit the church and school.

Ellis Report On Schools Continues

THE BOND ISSUE

While the Board of Education and school system staff can be credited with much of the progress made in 1972-73, it was the people of Columbus who breathed new life into the schools.

Even many strong school supporters were only dimly hopeful of success when the Board decided to take its case for new and better schools to the voters. It was to be the third attempt at passing a bond issue in four years.

The amount had grown to nearly $90 million, but so had the school system's needs. Overcrowding had forced 27 of the 42 junior and senior high schools to emergency scheduling.. At the elementary level, over 70 classes of children were being transported from their own schools to those that could make room for them.

With student interest in vocational education soaring, there was insufficient room for expznsion of the vocationl program. Facilities for teaching handicapped children were sorely inadequate. Most schools had sub-standard libraries, or no libraries at all. And a few schools had simply outlived their educational usefulness.

THE MONTHS LEADING up to the election were hectic, filled with campaign activities. An ambitious citizenz' committee spearheaded the drive for support of the bond issue. Board members, school personnel, PTAs and scores of civic groups and community organizations joined together for the same goal.

The hard work paid off Nov. 8–the bond issue was passed by a better than 18,000-vote margin. Planning was started immediately on 34 top priority projects, and planning for more than 30 others began five months later. In line with a campaign promise, school staff members, students parents and other citizens were were included in construction planning.

FINANCE

In January, the Board of Education approved a spending plan for 1973 with appropriations totaling $95.7 million. The expenditures were carefully planned to continue operations at 1972 levels, with some reductions in staff in line with decreases in school enrollments. An $8.4 million balance carried over into the new year at the end of 1972 insured the school system would operate in the black through 1973. Beyond that, however, the future was uncertain.

Some uncertainty was erased in June when the legislature approved a new two-year budget that included increased aid to education. The budget means an additional $1.2 million for the Columbus schools in the last half of 1973 and another $2.6 million in 1974.

Careful fiscal management -mid-year figures show current expenditures are being held about $1.3 million below earlier estimates–plus the new state funds will enable the school system to operate through 1974, even with the pay raises and increased fringe benefits contained in the new contracts for school personnel.

INFLATION CONTINUES to shrink the value of tax dollars, just as it does those of all consumers, and present income estimates indicate the school system will face some difficult decisions for 1975 unless additional local, state or federal revenues are received. But despite the longer range uncertainties, the immediate outlook is secure.

As reported by the latest Ohio Public Expenditures Council statistics, in the 1971-72 school year Columbus per pupil expenditures were the lowest of Ohio's 10 large cities. The $816 per pupil spent by Columbus compares with the high of $1,058 spent by Dayton and the statewide average for all cities of $842.

In brief, Columbus has been able to provide the taxpayers with an improving school system at the lowest cost per pupil of any large city in the state.

The school system's membership in the Metropolitan Educational Council is just one example of how it makes the most of tax dollars. By joining with other Franklin County school districts in the council to make mass purchases of supplies to receive lower prices, Columbus saved an estimated $82,500 this year on items ranging from school supplies and gasoline to audio-visual equipment and employee insurance.

Two girls from Cadette Troop 803 have been awarded the highest honor in Girl Scouting, the First Class Award. Luanne Ferguson, 14, and Becky Covey, 15, both Groveport High School students achieved this award after three years of working on the requirements. The requirements are to earn a minimum of six badges which show growth in understanding, knowledge, and skills in the areas of the arts, health and safety, home international friendship, and out-of-doors, and to meet the four Cadette Challenges of Social Dependability, Emergency Preparedness, Active Citizenship, and the Girl Scout Promise. The girls must also participate in all troop activities which include camping and service to the community.

Speaking of Beauty
HOW TO CLEAN CLEAN HAIR!
That's not as foolish as it sounds! Over shampooing is a real danger to the health of your hair. Because many shampoos are mostly alkaline detergents, as they cleanse your hair they also lather the life, the glossiness and the bounce right out of it. In our salon we are very careful in the selection of the shampoo for each patron.

AROUND TOWN

It's All New At Holiday Inn-OSU

All right Columbus, now you have something you have been wanting and waiting for a long time: One motel, with two seperate rooms of live entertainment, six nights a week. And, when I say, entertainment, I don't mean one of the lounges has a piano bar or a duo playing dinner music. Both places offer first rate entertainment, dancing and beautiful decor.

I am referring to the brand new Holiday Inn-OSU, on W. Lane Ave.

NAME THE type of entertainment and atmosphere you want, and you have it here. You don't have to run all over town looking for something to please you. Just get on the elevator, and presto, the eleventh floor lounge, called the University Lounge has The Deepoes, a trio, that plays beautiful music in a soft, melodic style. Or, take the elevator to the lobby level, and catch the swinging sounds of Quintessence, a quintet that is a powerful house of a group.

First let me tell you about The Deepoes in the University Lounge. This trio sounds more like a five or six piece outfit, than a talented threesome. Leader Billy Poe plays trumpet, trombone and vibes. Organist, Ken Beck also plays trumpet. At times the two of them team up on the brass section, while Ken continues to handle the black and whites. Boy, what a nice, full sound.

The two of them is no slouch in the instrumental department. Billy gets some mighty beautiful tones from both the trumpet and trombone, be it dreamy danceable ballads or some real "moving" things. The same can be said for Ken at the organ and trumpet. Just, tops.

NOW THERE is a third member, that I haven't mentioned Billy's wife, Dee Poe. That's her real name, too. This cute thing adds plenty of punch with some strong rhythms from a full set of drums, and plenty of good vocal work. Dee can and does put most males to shame in the drumming department. This gal certainly lays down strong, solid rhythms with a host of interesting riffs. In other words, she is all over the several drums and cymbals that sit before her.

While none of the three is what I would call a fantastic vocalist in the solo arena, their two and three part harmonies is what definately sell the trio, along with some pretty fancy arrangements. What you end up with The Deepoes, is a highly entertaining trio playing rather soft music. Their elegance and musical sophistication fits the mood of the eleventh floor lounge. It must be described in the same manner. There is none other like it Around Town. After relaxing to the restful decor and music in the University Lounge, I took the elevator down to the lobby of the Holiday Inn-OSU asnd visited the Ohioan Lounge where Quintessence is holding court.

Here are five fellows, who play a total of 23 instruments. You hear sounds like you never heard before with them on stage. Every tune, is arranged so that at least seven or eight insturments are employed. The end result is an evening loaded with variety in sound, as well as music. They say that they play everything from Bach to Rock. How true.

QUINTESSENCE is a high powered five piece outfit. Not only do they bowl you over with instrumental abilities, the fellows knock you out of your seat with the vocal work as well. This is true with their harmony work as well as their solo wroks. Leader Jay Carnal and David Cisler both do an exceptional job in this department.

Quintessence is full of spirit and fire. It's a smooth, tight outfit dishing out music that is enjoyable, and not overpowering. While they can not be considered a show group, they have to be considered one of the best musical aggregations Around Town.

So, take your pick, or better still take in both Lounges and treat ourself a diverse evening of entertainment and atmosphere, all under one roof, that roof being the brand new Holiday Inn-OSU.

Lincoln Lodge Is Humming

THIS WEEK, and this week only, is a duo at Lincoln Lodge that you don't want to miss. Known as The Gary and Polly Duo, this duo offers more music and entertainment than many groups double their size.

Polly is the female part of the duo. Besides playing drums well, which consists of a cocktail drum, a snare and a couple of cymbals, this gal sings. And, I do mean sings. Polly has a deep, throaty kind of voice. Singing with lots of feeling, Polly captivates your attention right off the bat. She has a style that belongs only to her. Polly possesses a sensitivity to her voice.

PARTNER Gary Wickelhous provides plenty of assists in both the instrumental and vocal departments. Besides playing a nice smooth organ, Gary comes on with some good sounds in the vocal field. At times he wails on certain songs that fits his style.

When both Gary and Polly team up in and give out with some vocal harmonizing, you will be delighted the sounds that they produce.

The Gary and Polly Duo is one of the most pleasing ones to come down the pike in quite a spell. Entertaining is their password. With this duo you can hold a conversation in normal volume, dance, or just sit back and relax. If the Gary and Polly Duo doesn't entertain you, then you just don't like music.

They have style, class and a touch of professionalism that is a sure fire hit. It all happens this week at Lincoln Lodge. Take it from me, go see them. One last word, they are so good, that I feel certain that this will not be their first and only trip into our town. Make sure you see them, I promise you, you will be glad that you did.

Something New In Atlanta, Ga.

NEVER IN my life have I experienced an architectural wonder as I did upon entering The Hyatt Regency Hotel in Atlanta. Yours truely spent two grand and glorious days in Atlanta at the Hyatt Regency. George Miles, a friend of many Columbus people while general manager of the Marriott Inn, is the controller for the Hyatt Regency chain. Needless to say, George made our visit extra special.

However, the real treat is the awesome design of the Hyatt Regency. Believe me, it is well worth the 600 miles, 12 hour drive to Atlanta just to see the place. To say that it is spectaculor is a gross understatement. I believe that it is practically impossible to describe the grandeur and beauty of the Hyatt Regency. I am sorry that I do not have black and white pictures to show you.

THE LOBBY IS 21 stories high. Around all four walls, all balcony type halls. Looking straight up, you see all 21 stories. What a breath taking sight. It is even more breath taking standing on the 21st floor and looking down into the lobby.

The glass enclosed bullet shaped elevators travel on three sides of a huge column that is connected to one of the 21 rows of balconies. Just to take a ride on the elevator is an experience you'll long remember.

Besides the architectural splendor of the Hyatt Regency, there are many other interesting highlights. There is the Club Atlantis, a subterranean club featuring top name entertainment. Kay Stevens was the headliner while I was there. By the way, Kay sent her regards to her many Columbus fans, and said she hopes to be back in Columbus this year.

THE POLARIS Restaurant and Lounge, sets on a needle high above the hotel. It is revolving, giving you a complete panoramic view of most of Atlanta. As you can imagine, there is a host of meeting, banquet and ballrooms. The Hyatt Regency is a city within a city.

The guest rooms are ultra plush. Each room has its own patio door, leading to an outside balcony.

The service is the best. So often, in an operation of this size, the help is rather cool and indifferent. Not here. From bellman to Maitre D', I received friendly, courtious service.

To sum it all up, my stay at the Hyatt Regency in Atlanta, was not only a visit to just about the finest hotel in the world, it was a visit to a Disneyland an adventure, and most of all, a thrilling experience. Take my advice and plan a long weekend, and so at the Hyatt Regency, you will remember it a talk about it the rest of your life.

Skipping Around Town

Back in good ole Columbus town, finds lots going on. That fabulous Vince Mastro and his group has been held over at the Marriott Inn Motel. This is one of the best quartets Around Town. You have a treat in store for you with this one. Especially when Vince sings. What a voice. I still say, he could easily be one of the top male singers in the business. His style, sound and attack is fantastic...Carlo's Villa Roma has opening next Monday the great Stan Wolowic Duo. Stan has recorded many, many records and albums. His Polka music is played throughout the world. The Stan Wolowic Duo will be at Carlo's Villa Roma Monday through Thursday for the next several weeks. Carlo's has always been noted for their excellent Italian cusine, excellent entertainment...Here is something really different. something really different. Live entertainment Sunday afternoons. That's right, from 2 p.m. until 7 p.m., drop into the Grog Shop at Stouffer's University Inn and listen to the swinging Mike Kamen Duo. This place has as much action on Sunday as does the OSU stadium on Saturday. What a great way to spend a Sunday afternoon...Here is another first for Columbus. An Evening in Greece. No, not a concert, but a huge Greek Buffet Dinner with live entertainment by some of the top stars direct from Greece. This promises to be one of the highlights of the fall season. It takes place this Sunday at the Black Rose Restaurant of the Imperial House-North Motel. You may purchase your tickets in advance in the lobby or call, 846-6180. Don't miss this, by all means...For some delicious food at surprisingly low prices, stop in at the Holiday Inn-North real soon. Except for the New York strip steak, most all meals were in the $3-$4 price range. It's amazing how they do it. Each night is a different menu, also, loaded with tasty items in the same price range...Toy Factory, sensational group are at Marco Polo's Lounge

Watterson vs Westerville

McCloskey Makes It!

..AN INTERCEPTION that staved off a possible Westerville TD was made by Watterson's Mike McCloskey (24) who snatched the ball from the outstretched hands of the Cats' Kenny Holmes (80). The play came with just a minute to play in the half with the ball on the Eagles five yard line.

Grid Games Of The Week

Watterson Nips Tough Cats; Groveport Downs Raiders

by SANDY SCHWARTZ

AIDED by a penalty which nullified what could have been the game winning two point conversion, Watterson's wonderful football Eagles flew high to a 28-27 breath taking victory over perenial OCC toughie Westerville in Otterbein's stadium last Friday night.

Dashing to a 20-7 halftime margin, the Eagles looked destined to victory from the onset until the Wildcats of Westerville's classy signal caller, Steve Wohlert, generated the Wildcat spark in third quarter action.

HIGHLIGHTING that comeback was merely a 72 yard sprint from scrimage in the third quarter by Wohlert which brought, yes, once again, the fans to their feet.

Wohlert figured in another tally which staked the Wildcats to a 21-20 lead but not for too long. Watterson, boasting a QB with engineering power of his own, then went to work.

DEAN DIXON, the Eagle's sharp-shooting rifle-firing commander quickly spotted Scott Bringardner for a pair of strikes covering 75 yards and before you knew it, Watterson 28, Westerville 21.

Wohlert then got his turn to provide some most needed heroics and just that he did.

Six plays later, the highlight being a 21 jaunt by none other than Wohlert, Dan Roush burst eight yards up the middle to mark another six pointer on the board for the Wildcats and close the gap to 28-27.

Ruling out the chance for the tie, Westerville elected to win or die. Wohlert promptly dropped back for the try for the two point conversion and hit wingback Bob Spahr for what would have been the game winner but offensive pass interference was called on Westerville, which dictates loss of down, so the score stood 28-27.

DIXON passed for 199 yards and three TD's, two to Bringardner and one to Steve Yaroch. He ran the other Eagle score over from the one himself.

Wohlert boasted 109 yards by air and 118 via the ground attack. Roush scored a couple of TD's, the other on a 58 yard dash and Spahr nabbed a pass for the other score.

IN THE other featured game of the week, Groveport downed Reynoldsburg 27-14. Groveport got another super performance from their premier running back Jeff Baker as he scored two TD's.

Baker collected 133 yards in 15 carries to highlight the game's rushing honors. He rushed for runs of six and one yard out for his scores.

BUT Reynoldsburg boasted some strong credentials of their own as QB Mike Cronin passed for 165 yards. He connected on 13 of 17 aerial tries. One of those a 50 yard zip to wide receiver Darryl Newby.

Reynoldsburg outgained the Cruisers 302 yards to 268 for a bit of a consolation to Coach Kirschbaum. The loss evens the Purple Raiders' record at 1-1.

Franklin Heights took the Southwestern School District title with a 9-7 win over Grove City. Last week the Falcons defeated Westland 14-0 and this win made them the champions.

Bexley finally got into the win column against Miami Trace 14-0.

City champion Northland was bumped by a strong DeSales team that should make the DeSales-Watterson CCL tussle a great one later this season.

West untracked its offense and geared over Brookhaven with ease last week while Gahanna's OCC champs reportedly topped a tough Cincinnati team.

Whitehall, still winless but improving visits Reynoldsburg Friday with the Raiders hoping to break the ice on a winless OCC record.

On the college scene it is Capital hosting Marietta in an afternoon joust at Capital and Otterbein's Cardinals take on Heidelbert in a Saturday night fracas at Otterbein.

West vs Brookhaven

Cowboys Corral Them

..IN THIS PILE of hard driving Cowboys is a football and a goaline. The play went for a TD in the first half that was featured by hard-hitting Cowboys lassoing the Brookhaven team with ease. That's West in the dark jerseys.

Chargers Winners

Mifflin scored early in the first quarter but never came close again as the Charger defense tightened up.

Jeff Stinson broke the game open for the Chargers with a 3 yd. touchdown run, followed by a 36 yd. touchdown by Bob Frebis. Later in the 3rd quarter, Frebis hit John Arnold with a 13 yd. touchdown pass.

The Chargers next game is Saturday, September 22, at 10 a.m. at Eastmoor High School.

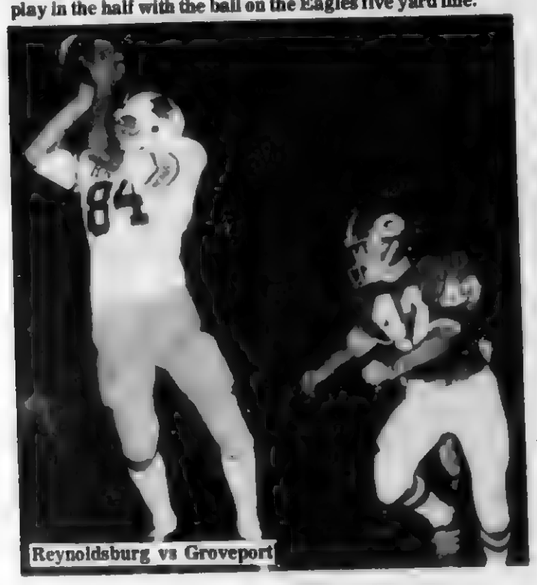
Last Week's Results

Zanesville 47, Delaware Hayes 0; Bexley 12, Miami Trace 0; Gahanna 32, Cincinnati Indian Hills 8; Marion Franklin 14, Ready 0; East 12, Dayton Colonel White 0; North 7, London 0; DeSales 20, Northland 0; West 48, Brookhaven 0; Mifflin 47, Hartley 0; Eastmoor 22, Whitehall 13; Walnut Ridge 30, Whetstone 0; Upper Arlington 46, Worthington 14; Monroe 38, Mohawk 0; Watterson 28, Westerville 27; Wintersville 48, Central 14; Westland 7, Grandview 6; St. Charles 7, Big Walnut 0; Franklin Heights 9, Grove City 7; Groveport 27, Reynoldsburg 14; Detroit Country Day 28, Columbus Academy 22 and South 12, Bishop Wehrle 9.

Watterson vs Westerville

Up And Over

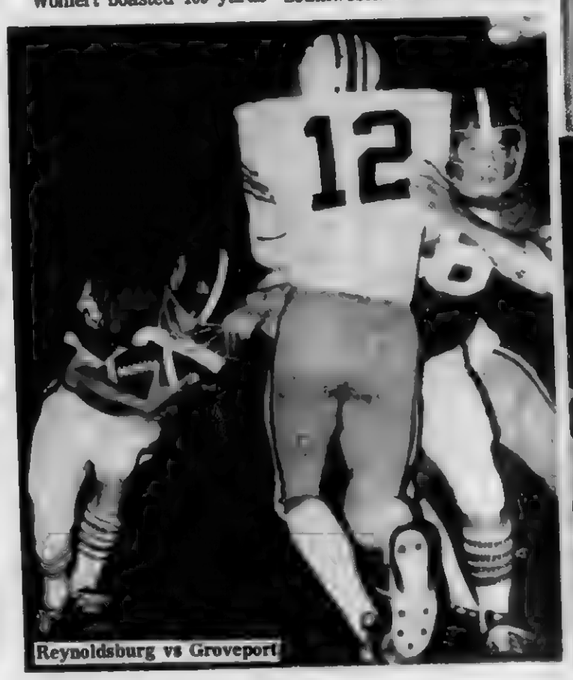
..A THORN in the side of the Cats all night was Watterson QB Dean Dixon (10) who had quite a night for himself. When he wasn't passing or slickly handing off he was running as shown here as he leaps over a Cat defender.



Reynoldsburg vs Groveport

Aerial Bomb

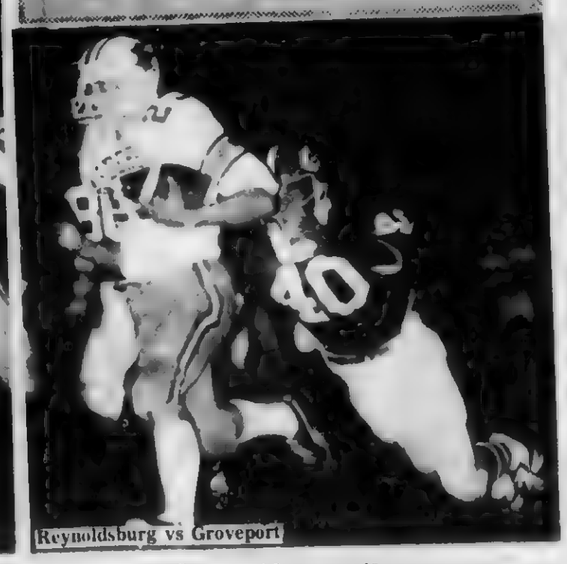
..IT WAS A 50-yard plus pass completion on this play for Reynoldsburg's Daryl Newby (84) as he caught Mike Cronin's bomb and outmaneuvered the Groveport defender Ed Bland (42).



Reynoldsburg vs Groveport

Raider Rampaging

..TOUGH defensive play featured the Raider forward wall and this one found defensive back Dave Tinkham (12) coming up to stop the Groveport ball carrier after warding off a Cruiser blocker.



Reynoldsburg vs Groveport

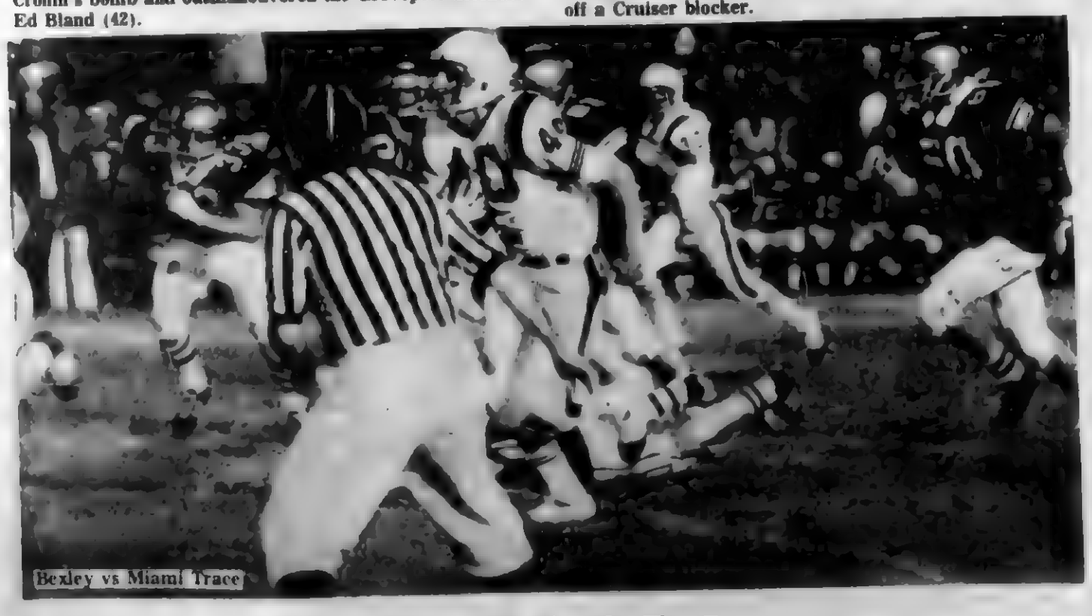
Just About Gone

..ALMOST LOOSE then caught by a Groveport defender. Bill Simpson (40) is Reynoldsburg's Paul Malernee (25). The play was almost broken for a TD but the Cruiser defender made the catch in time.

Franklin Heights vs Grove City

A Falcon Score

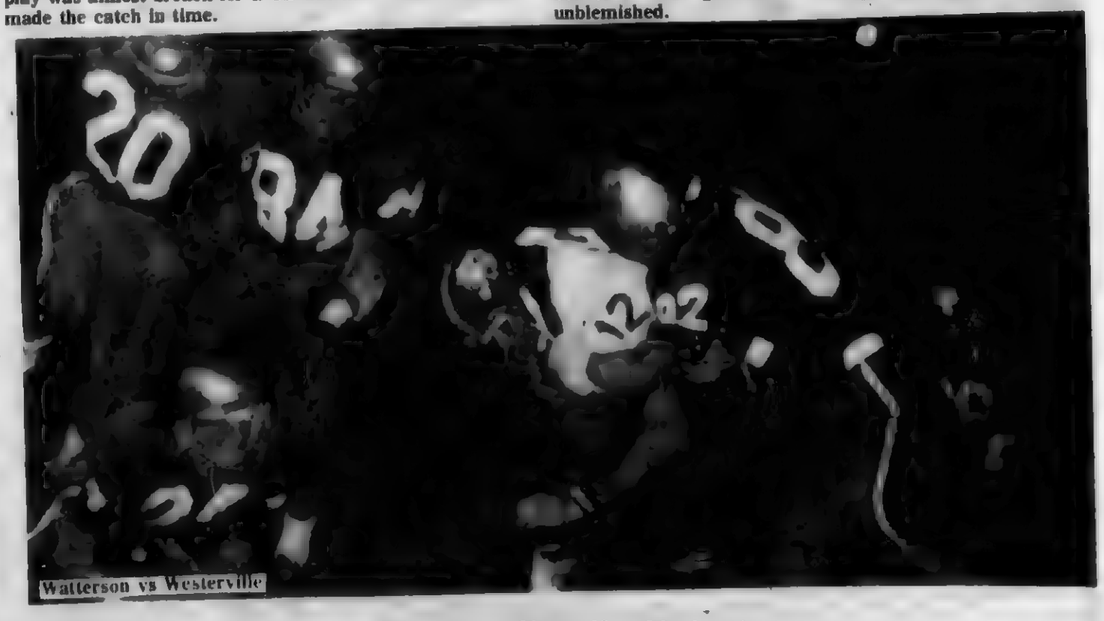
..SOMEWHERE in this pile of players lies a football and a goaline with Franklin Heights getting the score and going on to defeat Grove City (white-clad) 9-7 to win the Southwestern School District grid title. It kept the Falcons' record unblemished.



Bexley vs Miami Trace

Only 58 Yards To Go

..WITH A STRONG look of determination, Bexley's John Bernlohr (40) begins his incredible 58 yard runback of a Miami Trace punt. Crisp blocking got Bernlohr past the Trace defenders. It was Bexley's first score of the night in their whitewash of Miami Trace.



Watterson vs Westerville

Wohlert Finally Halted

..STRONG STEVE WOHLERT (12) gave Watterson's rated team all it could handle last week even though Watterson won, 28-27. Here the keen quarterback is nailed by a swarming Eagle defense after he had gained 14 yards. Eagle defenders are Ray Kuss (20), Scott Bringardner (84), Mike McCloskey (24-on ground) and Tom Carskadon (82).

Shenandoah Replica On Display At COSI

A one-third size replica of the U. S. airship "Shenandoah" is now on exhibit in the Center of Science & Industry's new solar glass front display area through the courtesy of its owner, Lewis H. Gray, and the Columbus U.S. Navy Recruiting Office.

Builders of the airship were Joseph Kohot and Jack Duckworth, local model makers, associated with Rockwell International.

The original "Shenandoah" first flew September 3, 1973 and was the first "made-in-USA" rigid ship to be inflated with non-flammable helium and the first to be moored to a floating mast.

On October 10, 1923 she was officially christened "Shenandoah" by the wife of Naval Secretary Edwon Denby at the Naval Air Statio Lakehurst, New Jersey, where a giant hanger had been completed. Her name in the Indian language means "Daughter of the Stars."

Of the "Shenandoah's" flights, her most spectacular was around the borders of the country in record time. Her official mission was to serve as a scout for the fleet, and she made several flights scouting and reporting on an imaginary ehemy.

The airship met her fate on September 2, 1925 when a freak squall line crushed the ship and 13 of the crew were lost.

The replica owned by Gray actually flew for various fairs and other events, but is now anchored to a permanent mooring at the Center.

COSI visiting hours are Monday thru Satruday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5:30 p.m.

LT. DUDLEY MORRIS, left, Columbus U.S. Navy Recruiting Office, is shown looking at a model of the airship U.S. Shenandoah on display at COSI, 280 East Broad St., with the owner Lewis H. Gray, Columbus. An audio visual tape on the history of the airship will be part of the exhibit. The model will be at the Center thru December. Gray and the Navy are co-sponsors of the exhibit.

Hilltop Buckeyes Win Title

The Hilltop Buckeyes won the NLL Baseball Championship last Sunday at Whetstone Park, with a commanding 19-4 victory over the Linden Eagles.

The Buckeyes took the lead in the first inning on back to back extra base hits by Tim Kusan, Jerry Kappes, and Julian Kim. Four additional runs were added in the second inning and three more in the third. In the fourth inning the Buckeye bats were still noisy when nine runs were scored on eight hits. The Buckeyes final hit came in the sixth inning when Tom Mowery hit a solo home run.

Linden scored their four runs in the second and third innings on singles by William Hines and William Whitehead.

Martin At Defiance

A West High School graduate has been ticketed for plenty of action with The Defiance College Yellow Jackets football team.

Sophomore Dan Martin, 869 Eakin Rd., is listed as a linebacker and was plenty tough in last week's win over Olivet, Michigan.

The 5-10, 185 lb. linebacker lettered as a freshman at Defiance and his background includes little league football with the Westgate Hawks and Holly Hill Eagles.

He was all district in this high school area in 1972.

Capital-Ohio Dominican Plan Gals Hockey Team

In an athletically-oriented ecumenism coeds of Ohio Dominican College and of Capital University will "Field" a joint field-hockey team for a seven-game intercollegiate schedule. The ODC-Cap female hockey players will meet the Heidelberg Women's Hockey Team at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 25 on the Ohio Dominican Field.

Other games scheduled, all at 4 p.m., are: Wednesday, Oct. 10 at Ohio University; Friday, Oct. 12, Cedarville at ODC; Wednesday, Oct. 17, the University of Dayton; Monday, Oct. 22, at Cincinnati; Saturday, Oct. 27, Mount St. Joseph at ODC; and Wednesday, Nov. 7 at Ohio Wesleyan.

The weekend of Oct. 13-14 the joint team will participate in a College Women's Hockey Event at Valley Farm, Mich.

Accortding to Linda DeLong, of the Ohio Dominican athletic department, the joint team venture will strengthen team prospects for the first year of intercollegiate play, with the hope that the experience will help each of the institutions to field its own team for the 1974 season. Mrs. DeLong and Miss Lee Sadler of Capital are sharing coaching duties.

Central Branch YMCA Schedules Programs

The fall schedule at the Central Branch U.M.C.A. began Monday, Sept. 17.

The Physicla Department facilities are open at 8:40 a.m. and close at 10 p.m.

A variety of programs and activities are offered including jogging, basketball, volleyball, pohysical fitness classes, weightlifting, body-building, handball, racquetball, squash, and many others.

Volleyball and Basketball leagues are scheduled one night a week and classes in scuba diving, wrestling, judo, karate, self-defense, and swimming are the highlights of the fall season.

If you are interested in membership or enrolling in one of classes contact the Physical Department, 224-1131 ext. 41 or 42, 40 West Long St. for details.

How To Use Crayfish

Most fishermen nowadays don't attempt to gather crayfish, but if you can get a dozen or so from your local bait dealer, they'll give you some mightly good fishing especially for catfish, largemouth and smallmouth bass.

These lobster like creatures are one of the main dishes in a fishes diet. Crayfish live in lakes and streams hiding under rocks and they search for food at night in shallow water along the shoreline.

Most of your old time bait catchers hand pick crayfish but you can catch them with a seign or net and keep them alive in a box of damp moss. On long trips and hot days add an ice cube or two, or lay wet newspapers over them. Handle crayfish by the shell just behind the head between your thumb and forefinger. This will keep them from curling around and pinching you. Did you know you can eat crayfish, that's right, just drop them in boiling water, add salt and they'll turn red when done just like lobsters.

You can eat the claws and tails and believe it or not, they taste like shrimp.

Scioto Trail Campground

There are three different camping area located within the 9,400 acre forest, park complex, each serving a different type of camper.

At the upper end of Lake Caldweell, a 50 site Class "B" area provides good clean moderately developed facilities for family campers.

At opposite extreme, a wlak-in primitive campground at the upper end of Stewert Lake can be reached only on foot with campers needing to carry everything including drinking water with them.

Another primitive area, either usefull for families or groups, is located across S.R. 372 from the Stewert Lake picnic area near the site of a former creosote dipping plant.

The two small lakes provide fishing, but there is no beach. Boat launching is permitted and electric torlling motors may be used. The park-forest is located on S.R. 372 east of U.S. 23 ten miles south of Chillicothe.

Camping Information

All Ohio State Park campgrounds are open year-round. Campsites are limited to occupancy by one car, bus, travel trailer, motor home, pick-up coach, and -or tent or tents having a seperate or combined maximum floor space not in excess of 300 feet, or one house trailer of 30 feet or less in length, plus one vehicle for exclusive use in daily transportation and no more then ten persons.

No pets are permitted in the camping areas. Reservations for adult or youth group camping are mandatory and must be made 14 days in advance, with youth groups having priority. Group camping also permitted in primitive areas.

Reservations are not accepted for family campsites.

Class "A" Sites

Generally have approved water under pressure, drinking fountains, waste water drains, flush toilets, lundry and shower facilities, numbered lots, picnic tables and fire rings or out door grill.

Class "B" Sites

Generally have approved well or hydrant water, vault type latrines, waste water drains, either marked or unmarked lots, picnic tables and fire ring or outdoor grill.

Primitive Sites

Have only pit-type latrines and waste containers.

Dan C. Armbruster, chief of the division of wildlife of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, has reported that 652 hunters had taken a total of 620 squirrels by noon Firday the first day of the 1973 squirrel hunting season.

This is a decrease from the 1972 totals of 738 hunters and 785 squirrels.

Armbruster said the reports do not show the total number of squirrel hunters or the squirrels harvested, but do give a general indication of the number of hunters and of squirrel populations.

The squirrel hunting season continues through November 10 on private lands and through December 22 on public hunting areas. Hunting hours are daylight to dark, Monday through Saturday. There is no hunting on Sunday. The daily bag limit is four and the possession limit is eight.

Changes Announced

Three management personnel changes in the Ohio Department of Natural Resources have been announced today by Director William B. Nye.

Nye said the changes involve:

Jack E. Miller, chief of the division of parks and recreation since January, 1972, who becomes assistant deputy director in the department's Office of Recreation and Resource Management.

Rodney E. Cooper, chief of the division of watercraft since June, 1971, who succeeds Miller.

Thomas A. Smith, Jr., assistant chief of the division of watercraft since August, 1971, who moves up to replace Cooper.

The changes, Nye said, will put Miller closer to the department's policy-making level, while providing increased administrative responsibilities for both Cooper and Smith.

Hunting and Fishing

Governor John J. Gilligan has proclaimed September 22, as Hunting and Fishing Day in Ohio.

"Hunters and fishermen have always been in the forefront on the conservation movement," Gilligan said. "Cooperation among sportsmen's clubs and state and federal agencies has resulted in many fine wildlife conservation programs."

"Through the years, Ohio sportsmen have paid for wildlife conservation efforts in the state through license fees and taxes paid on hunting and fishing equipment," the Governor said.

Shriners Planning Saturday Affair

Plans have been completed for entertaining more than 2,000 central-southern Ohio Shriners Saturday, September 22, at Aladdin Temple's annual picnic, at the Scioto Downs clubhouse and grounds.

Curtis G. Wilcox, 2474 Brixton Rd., general chairman, said Kit Carson again will arrange for the ham and baked beans luncheon, entertainment will be booked by John Moore, and there will be music by Aladdin's own Picadors and Dixieland Band. Scores of Shriners will receive door prizes.

Donald T. Back, 6560 Estel Road, Worthington, illustrious potentate of 14,250-member Aladdin Temple, members of the official family and Aladdin's past potentates will be presented during the day.

Saturday At Movies Now Weekly Feature

Piano accompanist Bob Verbeck will participate in several of this season's "Saturday at the Movies" series presented by the Columbus Public Library.

Verbeck, the six-year accompanist for the Center of Science and Industry's silent film program, is a collector of early "talkies" and silent movies.

The library's "Saturday at the Movies" program has been changed from a monthly to a weekly basis. The time also has been changed from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. As usual, movies will be shown in the library's auditorium, 96 S. Grant Ave.

The first program begins Sept. 29 with the following movies: "Our Living Heritage," depicting scenes from the nation's parks and historic shrines'

Poco Pleases Wanda

EAST COLUMBUS–Wanda Baumgartner, formerly an Eastside resident, and her female German shepherd, Poco, are busily engaged these days in learning to know each other and mastering a number of maneuvers which sighted persons give little attention to in learning. Mrs. Baumgartner, whose home has been West Virginia for the past five years, lived on Country Club Rd. and attended Shady Lane Presbyterian Church. Her sight loss was gradual and she had mobility training earlier. She will complete her training at Pilot Dogs Inc., 625 W. Town St., in four weeks; it would take a person suddenly blind a much longer time. Her Pilot dog and the training both receive were paid for by an $1800 scholarship donated by the East Columbus Lions Club Auxiliary. Above she learns to play cards with Braille-marked cards, with other trainees, while Poco patiently waits nearby.

HERE WANDA and Poco practice going through a revolving door. This mock-up is in the basement of the Pilot Dogs offices. The officials study the pace of the blind person who is to be given a Pilot Dog, and place a dog with a similar pace. The only specification for a dog guide Wanda gave, was that it must be good with children. Wanda and her husband have two daughters, ten and five years old.

AFTER spending a few days just getting to know each other, Wanda and Poco go for short walks around the block, always to the right or always to the left. Then they try two blocks, and finally three blocks. Her trainer, Wayne Mathys is always near. They walk downtown and they ride buses. The final test is going downtown to a certain store and making a purchase. Here, Wanda and Poco walk past the Pilot Dog headquarters. (Photos by Kathy Devaney)

WANDA must learn to care for her Pilot Dog, even to bathing it as she is doing in this picture. She must groom feed, and retrain the dog, for house living, for it has been in the kennel for three or four weeks waiting for its new master. It was originally raised and trained by a 4-H family.

New Schools To Be All-Electric

COLUMBUS- New guidelines call for future Columbus public school buildings to be all-electric. They will be designed to utilize electrical energy as a total energy source.

A local consulting engineering firm recommends new Columbus schools be designed for all-electric operation due to nationwide shortages of fuel oil and natural gas.

The firm, H.A. Williams and Associates of Columbus, was retained by the school system to study potential effects of the national energy crises on the $89.5 million Columbus school construction program.

In a report to the school system's development department, the firm says additional fuel oil and natural gas are unavailable, propane is under a moratorium and proposed new school buildings will not be large enough to economically use coal.

"THIS LEAVES electricity as the current prime fuel source," the report states, and sets forth guidelines on selection of available fuel sources and energy conservation. .

Dr. Howard Merriman, executive director of development, said architects and engineers will be asked to follow the guidelines in designing projects contained in the school building program.

ALL-ELECTRIC heating plants should also be installed in existing schools, the guidelines say, "if a total boiler replacement is required because of age or if a main boiler addition is proposed."

For addition and remodeling projects at existing schools, the building's current fuel source is to be retained "if the addition requires only the adding of boiler sections."

The guidelines note the school system is now working on establishment of a "credit bank" with Columbia Gas Company that would allow for expanding gas heating plants in existing schools where new additions will require increased boiler capacity.

Under the arrangement, the school system's overall allotment of natural gas would remain the same, but consumption of some schools could be increased when reductions were made in the gas consumption of other school facilities.

MERRIMAN said present plans are to switch the heating plant in the Adult Education and School Services Center, 52 S. Starling St., to fuel oil if supplies become available. The heating plant, which now uses gas, is already equipped for fuel oil operation. Enough gas would be made available by the conversion, Merriman said, to meet the increased demands resulting from all addition and remodeling projects included in the first phase of the building program.

ALTERNATIVES ALSO SOUGHT

While recommending electricity as the fuel source for new schools and major heating plant projects in present schools, the energy report guidelines urge flexibility in the design of building program projects.

ARCHITECTS are advised to "keep up to date on the fuel market" in order that alternative fuel sources, such as propane, can be considered if they become available.

"Boiler rooms being designed for all-electric installations should have the space...to install larger equipment and fuels in the future," the guidelines also recommend.

The engineering report also includes a series of recommendations for designing building program projects in a way that would maximize energy conservation.

THE REPORT notes that, in many cases, "This will mean increased first costs," but says the energy conservation measures would amount to a savings in building operating costs.

ENERGY CONSERVATION MEASURES

The recommendations include added wall and roof insulation, use of double-glazed glass and holding glass areas to a minimum. Following the recommendations, the report states, could cut by nearly one-half the amount of energy needed to heat a 20-classroom school wing.

ALSO RECOMMENDED are energy-recovery devices for certain exhaust air fans installed in schools and even low-usage shower heads that would cut the amount of hot water used by schools.

Other energy conservation measures should be studied and incorporated in building designs "whenever possible," the report urges.

It says fuel shortages "are here and will be for some time in the future," adding that fuel costs will rise, with some going up as much as 80 percent "in the next 18 months alone."

"THE COLUMBUS City School System...must join all segments of society in utilizing all sources of energy as seems most appropriate and, most of all, embark upon a program of optimum utilization," the report states.

First Student On Bexley Board

BEXLEY- David Isaacs, 17, at the right, shown talking with Alfred H. Harmon, Bexley Board of Education president, has become the first student member of the Bexley board. On Sept. 17 at the regular board meeting, the Bexley High School senior was officially accepted as student representative to the board. He will sit in on all public meetings. His vote will be recorded but not counted. How he voted will be a matter of public record. He will not participate in discussion of personnel or salary matters. Harmon states "I think it will be great; I'm looking forward to David's contribution. Having a young person's viewpoint to affect us is a real step forward." David says, "It is a two-way thing; my job will be to bring what's going on in the high school to the board, and bring news of the board to the student body. Each side will be more aware of what is going on." The two know of stude t members of boards in Trotwood, near Dayton, and in Beechwood, near Toledo, but believe he is the only one in the Central Ohio area and one of very few in the country.

New Berwick Civic Association To Form

East Columbus–The charter meeting of a proposed new Berwick Civic Association will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, October 4 at the Berwick Elementary School.

Agenda items include consideration of a suggested organizational structure and constitution prepared by an ad hoc committee, appointment of a nominating committee and setting of a date for election of officers.

A social hour will follow the conclusion of the business section of the meeting.

Walnut Ridge To Get Voc-Ed Facilities, Addition

By Lisa Doonan
Special Staff Writer

Columbus–The Columbus Board of Education at its Sept. 18 meeting heard a proposal to allow students to smoke on school property. The resolution was presented to the Board by Mrs. Mary Winner, 288 Chatham Rd., who suggested that an outdoor smoking area should be authorized adjacent to or very near Whetstone High School.

Mrs. Winner feels that a smoking area is needed to help prevent students from leaving the school grounds in order to smoke.

The current policy of the school forbids smoking on the school grounds, but Mrs. Winner feels that it happens anyway and insists we should accept something that will occur in spite of punitive measures taken to prevent it.

The Board approved the working drawings for an addition and remodeling to be done at Walnut Ridge HighSchool, 4841 E. Livingston Avenue.

The Board also approved a resolution which will allow the president and clerk to enter into an agreement with the State Board of Education for the construction of vocational education facilities, at the Walnut Ridge High School.

Contracts were also awarded by the Board for additions and remodeling to be done at Deshler Elementary School, Winterset Elementary School and Johnson Park Junior High School.

Subsidy Released

Columbus–A net total of $43,094,541.15 was allocated in September to Ohio's 615 city, exempted village and local school districts, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported.

The gross September State School Foundation subsidy payment amounted to $61,834,231.69. However, the actual amounts the school districts received were reduced by direct state payments to the teachers' and school employes' retirement systems and to the county boards of education.

Amounts allocated in September to the districts in this area were:

Bexley City School District, $27,737.39; Whitehall City School District, $82,587.96; Madison Local School District, Columbus, $1,746,802.78.

It Was Not The Usual Picnic

THERE WAS NOTHING usual about this PTA dinner, as it was an informal weiner roast and picnic held by the Asbury Elementary School, on Harbor Blvd., on Wed., Sept. 19. Caught in the act of consuming hotdogs are, left to right, Tudie Shields, PTA president; Charles V. Barr, principal of Asbury, and Christa Volpe, membership chairman.

East Columbus-They met the teachers, principal and each other, and above all, they ate hotdogs, baked beans, and all that goes to make up a typical picnic. There were over 300 at Asbury School's PTA get-acquainted affair.(Photos by Tom Holzer)

East Columbus Lions Will Hear CARE Director

East Columbus--Jean W. Cligrown, Ohio-Kentucky Associate Regional Director of CARE, the international aid and development agency, will discuss the 1973 Lions-CARE project "Schools for Panama and Nicaragua" at the East Columbus Lions Club, Thursday, Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. at the Desert Inn.

The Ohio Lions have been given the title of "Master Builders of Schools" because of their record of building over 45 schools in Central and South America thru CARE since beginning the program in 1963.

To help raise the literacy standards of the underdeveloped countries in this region and thereby giving them the opportunity to raise their standards of living through vocational training is one of the major goals of the Lion International Relations project.

These schools range from one to four classrooms with a central kitchen and living quarters for the teacher. They are a three-way cooperative project with the host country paying the warehousing, transportation and administrative cost, in addition to providing a teacher; and the villagers doing the manual labor plus supplying whatever raw construction materials they have.

The Lions, whose officers serve on the Board of Directors of CARE, contributes building material, such as galvanized roofing and carpenter tools, school equipment, such as desks, chairs and blackboards and a school kit for each child.

ODC Alumni To Hold All-Day Reunion

East Columbus--Presentation of two Alumni Awards and installation of new officers and board members of the Ohio Dominican College Alumni Association will highlight the open board meeting of the association during the afternoon of the Annual All-Alumni Reunion, Sunday, Oct. 7 on the ODC campus, 1216 Sunbury Rd.

The opening of a special Art Show in Wehrle Gallery is set for 5 p.m., following a "Mingle" reception in Fitzpatrick Hall.

Sister Suzanne Uhrhane, president of Ohio Dominican, will present the awards and be the installing officer for the open board session at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Andrew J. Macioco, general weekend chairman, says "the theme for the celebration is 'Tomorrow', stressing a positive view of the need for private colleges for today's children, the college students of tomorrow."

Early registration at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in the Sansbury Hall lobby will be chaired by Mary E. Reutty, 2880 Ashby Rd., assisted by Patricia Kern. Coffee and juice will be served in the adjoining Colonial room.

Father Bernard Hart, O.P., of the ODC Sociology faculty, will be the celebrant for a 10:30 a.m. Mass in Sansbury Hall's Christ the King Chapel. Sr. Isabel Charles, O.P., former academic dean at Ohio Dominican, and now assistant dean of the Liberal Arts College of Notre Dame University, will deliver the Homily.

At noon those attending are encouraged to "bring-your-own-picnic" or join on a pay-as-you-go-basis with students at Ohio Dominican in Hamilton Hall.

From 1:30 p.m., to 5 p.m., Miss Sally Duffy, assisted by ODC students, will chair a program of supervised games for children.

Miss Beth Krogg, 2743 Coldstream Lane, assisted by Marty Weger, 801 Sheridan Ave., will hostess the "Mingle" party in Fitzpatrick Lounge at 3 p.m., with Father Hart to give the closing travel-blessing at 5

Every fifth year (classes '28 to '68) class reunion parties will be held off campus, Saturday night, Oct. 6.

Bexley Recreation News

Bexley Parks and Recreation Department has scheduled its fall line-up of programs to begin in late September and early October, announced John Brennan, supervisor of recreation for the community. Information on all programs may be obtained by calling the department office at 258-5755, and registration fees may be sent in by mail to 165 N. Parkview Avenue.

Included in the fall schedule for children, and still open to registration, are classes in ballet for children in grades kindergarten through sixth, judo classes for boys and girls in grades three through eight, and children's fine arts classes for boys and girls ages 6 through 10.

BALLET is taught by Mrs. Kathryn Boehm on Tuesdays at 4 p.m. for kindergarten age and 5 p.m. for grades 1, 2, 3. Classes are held on Wednesdays at 4 p.m. for kindergarten age and at 5 p.m. for grades 4 and up. Classes meet for 12 weeks, beginning September 25-26. Fee is $12 per child, with classes limited to 15 children each.

NICK LIBERTY, second degree black belt, of the Judo Federation of Ohio instructs the Judo classes held on Saturdays from 10:30 to 12 noon at Montrose School Gym. Fee is $10 and covers cost of the 8-week course which begins September 29th.

CHILDREN'S FINE ARTS is taught by Sonya Robbins, a professional artist who specializes in teaching children. Classes work in a variety of media, such as painting, drawing, sculpture and graphics during the 10-week series.

Children 6 and 7 years old meet at Jeffrey Mansion on Mondays at 4 p.m., children 8, 9 and 10 years of age meet at the same time on Fridays, starting the week of October 1-5. Fee for the 10 weeks is $10 plus $2 for materials and classes are limited to a maximum of 12 children each.

ADULT PROGRAMS on the fall schedule include Gourmet Cooking, Oil Painting, Ceramics, Figure Control, Interior Decorating and Women's Volleyball, all beginning within the next two weeks.

Volleyball, a program of free play, will begin next Tuesday, October 2, at 7:30 p.m. in Montrose Gym under the direction of Mrs. Joann Miller. The program is held each Tuesday evening, with the 4th Tuesday of the month set aside for joint men's -women's volleyball. The program continues through April.

A FIGURE CONTROL program is to be held in the old gym at Cassingham school on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. for ten weeks, beginning October 3rd. Fee for this program is $10. Women interested in toning up and-or shaping up their bodies will find this an enjoyable way to exercise.

INTERIOR DECORATING will be taught by Mrs. Harriet Alexander, a professional interior designer, at Bexley High School on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. starting October 10th. Fee for this 6-week course is $10 per person, and men as well as women will find this program both informative and interesting.

GOURMET COOKING for beginners will be taught by Mimi Campbell at the Junior High Home Ec. room at 7:30 p.m. starting October 10. This course will meet for six Wednesday evenings, cooking (and eating) a variety of gourmet foods including main courses, desserts, etc. Fee for the course is $15 and the class is limited to a maximum of twelve people, either men or women.

CLARENCE BERG, art instructor with Bexley Public Schools, will teach courses in oil painting (on Tuesdays) and ceramics (on Mondays) in the Junior High Art Room. Both courses will be taught on an 8-week basis and begin at 7:30 p.m. on October 1 or 2. Classes are limited to a maximum of 12 persons. Fee for the ceramics course is $12 plus cost of some materials. Oil painting is also $12 for registration.

Other courses offered for adults include Knitting, Macrame, Guitar, and Bridge lessons for beginners. For details call the department office week days before 4:30 p.m.

Why Contribute to Tom Moyer's Campaign?

Tom Moyer, President of the Columbus School Board is a candidate for re-election in November because he wants to continue to help lead the Columbus Public Schools.

Tom wants to place his record before the voters during the coming weeks and that will require money.

We believe it is desirable that public officeholders pay for their campaigns with contributions from many individuals. It is important to keep Tom Moyer's sense of fairness and open mindedness on the Columbus Board of Education. Please send your contribution to Re-Elect Moyer Committee, 230 East Town Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Cubs Win Second National Award

East Columbus—An East Columbus Cub Scout pack that used it's 1972 prize money to help blind children today won its second straight national award of $150 for outstanding work in the environment.

Columbus Cub Scout Pack 570 was one of 14 Boys and Girl Scout units to win a total of $2,600 for outstanding anti-litter, beautification and recycling projects in the third annual environmental awards program for Scout units throughout the country sponsored by Owens-Illinois, Inc. A total of more than 20,000 scouts participated.

"After using their 1972 prize money to buy two young seeing eye dogs for blind children, the 35 Cub Scouts in Pack 570 collected 15,485 pounds of paper, and 1,875 pounds of glass for recycling, planted a tree in their school yard, and distributed 1,000 litterbags to motorists," Don Ross, plant coordinator for Owens-Illinois' Columbus television bulb plant, said.

"One of the highlights of the pack's activities this year was a skating party at which each Cub Scout had a buddy for the evening from the Ohio School of the Blind," Ross said. "The scouts used the money they made from their paper and glass drive to purchase a third young dog to be trained as a seeing eye for the blind."

Donna K. Kiechle, of 1703 Frebis Ave., is the adult leader for Pack 570. Other den leaders are Linda Gassman, of 1774 Grebis Ave.; Mary Rehl, of 3544 Campion Ave.; Charles Scholl of 1820 Pannell and Chuck Smith of 589 Stanley.

The Columbus pack was among eight Scouts units winning top national awards of $150 each in the Owens-Illinois environmental awards program. Special awards of $100 each went to Scouts in six other cities for multi-troop activities.

The awards winners were chosen from among 74 local winners and 44 cities in which Owens-Illinois plants sponsored the program in cooperation with Boy and Girl Scout councils.

"The award-winning projects ranged from the collection of 62 tons of paper and 11 tons of galss by 17 ten-year-old Junior Girl Scouts in Waxabanchie, Texas, to the removal of litter from landing sites along a Michigan river by 13 blind Explorer Scouts in Lansing, Michigan."

The annual competition for Boy and Girl Scout units sponsored by Owens-Illinois is designed to encourage and promote efforts of the youth groups to Keep America Beautifual, Ross said. All entries had to be based on anti-litter, beautifucation or recycling programs conducted by the participating Scout units between April 2 and June 4.

Youth Development Committee Reports Success For Students

Mayor Tom Moody and Superintendent John Ellis, honorary co-chairman of the Columbus Youth Development Committee (CYDC) have reported that a total of 8,250 young people were placed on jobs during the past summer.

The CYDC, operating under the umbrella of United Community Council (UCC), is a new cooperative program linking the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB) and a group of some 30 public and private youth-serving agencies with the Board of Education's Vocational Coordinators for job placement.

FINAL figures indicate that NAB member companies hired 4105 teenagers, the City's Neighborhood Youth Corps hired 2300 disadvantaged youth and City Hall hired 142 college-aged youth.

In addition, the CYDC generated 350 new jobs from small businesses and its "Hire-a-Youth" program provided 1350 teenagers with part-time odd jobs during the months of July and August.

Moody and Ellis were "enthusiastic" in expressing their gratitude to those local employers who hired these young people, the UCC for initiating the program, and the Columbus Foundation and other contributors for their financial support.

UCC Executive Director Walter R. Tarpley said "We will evaluate this summer's program and we will continue our efforts toward the implementation of a year-round youth development program. This year's experience has verified our past findings that there exists in our community a serious unmet need in the area of youth employment."

Jarret C. Chavous, City Manpower Administrator, has served as Chairman of CYDC in its initial year of operation.

'Seventh Step' Director Will Address Toastmasters Clubs

East Columbus--The Rockwell Toastmasters Club will join with the Toastmasters of the WEBELLO Club in welcoming Gene Collins as their speaker at a joint meeting scheduled for September 27 at the Rockwell International Recreation Park on N. Hamilton Rd.

Collins, Prison Program Director for the Central Ohio Seventh Step Foundation, will speak to the group about the problems facing the offender when he is released from prison.

He will tell of the assistance which the Seventh Step provides the offender both before and after release, and of their formal program in which the excon is forced to become aware of himself and of his limitations. Through this awareness and assistance Seventh Step is hoping to return to society a good, responsible citizen according to Gary Dudgeon, educational vice president.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting.

The Rockwell Toastmasters Club is one of nearly 3500 Toastmasters clubs offering its members a program in communication and leadership development.

League Of Women Voters Plan Campaign

Members of the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus will begin work October 1 on their annual finance drive.

This year's campaign is headed by Mrs. Charles Conrad, 5301 Indian Hill Rd., Dublin.

The goal of the drive is to raise $12,000 in community contributions towards the League's $33,350-1973-74 budget.

For more than 50 years the League of Women Voters has provided non-partisan information to voters about candidates, issues, and the complexity of governmental procedures. Local non-partisan election information is channeled through semi-annual Voters Information Bulletins available free of charge at all Columbus area libraries, Leeague Speakers Bureau, and area candidates nights.

The League's goal is to involve all citizens in government as informed voters and active participants in politics.

The Columbus chapter of the League accomplishes this goal through volunteer work done by its 900 members.

This year's drive will be conducted during two weeks of October. Person's wishing to contribute may contact the League's office at 65 South Fourth Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Ohio Park Of The Week

Madison Lake Park Has Room To Spread

EDITORS NOTE: Ohio has 62 state parks, but most Ohioans are familiar with only a few of the parks and the opportunities for outdoor recreation that they offer. This is one of a series of stories designed to make Ohioans more aware of what their state parks have to offer.

"There's room here to spread a blanket and relax."

That is the one-liner description of Madison Lake State Park used by Park Manager Martin Russell.

THERE'S more of course, but Russell wanted to make the point that this 183-acre park, located in the green, rolling farm country of Madison County west of Columbus, is the perfect place for a family picnic.

Among the park's many features are cool, tree-shaded picnic areas, good fishing and swimming, large grassy play fields and remote places to hike and explore the beauty of the natural world.

"Madison Lake is a good example of the concept that a park doesn't have to encompass thousands of acres to provide a day of fun-filled activity," said Jack Miller, chief of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' parks and recreation division.

MADISON Lake is little known to those outside the immediate area. Those traveling in the area stay on Interstate Route 70, about eight miles north, and miss the opportunity to enjoy the park's many facilities.

"Not many people know the park is here," Russell said. "We get many visitors coming into the park saying that they were just driving by and happened to see the sign."

Madison Lake is on State Route 665 about five miles southeast of London. The park is a 45-minute drive from Columbus, 60 minutes from Dayton and 30 minutes from Springfield.

THE PARK includes a 100-acre tree-lined lake which supplies anglers with good catches of crappie, channel catfish, bass and walleye. For the non-fisherman, the lake is perfect for sailing, canoeing and rowboating; however, no gasoline motors are permitted.

Picnickers are shaded by tall oaks and hickories and are cooled by refreshing breezes blowing across the lake.

A small five-acre natural area at the north end of the lake shelters ducks, other waterfowl and songbirds, plus a wide variety of upland game. Waterfowlhunting is permitted in season.

PARK manger Russell, in his third year at Madison Lake, said the lake was built in 1937 through cooperative efforts of MadisonCounty sports clubs and the State of Ohio.

Madison Lake State Park can be reached from the west by taking I-70 to S.R. 56, then south on S.R. 56 to London. From London, take S.R. 665 to the park. Frm the east, the park can be reached by taking I-70 to S.R. 142, then south to London.

WE'VE GOT TO COOPERATE

AREA SOLUTION NECESSARY

One of the more hopeful signs in the water pollution control dilemma threatening almost all communities is the recognition that it is a regional problem which must be solved on that basis.

Unfortunately, the Environmental Protection Agency has adopted regulations which would seriously inhibit area-wide approaches to water pollution control problems. The EPA is taking the position that industrial companies should not be allowed quantity discounts reflecting the true cost of treatment of their larger volume. As a result, the total fees would be higher than the cost of waste treatment if they built their own separate facilities.

Not only does this appear to be in conflict with the law's intent, but it will be self-defeating for the homeowner and small businessman who need effective waste treatment. Providing adequate facilities to take care of the needs of the entire community, with everyone paying his fair share, will be the most economical and effective policy in the long-run.

Golden Age News And Notes

WIEN, AUSTRIA: "Who knows more, understands more; who understands more, forgives more; who forgives more, takes things easier; and who studies more, has no time for resignation". This glowing philosophy of life is the touchstones of the work of the Council on Aging for the City of Wien.

Nowhere is it more clearly stated than in their charming book "remaining Young in Vienna" distributed to all Senior Citizens.

"Don't spend time, collect time," they continue. "This last quarter of your life is the most individual time, the time for which you have been waiting. Make it the best.

Study not resignation is the keynote. Your knowledge can be refreshed, completed, and extended to entirely new fields."

AND HERE they come down hard for what is surely the Viennese way of life-tolerance of themselves, of everyone else, and of dozens of differing life styles and customs.

A City of power for centuries, Vienna was always a crossroads for the East and the West, a place where widely differing cultures met and mingled and grew strong from each other. Viennese consider that letting the other fellow "do his thing" is a way of life.

In this, they hit upon a solution to one of the deepest problems for us as we grow old-being able to accept new and different ways of doing things. To so many of us, our way is the only true way. So, much agony comes from having to stand aside and watch everything being done some other way.

"DON'T LET this unhappy experience come to you," they say in Vienna. "Study and learn understanding and tolerance. Improve your old way of life, better still begin a new one. Remain young in Vienna."

The Association of People's Culture of Stadt Wien has set up a complete "Volkschul" for senior citizens offering courses in everything from Sewing to Philosophy. Costs are adjusted to participants resources.

All retired members of Labor Unions have an automatic 50 percent reduction in their fees. In addition, instructors themselves may mitigate tuition charges as they see fit. The general courses: The Home, World Outlook on Life, and General Sociology, are all free.

THERE ARE no desks or benches in this school for older persons. The entire operation is designed to develop breadth through a broadening of all interests.

There is, in addition, a complete study of the problems of senior citizens.

Experts in the various fields related to problems of the Aging present lectures to the classes detailing their conclusions. There is plenty of time for discussion.

Advice is given freely. Valuable tips on solving problems are there for the taking. There is also free legal advice available.

HELP IN practical living, and help in solving and understanding problems of the older persons in the society is the goal of the Volkschul accomplished through systematic course work, through question and answer and through stimulation of new interests.

New interest in turn leads to the whole question of hobbies and their expansion into clubs which is dealt with at length in the book and which will be the subject of a future article. Learning and discovering the new is the true weapon against idleness and monotony, they say in Vienna.

'Heart-A-Thon' Open To Runners

Pull out your dusty track shoes and begin training now! The Central Ohio Heart Chapter is organizing a competitive one-hour run October 14, 2 p.m., at the Worthington High School Track.

The race is open to all runners, any age, male or female. Awards will be given to the first three finishers in each of the following categories: Men 14 and under, 15-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40 and over; Women age 17 and under, 18-35, 36 and over. The three over-all winners will receive attractive trophies, and ribbons will be given to all who finish the race.

A $2 entry fee is required and must be sent to the office by October 8 to avoid paying a late penalty.

Anyone wishing to sponsor a runner or make a donation may call 228-6327 for further information. Proceeds will be used to support the Heart Association's programs of research, community service and professional education.

The "Heartathon" is sponsored by the Mid Ohio Running Club and the COHC. All participants will be provided with free Gatorade.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Several weeks ago, I left my summer job to return to school. I earned a total of $1700 from the job. I won't have any more income for the remainder of the year. Does this mean that I won't have to file in 1974?

A. In general, if you are single, you don't have to file a return unless you made more than $2050. However, if income tax was withheld from your pay, you must file a return to have that tax refunded to you.

Q. My husband works, and now that my two children are in their teens, I also plan to take a job. If I hire a maid to clean the house and keep an eye on the children when they are home, can I get a tax deduction for her salary?

A. If your dependent children are under 15, you may be entitled to a deduction for amounts you pay a person for household services necessary to the operation of your home and for the well-being and protection of your children.

There are a number of limitations on the child car ededuction. For instance, for a full deduction, you and your husband must not have more than $18,000 in combined income. For every dollar your income exceeds $18,000 your deduction is reduced by 50 cents. This means that if your income reaches $27,600, your deduction will completely disappear. For information on other limitations on the deduction, write your local Internal Revenue office for a free copy of IRS Publication 503, "CHhild Care and Disabled Dependent Care."

Q. I've taken out thousands of dollars worth of life insurance on my life with proceeds payable to my wife and children. If something should happen to me, will the proceeds be included in my estate and will federal estate tax have to be paid?

A. First, no federal estate tax is due if the value of the estates on the date of death is$60,000 or less. Secondly, the insurance proceeds on your life are included in the estate only if they are receivable by the estate or by another for the benefit of the estate or you possessed an incident of ownership in the policy. This last requirement is especially important. It means that if you hold legal title to the policy or have the power to change beneficiaries, revoke an assignment, pledge the policy for a loan or surrender or cancel the policy, the proceeds of the policy will be included in your estate.

For more details, see IRS Publication 448, "A Guide to Federal Estate and Gift Taxation." It's available for 50 cents from your IRS district office or Government Printing Office bookstore.

Q. I had to pay interest and a penalty for filing a late tax return. I know the interest is deductible. What about the tax penalty?

A. Although the interest charged on tax payments is deductible, tax penalties are not.

Stamps By Mail Service Available At Post Office

Stamps by mail, a customer service program tested locally and in selected cities nationwide, will become a premanent service at all twenty seven city delivery post offices within the Columbus Postal District, Ralph E. Haffenden, Officer-in-Charge has announced.

The Columbus Postal Districts includes neighboring post offices having 430 and 431 as their first three ZIP numbers.

According to Mr. Haffenden, the new service will permit customers to purchase stamps and stamped envelopes through the mail using a check or money order.

Leaflets spelling out the details of the service are being distributed to area households and small businesses.

Haffenden noted that "This service will be a great benefit to all our customers and especially to shut-in, the infirm and persons whose work schedule precludes trips to the post office.

It will enable them to satisfy their postal needs simply, rapidly and inexpensively from their own homes."

Customers may order one or more of the following:

Roll of 100 eight-cent stamps, $8; Sheet of 100 eight-cent stamps, $8; Two books of eight cent stamps, $4; One book of eleven cent and two books of eight cent stamps $5; 50 stamped eight-cent envelopes (6¾" long), $5; and 50 stamped eight-cent envelopes (10" long), $5.

A 40-cent fee will be charged to defray the cost of two-way postage, internal processing of checks and other costs associated with this new service.

Denison Drops AFROTC Program

The president of Denison University and the secretary of the U.S. Air Force have agreed to terminate the Air Force ROTC program at the college on June 30,. 1974.

Junior and senior students enrolled in ROTC will continue course work this year and receive their commissions on schedule.

Options for sophomores are being explored with other ROTC units.

The Air Force Detachment 646 at Capital University will maintain and administer all AFROTC records, including scholarships, formerly handled by Detachment 656 at Denison.

New Carpet Cleaning Method Available

A new carpet cleaning method is now available to East Columbus Reynoldsburg and Worthington residents.

It's called Steamex and is handled by Blackburn Rental, 888-9679. Blackburn Rental is located at 1244 Chesterton Lane in Devonshire.

It looks somewhat like a vacuum cleaner with a squared off solution container.

Hot moisture and cleaner mixture penetrate to fiber depth.

Loosened soil suspension is lifted up and out of the carpet by simultaneous vacuum action.

There are no brushes to distort pile or scrub dirt in deeper. There is no after effect from over-sudsing.

The unit will fit into an auto trunk.

Reservations should be made by Oct. 5 with Mrs. T.A. Powell, 457-0538.

New Type Gift Shop Is Open

East Columbus- Two Eastside women, Merrilyn Frank and Phyllis Ives, have opened a new kind of shop, combining gift items and needlecraft and aptly naming the store Gift'N Stitch.

The shop is in the Village Center on Route 161, two blocks east of the Wine Cellar.

The shop is filled with gifts for everyone in the family, as well as every room in the home. Many of the gift items have not yet been seen in Columbus, the ladies say.

Needlecraft items range from needlepoint to latch hook rugs.

Custom-designed needlepoints will be done to order.

The finishing of belts, footstools, pillows and framing will all be taken care of.

WCVO Has Anniversary

Columbus--Josephinum Pontifical College, 7625 N. High St., Worthington, will be host to the semi-annual tea sponsored by WCVO Auxiliary on Thursday, Oct. 18 at 1 p.m.

According to Mrs. Freda Koch, chairman of the steering committee, a large turn-out of the Auxiliary membership is expected to celebrate WCVO radio's first anniversary and introduce the new officers.

Reservations for the tea may be made before October 15 by calling 855-0171.

Bexley Recreation Sponsors Foreign Language Classes

The LINGUATHON method of foreign language instruction will be used again this year to teach Advanced Spanish, Beginning Italian and Beginning French at the Jeffrey Mansion. The classes are sponsored by the Bexley Parks and Recreation Department over a five-week period on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. with classes limited to a minimum of 5 and maximum of 15 persons each. Fee for the series is $25 per person.

Teachers in each language have masters degrees and many are native speakers of the language they teach. Lessons are conversational and prove extremely helpful to persons planning on travelling abroad, as they feature current expressions and idioms making it possible to understand and be understood by shop-keepers, waiters, etc. For further information contact the department office week days before 4:30 p.m. at 258-5755.

PTA Will Introduce Candidates

East Columbus--All nine candidates for the Columbus Board of Education have been invited to a special Candidates Night at Johnson Park Junior High School, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m.

The Johnson Park P.T.A., sponsors of the event, are inviting all Columbus residents to take advantage of this opportunity to learn of the qualifications and platforms of the Board candidates. There will also be time allowed for citizens to question candidates about specific issues.

Johnson Park Junior High School is located in the far East end of Columbus at 1130 S. Waverly.

Hair...A Very Short Story

'IN' fashion

with Tess Stern

THE FLICK cut bang with short back...done completely with blow dryer and curling iron.

THE BOB...an all one length blunt cut...blown dry and brushed to turn under and frame the face...chin length.

THE GATSBY LOOK...blunt cut with short neck line...blown dry and iron set...brushed softly away from the face.

THE THING that is really making women look different from last year is their hair-dos. The hair-do as we knew it only a few months ago...built-up, lacquered, trailing all kinds of ringlets and false gadgets...has gone the way of all fads. Chic women are now wearing their hair simply styled...a beautiful natural look that is expertly cut and set, but not "dressed" in the usual sense. Along with the stiff lacquered look has gone lots of the madness for "having more fun as a blond". Many women who were determinedly blonds, the past few years, have gone back to soft brown or whatever color, streaked with blond or grey.

THE CHANGE was never more apparent than it was when I visited the newly remodeled beauty salon at the Union Store. Their attractive new salon...now part of the world famous Glemby chain...is a contemporary medley of oranges, yellows and black...managed by the talented, creative, Style Director Dennis Cox, who has been associated with Glemby in other cities for the past ten years. He just recently returned from London, England where he trained 400 hairstylists for the many Glemby Salons there.

I had a delightful chat with Mr. Cox while he styled my hair. "One basic medium length can produce a scintillating assortment of hair styles", he remarked. "The present look of hair is either very short or chin length, soft and controlled...not shaggy. Hair has a definite proportion and shape, with the big emphasis on bangs...in all variations".

MR. DENNIS COX, famous hair stylist and Corporate Manager of the Union Beauty Salon.

As to color...Dennis Cox likes the return to red. He introduced the "Pamaron Treatment", which is almost like a henna pack with conditioner...often using three colors to achieve a natural effect...strands of red, brown and blond on one head.

The Union Beauty Salon also includes a contemporary shop called "Hair Works" where talented professionals create the "today look" for the young at heart. Which, in my opinion, embodies all the principles of women's liberation...freedom from curlers, hairdryers, spraying, hairpieces, straighteners, and teasing. Blunt cutting with a small scissors is the order of the day...your hair is then blown dry and ready to go!

HERE are some of the stars appearing in the American Film Theatre Family of Stars, at the Westland I, Graceland, Carousel and College Theatres. The eight movies made from the best Broadway and London Plays begins in October and ends in May.

AROUND TOWN

For you, who love good movies, here is something you won't want to miss. Beginning next month at Westland I, Graceland I, Carousel and College Theatres, The American Film Theatre will present superb new motion pictures, not simply taken from the stage, but transformed with the intimacy, power and scope only film possesses.

The American Film Theatre is a subscription series of eight glittering star studded new movies, inspired by eight great plays of Broadway and London.

The movies represent a flock awards, including Oscars, Tonys, Pulitzers and even a Nobel Prize, which have been won by the plays and creative talent associated with the 1973-74 premier season of the American Film Theatre, the first "National Theatre-on-Film.

The lineup includes, "The Iceman Cometh," with Lee Marvin, "Rhinoceros", featuring Zero Mostel, "The Homecoming," winner of four Tony Awards. This is the first in the series in Columbus.

Also in the series are, "A Delicate Balance," with Katharine Hepburn, which won author Edward Albee the 1967 Pulitzer Prize. Another Tony Award Winner, "Luther," is included in the series. "Butley," with Alan Bates, "The Sisters," staring Laurence Olivier, and "Lost In The Stars," which is the only musical in the series.

Each movie will be shown only four times at the theatres mentioned, matinee and evenings on Monday and Tuesday. You may purchase a season book for the October to May series, or purchase individual tickets. Take my advice, these will sell like the proverbial hotcakes. Call Westland I, Graceland I, Carousel or College Theatre now.

Today is the beginning of the great musical "Hello Dolly," at the Country Dinner Playhouse. The well known Marion Marlowe plays the role of Dolly along with a top notch cast, plus a host of singers and dancers. Believe me, make your reservations now!!! This Thursday through Sunday is the well known Oktoberfest which includes music, dancing, sing-a-longs, games and good German Food. Over 35 craftsmen will participate by displaying their talents and offering their handiworks for sale. Sponsored by the German Village Merchants Association, the event will be held at the Natural Resources Park, Ohio State Fairgrounds...George Westermeyer III is currently at the 16 East. This spot is becoming more popular each day. Backing up George is Bill Ingramon bass and drummer Joey Gargani. Drop in at 16 East real soon, you will be surprised. It is the fun place of downtown Columbus...For a dining treat beyound belief, head to the Holiday Inn-Reynoldsburg. Their Seafood Buffet every Friday includes Lobster Tails, plus a host of other delicious seafoods, like frog legs, breaded shrimp and more. Very reasonable, too. Their Continental Buffet every Saturday features carved Prime Round of Beef, plus 3 additional meat and fish items along with salads, relishes dessert and coffee. This is also very reasonable. Make the Holiday Inn, your dining headquarters, on the east end of town...I'll see you Around Town this week.

Opening this week at the fabulous Stage Door Lounge of the Rodeway Inn Motel is Summerwine. This is another rock-em sock'em group. While they lean a little more to the contemporary idiom of entertainment, than the previous show groups at the Stage Door Lounge, they are still a winner in my book.

Dave Rakes, the leader, and the entire group are pure showman, and then some. Dave, the leader, plays a handful of black and whites at the electric piano and organ. That's just the beginning. He sings up a storm. Owning a fine voice, Dave shows plenty of control and comes across as a strong stylist. Believe it or not, the same is true of Jerry Jaxon. He also plays the keyboard and sings as well as Dave, what a performer.

If that's not enough, wait until Rodney Wall sings. What a voice. Rodney will also bowl you over with his guitar work.

Then, there is drummer Jimmy Spencer. He is one of the smoothest, speediest drummers I have heard in a long time. His technique will amaze you.

Last, but not least is Laurie Douglas. She is a cute as a bug in a rug. A real doll baby type. The kind you would like to take home to father, if you could trust him. Laurie sings, and I do mean sings. She owns a deep, throaty voice. Also, Laurie knows what to do with what she has. She is a "Pro" Performer. And, would you believe that Laurie holds her own as organ bassist.

Summerwine makes it all happen because of pure talent, professional showmanship and a variety of musical selections. They dish out plenty of good vocals, be it solo work two or three or four part harmonies, plus strong instrumentals. Add it all up, and the end result is a quintet that will keep you glued to your seat.

I promise you that Summerwine is one of the most entertaining and exciting groups Around Town this week. If they don't please you, I don't know what will.

They will be at the Rodeway Inn Motel, in the Stage Door Lounge this week and next. And, I have a feeling they will be held over, that's how good Summerwine is in my opinion.

Another smashing group is taking the crowds by storm at Marco Polo's Lounge. Their name is Jam Burger. What a name. It fits the group, as far as I'm concerned. Jam, meaning they jam, and burger, meaning they give you a little bit of everything. The group features Dave Harris. This guy is a cool, way out singer. And, I do mean singer.

Jam Burger consists of Bob Stickel on guitar, Keith Dickess with the electric bass, and drummer Bob McCarthy. These three comprise a solid, swinging trio. Then you add Dave Harris, and things really begin to happen. Besides being a singer, who knows what the word singer means, Dave is a dynamic sax man as well.

Listen, and I know you will agree that Jam Burger offers something in the musical arena that is bound to hold your attention and keep you well entertained. Of course, Marco Polo's Lounge happens to be one of those type of places where it is funs ville every night of the week. But, with a quartet such as Jam Burger providing the music for listening or dancing, then things really begin to happen.

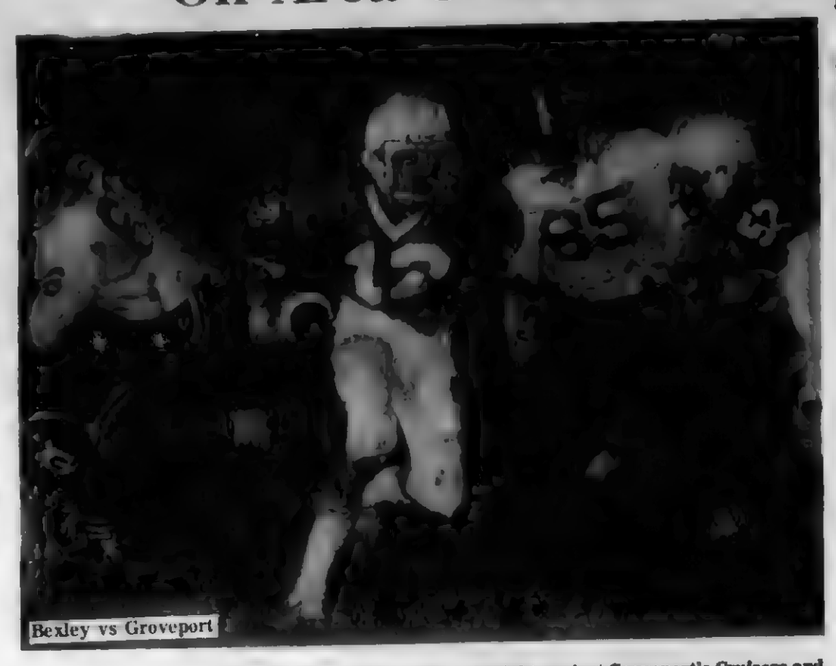
Spectator Cameras Caught All The Action On Area Gridirons

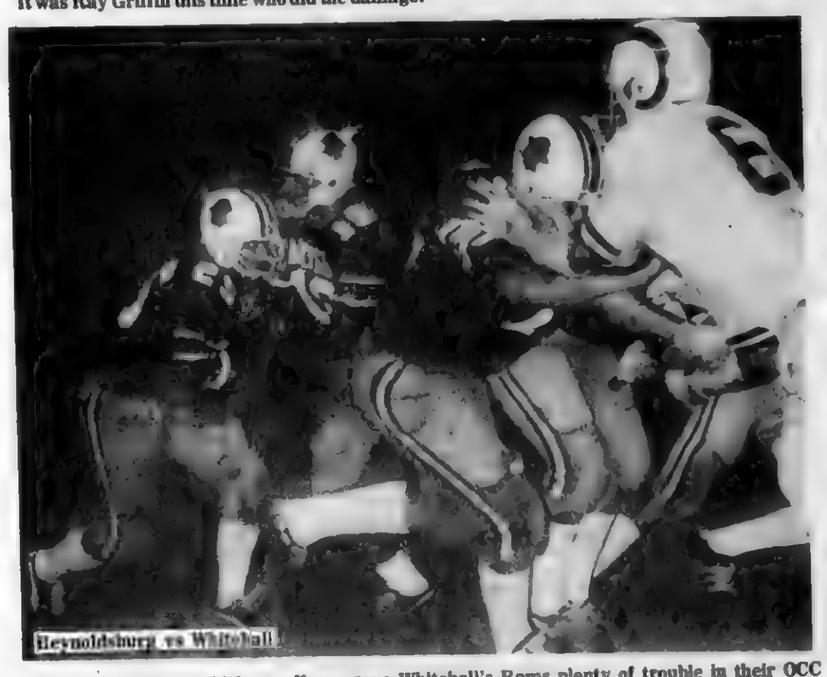


Bexley vs Groveport

BEXLEY LION QB Steve O'Brien had a razzle dazzle night against Groveport's Cruisers and here shakes loose for a long gainer in a Mid-Eight clash that had a surprise finish for the favored Crusiers who thought they would notch the win.

Eastmoor vs Mohawk

EASTMOOR got plenty of mileage from its backs against winless Mohawk and the Indians never did get their offense untracked while suffering another shutout, a 45-0 loss in a league tilt. It was Ray Griffin this time who did the damage.



Reynoldsburg vs Whitehall

THE QUICK Reynoldsburg offense gave Whitehall's Rams plenty of trouble in their OCC clash won by Whitehall 28-20. Here, back Paul Malernee takes the handoff from QB Mike Cronin and heads for a gain on an off tackle play.

Capital vs Marietta

ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING plays in the Capital-Marietta game was this pass interception try by Capital's Jim Anderson shown getting his hand on the ball. He wasn't able to hang on but this was typical of the Capital effort that spelled curtains for visiting Marietta, 13-7.

League Races In Full Swing

by SANDY SCHWARTZ

AREA high school football galloped into full league swing last Friday night with initial contests in the Ohio Capital Conference, the City League, the Metro League and the Mid-Eight League.

And an interesting week it was.

Worthington, Gahanna and Westerville continued to convince people that they are the favorites of the OCC as they won their contests, Eastmoor, Walnut Ridge and West proved likewise in the City, and Bexley surprised a few people with its lacing of Groveport.

Worthington's John Madry dashed for 172 yards to pace the Cardinals to a 43-20 victory over Delaware. Madry collected 123 of those yards in the first quarter and he also collected four TD's in the course of the evening. Not bad John.

Westerville marked their OCC start with a 28-0 slugging of Westland. Steve Wohlert highlighted that affair with his always dazzling runs, one a 55 yard punt return, and his overall team leadership. Senior running back Ron Lawson provided a pair of Cat [illegible]

Gahanna narrowly escaped upset-minded Mt. Vernon 13-7 and in the other OCC game Whitehall very timely picked up their first victory over Reynoldsburg 29-20. Rick Robinson, who is coming off of an injury, starred in that game as he scored three Whitehall TD's.

Ray Griffin, brother of the famed Ohio Stater Archie, helped Eastmoor open their City League South campaign with a 45-0 walloping of Mohawk. Griffin scored three times as he picked up 108 yards on 14 turns with the pigskin.

Walnut Ridge worked hard to score a fourth quarter TD and edge Marion Franklin 6-0. The Scots drove 61 yards in 11 plays to earn that final score with powerhouse runner Matt Guttman slamming the final two for the six pointer.

In another City South 1973 debut, Dave Koblentz's West High footballers nailed South 15-8. Tom Biggers scored a game winning TD with :49 seconds remaining in the game to provide that win, Biggers also scored the other West TD.

In City League North action Northland demolished East 32-0.

Bexley handed Groveport a 29-3 setback in a Mid-Eight League opener as it scored 23 of those points in the second half. John Bornlohr led the attack with a pair of TD's. QB Steve Obrien helped the Lions pick up 168 total yards.

In a hard fought Metro-League opener Franklin Heights battled West Jefferson to a scoreless tie. Both teams failed at scoring opportunities, credit that to excellent defense throughout the game.

Hartley entered the win column with a 26-14 victory over Central in an area non-league affair, while Miami Trace manhandled Ready 27-0. Mark Disabato was instrumental in that Hartley win.

And Watterson, pride of the Catholic League, continued their central district football supremacy with a 17-0 blanking of Lancaster. Eagle quarterback Dean Dixon figured in all of the scoring as he passed four yards to Steve Yaroch for a score, 46 yards to tight end Scott Bringardner for six and he laced a 41 yard field goal and an extra point.

SOME KEY league matchups will highlight this week's Friday high school grid card.

Gahanna, winner of 16 straight games and defending Ohio Capitol Conference Champions, will entertain a strong Westerville team in the highlight of the OCC. This game could go a way in deciding that league race.

In other OCC games Worthington plays host to Mt. Vernon, Westland travels to Reynoldsburg, and Delaware is at Whitehall.

City League South action finds Marion Franklin at West in the top fight there and South at Mohawk and Eastmoor at Central.

On the other side of Broad Street there is a gala affair when Mifflin, newest member of the City North risks its undefeated record against defending champs Northland.

North is at Linden and East will host Brookhaven.

Bexley is at home to try to make it two straight in the Mid- Eight, they challenge Urbana and in the Metro League Franklin Heights will travel to Teays Valley.

In non-league action Walnut Ridge will be at Hartley to renew that east side rivalry and Watterson will face sports minded Cincinnati Elder in Cincinnati.

Saturday's schedule finds New Albany at Academy for a 2:00 afternoon fracus and St. Charles battling Dayton Kiser at 7:30 at Eastmoor High School.

YOU CAN disregard season records for this one, it makes no difference who is favored, you'd better get there early if you want a seat, you can bet that it'll be a real tight one and be sure not to leave until that final gun has sounded.

All of this refers to one and only one contest. That rugged, grudge-filled Otterbein College and Capital University football game.

That extravaganza will be held this Saturday night at 7:30 at the Otterbein gridiron. These two cross town rivals square off with a tale dating back to 1927, yes that is when the first heyday was staged. 46 games have been held since '27, Capital holding the victory edge 25-20, one tie included.

This years matchup will not be a league contest but can't think we'll be sold short.

Cap comes in fresh from a 13-7 slapping of Marietta last Saturday. The Crusaders capitalized its second whirl with the ball as senior all-conference halfback Craig Snider scooted 14 yards to paydirt.

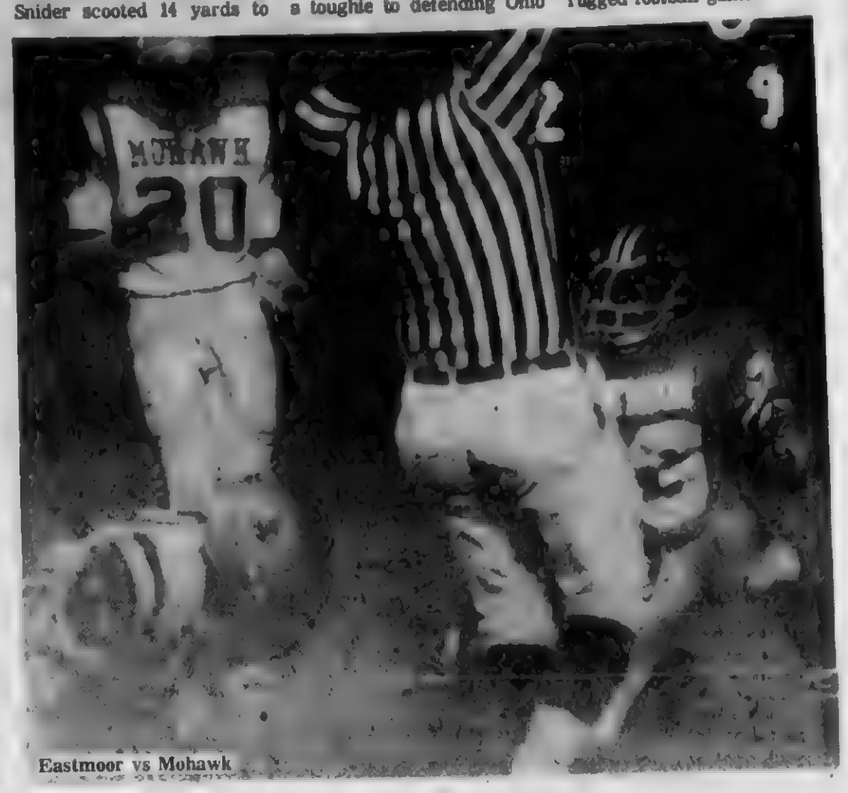
That scoring drive covered 85 yards in 12 plays, the highlight being an 11 yard pass from Bob Ginn to Watterson product Joe Duffy, that on a crucial fourth down play. Eastmoor grad Curt Moore also added valuable ground yardage on that drive.

Cap scored another TD late in the half to stretch the lead and then rested on defensive alurels to limit Marietta to one TD the second half.

Otterbein, meanwhile, lost a toughie to defending Ohio Conference champs Heidelberg 21-14. Saturday at the Bein, to even their season slate at 1-1.

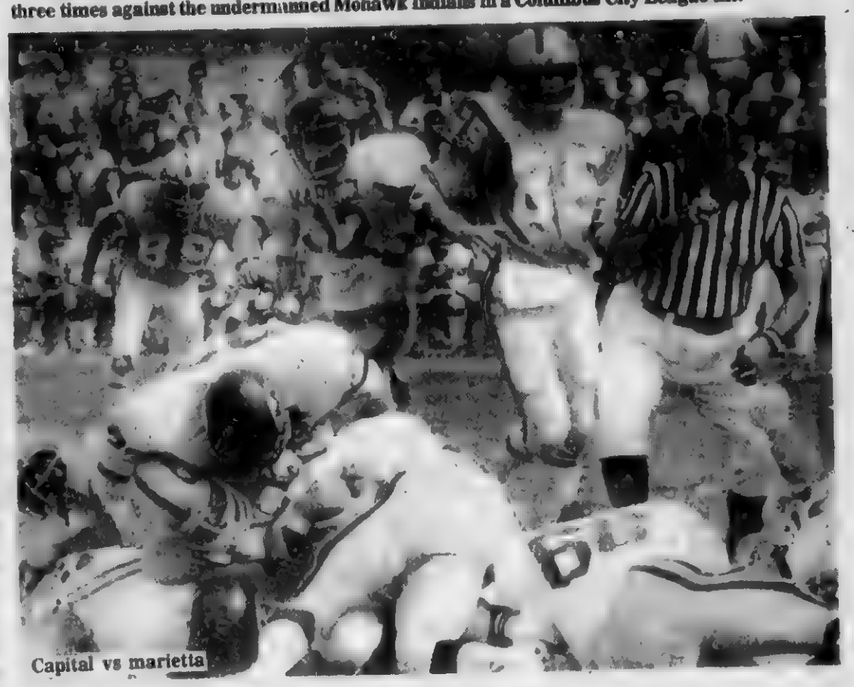
Walnut Ridge graduate Jim Bontadelli was instrumental in both of the Otters scores as ran one over from the eight and he passed to wide receiver Leif Petterson for the other score.

But you can bet that it will all be on the line Saturday night, no holds barred, a good rugged football game.



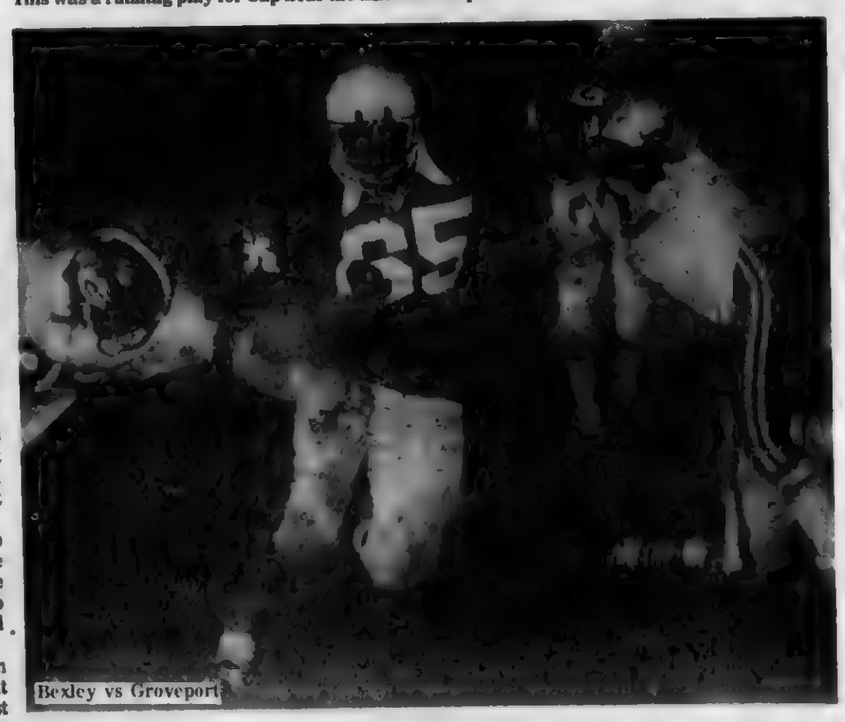
Eastmoor vs Mohawk

IT WAS ANOTHER TD for Eastmoor's Ray Griffin on this plunge as the swift back scored three times against the undermanned Mohawk Indians in a Columbus City League tilt.



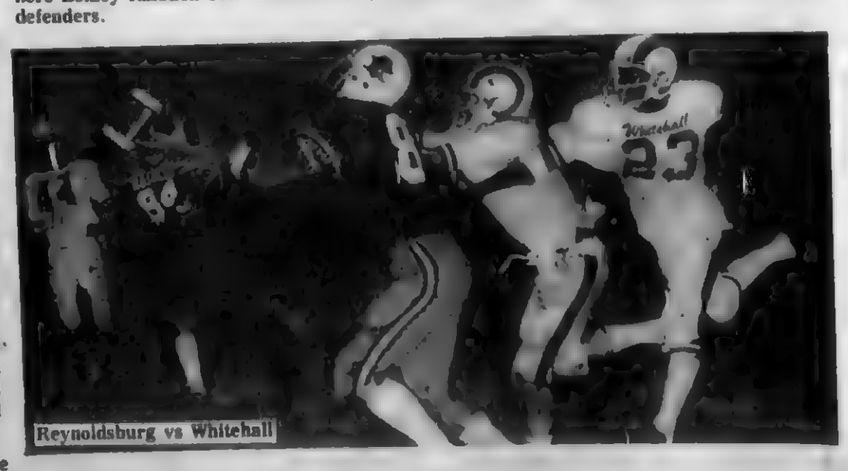
Capital vs marietta

THAT'S A close look the official is giving this play in the Capital-Marietta game last Saturday at Bernlohr stadium. . .The Crusaders won the Ohio Athletic Conference game 13-7. This was a running play for Cap near the midfield stripe.



Bexley vs Groveport

FULLBACK PLAY was hard and fast in the Bexley-Groveport game won by the Lions and here Bexley fullback Jeff Edelstein (65) rambles for extra yardage through the Cruiser defenders.



Reynoldsburg vs Whitehall

REYNOLDSBURG'S outstanding pass-snatcher Daryl Newly (84) was at it again last week against Whitehall and snared this Mike Cronin aerial for a 56-yard pass and run play for a TD. Whitehall won the game, 28-20.

Coast Guard Recruiting Moves To New Location

Columbus U.S. Coast Guard recruiting is to take place from a new street-level location at 20 E. Long St., Columbus.

Recruiting headquarters were previously located on the 4th floor of the U.S. Post Office Building at 121 E. State St.

The new office location is an attempt to "Promote more community awareness," according to Bob Peterson, the recruiter in charge. "A lot of people don't know there's a Coast Guard Recruiting Office, or a Reserve Unit, in Columbus," he said. "Or else they think they must still put their name on a long waiting list in order to join." (During selective service years Coast Guard inductions could not keep pace with prospective enlistments.)

Forty-two men and women were recruited into the U.S. Coast Guard from the Columbus office last year-32 "Regulars" and 10 "Reserves."

Expanded office hours will also be employed to strengthen recruitement efforts of the all-volunteer service. In addition to weekday hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Coast Guard men and women from the Columbus Coast guard Reserve Unit will staff the new office on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The new recruiting office address is as follows; the telephone number has remained unchanged: Recruiter in Charge, USCG Sub-Recruiting Office, 20 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio 43215, 469-6760.

New Carpet Cleaning Method Available

A new carpet cleaning method is now available to East Columbus, Reynoldsburg and Worthington residents.

It's called Steamex and is handled by Blackburn Rental, 888-9679. Blackburn Rental is located at 1244 Chesterton Lane in Devonshire.

It looks somewhat like a vacuum cleaner with a squared off solution container.

Hot moisture and cleaner mixture penetrate to fiber depth.

Loosened soil suspension is lifted up and out of the carpet by simultaneous vacuum action.

There are no brushes to distort pile or scrub dirt in deeper. There is no after effect from over-sudsing.

The unit will fit into an auto trunk.

Boys Ranch Luncheon

Buckeye Boys Ranch Associate Board will hold its luncheon meeting Friday, September 28, at noon, at Scioto Country Club.

Mrs. George Renkert, 2160 McCoy Rd. will conduct the meeting at which time the Board will be brought up to date on last year's activities.

Mrs. Gordon Pataky, 4420 Reed Rd., Chairman of this year's Buckeye Boutique which will be held October 30, 31 and November 1 at the Imperial House North, will update plans for the boutique.

H & R Block Starts Second Tax School

H. & R. Block will offer another session of its Income Tax Course starting October 17, it was announced by Jerry Grise, city manager.

For nine weeks, students will study all areas of tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns.

Grise said, "The course is programmed to teach the student increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses.

There are no restrictions or qualifications for enrollment.

Information and registration forms for the Income Tax Course may be obtained by contacting the H & R Block officer, 144 Graceland Blvd. 43214, anytime before October 17. The phone number is 888-[illegible].

BEE Incorporated

Carelessness Can Cost You Fish

Here's a few tips that will save your equipment from getting damaged and help you catch more fish. You can pay a high price for carelessness before, during and after a fishing trip.

I know, I've paid the price and experienced some of these losses. Always carry an extra rod and reel, yours can be damaged and put out of action very easily. I loaned a friend a rod of mine one day and he fished with it in the rain.

When he was through using it he put it in a cloth bag and then in an aluminum case without wiping it dry. Days later when I opened it, you're right, nothing but rust and mold.

ANOTHER mistake, never lay your rod and reel on the ground for any purpose. Someone just might step on it and if you get sand and gravel in your reel and leave it there it can ruin the mechanism. I forgot to check my reels on a recent trip to Hoover Dam.

I had worn a tiny grove in the line guide. This mistake cost me a good size walleye when my line snapped. Simple examination of the reel before the trip could of made it a very successful one.

Beaver Creek Campground

Located among the banks of Ohio's most scenic unspoiled rivers, this park is rich in both human and natural history. Ruins of the locks of abandoned Sandy and Beaver Canal are located throughout the park and a partially restored grist mill, located near the park office, is open to the public.

Reached from S.R. 7, eight miles northwest of East Liverpool, the park has a 40 site primitive area for family campers and a primitive campground for horseman. There is excellent smallmouth bass fishing in Little Beaver Creek and fine hiking along the many trails that lace the area.

ABANDONED township roads and farm lanes in the park and nearby rural roads provide ample opportunities for horseback riding. During the early spring and fall, canoeing and rafting is popular on the stream.

Flood Damage Claims Should Be Filed

Frank D. Ray, Director of the Columbus District Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), today warned Franklin County residents suffering damage to residential or business properties as a result of the June 19-26 flooding that the final date for submission of SBA disaster loan applications is Friday, September 28.

Ray said that loan applications are still available at SBA's Columbus District Office, 34 North High Street. The applications must, however, be returned to SBA by September 28 in order to qualify for the long term 5 per cent interest disaster loan program.

"If residents are unable to obtain contractor's estimates or other necessary documentation by September 28, their incomplete applications must be filed anyway," said Ray. "We will simply hold the application until all papers are obtained and then process the entire package."

4-H Achievement Night Has Special Meaning To Many

Over 400 Franklin Countians received awards and recognition for their outstanding achievements in 4-H at the Annual County 4-H Achievement Night Program Wednesday at the Agricultural Administration Building Auditorium, Ohio State University.

Receiving commendation that evening for being selected as a recipient of the State 4-H Alumni Recognition Award was Jerry L. Kaltenbach of Hilliard Jacqueline LaMuth, County 4-H Agent, explained that each year only four Ohioans-former 4-H'ers-may receive this award. It is made to those who have made a significant contribution to 4-H as a result of their affiliation with 4-H, past and present.

Kaltenbach, a former Franklin County 4'er, is president and general manager of Gooding Amusement Company, Inc. Franklin County Agricultural Society.

While serving as president of the Franklin County Agricultural Scoeity. He helped reorganize the Junior Fair program so that it could provide opportunities and facilities to 4-H and other youth organizations.

He served as general manager of the Ohio State Fair for several years. Recently Kaltenbach was appointed to the Ohio 4-H Foundation Board of Directors.

Top 4-H member awards in citizenship were received by Connie Taylor (3608 Clearview Ave. Col.); Three C's and Mike Sherman (5609 Tuttle Rd. Dublin); Lucky Live Wires. They received the William Danforth "I DARE YOU" Award.

Outstanding leadership pins were presented to Sue Dye (6728 Cleveland Ave. Cols.) Westerville Wranglers, Vicki Milliron (13 Brookmeadow Reynoldsburg) Golden Spurs, and Valerie Hoffman (2065 Wilson Rd. Col.) Pins and Pans.

Achievement Pins were awarded to Greg Seelenbinder (3404 Noe-Bixby Rd. Cols.) Can-Win Livestock, Cindy Rigsby (1084 Roberts Rd. Hilliard) Buckeye Riders and Sherri Passmore (251 Heil Dr. Gahanna) New Albany Style-ettes.

Honor Club Awards were earned by the following clubs: Bakers' Dozen, Brice Busy Bees, Brown Belles, Buckeye Riders, Busy Needles, Can-Win Livestock, Crazy Clovers, Double D's, Eastside Gals, Galloway Jolly Workers, Grove City Goodtime, Horsemasters Lucky Shamrocks, New Albany Style-ettes, Pathfinders, Snipping Scissors, Trail Dusters, and Westerville Wranglers. Honorable mentions went to Galloway Guys and Galls, Hilliard Make & Bake, Pins and Pans, and Town and Country.

The County representative to the Ohio Quarter Horse Congress announced that evening was Nancy Rhymard (4355 Langton Rd., Hilliard) Hunt and Rack.

Glicks Named Pace Setters

REPRESENTING HOUSE Beautiful, Mrs. Elizabeth Schick, promotion director, presents the "Pace Setter" store award to Glicks President Robert A. Glick, Executive Vice President William Glick and O.M. "Rick" Rueckel, manager of Glicks Furniture Showcase store. The Pace Setter Program, begun in 1970, consists of a carefully selected group of retail stores in the country. There are currently 88 stores in major areas participating in this program. Glicks is the only Pace Setter Store in Central Ohio. As a Pace Setter Store, Glicks will be tying in with House Beautiful's major decorating issues to develop innovative merchandising approaches to make it easier for customers to envision the latest in home furnishings in their homes. This is the second occasion this year that Glicks has received national recognition. In January the National Home Furnishings Association praised Glicks new Furniture Showcase Store in their national publication. Calling it "a store the customers asked for" they cited that the Showcase Store was the result of competent research. In addition to the New Showcase Store on Morse Road, Glicks presently has stores in Northern Lights, Town and Country and Great Western Shopping Centers, Glicks Warehouse Outlet, plus stores in Chillicothe and Newark. A new Showcase is planned for opening in early 1974 at 2223 S. Hamilton Rd.

IN MEMORIAM

To My Son "KIM"
Whom I Love
With All My Heart

I miss you so much son
Since you went away
My heart is broken
It's not been the same

It's hard to put in words
The way that I feel
Your going away
Seems so unreal

These things are so hard to understand
We live and we die
That is God's Plan.

You were such a fine son
The best there could be
God blessed us so much
Your father and me.

My only hope
Is to be with you someday
To that place called paradise
God's hideaway

As I sit in my chair
You bought for me
I'll keep it forever
Till I Meet with thee.

What I wouldn't give
To see you walk in the door
And hear you say
Hi Mom!
As you've done so before.

Oh what memories I have of you
Curly blonde hair and beautiful eyes of blue.
So very kind
And thoughtful too
No wonder I couldn't help loving you.

It's almost time
For your birthday dear
I'll bake you a cake
As tho you are here

The tears just keep falling down my face
I can't help it son
You can't be replaced.

I pray each day "Kim"
To Sweet Jesus above
To love and to hold you
And to give you my love

So dear son,
I'll say bye for awhile
And hope that it won't be long
Till I see your smile.

So dear Jesus,
I Pray that you will do this for me,
Just keep him so very close to thee.

I Love You,
YOUR MOM

Girl Scouts Score A First

EAST COLUMBUS– Two Eastside Girl Scouts have become the first from their area to receive the First Class Award which is the equivalent to the Boy Scout's Eagle Scout Award. Above, Becky Covey pins the award pin on friend Lou Ann Ferguson at the awards ceremony held Thurday, Sept. 20 at the Washington Square Party House.

Ohio Dominican To Present Three Dramas

East Columbus-Three dramatic forms, a classical French comedy, an absurd drama and a musical comedy will be included in the theatrical season at Ohio Dominican College, William Vensel, chairman of the Department of Speech and Theatre at the liberal arts college, announced today.

Vensel explained that the combination of plays is one of potential, of contrast and particularly one of purpose. "It should prove to demonstrate the many fashions through which genius takes form," he said.

Representative works to be presented by Ohio Dominican students in Erskine Hall on the campus at 1216 Sunbury Rd., are: "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," Moliere's famous comedy, to be staged Oct. 11 through 14; "The Empire Builders," by Boris Vian, an example of absurd drama, Feb. 22 through 24; and "Carousel," Rogers and Hammerstein's heart-warming and optimistic musical, May 9 through 11.

"We chose a Moliere work to mark the 400th anniversary of the master of French comedy," Vensel said. "The Doctor—' is a fine example of Moliere's caustic wit and amazing ability at insult. Like all of his comedies, it stirred protest among the smart and powerful members of the Seventeenth Century Parisien society. Only King Louis XIV refused to oppose Moliere, and the King's interest and attitude helped Moliere and his troupe gain popularity."

All through Moliere's life - on stage or off - he detested and was a stern critic of the medical profession. "It was a final insult to that profession that he died - in the presence of doctors - while he was on stage portraying an imagined sick man," Vensel commented.

In the '50's a bizarre and jarring new theatre form developed - so bizarre and so jarring that it was referred to as "Absurd Theatre." The name describes works which convey the sense that the human condition is essentially absurd and that this condition can only be presented adequately in works that are themselves absurd.

"The movement had its roots in the expressionistic and surrealistic movements in art," Vensel explained. "We chose a semi-serious drama to illustrate the absurd as our winter production."

Vensel said that subscriptions for the entire season of dramatics at Ohio Dominican may be obtained by phoning Ohio Dominican College, 253-2741, Ext. 61, or by writing the Speech Dept., 1216 Sunbury Rd.

Bexley Recreation News

Bexley Parks and Recreation Department is again sponsoring gymnastics programs on Saturdays starting October 6. Clinics will be limited to a maximum of 12 students in each and will be held for ten weeks each series, fall-winter-spring. Students should be in grades 3 through 8 to be eligible.

After a successful season last year which was topped off with a fine summer gymnastics clinic taught by Kent State University gymnasts and coaches, Mrs. Kathy Sochor is looking forward to the coming season. Try-outs for the competitive team will be held soon and meets will be scheduled.

Bexley Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring an exciting new program for youth who are juniors and seniors in high school. The course is called TV FOR TEENS and is under the direction of Mr. Richard Berman.

The course will meet from October 1 through mid-December, 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Jeffrey Mansion. Those in the performer group will meet Mondays and Wednesdays, while those specializing in the technical aspects of television production will meet Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Only serious students of Theatre Arts need apply for membership to the workshop courses, as they will be working toward the actual filming of a scripted television drama. Classes are limited to a minimum of 10 students, and registration is required in advance. Fee for the program is $20 per student, payable to the department at 165 North Parkview Avenue.

For further information on the program, contact the department office at 258-5755.

Scouts Prepare Park For Winter

EAST COLUMBUS-As their part of the Central Ohio Boy Scout Fall Roundup, Troop 482, sponsored by Berwick Park Civic Association invited prospective Scouts to a fun and work campout last Saturday and Sunday at Courtright School's conservation park. The group above is readying a grove of maple trees for winter. They are trimming the trees, weeding about their trunks and mulching with cedar chips and twigs. Left to right they are: Ed Virostko, Dave Toy, David trees, some bought and used as Christmas trees and donated by Courtright students' parents, some donated by the Bexley Conservation Club, have been planted and cared for by the Scout troop. The three and one-half acre land lab is being developed by the school and troop according to a plan laid out by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service. The idea was first conceived and implemented by Mrs. Carolyn Whitesel, third grade teacher. Scoutmaster Dave Lapham and assistant Scout masters Ron Piehler and Bill Ramin headed the weekend work program.

Fire Drill At Post Office

Whitehall Plans Fire Prevention Week

Whitehall-Mayor John A. Bishop, in proclaiming October 7 through October 13 Fire Prevention Week, noted that the effectiveness of sound fire prevention programs has been demonstrated many times in helping to reduce loss of lives, natural resources and property.

James A. Soteriades, Whitehall fire inspector, announces the Fire Prevention Week program of the Whitehall Fire Department.

FIREFIGHTING equipment and fire trucks will be exhibited in shopping centers, where the public may inspect them and children explore them. The schedule is as follows: Oct. 8 - near Kroger's at Town and Country Shopping Center; Oct. 9 - infront of Penney's, Town and Country; Oct. 10 - near new Lazarus Capri store, Town and Country; Oct. 11 - near Super Duper, Town and Country; Oct. 12 - Service Merchandise store, 3651 E. Main St. and Oct. 13 - near Hart's and Big Bear store, E. Livingston Ave.

PEOPLE desiring fire inspections of their homes may call and ask for them.

The fire department building, 390 S. Yearling Rd. will hold open House for the public during the entire week. Firemen will be guides.

WHITEHALL schools will each have a fire drill sometime during Fire Prevention Week.

The Whitehall Fire Dept. will conduct a fire drill at the Columbus Post Office, 83 Robinwood, at 8:30 a.m. There will be evacuation of all personnel and an inspection made of the building.

A special scarlet Day-Glo and silver decal with the words "Tot Finder" is being given out at each home inspection if the residents have one or more children. The decals go onto a window of a bedroom where a child sleeps and will enable firemen to find small children in case of a fire in the home.

PEOPLE may also obtain the decals at open house or by coming into the fire station to get them.

Also ready for distribution to those who desire them are stickers with a white I against a Day-Glo scarlet background for putting in the bedroom window of an invalid.

Council Approves Park Plan

Bexley May Get Own Fire Department

Bexley- Bexley Council held its regular meeting, Sept. 25.

In a letter from the city sanitarian, Paul Zimpfer, it was suggested that some animal controls be included in the new Building and Maintenance Code. The letter was referred to Engineering and Plats Committee.

Rick Marsh, chairman of the Bexley Recreation Board, in a letter officially presented the Master Plan for Jeffrey Park to council and stated the Board recommends it unanimously. Council Member Offenberg explained further the wishes of the Board in Marsh's absence and asked for approval from council.

After discussion congratulations were extended the board for a job well done and the Council approved the concept of the plan.

An ordinance to increase the sewer rate was given it's third and final reading and was approved.

The Finance and Judiciary committee commented on the unpaid balance to Columbus on the fire contract, and stated the committee would meet with Columbus officials on the matter.

The mayor was given permission to contact an expert so that a study could be made on the feasibility of starting a fire department for the City of Bexley.

Offenberg, in a report on parks and forestry, reported that the Board of Recreation is still interviewing candidates for the position of director.

He also commented on the fine job done by Ray Vannoy and his department on the Drexel Circle.

Council member Elsass states a meeting will be called this week on the new Building and Maintenance Code.

The mayor explained that the problem of some street light outages are caused by 2000 feet of bad cable. The cable is scheduled to be replaced, with the money in the budget to pay Columbus for the job.

It was announced that the city was about to have a new leaf machine and that there would two on the streets this year fulltime for leaf collection.

Open House In Columbus

Fire Prevention Activities Set

East Columbus–The kickoff for Columbus' Fire Prevention Week will take place at Eastland Shopping Center, Saturday, Oct. 6 at 11:30 a.m.

Tom Allen, of WMNI, will give the call to order, and after the presentation of the colors by the Columbus Fire Division color guard and the national anthem, will present Miss Firefighter and her court.

MAYOR Tom Moody will read the official Fire Prevention Week Proclamation.

Demonstrations

Demonstrations by Columbus Fire Department personnel will take place in Eastland's parking lot between Sears and Lazarus garages. The vents will be as follows:

Squad responds to emergency calls for aerial ladder, Ladder arrives, aerial extended to building, Squadmen give necessary first aid while ladder rescue is being prepared, Using appropriate hand signals, brings victim to ground. The narrator will explain activity and first aid procedures. If no roof location is available, the operation will be from elevated platform.

Aerial ladder maneuvering demonstration.

Aerial ladder arrives and sets its ladder and rigs nozzle and 3" hose, Also sets up multiversal in appropriate location, First Engine Company arrives, lays from ladder to hydrant, Second Engine Company lays from multiversal to hydrant, Demonstrate two master Streams.

Medic responds to simulated heart attack, Upon arrival start EKG, start IV, fake defibrillations, Stabilize and transport.

A new tool call a Hurst Power tool will be demonstrated. It will used to pry open an old car in a simulated accident.

Station Open Houses

EVERY fire station in the city will hold Open House on Sunday, Oct. 7 from 2-5. The first 20 children accompanied by an adult will receive bright red plastic firemen's helmets.

The children will be served Kool-Aid and the parents, coffee.

COLUMBUS-"Lemme see," "Lemme push the button, "Lemme push the lever"—does it sound familiar? If you have young children, chances are you hear "Lemmies"' often. If you are out in public, chances are you have to tell them, "No." But next Saturday, at Eastland Shopping Center, and at fire stations on Sunday, you can take the kids and let them swarm over the fire engines, peek in first aid kits, push buttons, ring bells and sit behind the wheel. They can ask questions and get answers from the fellows who know what firefighting is all about. It's all part of Fire Prevention Week kick-off at Eastland, and Open House at every Columbus fire station on Sunday. In Whitehall, it's Open House every day, Oct. 7-13. Fall Is Jewish Holiday Season

STARTING SEPT. 27 with the Jewish New Year, through Oct. 6, Yom Kippur, and up to Dec. 20, Hanukah, thousands of Columbus area Jews come often to holiday and Sabbath tables to partake of meals rich with traditional symbolism. Bunny Putchat, president of Temple Israel's Sisterhood, is shown blessing the candles on her New Year's table. The candles, representing spiritual gifts are blessed by the mother as guardian of the family's spiritual values. The roundness of the bread, under the linen cover embroidered with a Hebrew blessing, is symbolic of the continuity of life, the completion and beginning of a new year, year after year. The bread itself represents life's physical necessities. The wine in small polished cups calls attention to the moderate joys of life. The father, in role of provider says the blessing over the wine and bread. In the tiny paper cups, honey is served and the small slice of apple on the plate is dipped into it, reminding one of the wish for a "sweet year." Mrs. Putchat will prepare some of the traditional holiday foods in an appearance on Michael's and Company Show, WTVN, Thursday, Oct. 4 at 9:30 a.m. She will be using recipes from the Sisterhood's cook book, "Some Of Our Best." (See related story, p.10)

Do Your Kids Have 'The Lemmies'?

COLUMBUS-Doug Johnson, three, perched high in the front seat of the fire truck, plays at being a fireman, as hasn't every red-blooded American boy at some time? Big brother Jeff is much more advanced in his grasp of mechanical affairs as he carefully inspects the gauges on the side of the truck, under the watchful eyes of guide and Firefighter Bob Dadum. This is Jeff's second visit to a fire house, his first being with his kindergarten class, and so of course you would expect him to know much more about what goes on there than Doug would since Doug is only in nursery school and hasn't studied such things yet. WR Hopes Acree Will Win League Record

BY COACH RICK METTLE

The Walnut Ridge cross country is off to another strong season this year. The team features senior and returning letterman Steve Acree, Kip Henry (capt.), and Jon DeBell; senior Dale Tefft; juniors Jon Morris and Chris Fairchild; sophoomores Marty Finta and Marty Withrow.

The team's finest performance came on the weekend of September 22; as they defended their title at the arrowhead Invitational.

The Arrowhead Invitational is run at the Park of Roses & hosted by Whetstone High School. All the city schools are invited

The team is led by senior Steve Acree who just recently, at the Newark Invitational, set a new school record of 9:59. That's just one second off the existing City League Record of 9:58 by Jerry Mounts of M-Fe-(1971). The Scots are now 7-1 in dual meet action after dropping a decision to Northland late this week.

Steve was seond at the Arrowhead meet.

Our next city meet is Tues., Oct. 2 at Raymond Golf Course against West, Eastmoor and Marion-Franklin.

We will also enter the Red Devil Invitational Greenlawn Park on Sat., Oct. 6.

RECORD (DUAL MEET)
WR 26-Reynoldsburg 31, WR 24-Groveport 78, Newark 40, WR 22-Whetstone 37, WR 23-Grandview 37, WR 39-Northland 28 Brookhaven 65 North 120.

WR Standing:
7 wins-1 loss

We were third at Newark Invitation, first at Arrowhead. WR 37, Northland 51, West 82, Whetstone 109, Brookhaven 119, South 151, Marion Franklin 176, Eastmoor 210, North 260.

COMPLETES TRAINING

East Columbus--Army Private Kenneth E. Correll Jr., whose parents live at 3518 Noe Bixby Rd., completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army training center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, amp reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Watch Leaves

The open burning of leaves costs you money, endangers your health, and pollutes the air. The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency urges you to report open burning violations to your local fire marshall.

Hawk Herald
by Karen Kaiser

This year, Bishop Hartley has acquired a new administration consisting of Mr. William Schwanitz, as principal, and Sister Mary Grace, acting as assistant principal. They have already proven to be very interested in the well-being of the school and are to be wished the best of luck throughout the year.

This past Thursday night (Sept. 27), Chris Holdrieth was elected homecoming queen at the homecoming parade and ceremonies. The runners-up were Mary Kuhner, Joanne Aiello, Trish Herbert, and Mary Malone. Queen Chris and her court reigned during the homecoming game against Walnut Ridge on Friday night.

EARLIER this month, on Sept. 10, Freshman cheerleaders were selected. They are: captain Eileen Sanderson, Kristy Scholl, Tina Latorri, Andrea Montell, Missy Lotozo, and Mary Kelly. Congratulations to these girls.

The National Honor Society, under its new moderator Sister Gwen, is getting back into the swing of things. Their first concern is getting the ball rolling for the induction of the new members. They are also in the planning stages for different service, social, and moneymaking projects, but as of now, definite plans have not been established.

Two staff members, Coach Jack Ryan and Tom Typrowicz, have both taken new posts. Mr. Ryan is in charge of new guidance counselor. We wish them luck in their new positions.

HARTLEY would also like to welcome its three exchange students. They are Juan Caceres, from Venezuela, Claudia Santos, from Colombia, and Oscar Urribarri, also from Venezuela. They will be with us for the entire school year.

The upcoming events are: the Junior-Senior Powder Puff game on Oct. 24 and the Senior Play, "I Remember Mama," in November. The captains of the Powder Puff game teams are Paula Swider (Senior) and Joan Kegelmayer (Junior). The leads in the play are Susie Mussio, Martha Streng, John Canty, Tony Canini, Sharon Lieb, Sharon Strapp, and John Weidner.

The school paper, the Hawkeye would like to welcome its new editor, Sharon Lieb, and moderator, Mrs. Rebecca Handley.

A SENIOR, Trisha Connor, was selected to represent Catholic youths on the television show Communique, to be shown on Sunday, Oct. 7.

The subject of the panel discussion will be "Youth, Aging, and the Poor."

FARE Reports Fatalities Down

Columbus--Automobile fatalities in Columbus are down an impressive 19 percent from last year. Chief of Police, Earl Burden feels FARE--the Fatal Accident Reduction Enforcement program is a contributing factor for the decrease.

Figures released by the Columbus Police Department show that from Jan. 1 through the Labor Day holiday weekend, (Sept. 3) there were 46 fatalities in the city compared to 57 for the same period in 1972.

In areas where FARE is in operation in Columbus, the program continues to help hold down fatalities. From May 25, when the program was launched, through Sept. 3, FARE-patrolled areas suffered three fatalities compared to the four recorded during the same period a year ago.

FARE works to reduce auto and pedestrian fatalities by assigning additional traffic police to high-accident areas in Columbus. The Columbus Police officers are volunteers, working on their days off to patrol dangerous intersections, expressway ramps and other high-accident areas.

The program, funded by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration will run to the end of this year.

Residents Trustees

Four Columbus area residents were recently elected to the Board of Trustees of the Epilepsy Association of Franklin County.

Named to the Board were Terry Jones, Coordinator of the Nationwide Career Center, 1705 Courtright Road; Benjamin D. McKeel, Station Manager, WLW-C, 1546 Clubview South, Worthington; Dr. Bruce W. Pfeffer, Pediatric Services, Ross Laboratories, 1590 Hallworrth Court and Mrs. Jane Runkel, R..N., Childrens' Hospital, 247 East Tulane Road.

Both Mr. McKeel and Dr. Pfeffer are members of the Board of Trustees of the Epilepsy Association of Ohio.

The number of commercial vehicles registered in Ohio in 1972 was 507,591--a four per cent increase over 1971. Combining private and commercial vehicles, approximately 63 million vehicle miles were driven on Ohio's highways during 1972.

At The Parks This Week

Blacklick Woods: A tree walk begins from the trading post at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Blendon Woods: The Walden Wildlife Refuge is open for the observation of migrating waterfowl. Hours are 3 to 5 p.m. daily and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekends. A tree walk begins from the Visitor Center at 2 p.m. Sunday. Saturday, October 13, a program on autumn constellations will be held at the Visitor Center at 8 p.m.

Darby Creek: A tree walk begins at 2 p.m. Saturday at the trading post.

Again this fall the Metropolitan Parks will repeat their popular programs on Holiday Decorating Using Natural Materials. Barbara Byko, well-known craftswoman, will again serve as the leader. She will hold an "open house" in Blacklick Woods' Beech-Maple Lodge on Sunday, October 7, from 1 to 4 p.m. Many of her creations will be on display.

At the Spring Hollow Conference Center at Sharon Woods she will conduct a "natural" decorating workshop on Thursday evenings starting October 11. During the first session, she will demonstrate her work. In the second and third sessions, participants will work on making a decoration of their own. Pre-registration is a must. Call 882-1796. Fee is $3.

A four-session workshop on trees is scheduled for Tuesday evenings beginning October 9 at the Spring Hollow Conference Center in Sharon Woods. Identification of trees from leaves, twigs, fruit, and bark; economic and wildlife values; and forest ecology will be discussed. Pre-registration is necessary by calling 882-1796. Fee is $2.

Area youngsters 9 and older are invited to attend the autumn session of the Junior Naturalist program which will be offered on four consecutive Saturdays beginning October 6.

Exploring many seasonal aspects of nature, such as the changing colors of leaves, migration, and hibernation, will be some highlights of the programs which will be held at Blacklick Woods, Blendon Woods, and Darby Creek.

Reservations are necessary. Call 882-1796.

How to make a relaxed 10-minute long distance call.

It's really very easy. Just, dial your call direct, without operator assistance, between 5 and 11 P.M., Sunday through Friday. (Rates are even lower after 11 P.M. and on weekends.)

By doing that, you'll be able to relax and enjoy your call. Instead of worrying about the cost.

Because when you follow those guidelines, a 10-minute call to California won't cost more than $2.60 plus tax.

So dial your long distance calls the less expensive way and relax. Even if you talk for 10 minutes.

Ohio Bell

Dial-it-yourself rates apply on out of state dialed calls (without operator assistance) from residence and business phones anywhere in the U.S. except Alaska and Hawaii and on calls placed with an operator where direct dialing facilities are not available. Dial-it-yourself rates do not apply to person-to-person, coin, hotel guest, credit card, collect calls and on calls charged to another number.

Employ Handicapped Week

NATIONAL Employ the Handicapped Week will be observed October 7-13.

The purpose of this annual event is to call to the attention of potential employers the many capabilities of the handicapped which more than offsets their disabilities, and to inspire the handicap person to seek rehabilitation and employment.

GOODWILL Industries of Central Ohio leads all 152 Goodwill organizations in the nation in training and placement of handicapped person with 360 clients placed in competitive employment in 1972 and 337 clients so far in 1973.

Handicapped persons learn such skills as laundry and drycleaning work, furniture repair, reupholstering, clerical work, electronics, motel and hotel housekeeping and janitorial work.

IF YOU ARE interested in additional information on hiring the handicapped or seek training contact Goodwill at 294-5181. Goodwill Industries of Central Ohio is fully accredited by the Commissions of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF).

Conservation Awards Will Be Presented By Director

PRESENTATION of the 1973 Ohio Conservation Hall of Fame Awards and Conservation Achievement Awards will highlight the Department of Natural Resources' Fall Conservation Workshop October 12, 13 and 14 in Fremont.

Natural Resources Director William B. Nye said the three-day workshop for members of Ohio conservation organizations will feature guided tours and discussions on energy resources and the role of conservation commissions.

The Ramada Inn in Fremont will be the base of operations for the workshop. Participants may register Friday evening October 12 or Saturday morning October 13. The registration fee is $10.

THOSE attending the workshop can go on two of three tours planned on Saturday. Morning and afternoon field trips to Magee Marsh will give workshop participants an opportunity to see the major waterfowl flyway during a period of peak fall migration.

Also, Saturday morning there will be a tour of the Davis-Besse nuclear power plant, and Saturday afternoon there will be a tour of Castalia Prairie at Resthaven Wildlife Area.

Nye will present the 1973 Conservation Achievement and Conservation Hall of Fame Awards at a banquet Saturday evening.

RESERVATIONS for the workshop must be made by October 1. For further information contact the Environmental Education Coordinator, Office of Public Information and Education, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224.

United Way Launches Search For First Volunteers

IN CELEBRATION of its 50th anniversary this year, the United Way of Franklin County has launched a search for persons who participated in the first Community Chest drive in 1923.

Residents who helped raise funds or who served as volunteers in any capacity in that 1923 campaign will be honored by city and county governmental officials and by United way at the October 9 general campaign kickoff at the Ohio Theatre.

UNITED WAY also is trying to locate, with the help of its 62 agencies and with the cooperation of The Spectator any persons who have been active volunteers with a UW agency for 25 or more years.

These indivudals also will be honored during UW's 50th campaign. The person who is identified as the oldest living volunteer in terms of years of service to a UW agency will be given special recognition.

IN ADDITION, all persons who contributed to the 1923 Community Chest, the forerunner of the present United Way, are invited to contact United Way's communications division, 1441 King Ave., 485-5381, and they will receive a certificate of appreciation.

Citizens who have any first hand information regarding the 1923 campaigning are urged to call UW prior to the campaign kickoff on October 9.

THEME FOR the 1973 campaign is : 50 years of serving Franklin County...Thanks to you, it's still working.

The 62 UW agencies are: Alvis House, American Red Cross, Arthritis Foundation, Big Brother Association, Boys Clubs of Columbus, Buckeye Boys Ranch, Camp Fire Girls, Catholic Social Service, Central Community House, Central Ohio Council Boy Scouts of America, Central Ohio Diabetes Association, Columbus Area Council on Alcoholism, Columbus Cancer Clinic, Columbus Goodwill Indistries:

Navy Birthday Of 1973 Observance Is Oct. 12 - 14

THE NAVY Birthday 1973 will be observed in the area by everyone who is or has been associated with the U.S. Navy.

The Columbus Council of the Navy League of the United States is sponsoring the weekend festivities to take place Oct. 12-14.

October 12, a ceremony will be held on the steps of the State Capitol from noon to 1 p.m. The ceremony will begin with the posting of colors by the OSU-NROTC unit and the National Anthem played by the U.S. Navy Band, "The Envoys", from Norfolk, Va.

Also included in the activities will be comments by the president of the Navy League, the mayor of Columbus, and a message from the Secretary of the Navy, read by a local Navy dignitary.

AFTER THE speeches, a memorial ceremony will take place with music provided by the Central High School Choir. The conclusion of the ceremony will include birthday remarks and more music by the Central choir and the Navy band.

A DANCE will be held at the Neil House Oct. 13. All Navy League members, active Navy, NROTC, Reservists, Retired Navy people and VIP's in the area, will be invited to attend.

Music for the evening will again be provided by "The Envoys", and the ballroom will be decorated in a festive atmosphere with signal flags, navy flags, balloons and bunting.

Sunday, October 14, in the Navy Sabbath More than 500 Columbus area churches have been invited to help the Navy celebrate. Each church has been asked to have the choir sing the Navy Hymn and for the Navy to be remembered in its prayers.

It's Fire Prevention Week

FIRE SAFETY will get special attention in Franklin County starting Saturday, October 6 and continuing through October 13 as area communities observe National Fire Prevention Week.

Most fire departments have planned special programs which include demonstrations at major shopping centers and open houses at fire stations.

Schools, government agencies, and business organizations are assisting in a county-wide effort to focus attention on the subject of fire safety. The Fire Prevention Committee of the Safety Council, The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce is coordinating the work of participants.

Demonstrations at Eastland Shopping Center at 11 a.m. Saturday, October 6 will kick off the observance in the city of Columbus. Midweek demonstrations are scheduled for Monday evening at Graceland Shopping Center, Tuesday evening at Northland, Wednesday evening at Great Southern and Thursday evening at Great Western.

Sunday afternoon, October 7, will be open house day at all fire stations in Columbus, followed by a major demonstration after the Columbus Day Parade.

Franklin Township Fire Department will conduct a week- long program of activities at the Westland Shopping Center. These will include water battles, displays, poster and Fire Prevention Queen contests.

Upper Arlington has also scheduled major fire prevention week activities.

Golden Age News And Notes

"ONCE you retire from work, the most important thing is not to retire from life," says Julian Marcus, Director of the Senior Citizens' Placement Bureau of Franklin County. Located at 880 E. Braod Street, (Telephone: 252-5238) the Bureau has placed 315 people in gainful employment during its first year of existence. This has generated a payroll of over $20,000 a week, or a million dollars a year to pour into the economy of the City.

Mr. Marcus estimates that there are more than 10,000 additional senior citizens in Franklin County he should be in contact with.

"THE BUREAU works as a complete entity and no one person can take credit for our accomplishments," he continues modestly. We have men here from the professions, from the business world, and from the world of science, all doing the interviewing and placements.

They all have in common their age-past 65 and their enthusiasm.. No one ever stops working. Our greatest satisfaction is in creating new full lives, and new goals for our clients. We give them something to look forward to, a new challenge, a feeling of energy and accomplishment. Every human being has talent and love-they must share them."

"If I were a Doctor for retired persons, I would give them all the same bottle of medicine and on the outside it would say just two words "keep busy". Had a fellow come in here not long ago, he was retiring from the Presidency of a large company.

The company let him retain a desk in his old office. However, when he went in, there was no one who any longer asked his advice, and in fact they didn't even say good morning any more. He was being ignored and it was killing him

I said to him: "You are just like that vacant lot next to your house - it just stands there as a lot and to no purpose. If you were to build something on it, even if it were just a dog house, it would have a meaning and you would have a good feeling about it because you had created something. Well, he took me at my word.

He no longer hangs around his old office as a sort of leftover adjunct. He is busy. He has made a playground for all the neighborhood children, a place where they can use free time productively. He is a much much happier man.

ACCORDING to a new and startling study by the United States Census Bureau, only one in 4 of the citizens over 65 are still in the labor force. This compares with a total of nearly half of the citizens over 65 that were still in the labor force in 1950.

When you put this statistic alongside one produced recently by the Shristian Science Monitor to the effect that living costs have plunged upward 10 percent in the past six months, you have an emerging picture of what faces the over 65 retiree. When the wages of the working man even cannot keep abreast of the rising tide of inflation, the prospects for retirement on fixed incomes are fraught with serious difficulties.

THOSE working at the Senior Citizens Placement Bureau feel that if there is a new rise in inflation, they will be flooded with requests for help. As of now, the maximum supplemental income allowed over social security payments is $2100 and is due to go up to $2400 January 1.

Some social security raises are planned to materialize in 1975 but as of now the final legislation is murky in its provisions and still pending.

"HERE WE sit" concluded Mr. Marcus, "with 14,000 people over 65 below the poverty level in Franklin County. We have the jobs and we must reach more people. They need our help. There are no limits for anyone. There is something for everybody. They just need their courage, the energy to look for new avenues, and love and security."

The Old Timer

"The reason that talk is cheap is that the supply is always greater than the demand."

Senators, Congressmen Have Local Addresses

Spectator area residents who wish to contact their representatives and congressmen don't have to write to Washington for that purpose.

The four have local offices and mail sent to them locally will let them know it is from this area.

Their addresses are:

U.S. Senator Robert Taft Jr., 121 E. State St., Columbus, Ohio 43215.

Christian School Story Appreciated

To the Editor:

On behalf of Worthington Christian Schools I wish to extend my most sincere thanks and appreciation for the tremendous feature covering the establishment of our new Christian School on the front page of your Sept. 19 Worthington Spectator.

We were extremely pleased with the excellent pictures and the wonderful commentary about WCS.

I am sure that I am reflecting the feelings of everyone involved in our school ministry.

Sincerely yours,

Lou E. Koloze
Superintendent

Pilot Dogs, Inc. Appreciative

To the Editor:

Thank you so very much, Kathy Devaney, for the wonderful article appearing in the Spectator Sept. 26.

This is tremendous and we are indebted for your kindness.

Sincerely,

Foster Parents Story Helped

To the Editor:

Thank you so much Kathy Devaney, Spectator West Editor, for the article on the need for foster parents in the county. We really appreciated the display.

Also, the agency received several telephone inquiries about foster care as a result of this article which proves that it was a success.

I want to thank you for your time and cooperation, which I hope we can keep up in the future.

Thanks,again,

Tommie Denny
Foster Care
Recruitment Specialist.

School Was Assisted

To the Editor:

We know how very busy you are so we will not use up your time.

We, however, had to take this opportunity to thank you for the excellent publicity that you gave Evening High School relative to our opening and registration for this current semester. You have always cooperated with us in the past, but this year seemed to use to be best of all.

Be assured that the entire staff of Columbus Evening High School are grateful to your organization.

Walter M. Damron, Principal

Cystic Fibrosis Successful Campaign

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of over six million children in the world who are afflicted with pulmonary lung diseases such as cystic fibrosis to thank the sympathetic and open hearted people of this great city for their efforts shown to us in our recent drive.

At this time we have raised approximately $30,000 to be used in the fight against this killer disease, cystic fibrosis.

If any of you would like to volunteer a few hours of your time, or give your financial assistance please contact us at our Hamilton Road office.

Again, thank you from all of our children and God Bless.

Sincerely,

Cystic Fibrosis Office
Central Ohio Chapter.

MAVERICK

By Richard L. Pumph

WITH MUDDY SHOES

THE LONGEST air pollution alert yet to be recorded, since Ohio started keeping track of dirty air, took place the first ten days of July along the Ohio River in eastern Ohio.

This was the first time documented proof could be gathered to show how the very young, the elderly and respiratory invalids are affected by the lack of clean air.

Environmentalist call that section of the river valley "acid alley" and look with great fear on the air pollution indexes from the industry and utility stacks strung along the waterway.

FOLLOWING from north to south, the Ohio Valley Hospital and St. John. Hospital in Steubenville both showed a 25 per cent increase in respiratory diesease patient admissions during and immediately after the ten-day alert.

The inhalation therapist at Martins Ferry Hospital reported 25 per cent increase in patients having breathing difficulty while the inhalation department of Bellaire City Hospital reported a 10 per cent increase in pulmonary problems.

Over on the western edge of Belmont County, upwind from all the airborne garbage, Barnesville Hospital reported they had only two admitted during the first week of July with respiratory problems. The issue seems at this juncture be clear cut. Bad air is bad health.

On July 26th I went over to the State House to listen in on the passage of House Bill 206, being considered by the House of Representatives. The bill would call for the Public Utilities Commission to keep an eye on the energy resources of Ohio. To plan and in time of crisis, to allocate electric, natural gas, heating oil and gasoline with the approval of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

A STATE representative from Miami County jumped to his feet and for fifteen long minutes, berated the Ohio EPA, the PUCO and all living citizens who voiced a concern over the state of the environment. He blamed the energy shortage, the food shortage and the Cleveland Indians on environmentalists. He offered an amendment that would take the Ohio EPA out of the bill. It failed.

Back at my office I found that the man, beside being a lawmaker, is also a petroleum wholesaler. Naturally, he didn't want controls of any kind to be placed on the use of energy. He was quite willing to see the fuel intended for propelling ambulances to go to dune buggies instead.

LIFELINE SUGGESTION: Write to your state senator and ask that he strengthen H.B. 206 when it gets on to Ohio Senate and pass a strong bill. (If you don't know who your state senator is, call the courthouse and ask for his name and address.)

Admiral Has Annual Party

Special Children Need Special Volunteers

East Columbus-The newly remodeled Childhood League Development Center, 850 S. 18th St., which opened its doors for the 1973-74 school year on Sept. 10, needs volunteers to assist teachers in classroom activities and to work individually with the children. The commitment is for a half a day, morning or afternoon per week.

The Development Center is a non-profit, non-sectarian, inter-racial school for children 4-7 years old who display learning disabilities.

"Each and every child attending the pre-school development center is special and the special child needs someone special," according to the volunteer chairman, Mrs. Vern Krier.

Anyone interested in volunteering should call volunteer chairman, Mrs. Krier at 451-9288 or 451-9317.

Loungewear Stepping Out!

'IN' fashion with Tess Stern

FORMFIT ROGERS shows a VERA Signature print of long stemmed red poppies on snow white nylon tricot, for this floor length shirt gown...buttoning down the front, with deep pockets and cuffed sleeves. $30.00 STELLA FAGIN for Elias Sayour Company, created this beautiful two piece pajama, man tailored and tied, in creamy colored jacquard Arnel and nylon satin...for small informal parties at-home or out. $60.00

VASSARETTE introduces a new kind of glamorous nightdressing...a romantic bare shoulder caftan in jungle printed "Enka-Lure" fabric that floats in a dramatic way. $26.00

JOHN KLOSS for Cira, shirrs the bodice of this gown to create an alluring decolletage and full circle skirt...in Caproian nylon...Green Opal, Rose Quartz, Sapphire, Champagne. $24.00

SOME OF THE CLEVEREST SHOPPERS are buying evening dresses in the loungewear departments these days...it's not surprising as loungewear is coming into its own...offering glamorous, fashionable looks that are flexible enough to go out-on-the-town as well as entertaining at-home. Now that money is tight, there's no reason why a chic woman shouldn't indulge her dreams, at a price she can afford.

For the first time in years, lingerie is directly influencing ready-to-wear. Many of our most prestigious American designers are using the "look of lingerie" in their clothes. For instance, there's the slip dress...bare, black and short...an important look this fall. Lingerie touches...lace, tucking, shirring, fagoting and applique trims...are appearing on all types of outerwear. Lace edgings of slips will show beneath open necklines of shirts and dresses. A glamorous evening lounger pajama is meant to go out dancing. A bare, one-shoulder caftan is utterly feminine and romantic, whether entertaining at home or out to a grand gala evening.

THE EVERYTHING FABRICS deserve a great deal of the glory...acrylic knits, polyester chiffons, man-made silky satins, nylon tricot, velvety fleeces, and washable wools...which have no apparel boundaries...have eased into the loungewear scene so gracefully...a woman can radiate her own brand of charm.

Of course, you'll wear your irresistible loungewear with very un-boudoir accessories...evening sandals, glittery hosiery, and your most spectacular jewelry...to stretch a fashion point.

Morris-Bullen Wed Sept. 1

Mrs. Barry R. Bullen

East Columbus--Miss Bethany Ann Morris and Mr. Barry Reeves Bullen were joined in marriage Saturday, Sept. 1 at Reynoldsburg United Methodist Church. The Reverend Dale D. Bumgardner officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herman Morris, 1841 Bairsford Dr. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eugene Bullen, Xenia.

Maid of honor for her sister was Sheridan Ann Morris, Circleville. Jayne Kunkler, Gayle Tedlie and Nancy Backulich of Columbus were bridesmaids. Flowergirls were Wendy and Linda Breene, of Reynoldsburg.

Best man for Mr. Bullen was Chris Stanley, Yellow Springs. Biill Gould and Sam Walden of Xenia and Dave Bullen, Springfield, the groom's brother, were ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Reynoldsburg High School and Nationwide College of Commerce in fashion merchandising.

The bridegroom attended Ohio Technical Institute, majoring in electronic engineering and is employed at Owens-Illinois.

After a reception at Kirsh's Hall, Reynoldsburg United Methodist Church, and a wedding trip to Oglebay Park, West Virginia, the couple is residing at Alexandria Apartments.

Dance To Aid Children

EAST COLUMBUS-Mrs. Lester C. Riddle, Marguerite Williams, Mrs. Harvey Clodfelter and Lenore Hansen (left to right in picture) are looking at the invitations to the Annual Dinner Dance of Hannah Neil Home for Children. These and the other members of Hannah Neil are working on committees for the October 19 party which is the one fund raising project to help support the Home. The dinner is to be held at the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow. Hannah Neil Home for Children is a temporary home for boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 12 who need intermediate therepeutic assistance.

At the close of 1972, there were 193 public and private agencies providing some form of mass transportation within Ohio.

As of December 31, 1972, there were approximately 31,000 registered pilots and 5,775 registered aircrafts in Ohio.

Prestige Concerts Starting Oct. 19

Prestige Concerts opens its twenty-fifth season of chamber music October 19 with The Festival Winds. The group of virtuoso woodwind players draws upon masterworks, old and new, for flute, clarinet, oboe, English horn, bassoon and French horn.

They're Capital Gridmen
